20½. Demurrer to evidence.—A demurrer to the evidence at the close of the case for the prosecution is waived by defendant by introducing evidence in defense. Hodson v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 421.

25½. Presence of judge.—Where case was submitted to jury, at close of session, and counsel stipulated, that clerk might take verdict when rendered as if court were in session, agreement is binding, and questions as to validity of verdict must be decided as if judge had been present and court in actual formal session. U. S. v. Bachman (D. C.) 246 F. 1009.

28. General verdict of guilty.—A charge of conspiracy to commit a crime becomes merged in a charge of the commission of the crime when the latter is proven, and becomes of no moment when there is a general verdict of guilty, well uspported by such proofs. U. S. v. Fischer (D. C.) 245 F. 477.

A verdict must be certain in legal intendment; there being a distinction between a legal certainty and moral certainty as to what the jury in fact intended. U. S. v. Bachman (D. C.) 246 F. 1009.

29. Omission of jury to find on all counts.—See notes under § 1690.

30. Judgment where separate verdict is rendered on each count.—See notes under §§ 1690, 1691.

32. Motion to continue indictment and suspend sentence.—Federal District Court exceeds its power by suspending sentence of imprisonment indefinitely on considerations extraneous to legality of conviction. Ex parte U. S., 37 S. Ct. 72, 242 U. S. 27, 61 L. Ed. 129, L. R. A. 1917E, 1178, Ann. Cas. 1917B, 355.

33½. Sentence in general.—The court does not lose jurisdiction to impose sentence after the trial term, postponements being unconditional and for definite periods, and for a purpose incident to the administration of justice within the court's power. Miner v. U. S., 244 F. 422, 157 C. C. A. 48.

Where defendant was convicted of carrying on business of a retail liquor dealer without having paid special tax therefor as required by law and sentenced, he cannot thereafter be sentenced on the same conviction to another and different punishment. Blackman v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 449.

A criminal statute, which fixes the penalty for its violation at imprisonment for "not less than five years," is valid to support a sentence of five years. Lee Mow Lin v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 694.

34. Sentence and punishment on conviction of several offenses.—See notes under § 1691.

40. Motion in arrest of judgment.—A motion in arrest lies only for material errors on the face of the record, and an assignment of error complaining of the overruling of a motion in arrest on the ground that the judgment was without evidence to support it cannot be upheld, where the evidence was conflicting. Towe v. U. S., 238 F. 557, 151 C. C. A. 493.

Where indictment specifically alleged willful refusal to register under Selective Draft Act May 18, 1917, post, § 2044e, and accused pleaded guilty thereto, there could be no force in his motion in arrest of judgment. Sugar v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 74.

A conviction on all of the counts, charging separate criminal acts in a single transaction, is not available as a ground for arrest of judgment. Orth v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 566.

41. Rules of evidence in general.—There is no presumption in a criminal case of defendant's good character. Greer v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 209, 245 U. S. 559, 62 L. Ed. 469, affirming judgment 240 F. 320, 153 C. C. A. 246.

Evidence should be admitted, if competent and relevant upon any issue or any phase of the case, and the party offering it need not explain the point or matter to which it is addressed, unless required to do so by the court. Moffatt v. U. S., 232 F. 522, 146 C. C. A. 480.

An experienced chemist held, under the facts shown, qualified to testify as an expert as to the therapeutic value of a medicine which he had analyzed. Samuels v. U. S., 232 F. 536, 146 C. C. A. 494.

While accused, at the beginning of the trial, is presumed to be innocent, yet whenever the proof shows beyond a reasonable doubt his guilt, then the presumption of innocence disappears from the case. Shepard v. U. S., 236 F. 73, 149 C. C. A. 283.

The presumption of innocence is not overcome by facts which are not plainly inconsistent with innocence. Wolf v. U. S., 238 F. 902, 152 C. C. A. 36.

Moral probability, however strong, cannot take the place of legal evidence, and any inference of guilt which the jury draw must be based on facts tending to show guilt. Id.

Though the jury should use the utmost caution in scrutinizing the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice, they may render a verdict of guilty. Knoell v. U. S., 239 F. 16, 152 C. C. A. 66, affirming judgment U. S. v. Knoell (D. C.) 230 F. 509.

An indictment charging a criminal conspiracy introduced in evidence in proceedings before a United States commissioner for removal of defendant to another district for trial is itself prima facie evidence of probable cause. Witte v. Shelton, 240 F. 265, 153 C. C. A. 191.

Defendant's self-serving answer to accusatory letter held not admissible by reason of the admission of the accusatory letter which he offered in evidence. York v. U. S., 241 F. 656, 154 C. C. A. 414.

Proof of conversation in which agreement was made held not hearsay, but the best evidence of the agreement. Sparks v. U. S., 241 F. 777, 154 C. C. A. 479.

In prosecution, where accused admitted having previously seen letter and memorandum book, held, that they were properly received, where officer making arrest testified they were delivered to him by one who took accused to jail. Dean v. U. S., 246 F. 568, 158 C. C. A. 538.

Order in which evidence shall be received is largely within discretion of trial court, and defendant cannot complain that testimony as to conversation had with arresting officer was introduced before proof of corpus delicti. Gladstone v. U. S., 248 F. 117, 160 C. C. A. 257, certiorari denied 38 S. Ct. 582, 247 U. S. 521, 62 L. Ed. 1246.

Where a witness stated that he was not in the secrets of the grand jury room, cross-examination as to whether certain property generally described in indictment was produced before grand jury was properly excluded, for it would be mere inference or hearsay. Feener v. U. S., 249 F. 425, 161 C. C. A. 399.

Where question involved is defendant's intent, evidence of an act having a direct bearing on intent is admissible, though the act be a separate offense. Edwards v. U. S., 249 F. 686, 161 C. C. A. 596, certiorari denied 39 S. Ct. 7, 63 L. Ed. —.

Proof of a fact, need not be made beyond every possibility of mistake, and evidence is to be taken in a practical, reasonable way, and regard given to well-known, settled methods of business. De Moss v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 87.

While some sort of corroboration of a confession is necessary to a conviction, rule prevails in federal courts that corroborating circumstances need not be sufficient in themselves to establish the corpus delicti, either beyond a reasonable doubt or by preponderance of proof. Daeche v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 566.

It is elementary that every one is presumed to know the law of the land, both common and statutory, and that one's ignorance of it furnishes no exemption for criminal responsibility for his acts. Hamburg-American Steam Packet Co. v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 747.

A defendant must be presumed to have intended the legitimate and necessary consequences of his willful and deliberate acts. Doe v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 253 F. 903.

Evidence of other offenses, and independent crimes and convictions, are incompetent to establish the guilt of an accused. Gordon v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 53.

Unless the accused has introduced evidence of his good character, the prosecution cannot introduce evidence of his bad character and habits as part of its case. Id.

The records of a public office, as a post office, are presumptively correct. Kenney v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 262.

Where the evidence showed the location of the offense with reference to a city, a river, and lines of railroad, the court may take judicial notice of the location of the same, and that the offense occurred in the county where prosecution was had. Bradley v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 289.

Objection that qualified expert lacks knowledge of subject-matter of his testimony goes to its weight rather than its admissibility. U. S. v. Fischer (D. C.) 245 F. 477.

In a criminal prosecution, guilt of defendant must be established beyond reasonable doubt. U. S. v. Natura Co. (D. C.) 250 F. 925.

It is not necessary that the commission of a crime should be proved by direct evidence, and it may be proved by circumstantial evidence; that is, by inferences properly drawn from circumstances. U. S. v. Greenbaum (D. C.) 252 F. 259.

A "reasonable doubt" is such a doubt as would make a man of ordinary prudence and sensibility and decision, in determining an issue of like concern to himself, pause or hesitate in arriving at his conclusion; and that is the criterion for the jury in a criminal prosecution. U. S. v. McHugh (D. C.) 253 F. 224.

The presumption of innocence remains with defendants throughout the entire trial, and so letters written by defendants and relied on by the prosecution are presumed, in the first instance, to be innocent. U. S. v. Murphy (D. C.) 253 F. 404.

42. Argument of counsel.—Where the court when its attention was called to improper remarks of the prosecuting attorney in his opening address, fully stated to the jury that they could only consider the evidence admitted, and not statements of counsel, the remarks must be deemed to have been effectively withdrawn, though the jury were not specifically directed to them. Warren v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 89.

In prosecution for conspiring to defraud United States by obtaining false clearances for vessels intended to coal and provision German warships on high seas, it was permissible for counsel to comment on acts of defendants in delivering to German Embassy documents and codes relative to transaction, where their counsel stated that no effort had been made to obtain possession of such papers. Hamburg-American Steam Packet Co. v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 747.

It is improper for counsel to comment on failure to produce evidence which would have been incompetent, or on failure to call witnesses who would not have been competent. Id.

Reference by prosecuting attorney in opening argument to the crime, murder, for which defendant was serving sentence at the time of the killing of a prison guard, was unnecessary and prejudicial. Manuel v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 272.

43. Entrapment.—A defendant cannot be convicted of a crime which he was incited and induced to commit by a government officer for his entrapment. U. S. v. Echols (D. C.) 253 F. 862; Sam Yick v. U. S., 240 F. 60, 153 C. C. A. 96.

44. Character of accused.—The character of the defendant in a criminal case is not an issue in the case, unless the defendant chooses to make it one. Greer v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 209, 245 U. S. 559, 62 L. Ed. 469, affirming judgment 240 F. 320, 153 C. C. A. 246.

A charge on evidence of good character held erroneous as in effect depriving accused of all benefit of such evidence. Perara v. U. S., 235 F. 515, 149 C. C. A. 61.

There is no presumption of good character of the accused. De Moss v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 87.

Where court charged that accused's reputation for good character should be considered, together with all the other evidence in the case and if the jury should have a reasonable doubt as to accused's guilt he should be acquitted, the denial of a request that evidence of good character may alone create a reasonable doubt was not error. Warren v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 89.

Ordinarily evidence as to character of accused is not deemed of such materiality that the refusal of a continuance for the purpose of procuring such testimony will constitute error. Id.

CHAPTER NINETEEN—LIMITATIONS

§ 1708. (R. S. § 1044, as amended, Act April 13, 1876, c. 56.) Offenses not capital.

15. Conspiracy.—Where, since the date named in an indictment charging conspiracy to defraud the government, overt acts showing a continuance of the conspiracy were committed within the period of limitations, the running of the statute is tolled. Stager v. U. S., 233 F. 510, 147 C. C. A. 396.

Prosecution under Pen. Code, § 215 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10385), denouncing offense of using mails in connection with scheme to defraud, is not barred though scheme originated more than three years before finding of indictment, where mails were within that time used in connection with scheme. Bowers v. U. S., 244 F. 641, 157 C. C. A. 89.

23. Pleading and proof as to time of offense.—Evidence that defendant's office was kept open up to the date of the last act alleged in furtherance of the conspiracy held admissible to show that the prosecution was not barred. Cooper v. U. S., 232 F. 81, 146 C. C. A. 273, certiorari denied 36 S. Ct. 725, 241 U. S. 675, 60 L. Ed. 1232.

15. Penalties or forfeitures under anti-trust act.—See U. S. v. Joles (D. C.) 251 F. 417.

§ 1713. (Act June 22, 1874, c. 391, § 22.) Penalties and forfeitures under customs revenue laws.

Action on bond of importing agent.—An action by the United States on bonds given by an importing agent pursuant to Rev. St. § 2787 (Comp. St. 1916, § 5484), for failure to observe the technical requirements of that section, the duties having been paid, is one to recover a penalty or forfeiture accruing under the customs laws, and is barred in three years by this section. U. S. v. Joles (D. C.) 251 F. 417.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE—THE COURT OF CLAIMS—JURISDICTION, POWERS AND PROCEDURE

Act. Jan. 11, 1915, c. 7, 38 Stat. 791, amending Act March 3, 1891, c. 538, 26 Stat. 851, removes the disability of alienage in respect to claimants for Indian depredations, and provides for reinstatement of claims dismissed because of alienage.

Notes of Decisions

Validity of act.—Act March 4, 1915, § 4, in so far as affecting preexisting contracts for fees is unconstitutional. Lay v. Lay (Miss.) 79 So. 291; Black v. O'Hara, 194 S. W. 811, 175 Ky. 623; Moyers v. City of Memphis (Tenn.) 186 S. W. 105; Newman v. Moyers, 47 App. D. C. 102, Ann. Cas. 1918E, 528. But see Ralston v. Dunaway (Ark.) 184 S. W. 425.

Construction of act.—Applying the cardinal principle of statutory construction of ascertaining the legislative intent by reference to all circumstances surrounding the passage of the law and the history of the subject matter thereof, to the act of January 11, 1915 (38 Stat. 791), it is clear that the Congress intended to grant to inhabitants of the United States the same rights, and nothing more, that were given to citizens of the United States by the act of March 3, 1891 (26 Stat. 851). Rex v. U. S., 53 Ct. Cl. 320.

Motion for reinstatement.—A motion to reinstate under Act Jan. 11, 1915, should show from the evidence in the case, or the court records, that the case would have failed upon the jurisdictional issue of citizenship and that because of that fact the claimants' attorney of record did resist the defendant's motion to dismiss for want of prosecution. In re Reinstatement of Indian Depredation Cases, 50 Ct. Cl. 395.

Amendment as to parties.—Where, in a claim under Act March 3, 1891, c. 538, it appears that two separate depredations were committed by two distinct tribes, it is not allowable to make a change of parties by amending the petition so as to make both tribes joint defendants, and the plaintiff is furnished no relief by Act Jan. 11, 1915, c. 7. Coffield v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 17.

Evidence.—In an action for an alleged Indian depredation the evidence will not be considered separately from related depredations, where it is shown to be so intimately identified with other depredation claims as to render proof of ownership uncertain. Otero v. U. S., 53 Ct. Cl. 168.

A judgment against Indian funds will not be awarded on uncorroborated statements in ex parte affidavits. Albright v. U. S., 53 Ct. Cl. 247.

The General Staff Corps shall consist of one Chief of Staff, who shall be a general officer of the line and who shall take rank and precedence over all other officers of the Army; two assistants to the Chief of Staff, who shall be general officers of the line, one of whom shall be the president of the Army War College; ten colonels; twelve lieutenant colonels; thirty-two majors; and thirty-four captains, to be detailed from corresponding grades in the Army as in this section hereinafter provided. All officers detailed in the General Staff Corps shall be detailed therein for a period of four years, unless sooner relieved. While serving in the General Staff Corps, officers may be temporarily assigned to duty with any branch of the Army. Upon being relieved from duty in the General Staff Corps, officers shall return to the branch of the Army in which they hold permanent commissions, and no officer shall be eligible to a further detail in the General Staff Corps until he shall have served two years with the branch of the Army in which commissioned, except in time of actual or threatened hostilities. Section twenty-seven of the Act of Congress approved February second, nineteen hundred and one, shall apply to each position vacated by officers below the grade of general officer detailed in the General Staff Corps.

Not more than one-half of all of the officers detailed in said corps shall at any time be stationed, or assigned to or employed upon any duty, in or near the District of Columbia. All officers detailed in said corps shall be exclusively employed in the study of military problems, the preparation of plans for the national defense and the utilization of the military forces in time of war, in investigating and reporting upon the efficiency and state of preparedness of such forces for service in peace or war, or on appropriate general staff duties in connection with troops, including the National Guard, or as military attachés in foreign countries, or on other duties, not of an administrative nature, on which they can be lawfully and properly employed: Provided, That no officer shall be detailed as a member of the General Staff Corps, other than the Chief of Staff and the general officers herein provided for as assistants to the Chief of Staff, except upon the recommendation of a board of five officers not below the rank of colonel, who shall be selected by the President or the Secretary of War, and neither the Chief of Staff nor more than two other members of the General Staff Corps, nor any officer not a member of said corps, who shall have been stationed or employed on any duty in or near the District of Columbia within one year prior to the date of convening of any such board, shall be detailed as a member thereof. No recommendation made by any such board shall, for more than one year after the making of such recommendation or at any time after the convening of another such board, unless again recommended by the new board, be valid as a basis for the detail of any officer as a member of the General Staff Corps; and no alteration whatever shall be made in any report or recommendation of any such board, either with or without the consent of members thereof, after the board shall have submitted such report or recommendation and shall have adjourned sine die: Provided further, That the organizations heretofore existing in or in connection with the office of the Chief of Staff under the designations of the mobile army division and the Coast Artillery division be, and they are hereby, abolished and shall not be reestablished. The business heretofore transacted in said divisions, except such as comes clearly within the general powers specified in and conferred upon members of the General Staff Corps by the organic Act of Congress approved February fourteenth, nineteen hundred and three, is hereby transferred as follows, to wit, to the office of the Chief of Coast Artillery, all business apportioned to that office by law or Army regulations at the time of the creation of the Coast Artillery division of the office of the Chief of Staff; to the office of The Adjutant General or other bureau or bureaus concerned, all other business; and, subject to the exercise of the supervising, coordinating, and informing powers conferred upon members of the General Staff Corps by the Act of Congress last hereinbefore cited, the business transferred by this proviso to certain bureaus or offices shall hereafter be transacted exclusively by or under the direction of the respective heads thereof; and the Chief of Coast Artillery shall be an additional member of the General Staff Corps and shall also be advisor to and informant of the Chief of Staff in respect to the business under his charge: Provided further, That hereafter members of the General Staff Corps shall be confined strictly to the discharge of the duties of the general nature of those specified for them in this section and in the organic Act of Congress last hereinbefore cited, and they shall not be permitted to assume or engage in work of an administrative nature that pertains to established bureaus or offices of the War Department, or that, being assumed or engaged in by members of the General Staff Corps, would involve impairment of the responsibility or initiative of such bureaus or offices, or would cause injurious or unnecessary duplication of or delay in the work thereof: Provided further, That all pay and allowances shall be forfeited by any superior for any period during which, by his order or his permission, or by reason of his neglect, any subordinate shall violate any of the foregoing provisions of this section: Provided further, That if any officer detailed in the General Staff Corps, or as an officer of any staff corps or department of the Army, shall be promoted to the next higher grade while so serving he may be permitted to serve out the period of his detail, and the number of officers in the organization in which he shall be serving and in the grade to which he shall have been promoted shall be increased by one for such time as he shall be an additional number in said organization and grade; but the whole number of officers detailed to said organization shall at no time exceed the aggregate of the numbers allowed to the several grades thereof by law other than this proviso. (39 Stat. 167. 40 Stat. 46.)

The amendment of this section by Act May 12, 1917, c. 12, cited above, consists in the substitution, in the first paragraph, for the words "detailed in time of peace from major generals of the line," immediately following the words "one Chief of Staff," of the words "who shall be a general officer of the line and who shall take rank and precedence over all other officers of the Army," in the omission of the words "not above the grade of brigadier general," immediately after the words "one of whom," and in increasing the number of lieutenant colonels from ten to twelve, the number of the majors from fifteen to thirty-two, and the number of captains from seventeen to thirty-four, so as to make the paragraph read as set forth here. Said corps shall consist of sections corresponding to the various arms, staff corps, and departments of the Regular Army. Except as otherwise herein provided, a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not be subject to call for service in time of peace, and whenever called upon for service shall not, without his consent, be so called in a lower grade than that held by him in said reserve corps.

The President alone shall be authorized to appoint and commission as reserve officers in the various sections of the Officers' Reserve Corps, in all grades up to and including that of major, such citizens as, upon examination prescribed by the President, shall be found physically, mentally, and morally qualified to hold such commissions: Provided, That the proportion of officers in any section of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not exceed the proportion for the same grade in the corresponding arm, corps, or department of the Regular Army, except that the number commissioned in the lowest authorized grade in any section of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not be limited.

The Secretary of War may, in time of peace, order first lieutenants of the medical section of the Officers' Reserve Corps, with their consent, to active duty in the service of the United States in such numbers as the public interests may require and the funds appropriated may permit, and may relieve them from such duty when their services are no longer necessary. While on such duty they shall receive the pay and allowances, including pay for periods of sickness and leaves of absence, of officers of corresponding rank and length of active service in the Regular Army.

The commissions of all officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall be in force for a period of five years unless sooner terminated in the discretion of the President. Such officers may be recommissioned, either in the same or higher grades, for successive periods of five years, subject to such examinations and qualifications as the President may prescribe and to the age limits prescribed herein: Provided, That officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall have rank therein in the various sections of said Reserve Corps according to grades and to length of service in their grades. ENLISTMENT AND DISCHARGE OF ENLISTED MEN; ARMY RESERVE § 1884. (R. S. § 1116.) General qualifications for enlistment.

Validity of enlistment in general.—See Hoskins v. Pell, 239 F. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D, 1053.

Person, enlisting in National Guard and subsequently drafted into federal service, held not entitled to discharge, because he should have been rejected, there being no evidence that medical examiner acted through bias or hostility. Ex parte Blackington (D. C.) 245 F. 801, order affirmed Blackington v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 248 F. 124.

Despite this section, relator, having been duly certified into military service of United States under Selective Draft Act, is not entitled to discharge on ground that he was afflicted with disease which rendered discharge necessary, for that question is one for army. In re Traina (D. C.) 248 F. 1004.

§ 1885a. (Act June 3, 1916, c. 134, § 27.) Enlistment of minors.

1. Enlistment of minors.—This section, if applicable to enlistment in National Guard, does not make enlistment without consent void, but only voidable by parent. Reed v. Cushman (C. C. A.) 251 F. 872.

The military authorities cannot detain an enlisted man by virtue of his contract of enlistment, made while under military age and terminated by the election of his parents or guardian. U. S. v. Brown (D. C.) 242 F. 983.

Under this section, parent of minor under 18 years of age, who enlisted without her consent, is, in absence of other reason why he should be retained by military authorities entitled to judgment releasing such minor from control of military authorities. Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

Enlistment of minor, without written consent of parent or guardian, held not void or voidable by him, though he may be released on timely application of his parent or guardian. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

This section is intended for benefit of parent or guardian, and gives no privilege to minor. Ex parte Rush (D. C.) 246 F. 172.

2½. —— Parents outside of United States.—Where a minor had no parent or guardian living in the United States when he enlisted, the subsequent arrival of his mother in the United States could not have any retroactive effect upon the prior enlistment. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

5. —— Military service.—This section applies to enlistments of minors under 18 in the National Guard, and such enlistments may be avoided by the parents of the minors who did not consent. Hoskins v. Dickerson, 239 F. 275, 152 C. C. A. 263, L. R. A. 1917D, 1056, Ann. Cas. 1917C, 776.

Mother, who was surviving parent of boy under 18 who enlisted in the National Guard and was mustered into the service of the United States, held not entitled, under Rev. St. § 1117 as modified by this section, to secure release of minor though he misrepresented his age; the statutes being applicable only to the regular army. Ex parte Winfield (D. C.) 236 F. 552.

9. —— Effect of oath of enlistment.—A minor under 16 years who attempts to enlist does not become a soldier. Hoskins v. Pell, 239 F. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D, 1053.

Where minor over 18 took federal enlistment oath, defects in original enlistment were immaterial, and his parent or guardian could not reclaim his custody or control. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

10. —— Ratification of enlistment.—Parent or guardian of enlisted minor held to waive statutory requirement as to written consent by acquiescing with knowledge in the minor's continuance in the service. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

11. —— Right to discharge as affected by pending prosecution for violation of military law.—A minor over 16 and under 18, who enlisted in the National Guard without the consent of his parents, became liable to punishment for military offenses, despite the right of his parents to avoid the enlistment. Hoskins v. Dickerson, 239 F. 275, 152 C. C. A. 263, L. R. A. 1917D, 1056, Ann. Cas. 1917C, 776.

A military tribunal held to have jurisdiction to try offender, under military age for offenses committed before father's election to terminate enlistment, though he was not taken into custody until after such election. U. S. v. Brown (D. C.) 242 F. 983.

Where minor under 18 years of age, who enlisted without consent of his parents, was, before they obtained his release on habeas corpus, arrested for military offense, right of military authorities to punish minor for military offense was not affected by whether arrest was before or after issue and service of writ. Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

Under this section, minor 17 years old, who enlisted without guardian's consent, misrepresenting his age, becomes de jure soldier, and, having committed military offense, cannot be discharged on application of his guardian until expiation of such offense. Ex parte Rush (D. C.) 246 F. 172.

12. —— Right to discharge as affected by pending prosecution for fraudulent enlistment.—Parents of minor, who enlisted without their knowledge or consent, held, under the facts, entitled to his discharge on habeas corpus, though after they demanded his discharge he was arrested for fraudulent enlistment. Ex parte Avery (D. C.) 235 F. 248.

While parent of minor under 18 years of age was entitled under National Defense Act to obtain his release where he enlisted without her consent, nevertheless military authorities had jurisdiction to try such minor in accordance with Articles of War, arts. 8, 9, 10, 12, and 54, enacted by Act June 29, 1916 (Comp. St. 1916, § 2308a), for offense of fraudulent enlistment. Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

13. —— Rights as affected by desertion.—Under this section, guardian of minor, who enlisted when under 18 without guardian's consent, cannot, more than year after enlistment, secure ward's discharge, after he deserted and was arrested to await court-martial for offense. Ex parte Rush (D. C.) 246 F. 172.

14. —— Authority and jurisdiction to discharge.—The parent or guardian of a minor, who enlisted without his consent, is entitled to the minor's discharge on habeas corpus, unless there are pending charges against him which give a court-martial priority of jurisdiction. Ex parte Avery (D. C.) 235 F. 248.

14½. Application for discharge.—Only parents or guardians of minor who enlists by misrepresenting his age can secure his discharge. Ex parte Winfield (D. C.) 236 F. 552.

Application by parent or guardian of enlisted minor for his release must be made with reasonable diligence and after commission of military offense, and especially after arrest and preferment of charges, the application is too late. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

§ 1886. (R. S. § 1118, as amended, Act Feb. 27, 1877, c. 69, § 1.) Persons not to be enlisted.

Cited without definite application, Hoskins v. Pell, 239 F. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D, 1053; Ex parte Rush (D. C.) 246 F. 172.

§ 1887. [Repealed.]

This section, which was R. S. § 1120, was repealed by a provision of Act May 12, 1917, c. 12, 40 Stat. 53.

§ 1887a. [Repealed in part.]

So much of this section (a provision of Act June 3, 1916, c. 134, § 27) as authorized the payment to postmasters of $5 for each recruit secured by them and accepted by the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, was repealed by Act July 2, 1918, c. 117, § 11, 40 Stat. 754.

§ 1888. (Act Aug. 1, 1894, c. 179, § 2.) Term of enlistment; qualifications for enlistment and re-enlistment.

Aliens.—Enlisting alien cannot avoid his enlistment, and escape liability for service or punishment, especially as Comp. St. 1916, § 1888, is limited to enlistments in time of peace. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

For the purpose of securing an additional reserve of enlisted men for military service with the Engineer, Signal, and Quartermaster Corps and the Ordnance and Medical Departments of the Regular Army, an Enlisted Reserve Corps, to consist of such number of enlisted men of such grade or grades as may be designated by the President from time to time, is hereby authorized, such authorization to be effective on and after the first day of July, nineteen hundred and sixteen.

There may be enlisted in the grade or grades hereinbefore specified, for a period of four years, under such rules as may be prescribed by the President, citizens of the United States, or persons who have declared their intentions to become citizens of the United States, subject to such physical, educational, and practical examination as may be prescribed in said rules. For men enlisting in said grade or grades certificates of enlistment in the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall be issued by The Adjutant General of the Army, but no such man shall be enlisted in said corps unless he shall be found physically, mentally, and morally qualified to hold such certificate and unless he shall be between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years. The certificates so given shall confer upon the holders when called into active service or for purposes of instruction and training, and during the period of such active service, instruction, or training, all the authority, rights, and privileges of like grades of the Regular Army. Enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall take precedence in said corps according to the dates of their certificates of enlistment therein and when called into active service or when called out for purposes of instruction or training shall take precedence next below all other enlisted men of like grades in the Regular Army. And the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to issue to members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps and to persons who have participated in at least one encampment for the military instruction of citizens, conducted under the auspices of the War Department, distinctive rosettes or knots designed for wear with civilian clothing, and whenever a rosette or knot issued under the provisions of this section shall have been lost, destroyed, or rendered unfit for use without fault or neglect upon the part of the person to whom it is issued, the Secretary of War shall cause a new rosette or knot to be issued to such person without charge therefor. Any person who is not an enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps and shall not have participated in at least one encampment for the military instruction of citizens, conducted under the auspices of the War Department, and who shall wear such rosette or knot shall be guilty of misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not exceeding $300, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both.

The President is authorized to assign members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps as reserves to particular organizations of the Regular Army, or to organize the Enlisted Reserve Corps, or any part thereof, into units or detachments of any arm, corps, or department in such manner as he may prescribe, and to assign to such units and detachments officers of the Regular Army or of the Officers' Reserve Corps, herein provided for.

To the extent provided from time to time by appropriations the Secretary of War may order enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps to active service for purposes of instruction or training for periods not to exceed fifteen days in any one calendar year: Provided, That, with the consent of such enlisted men and within the limits of funds available for such purposes, such periods of active service may be extended for such number of enlisted men as may be deemed necessary.

Enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall receive the pay and allowances of their respective grades, but only when ordered into active service and from the date of their departure to place where ordered, transportation and reimbursement of cost of subsistence at such rate as may be fixed by the Secretary of War during travel from home to place where ordered and return home and subsistence in kind during period not in transit and while in service: Provided, That said enlisted men shall not be entitled to retirement or retirement pay: Provided further, That when any enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall be ordered to active service for purposes of instruction or training he may be paid at any time after the date such order shall become effective for the period from the date of leaving home to date of return thereto as determined in advance, both dates inclusive, and such payment, if otherwise correct, shall pass to the credit of the disbursing officer making the same.

The uniform to be worn by enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps, except corps insignia, shall be the same as prescribed for enlisted men of the Regular Army Reserve, and that in lieu of any money allowance for clothing there shall be issued to each enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps in time of peace such articles of clothing and equipment as the President may direct: Provided, That any clothing or other equipment issued to any enlisted man of the said corps shall remain the property of the United States, and in case of loss or destruction of any article, the article so lost or destroyed shall be replaced by issue to the enlisted man and the value thereof deducted from any pay due or to become due him, unless it shall be made to appear that such loss or destruction was not due to neglect or other fault on his part: Provided further, That any clothing or other equipment issued to enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps which shall have become unserviceable through ordinary wear and tear in the service of the United States shall be received back by the United States and serviceable like articles issued in lieu thereof: Provided further, That when enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall be discharged or otherwise separated from the service, all arms, equipage, clothing, and other property issued to them shall be accounted for under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War.

Any enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps ordered to active service or for purposes of instruction or training shall, from the time he is required by the terms of the order to obey the same, be subject to the laws and regulations for the government of the Army of the United States.

The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to discharge any enlisted member of the Enlisted Reserve Corps when his services shall be no longer required, or when he shall have by misconduct unfitted himself for further service in the said corps: Provided, That any enlisted man of said corps who shall be ordered upon active duty as herein provided and who shall willfully fail to comply with the terms of the order so given him shall, in addition to any other penalty to which he may be subject, forfeit his certificate of enlistment.

In time of actual or threatened hostilities the President may order the Enlisted Reserve Corps, in such numbers and at such times as may be considered necessary, to active service with the Regular Army, and while on such service members of said corps shall exercise command appropriate to their several grades and rank in the organizations to which they shall be assigned and shall be entitled to the pay and allowances of the corresponding grades in the Regular Army, with increase of pay for length of service as now allowed by law for the Regular Army: Provided, That upon a call by the President for a volunteer force the members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps may be mustered into the service of the United States as volunteers for duty with the Army in the grades held by them in the said corps, and shall be entitled to the pay and allowances of the corresponding grades in the Regular Army, with increase of pay for length of service, as now provided by law for the Regular Army: And provided further, That enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall not acquire by virtue of issuance of certificates of enlistment to them a vested right to be mustered into the volunteer service of the United States. (39 Stat. 195. 40 Stat. 891.)

This section was amended by Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XVII, § 9, cited above, by changing the fifth paragraph thereof to read as set forth above. As originally enacted said paragraph read as follows: "Enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall receive the pay and allowances of their respective grades, but only when ordered into active service, including the time required for actual travel from their homes to the places to which ordered and return to their homes: Provided, That said enlisted men shall not be entitled to retirement or retirement pay, nor shall they be entitled to pensions except for physical disability incurred in line of duty while in active service or while traveling under orders of competent authority to or from designated places of duty."

This section, which was a provision of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1917, authorized the President, in time of war, to take possession and assume control of any system of transportation, etc., for the transfer or transportation of troops, war material and equipment, etc. The President having acted under the authority conferred by this section, Act March 21, 1918, c. 25, was enacted to authorize and regulate the compensation, etc., to be paid the transportation systems taken over, and for other purposes germane to the proper operation, etc., of such systems. Said act March 21, 1918, c. 25, is set forth post, under Title XVIIA, "National Defense," as §§ 3115¾a–3115¾p thereof.

Proclamation issued under this section, dated December 26, 1917, as follows, omitting formal portions:

"And whereas it has now become necessary in the national defense to take possession and assume control of certain systems of transportation and to utilize the same, to the exclusion as far as may be necessary of other than war traffic thereon, for the transportation of troops, war material and equipment therefor, and for other needful and desirable purposes connected with the prosecution of the war;

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, under and by virtue of the powers vested in me by the foregoing resolutions and statute, and by virtue of all other powers thereto me enabling, do hereby, through Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, take possession and assume control at 12 o'clock noon on the twenty-eighth day of December, 1917, of each and every system of transportation and the appurtenances thereof located wholly or in part within the boundaries of the continental United States and consisting of railroads, and owned or controlled systems of coastwise and inland transportation, engaged in general transportation, whether operated by steam or by electric power, including also terminals, terminal companies and terminal associations, sleeping and parlor cars, private cars and private car lines, elevators, warehouses, telegraph and telephone lines and all other equipment and appurtenances commonly used upon or operated as a part of such rail or combined rail and water systems of transportation; —to the end that such systems of transportation be utilized for the transfer and transportation of troops, war material and equipment, to the exclusion so far as may be necessary of all other traffic thereon; and that so far as such exclusive use be not necessary or desirable, such systems of transportation be operated and utilized in the performance of such other services as the national interest may require and of the usual and ordinary business and duties of common carriers.

"It is hereby directed that the possession, control, operation and utilization of such transportation systems hereby by me undertaken shall be exercised by and through William G. McAdoo, who is hereby appointed and designated Director General of Railroads. Said Director may perform the duties imposed upon him, so long and to such extent as he shall determine, through the Boards of Directors, Receivers, officers and employees of said systems of transportation. Until and except so far as said Director shall from time to time by general or special orders otherwise provide, the Boards of Directors, Receivers, officers and employees of the various transportation systems shall continue the operation thereof in the usual and ordinary course of the business of common carriers in the names of their respective companies.

"Until and except so far as said Director shall from time to time otherwise by general or special orders determine, such systems of transportation shall remain subject to all existing statutes and orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and to all statutes and orders of regulating commissions of the various states in which said systems or any part thereof may be situated. But any orders, general or special, hereafter made by said Director, shall have paramount authority and be obeyed as such.

"Nothing herein shall be construed as now affecting the possession, operation and control of street electric passenger railways, including railways commonly called interurbans, whether such railways be or be not owned or controlled by such railroad companies or systems. By subsequent order and proclamation, if and when it shall be found necessary or desirable, possession, control or operation may be taken of all or any part of such street railway systems, including subways and tunnels; and by subsequent order and proclamation possession, control and operation in whole or in part may also be relinquished to the owners thereof of any part of the railroad systems or rail and water systems, possession and control of which are hereby assumed.

"The Director shall as soon as may be after having assumed such possession and control enter upon negotiations with the several companies looking to agreements for just and reasonable compensation for the possession, use and control of their respective properties on the basis of an annual guaranteed compensation, above accruing depreciation and the maintenance of their properties, equivalent, as nearly as may be, to the average of the net operating income thereof for the three year period ending June 30, 1917,—the results of such negotiations to be reported to me for such action as may be appropriate and lawful.

"But nothing herein contained, expressed or implied, or hereafter done or suffered hereunder, shall be deemed in any way to impair the rights of the stockholders, bondholders, creditors and other persons having interests in said systems of transportation or in the profits thereof, to receive just and adequate compensation for the use and control and operation of their property hereby assumed.

"Regular dividends hitherto declared, and maturing interest upon bonds, debentures and other obligations, may be paid in due course; and such regular dividends and interest may continue to be paid until and unless the said Director shall from time to time otherwise by general or special orders determine; and, subject to the approval of the Director, the various carriers may agree upon and arrange for the renewal and extension of maturing obligations.

"Except with the prior written assent of said Director, no attachment by mesne process or on execution shall be levied on or against any of the property used by any of said transportation systems in the conduct of their business as common carriers; but suits may be brought by and against said carriers and judgments rendered as hitherto until and except so far as said Director may, by general or special orders, otherwise determine.

"From and after twelve o'clock on said twenty-eighth day of December, 1917, all transportation systems included in this order and proclamation shall conclusively be deemed within the possession and control of said Director without further act or notice. But for the purpose of accounting said possession and control shall date from twelve o'clock midnight on December 31, 1917."

See, also, Proclamation under § 3115¾h, post.

McAdoo, who has been duly appointed and designated Director General of Railroads. Said Director General may perform the duties imposed upon him, so long and to such extent as he shall determine, through the boards of directors, officers, and employees of said systems of transportation. But any orders, general or special, hereafter made by said Director General shall have paramount authority and be obeyed as such.

"The Director General shall, as soon as may be after having assumed such possession and control, enter upon negotiations with the several companies looking to agreements for just and reasonable compensation for the possession, use, and control of their respective properties and fix such just compensation as provided by law.

"But nothing herein contained, expressed or implied, or hereafter done or suffered hereunder, shall be deemed in any way to impair the rights of the stockholders, bondholders, creditors, and other persons having interests in said systems of transportation or in the profits thereof to receive just and adequate compensation for the use and control and operation of their property hereby assumed.

"That none of said carriers while under Federal control shall, without the prior approval of the President, declare or pay any dividends in excess of its regular rate of dividends during the three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen: Provided, however, that such carriers as have paid no regular dividends or no dividends during said period may, with the prior approval of the President, pay dividends at such rate as the President may determine.

"Except with the prior written assent of said Director General, no attachment by mesne process or on execution shall be levied on or against any of the property used by any of said transportation systems in the conduct of their business as common carriers; but suits may be brought by and against said carriers and judgments rendered as hitherto until and except so far as said Director General may, by general or special orders, otherwise determine.

"From and after 12:01 a. m. on said 13th day of April, 1918, all transportation systems included in this order and proclamation shall conclusively be

Notes of Decisions

Construction and operation of section in general.—The extent of the power conferred by this section to take possession and the determination of the property to be taken possession of, are questions for the court. United States Railroad Administration v. Burch (D. C.) 254 F. 140.

Effect of government control in general.—Under this section and the presidential proclamation of December 26, 1917, and despite Act March 21, 1918, post, § 3115¾a, the Director General of Railroads was not authorized to take possession of land belonging to a railroad company which was not used in its business as a carrier; hence sale of such land under execution against the railroad company will not be enjoined on suit of the Director General, the company making no objection. United States Railroad Administration v. Burch (D. C.) 254 F. 140.

In view of the presidential proclamation of December 26, 1917, whereby the President, as a war measure, under the authority of this section assumed control of the railway systems of the country, and in view of Federal Control Act March 21, 1918, post, § 3115¾a, held, that the operation of the Interstate Commerce Acts, including the Elkins Act (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 8563–8604), was not suspended. U. S. v. Metropolitan Lumber Co. (D. C.) 254 F. 335.

After President of United States had assumed control of railroad systems under this section, Act Cong. March 21, 1918 (post, §§ 3115¾a–3115¾p), providing for operation of systems then under government control and for just compensation to owners, and under section 10, of which Director General of Railroads by General Order 28 increased freight rates and prescribed uniform passenger fare without distinguishing between interstate and intrastate commerce, conferred extraordinary executive powers necessitated by existence of war. State v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. (N. D.) 172 N. W. 324.

Termination of hostilities under the armistice does not justify judicial interference to restrain further exercise of extraordinary executive powers conferred upon Pesident by this section and Act Cong. March 21, 1918 (post, §§ 3115¾a–3115¾p), providing for operation of railroad systems under government control, and rendered necessary by a state of war. Id.

Under this section and under President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, prima facie a cause of action under federal Employers' Liability Act April 22, 1908 (U. S. Comp. St. §§ 8657–8665), for death of an employé arising and action begun subsequent to assumption of federal control and before passage of Rail Control Act March 21, 1918 (post, §§ 3115¾a–3115¾p), became vested in plaintiff as administrator of deceased prior to passage of Rail Control Act. McGregor v. Great Northern Ry. Co. (N. D.) 172 N. W. 841.

Carrier corporations during period of federal control under this section and President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, and Rail Control Act March 21, 1918 (post, §§ 3115¾a–3115¾p), remain legal entities, capable of suing and being sued in the courts, and are champions of their own legal rights. Id.

During the period that the President as a war emergency act controls and operates the railroads there will be no attempt to enforce an order of a state Board of Railroad Commissioners, requiring railroads to construct connecting track, as the order cannot be enforced without the consent of the government. Commercial Club of City of Mitchell v. Chicago, M. & St. P. Ry. Co. (S. D.) 170 N. W. 149.

Actions.—Despite extremely broad war-making powers of Congress under Const. art. 1, § 8, held that, where President took control of railroads pursuant to this section, a railroad cannot defeat action thereafter instituted on ground that it was one against property of United States and that United States had not given its consent to be sued. Muir v. Louisville & N. R. Co. (D. C.) 247 F. 888.

Rights of action against railroad company, arising out of relation of carrier and passenger, already vested, cannot be divested by act of President in taking possession of and assuming control of railroads under this section. Id.

—— Jurisdiction of courts.—Actions against railroad company, instituted in state court after President by proclamation assumed control of railroads under this section, are not actions arising under Constitution or laws of United States, so as to be removable to federal courts, under Judicial Code, § 28; the presidential proclamation not having the force of law. Muir v. Louisville & N. R. Co. (D. C.) 247 F. 888.

This section, sections 3115¾j, 3115¾m, 3115¾o post, and presidential proclamations of December 26, 1918, and April 11, 1918, did not prohibit state courts from entertaining jurisdiction and proceeding to judgment in all cases against railroads as theretofore; the only purpose being to prevent states from seizing property necessary to be used in maintenance of transportation system of country for use of national government. L. N. Dantzler Lumber Co. v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Miss.) 80 So. 770.

A state court could entertain jurisdiction of action against a nonresident railroad wherein a debt owing defendant by railroad running through state was attached, whether or not an execution could be levied; the word "mesne," used in Act Cong. March 21, 1918, prohibiting execution or other mesne process against railroads, meaning intermediate; intervening; the middle between two extremes. Id.

Proclamation assuming control.—Despite authority of Congress to delegate to heads of executive departments and other officials right to make regulations, proclamation by which the President, acting under this section, took possession of and assumed control of railroads, has no force as law. Muir v. Louisville & N. R. Co. (D. C.) 247 F. 888.

Under this section, clause of President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, relative to governmental control of railroads, prohibiting attachment on mesne process, except with the prior written assent of the Director General, is valid; and moneys constituting traffic balances fall within its provisions. Dooley v. Pennsylvania R. Co. (D. C.) 250 F. 142.

—— Judicial notice.—Courts will take judicial notice of proclamation of President of December 26, 1917, declaring necessity to take possession and control of certain systems of transportation in United States, including railroads. Muir v. Louisville & N. R. Co. (D. C.) 247 F. 888.

Regulations.—Under this section and presidential proclamation of December 26, 1917, whereby the President took such possession and control, together with Act March 21, 1918, providing for the operation of transportation systems under federal control, the complete possession and control of the railroads taken by the United States impliedly included the power to fix rates, regardless of the power given by Act March 21, 1918, § 10 (Comp. St. 1918, § 3115¾j). Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. State of North Dakota ex rel. Langer, 39 S. Ct. 502, 63 L. Ed. —.

The war power of the United States is not disputable, and therefore where Congress, under its war power, by this section authorized the President to take possession of transportation systems and the President took control of the railroads, and was by subsequent Act March 21, 1918, § 10 (post, § 3115¾j), authorized to fix rates, such rate-making power cannot be construed as limited to interstate rates, for that would be a limitation on the war powers of the United States. Id.

While this section was passed pursuant to the war power of Congress, given by Const. art. 1, § 8, held, that a railroad embargo promulgated under presidential authority, though giving preference to war material, was nothing more than a regulation incident to the proper conduct of the business of railroads, and the control which the President had assumed. U. S. v. Metropolitan Lumber Co. (D. C.) 254 F. 335.

Under Act March 21, 1918, §§ 8, 10 (post, §§ 3115¾h, 3115¾j), and despite section 9 (section 3115¾i), held, that orders of the Director General of Railroads, through whom the President assumed control of the railroads pursuant to this section, that suits against carriers while under federal control, should be brought in the county or district where the plaintiff resided at the time of the accrual of the action, were not effective to so limit that right, and, where authorized by state law, a plaintiff might sue in a district other than that in which he resided at the time of accrual of the action, upon a cause of action not arising out of the railway company's duties as a common carrier. Friesen v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. (D. C.) 254 F. 875.

As the Director General is the carrier since the President has taken control and possession of railroads under this section, Order No. 50 of the Director General providing for his substitution in case of actions against railroad company for causes of action arising since governmental control is warranted notwithstanding Act March 21, 1918, c. 25, § 10 (post, § 3115¾j), providing that actions or suits may be brought against such carriers, for the Director General is the carrier, being analogous to a receiver, and it is proper that he be substituted in place of the railroad company. Rutherford v. Union Pac. R. Co. (D. C.) 254 F. 880.

Under this section, President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, delegating control to Director General of Railroads, Federal Control Act, § 10 (post, § 3115¾j), and General Order No. 50 of Director General, a personal injury action commenced subsequent to General Order No. 50 on a cause of action occurring during federal operation may be maintained against Director General of Railroads. Dahn v. McAdoo (D. C.) 256 F. 549.

No process will issue on judgment against Director General which will interfere with his possession of railroad property committed to his control. Id.

The President and his agents had no power, under this section or Act March 21, 1918, §§ 1, 10, post, §§ 3115¾a, 3115¾j, to make an order whereby a right of action already existing against a railroad would be extinguished or cut off. Benjamin Moore & Co. v. Atchison, T. & S. F. Ry. Co. (Sup.) 174 N. Y. S. 60.

Orders Nos. 50 and 50a of the Director General of Railroads allow amendment of pleading by substitution of that official for the defendant carrier in actions pending at promulgation of the orders, without necessity of supplemental summons to him. Sagona v. Pullman Co. (Sup.) 174 N. Y. S. 536.

That a railroad is under federal control and operated by the Director General of Railroads does not excuse it from performing its duty to repair framework, etc., of bridge carrying an avenue over its tracks, as required by Railroad Law, § 93; and General Order No. 50, issued by the Director General, relating to actions arising after December 31, 1917, has no application. In re Morris Ave. Bridge in City of New York (Sup.) 174 N. Y. S. 682.

General Order No. 50, promulgated by the Director General of Railroads, requiring suits upon causes of actions arising subsequent to December 31, 1917, to be brought against the Director General, and authorizing his substitution for railroad company as party defendant and dismissal of action as to company, is not warranted by Rail Control Act March 21, 1918 (post, §§ 3115¾a–3115¾p), in so far as it purports to be applicable to causes of action already vested. McGregor v. Great Northern Ry. Co. (N. D.) 172 N. W. 841.

Under this section and Act March 21, 1918, § 9, post, § 3115¾i, the President's appointment of a Director General, and the Orders of the Director General Nos. 18, 18a, and 26, in effect requiring suits against carriers under federal control to be brought in the county where plaintiff resided at the time of the injury, or where the cause of action arose, and prohibiting trial of a suit brought in any other county, are valid; and since they relate only to the remedy of a person injured and desiring to sue, are not subject to the objection that they are ex post facto or retroactive. Rhodes v. Tatum (Tex. Civ. App.) 206 S. W. 114.

MILITARY POSTS AND GARRISONS; BARRACKS AND QUARTERS; MOBILIZATION, ETC., STATIONS

§ 1979a. (Act May 12, 1917, c. 12.) Military posts; expenditures for.

Hereafter no expenditure exceeding $5,000 shall be made upon any building or military post or grounds about the same without the approval of the Secretary of War, upon detailed estimates submitted to him. (40 Stat. 74.)

This was a provision of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1918, cited above.

§ 1980aa. (Act July 9, 1918, c. 143.) Army field clerks; pay and allowances.

Provided, That said clerks, messengers, and laborers shall be employed and assigned by the Secretary of War to the offices and positions in which they are to serve. (40 Stat. 853.)

This was a provision of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above. The messengers and laborers referred to are those authorized by a preceding appropriation for the pay of the Army, Quartermaster Corps.

The "First Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1919," Act Nov. 4, 1918, c. 201, § 1, 40 Stat. 1028, makes an appropriation for the employment and pay of additional clerks at headquarters of the several territorial departments, territorial districts, tactical divisions and brigades, and service schools, for the year 1919, as follows:

"Fifteen at $2,000 each, seventy-five at $1,800 each, one hundred and eighty at $1,600 each, one hundred and eighty at $1,400 each, one thousand and fifty at $1,200 each.

"The appropriation for 'Pay of the Army' for the fiscal year 1919 shall be available to pay one thousand two hundred and eighty-nine field clerks at the rate of $1,200 per annum, the minimum or entrance rate fixed by the Army appropriation Act approved July 9, 1918, instead of at $1,000 per annum, the rate appropriated in the said Act."

§ 1987a. (Act Nov. 4, 1918, c. 201, § 1.) Cultivation of lands purchased for Army.

Subsistence of the Army: For subsistence of the Army, including the same objects and under the same limitations specified under this head in the Army appropriation Act for the fiscal year 1919 * *: Provided, That not to exceed $250,000 of this sum is made available for the purposes of developing agricultural activities on lands owned, purchased, or leased for the Army, and such development, together with the sale of any produce or material arising therefrom, shall be made pursuant to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War: Provided, That all moneys received by the United States as the proceeds of such sales shall be deposited in the Treasury as a miscellaneous receipt: Provided further, That so much of the Act of July 16, 1892, as provides that no money appropriated for the support of the Army shall be expended for post gardens is suspended during the fiscal year 1919. (40 Stat. 1028.)

These were provisions of the "First Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1919," cited above.

§ 1988aa. (Act May 12, 1917, c. 12.) Instruction additional to military training.

Vocational training: For the employment of the necessary civilian instructors in the most important trades, for the purchase of carpenter's, machinist's, plumber's, mason's, electrician's, and such other tools and equipment as may be required, including machines used in connection with the trades, for the purchase of material and other supplies necessary for instruction and training purposes and the construction of such buildings needed for vocational training in agriculture for shops, storage, and shelter of machinery as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of section twenty-seven of the Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, authorizing, in addition to the military training of soldiers while in the active service, means for securing an opportunity to study and receive instruction upon educational lines of such character as to increase their military efficiency and enable them to return to civil life better equipped for industrial, commercial, and general business occupations, part of this instruction to consist of vocational education either in agriculture or the mechanic arts, $250,000: Provided, however, That the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, in order to carry out the last provision, select one or more and not exceeding three regiments of Infantry, Cavalry, or Field Artillery to be stationed at a regimental post within the continental limits of the United States on or before July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and may transfer from such regiment to other organizations any enlisted man or men who do not desire educational or vocational training and instruction such as is contemplated by the concluding paragraph of section twenty-seven of the National Defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and may transfer thereto from other organizations a number of enlisted men to be selected under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe who do desire such instruction and training or may receive recruits thereto sufficient to bring the enlisted strength of the regiment up to that authorized by law. During such part of the year beginning July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and thereafter as the enlisted men of the regiment so selected shall not be engaged on field service or in field training they shall be under training or instruction nine hours of each day, or as near that number of hours as possible, Sundays and holidays excepted, at least three hours of each day to be devoted to military training and six hours of each day, or as nearly that as possible, to educational and vocational training and instruction such as is contemplated by the concluding paragraph of section twenty-seven of the National Defense Act. The educational and vocational training to be had under civilian instructors employed for that purpose under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of War shall prescribe: And provided further, That said civilian instructors, as well as the discipline of the said post, shall be under the jurisdiction of the military authorities, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe. (40 Stat. 59.)

This was a provision of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above. It supersedes a similar provision of Act May 12, 1917, c. 12, 40 Stat. 41.

§ 2019a. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 12.) Sale of alcoholic liquor in or near camps or to officers or men.

The President of the United States, as Commander in Chief of the Army, is authorized to make such regulations governing the prohibition of alcoholic liquors in or near military camps and to the officers and enlisted men of the Army as he may from time to time deem necessary or advisable: Provided, That no person, corporation, partnership, or association shall sell, supply, or have in his or its possession any intoxicating or spirituous liquors at any military station, cantonment, camp, fort, post, officers' or enlisted men's club, which is being used at the time for military purposes under this Act, but the Secretary of War may make regulations permitting the sale and use of intoxicating liquors for medicinal purposes. It shall be unlawful to sell any intoxicating liquor, including beer, ale, or wine, to any officer or member of the military forces while in uniform, except as herein provided. Any person, corporation, partnership, or association violating the provisions of this section of the regulations made thereunder shall, unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than twelve months, or both. (40 Stat. 82.)

This section and the section next following are sections 12 and 13 of the Selective Draft Act, cited above. The other sections of said act are set forth post, §§ 2044a–2044k.

The provisions of this section and the following section were extended to the Navy by Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 92, post, § 2813e.

Notes of Decisions

Indictment.—An indictment charging the unlawful selling of intoxicating liquor to soldiers in uniform is sufficient, though it did not negative exceptions which Secretary of War is authorized to prescribe as to sale of liquor at any military station, etc., for medicinal purposes; it appearing that sales were made outside any military reservation, and it not being shown that any exceptions had been prescribed. Young v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 249 F. 935.

Proof.—In prosecution for sale of liquor to soldiers in uniform, where government's evidence showed sale on date other than that laid in indictment, it was proper to submit to jury question whether sale occurred on date testified to, or on some other day; jury considering testimony as to date on question of witnesses' credibility. Young v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 249 F. 935.

Cited without definite application, U. S. v. Casey (D. C.) 247 F. 362.

§ 2019b. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 13, as amended, Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XIV.) Prostitution near cantonments prohibited.

During the present emergency it shall be unlawful, within such reasonable distance of any military camp, station, fort, post, cantonment, training or mobilization place as the Secretary of War shall determine to be needful to the efficiency and welfare of the Army, and shall designate and publish in general orders or bulletins, to engage in prostitution or to aid or abet prostitution or to procure or solicit for purposes of prostitution, or to keep or set up a house of ill fame, brothel, or bawdy house, or to receive any person for purposes of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution into any vehicle, conveyance, place, structure, or building, or to permit any person to remain for purposes of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution in any vehicle, conveyance, place, structure, or building; and any person, corporation, partnership, or association violating the provisions of this chapter shall, unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and any person subject to military law violating this chapter shall be punished as provided by the Articles of War; and the Secretary of War is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to do everything by him deemed necessary to suppress and prevent violation thereof. (40 Stat. 83, 885.)

This section was amended by Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XIV, cited above, to read as set forth above. As originally enacted said section read as follows: "The Secretary of War is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed during the present war to do everything by him deemed necessary to suppress and prevent the keeping or setting up of houses of ill fame, brothels, or bawdy houses within such distance as he may deem needful of any military camp, station, fort, post, cantonment, training or mobilization place and any person, corporation, partnership, or association receiving or permitting to be received for immoral purposes any person into any place, structure, or building used for the purpose of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution within such distance of said places as may be designated, or shall permit any such person to remain for immoral purposes in any such place, structure, or building as aforesaid, or who shall violate any order, rule, or regulation issued to carry out the object and purpose of this section shall unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than twelve months, or both."

Notes of Decisions

Validity.—Under Const. art. 1, § 8, rule of Secretary of War, providing that keeping or setting up of houses of ill fame, etc., within five miles of any military camp, etc., is prohibited, authorized by this section, was not invasion of police power reserved to state, therefore in excess of power of Congress. Pappens v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 55.

This section is not invalid as invading reserved police power of states, and was not in excess of powers of Congress, under Const. art. 1, § 8. U. S. v. Casey (D. C.) 247 F. 362; U. S. v. Scott (D. C.) 248 F. 361.

This section does not delegate legislative power to Secretary of War, but empowers him to ascertain and declare the zone within which the statute shall take effect. U. S. v. Casey (D. C.) 247 F. 362; U. S. v. Scott (D. C.) 248 F. 361.

Indictment.—An indictment charging keeping or setting up a house of ill fame within five miles of any military camp, etc., though without averment of the receiving of any persons into the house for the purpose of prostitution, charges a misdemeanor, for though the offense charged is violation of an order or regulation issued by the Secretary of War, the order was made pursuant to this section, making violation of any such order a misdemeanor. Pappens v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 55.

Terms "house of ill fame," "bawdy house," and "brothel" being synonymous, indictment charging keeping of all three resorts charges but one offense. U. S. v. Casey (D. C.) 247 F. 362.

Indictment under this section need not negative the exception respecting acts punishable under the Articles of War. U. S. v. Scott (D. C.) 248 F. 361.

Indictment charging conspiracy to violate this section and regulation of Secretary of War, promulgated thereunder, need not set forth regulation of Secretary, for courts will take judicial notice thereof. U. S. v. Casey (D. C.) 247 F. 362.

An indictment under this section was not defective, because not giving the correct date of the regulations prescribed thereunder; they being judicially noticed. U. S. v. Scott (D. C.) 248 F. 361.

Indictment charging that defendants conspired to set up or keep house of ill fame, brothel, or bawdyhouse within prohibited zone of military post, is not duplicitous, as charging several offenses; conspiracy alone being charged. U. S. v. Casey (D. C.) 247 F. 362.

Instructions.—In prosecution for violating rule of Secretary of War prohibiting keeping or setting up of house of ill fame within five miles of military fort, etc., instruction that courts will not sanction conviction of person based upon circumstances showing he was induced by officers to commit the offense, that he might be brought to punishment, sufficiently covered point in defendant's request, though coupled with explanation that, if officers received information crime was being committed secretly, it was their right to ascertain truth. Pappens v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 55.

Conviction under state laws.—Conviction under state laws for maintaining brothel located so near military post, camp, etc., as to fall within prohibited zone prescribed by Secretary of War under this section, does not prevent conviction under such act. U. S. v. Casey (D. C.) 247 F. 362.

§ 2019c. (Act July 1, 1918, c. 113, § 1.) Remains of officers, soldiers, civilian employés, and others.

Disposition of remains of officers, soldiers, civilian employees, and so forth: For interment, or of preparation and transportation to their homes or to such national cemeteries as may be designated by proper authority, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, of the remains of officers, cadets, United States Military Academy, including acting assistant surgeons and enlisted men in active service; interment, or of preparation and transportation to their homes, of the remains of civil employees of the Army in the employ of the War Department who die abroad, in Alaska, in the Canal Zone, or on Army transports, or who die while on duty in the field or at military posts within the limits of the United States; interment of military prisoners who die at military posts; removal of remains from abandoned posts to permanent military posts or national cemeteries, including the remains of Federal soldiers, sailors, or marines, interred in fields or abandoned private and city cemeteries; and in any case where the expenses of burial or shipment of the remains of officers or enlisted men of the Army who die on the active list are borne by individuals, where such expenses would have been lawful claims against the Government, reimbursement to such individuals may be made of the amount allowed by the Government for such services out of this sum, but no reimbursement shall be made of such expenses incurred prior to July first, nineteen hundred and ten * *: Provided, That during the continuance of the present war the above provisions shall be applicable in the cases of officers and enlisted men on the retired list of the Army who have died or may hereafter die while on active duty by proper assignment. (40 Stat. 656.)

This was a provision of the sundry civil appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

§ 2019d. (Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter VIII.) Care of persons discharged from military service.

The President of the United States is hereby authorized and empowered to make provision for such care and treatment as he may deem advisable of persons discharged from the military or naval forces of the United States on account of physical disability who are citizens of any nation at war with a nation with which the United States is at war; but such provision shall be made only for the citizens of a nation that makes suitable provision for the care and treatment of persons discharged from the military or naval forces on account of physical disability who are citizens of the United States: Provided, That such care and treatment shall in no case exceed the care and treatment authorized by law and regulations for members of the Army and Navy of the United States discharged from the military or naval service for like cause. (40 Stat. 881.)

This was a provision of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

SELECTIVE DRAFT ACT

§ 2044a. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 1.) Organization of all increments of Regular Army; draft of National Guard and National Guard Reserves; draft of additional forces; volunteer divisions.

That in view of the existing emergency, which demands the raising of troops in addition to those now available, the President be, and he is hereby, authorized—

First. Immediately to raise, organize, officer, and equip all or such number of increments of the Regular Army provided by the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, or such parts thereof as he may deem necessary; to raise all organizations of the Regular Army, including those added by such increments, to the maximum enlisted strength authorized by law. Vacancies in the Regular Army created or caused by the addition of increments as herein authorized which can not be filled by promotion may be filled by temporary appointment for the period of the emergency or until replaced by permanent appointments or by provisional appointments made under the provisions of section twenty-three of the national defense Act, approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and hereafter provisional appointments under said section may be terminated whenever it is determined, in the manner prescribed by the President, that the officer has not the suitability and fitness requisite for permanent appointment.

Second. To draft into the military service of the United States, organize, and officer, in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and eleven of said national defense Act, so far as the provisions of said section may be applicable and not inconsistent with the terms of this Act, any or all members of the National Guard and of the National Guard Reserves, and said members so drafted into the military service of the United States shall serve therein for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged: Provided, That when so drafted the organizations or units of the National Guard shall, so far as practicable, retain the State designations of their respective organizations.

Third. To raise by draft as herein provided, organize and equip an additional force of five hundred thousand enlisted men, or such part or parts thereof as he may at any time deem necessary, and to provide the necessary officers, line and staff, for said force and for organizations of the other forces hereby authorized, or by combining organizations of said other forces, by ordering members of the Officers' Reserve Corps to temporary duty in accordance with the provisions of section thirty-eight of the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen; by appointment from the Regular Army, the Officers' Reserve Corps, from those duly qualified and registered pursuant to section twenty-three of the Act of Congress approved January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and three (Thirty-second Statutes at Large, page seven hundred and seventy-five), from the members of the National Guard drafted into the service of the United States, from those who have been graduated from educational institutions at which military instruction is compulsory, or from those who have had honorable service in the Regular Army, the National Guard, or in the volunteer forces, or from the country at large; by assigning retired officers of the Regular Army to active duty with such force with their rank on the retired list and the full pay and allowances of their grade; or by the appointment of retired officers and enlisted men, active or retired, of the Regular Army as commissioned officers in such forces: Provided, That the organization of said force shall be the same as that of the corresponding organizations of the Regular Army: Provided further, That the President is authorized to increase or decrease the number of organizations prescribed for the typical brigades, divisions, or army corps of the Regular Army, and to prescribe such new and different organizations and personnel for army corps, divisions, brigades, regiments, battalions, squadrons, companies, troops, and batteries as the efficiency of the service may require: Provided further, That the number of organizations in a regiment shall not be increased nor shall the number of regiments be decreased: Provided further, That the President in his discretion may organize, officer, and equip for each Infantry and Cavalry brigade three machine-gun companies, and for each Infantry and Cavalry division four machine-gun companies, all in addition to the machine-gun companies comprised in organizations included in such brigades and divisions: Provided further, That the President in his discretion may organize for each division one armored motor-car machine-gun company. The machine-gun companies organized under this section shall consist of such commissioned and enlisted personnel and be equipped in such manner as the President may prescribe: And provided further, That officers with rank not above that of colonel shall be appointed by the President alone, and officers above that grade by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate: Provided further, That the President may in his discretion recommission in the Coast Guard persons who have heretofore held commissions in the Revenue-Cutter Service or the Coast Guard and have left the service honorably, after ascertaining that they are qualified for service physically, morally, and as to age and military fitness.

Fourth. The President is further authorized, in his discretion and at such time as he may determine, to raise and begin the training of an additional force of five hundred thousand men organized, officered, and equipped, as provided for the force first mentioned in the preceding paragraph of this section.

Fifth. To raise by draft, organize, equip, and officer, as provided in the third paragraph of this section, in addition to and for each of the above forces, such recruit training units as he may deem necessary for the maintenance of such forces at the maximum strength.

Sixth. To raise, organize, officer, and maintain during the emergency such number of ammunition batteries and battalions, depot batteries and battalions, and such artillery parks, with such numbers and grades of personnel as he may deem necessary. Such organizations shall be officered in the manner provided in the third paragraph of this section, and enlisted men may be assigned to said organizations from any of the forces herein provided for or raised by selective draft as by this Act provided.

Seventh. The President is further authorized to raise and maintain by voluntary enlistment, to organize, and equip, not to exceed four infantry divisions, the officers of which shall be selected in the manner provided by paragraph three of section one of this Act: Provided, That the organization of said force shall be the same as that of the corresponding organization of the Regular Army: And provided further, That there shall be no enlistments in said force of men under twenty-five years of age at time of enlisting: And provided further, That no such volunteer force shall be accepted in any unit smaller than a division. (40 Stat. 76.)

This section and the ten sections next following are §§ 1–10 of an act entitled "An act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," cited above. Sections 12 and 13 of said act are set forth ante, §§ 2019a, 2019b. Section 14 of said act repeals all inconsistent laws and parts of laws.

Proclamation issued under this section, dated July 3, 1917, as follows:

"Whereas, the United States of America and the Imperial German Government are now at war, and having in view the consequent danger of aggression by a foreign enemy upon the territory of the United States and the necessity for proper protection against possible interference with the execution of the laws of the Union by agents of the enemy, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the United States and through the governors of the respective States, call into the service of the United States as of and from the dates hereinafter respectively indicated all members of the National Guard and all enlisted members of the National Guard Reserve of the following States, who are not now in the service of the United States, except members of staff corps and departments not included in the personnel of tactical organizations, and except such officers of the National Guard as have been or may be specially notified by my authority that they will not be affected by this call, to wit:

"On July 15, 1917, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska;

"On July 25, 1917, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Illinois, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

"New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Illinois, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Indiana, Kentucky, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and California.

"III. All persons hereby drafted shall on and from the fifth day of August nineteen hundred and seventeen, stand discharged from the militia, and, under the terms of section 2 of the Act of May 18, 1917, be subject to the laws and regulations governing the Regular Army, except as to promotions, so far as such laws and regulations are applicable to persons whose permanent retention in the military service on the active or retired list is not contemplated by law.

"IV. The members of each company, battalion, regiment, brigade, division, or other organizations of the National Guard hereby drafted into the military service of the United States shall be embodied in organizations corresponding to those of the Regular Army. The officers not above the rank of colonel of said organizations of the National Guard who are drafted and whose offices are provided for in like organizations of the Regular Army, are hereby appointed officers in the Army of the United States in the arm, staff corps or department, and in the grades in which they now hold commission as officers of the National Guard, such appointments to be effective, subject to acceptance, on and from the fifth day of August, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and each of them, subject to such acceptance, is hereby assigned as of said date to the organization in the Army of the United States composed of those who were members of the organization of the National Guard in which at the time of draft he held a commission. The noncommissioned officers of the organizations of the National Guard the members of which are hereby drafted are hereby appointed noncommissioned officers in their present grade in the organizations of the Army composed of said members and shall in each case have the same relative rank as heretofore; and all other enlisted men are hereby confirmed in the Army of the United States in the grades and ratings held by them in the National Guard in all cases where such grades and ratings correspond to grades and ratings provided for in like organizations of the Regular Army, all such appointments of noncommissioned officers and confirmations of other enlisted men in their grades to be without prejudice to the authority of subordinate commanders in respect of promotions, reductions and changes in enlisted personnel.

"V. Each organization of the military force hereby created will, until further orders, bear the same name and designation as the former organization of the National Guard of whose members it is composed.

"VI. All necessary orders for combining the organizations created by embodying therein members of the National Guard and National Guard Reserve hereby drafted into the military service of the United States into complete tactical units will be issued by the War Department."

"All persons hereby drafted shall on and from the first day of June, nineteen hundred and eighteen, stand discharged from the militia, and, in accordance with the provisions of said act of May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall on and from said date be subject to the laws and regulations governing the Regular Army, except as to promotions, so far as such laws and regulations are applicable to persons whose permanent retention in the military service on the active or retired list is not contemplated by existing law.

"The members of each company, battalion and regiment, and of said medical personnel attached thereto, hereby drafted into the military service of the United States shall be embodied in organizations corresponding to those of the Regular Army. Notes of Decisions Validity.—Selective Draft Act is in no way contrary to the letter or spirit of the Constitution, nor to any intelligent conception of free government. Sugar v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 74.

In view of the revolutionary practice of raising armies by draft, and of the provisions found in Const. art. 2, § 2, etc., and despite Amendments 5 and 13, the Selective Service Act is valid; the government having power to raise armies by draft. U. S. v. Olson (D. C.) 253 F. 233.

Under Const. art. 1, § 8, and article 6, Congress has power to raise an army by conscription, and this act is valid. Arver v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 159, 245 U. S. 366, Ann. Cas. 1918B, 856, 62 L. Ed.

349, L. R. A. 1918C, 361; Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280; U. S. v. Sugar (D. C.) 243 F. 423.

The provision in terms declaring President "authorized" to raise army held, in view of preceding words and section, National Defense Act June 3, 1916, § 2 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1882a), and Joint Resolution April 6, 1917, not to delegate the power vested in Congress to raise an army, but to merely commit to him execution of its scheme. Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280; U. S. v. Stephens (D. C.) 245 F. 956.

This act does not impose slavery or involuntary servitude, in violation of Const. Amend. 13. Arver v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 159, 245 U. S. 366, 62 L. Ed. 349, L. R. A. 1918C, 361, Ann. Cas. 1918B, 856; Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280; U. S. v. Sugar (D. C.) 243 F. 423; Story v. Perkins (D. C.) 243 F. 997, judgment affirmed Jones v. Same, 38 S. Ct. 166, 245 U. S. 390, 62 L. Ed. 358; Claudius v. Davie (Cal.) 165 P. 689.

Selective Draft Act, both as respects citizens and declarant aliens, is not in violation of Const. U. S. Amend. 13, as imposing involuntary servitude. U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 992.

The Selective Service Act is not in violation of Const. Amend. 5, forbidding the deprivation of property without due process of law, for no one has, in a just sense, a property right in his office or employment. U. S. v. Olson (D. C.) 253 F. 233.

Under Const. art. 1, § 8, National Defense Act June 3, 1916 (Comp. St. § 1715a), and this act, the President may draft compulsorily into the federal service officers and enlisted men of the National Guard, and Congress had authority to confer such power. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

As Selective Draft Act is not ex post facto law as to citizens, it cannot be deemed ex post facto legislation as to aliens; for, while Congress could not affect alien's right to come into country by change thereafter in requirements of admission, nevertheless in all other respects his status after entry is same as that of citizen. U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 992.

Constitutionality of Conscription Act, § 1, authorizing drafting of members of national guard, a separable portion of the act, cannot be questioned by one not affected by such part. U. S. v. Sugar (D. C.) 243 F. 423.

— Drafting for foreign service.—When Congress exercises its power to call a citizen into the army without his consent, the army into which he enters is not limited to services such as those for which it is claimed the militia may only be used. Arver v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 159, 245 U. S. 366, Ann. Cas. 1918B, 856, 62 L. Ed. 349, L. R. A. 1918C, 361; Cox v. Wood, 38 S. Ct. 421, 247 U. S. 3, 62 L. Ed. 947.

This section in view of National Defense Act, § 111 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3045), held not to call forth the militia as such, authorized by Const. art. 1, § 8, cl. 15, for certain purposes only. U. S. v. Sugar (D. C.) 243 F. 423.

The common-law right to "remain within the realm" cannot prevail against explicit provision of an act of Congress. Story v. Perkins (D. C.) 243 F. 997, judgment affirmed Jones v. Same, 38 S. Ct. 166, 245 U. S. 390, 62 L. Ed. 358.

— Delegation of authority to make rules.—See notes to section 2 of this act, post, § 2044b.

National guard.—Where petitioner, after enlistment in National Guard, became soldier of United States army, being drafted into service pursuant to National Defense Act June 3, 1916, § 111 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3045), and this section, on August 5, 1917, at which time he was examined by federal medical officers and accepted, his status is determined by draft of August 5, 1917, and irregularities at time of his previous examination and voluntary enlistment are immaterial. Blackington v. U. S., 248 F. 124, 160 C. C. A. 264, affirming order (D. C.) Ex parte Blackington, 245 F. 801.

Under National Defense Act, §§ 58, 70, 111 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 3044, 3044i, 3045), and this act, member of National Guard, though not consenting to be mustered into federal service under presidential order, held a soldier in the United States army, and subject to military trial or punishment. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

Status of men of military age.—Selective Draft Act does not give persons within the draft ages any military status solely by virtue of their being within such ages, but they retain their ordinary status as civilians and citizens until it is changed through the operation of the law by their selection for service. Ex parte McDonald (D. C.) 253 F. 99; Ex parte Henry (D. C.) 253 F. 208.

Status of men in service.—An elector of Nebraska, entering military service of the United States under this act, is not in the regular army, within Const. Neb. art. 7, § 3, and may exercise the elective franchise at such places and under such conditions as may be provided by law. State v. Moorhead (Neb.) 167 N. W. 70.

dence. People ex rel. Brush v. Schum (Sup.) 168 N. Y. S. 391, 102 Misc. Rep. 143.

Offenses.—See notes to section 5 of this act, post, § 2044f.

Cited without definite application, Deason v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 259; U. S. ex rel. Troiani v. Heyburn (D. C.) 245 F. 360; U. S. v. Mitchell (D. C.) 248 F. 997.

§ 2044b. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 2, as amended, Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XII, § 4, and Act Aug. 31, 1918, c. 166, § 1.) Voluntary enlistment or draft to maintain National Guard organizations; selective draft for other forces; persons subject to; quotas, etc.

The enlisted men required to raise and maintain the organizations of the Regular Army and to complete and maintain the organizations embodying the members of the National Guard drafted into the service of the United States, at the maximum legal strength as by this Act provided, shall be raised by voluntary enlistment, or if and whenever the President decides that they can not effectually be so raised or maintained, then by selective draft; and all other forces hereby authorized, except as provided in the seventh paragraph of section one, shall be raised and maintained by selective draft exclusively; but this provision shall not prevent the transfer to any force of training cadres from other forces. Such draft as herein provided shall be based upon liability to military service of all male citizens and male persons residing in the United States, not alien enemies, who have declared their intention to become citizens, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, both inclusive, and shall take place and be maintained under such regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this Act: Provided, That the President may draft such persons liable to military service in such sequence of ages and at such time or times as he may prescribe: Provided further, That a citizen or subject of a country neutral in the present war who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be relieved from liability to military service upon his making a declaration, in accordance with such regulations as the President may prescribe, withdrawing his intention to become a citizen of the United States, which shall operate and be held to cancel his declaration of intention to become an American citizen, and he shall forever be debarred from becoming a citizen of the United States. Quotas for the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, or subdivisions thereof, shall be determined in proportion to the population thereof, and credit shall be given to any State, Territory, District, or subdivision thereof, for the number of men who were in the military service of the United States as members of the National Guard on April first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or who have since said date entered the military service of the United States from any such State, Territory, District, or subdivision, either as members of the Regular Army or the National Guard. All persons drafted into the service of the United States and all officers accepting commissions in the forces herein provided for shall, from the date of said draft or acceptance, be subject to the laws and regulations governing the Regular Army, except as to promotions, so far as such laws and regulations are applicable to persons whose permanent retention in the military service on the active or retired list is not contemplated by existing law, and those drafted shall be required to serve for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged: Provided, That the President is authorized to raise and maintain by voluntary enlistment or draft, as herein provided, special and technical troops as he may deem necessary, and to embody them into organizations and to officer them as provided in the third paragraph of section one and section nine of this Act.

Organizations of the forces herein provided for, except the Regular Army and the divisions authorized in the seventh paragraph of section one, shall, as far as the interests of the service permit, be composed of men who come, and of officers who are appointed from, the same State or locality. (40 Stat. 77, 885, 955.)

This section was amended by Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XII, § 4, cited above, by changing the second sentence of the section to read as set forth above. As originally enacted, said sentence read as follows: "Such draft as herein provided shall be based upon liability to military service of all male citizens, or male persons not alien enemies who have declared their intention to become citizens, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years, both inclusive, and shall take place and be maintained under such regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this Act." It was again amended by Act Aug. 31, 1918, c. 166, § 1, also cited above, by again changing said second sentence to read as set forth above. As amended by said Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XII, § 4, said sentence read as follows: "Such draft as herein provided shall be based upon liability to military service of all male citizens or male persons not alien enemies who have declared their intention to become citizens between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years, both inclusive, and shall take place and be maintained under such regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this Act: Provided, That a citizen or subject of a country neutral in the present war who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be relieved from liability to military service upon his making a declaration, in accordance with such regulations as the President may prescribe, withdrawing his intention to become a citizen of the United States, which shall operate and be held to cancel his declaration of intention to become an American citizen and he shall forever be debarred from becoming a citizen of the United States."

Notes of Decisions

Validity and construction in general.—Selective Draft Act cannot be declared invalid in its operation as to declarant aliens, who are still foreign subjects, on theory that it is contrary to public policy of United States to recognize right of any nation to impress into military service subjects of another nation, for courts have no power to declare law unconstitutional because it is in contravention with so-called law of nations. U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 992.

It is not within jurisdiction of courts to determine action of legislative or executive departments in retaining in military service Austrian alien with first papers, who after declaration of war with Austria claimed that he became enemy alien, not subject to military service under Selective Draft Act. Halpern v. Commanding Officer of National Army at Camp Upton, N. Y. (D. C.) 248 F. 1003.

The word "liability" in this section, providing that the draft "shall be based upon liability to military service," etc., is used in its ordinary sense of obligation or responsibility. Ex parte Lamachia (D. C.) 250 F. 814.

— Authority to make rules and regulations.—This section is valid, in so far as it authorized the President to make rules and regulations for its enforcement having effect of law, and is not open to attack as delegation of legislative authority. Arver v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 159, 245 U. S. 366, Ann. Cas. 1918B, 856, 62 L. Ed. 349, L. R. A. 1918C, 361; Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623; U. S. v. Olson (D. C.) 253 F. 233; Rhodes v. Tatum (Tex. Civ. App.) 206 S. W. 114.

Alien enemies.—Subject of Austria-Hungary, unless excused as nondeclarant alien, is not entitled to exemption because, by reason of subsequent declaration of war against Austria-Hungary, he had become alien enemy. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

Where alien Austrian, who, had first papers, was certified for military service under Selective Draft Act prior to declaration of war with Austria, he is not, as he was subject to draft at time certified, entitled to release on habeas corpus, on ground that subsequent declaration of war made him alien enemy. U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 1002; Halpern v. Commanding Officer of National Army at Camp Upton, N. Y. (D. C.) 248 F. 1003.

Nondeclarant aliens.—Alien, who had taken out his first papers, but had allowed seven years to elapse, and thus lost right to become at once citizen of United States, must, having remained in country, be presumed declarant alien, subject to military service, within terms of Selective Draft Act. U. S. v. Mitchell (D. C.) 248 F. 997.

Alien, who had filed declaration of intention more than seven years ago, and whose petition for admission to citizenship was denied on ground that he illegally sold intoxicating liquor, is still a declarant, within Selective Draft Act. Gazzola v. Commanding Officer of Ft. Totten, Bayside, Long Island, N. Y. (D. C.) 248 F. 1001.

Under this section, and sections 2044d, 2044e, post, a nondeclarant alien, who did not present his claim for exemption to local or district boards and failed thereafter to apply for a reopening of his case, pursuant to regulations, and who has been certified into military service, is not entitled to exemption on writ of habeas corpus. Ex parte Hutflis (D. C.) 245 F. 798; U. S. v. Finley (D. C.) 245 F. 871; U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 995; Ex parte Lamachia (D. C.) 250 F. 814; Ex parte Tinkoff (D. C.) 254 F. 222.

But see Ex parte Beck (D. C.) 245 F. 967, holding that under Selective Draft Act, and in view of Pamphlet 1917, form 19, p. 18, of War Department, aliens who have not declared their intention to become citizens are not subject to draft, and cannot, where their alienage is shown, though they did not claim their exemption within time fixed, be certified into military service.

As Conscription Act provides for exemption of nondeclarant aliens, and as such aliens would prove unsatisfactory soldiers if unwilling to serve, it is against policy of law for local draft boards to attempt to include such aliens in army; it being for benefit of service that they be excluded. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

The courts will not release a nondeclarant alien, who by reason of his lack of understanding of English fails to comply with the draft law; Congress having plainly intimated therein that it will use those who are willing and those who do not comply with the statute in obtaining a discharge. Lehto v. Scott (D. C.) 251 F. 767.

See, also, notes to section 4 of this act, post, § 2044d.

Treaties exempting aliens from service.—As Conscription Act declares all laws in conflict to be suspended, treaty entered into before enactment of statute, exempting alien from military service, does not, unless he was duly exempted by act, entitle him to such exemption, for treaty, if in conflict with act, was repealed. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

Mere fact alien was exempt from military service by treaty with his government, entered into by United States before enactment of Conscription Act, does not necessarily entitle him to exemption. Summertime v. Local Board, Division No. 10 (D. C.) 248 F. 832.

A resident subject of Spain of registration age, who has declared his intention to become a citizen, held subject to the Selective Service Law, although by the treaty of April 20, 1903, he is expressly exempted from compulsory military service in the United States. Ex parte Larrucea (D. C.) 249 F. 981.

Status of drafted men.—Under this section and Articles of War, art. 2 (Comp. St. 1916, § 2308a), one certified into military service under Draft Act is, from date he was certified, subject to military law, and to punishment as deserter on account of his refusal to obey summons, and cannot escape liability because he has not taken required oath. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623.

See, also, notes to section 5 of this act, post, § 2044e.

Powers of local and district boards.—Under this section and sections 2044d, 2044e, post, local and district boards have jurisdiction to determine whether a registrant is an enemy alien, not subject to be drafted into military service. U. S. v. Kinkead (D. C.) 248 F. 141, order affirmed (C. C. A.) 250 F. 692.

See, also, notes to sections 4 and 5 of this act, post, §§ 2044d, 2044e.

—— Review of decisions.—Under this section and section 2044d, post, and the presidential regulations of June 30, 1917, decision of local boards against claim for exemption as alien held final where a full hearing was granted. Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280.

Decision of boards created under Conscription Act held reviewable if a fair hearing is denied, or if they act without or in excess of their jurisdiction, or abuse their discretion, or if the proceedings are manifestly unfair. Id.

—— Habeas corpus proceedings.—Writ of habeas corpus will not issue, when the investigation will in effect be an appellate review of what has been determined by some other tribunal of competent jurisdiction, as determination by the established military tribunal of liability to draft, depending on citizenship in the absence of arbitrary denial of rights. U. S. v. Heyburn (D. C.) 248 F. 360.

Under this section and sections 2044d, 2044e, post, and Rules and Regulations §§ 18, 20, relator, nondeclarant alien who did not claim exemption from military service within seven days after notification, held to have had fair hearing before local and district boards which certified him for military service and hence not entitled to habeas corpus on that ground. U. S. v. Finley (D. C.) 245 F. 871.

Release of relator, improperly certified under Selective Draft Act into military service, cannot be denied on ground that respondent, an army officer holding relator in custody, might on complying with writ be exposed to punishment for disobedience of orders of superiors; respondent's remedy being by appeal. Ex parte Beck (D. C.) 245 F. 967.

Declarant alien, certified into military service under Selective Draft Act may by habeas corpus raise question of propriety of his certification. U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 992.

Although under section 79, rule 1, subd. F, Rules and Regulations of the Selective Service Act a nondeclarant alien should be placed in class V—F, which exempts from service, in view of section 100, providing for correction of questionnaires, and section 101, enjoining local boards to satisfy themselves that a registrant claiming exemption as an alien is not a citizen, the burden of proof rests on complainant in habeas corpus to prove his alienage beyond a reasonable doubt. United States ex rel. Kotzen v. Local Exemption Board No. 157 of City of New York (D. C.) 252 F. 245.

Cited without definite application, U. S. v. Miller (D. C.) 249 F. 985.

§ 2044c. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 3.) Bounties and substitutes.

No bounty shall be paid to induce any person to enlist in the military service of the United States; and no person liable to military service shall hereafter be permitted or allowed to furnish a substitute for such service; nor shall any substitute be received, enlisted, or enrolled in the military service of the United States; and no such person shall be permitted to escape such service or to be discharged therefrom prior to the expiration of his term of service by the payment of money or any other valuable thing whatsoever as consideration for his release from military service or liability thereto. (40 Stat. 78.)

See note to § 2044a.

§ 2044d. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 4, as amended, Act Aug. 31, 1918, c. 166, § 2.) Exemptions from selective draft; local and district boards.

The Vice President of the United States, the officers, legislative, executive, and judicial, of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, regular or duly ordained ministers of religion, students who at the time of the approval of this Act are preparing for the ministry in recognized theological or divinity schools, and all persons in the military and naval service of the United States shall be exempt from the selective draft herein prescribed; and nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to require or compel any person to serve in any of the forces herein provided for who is found to be a member of any well-recognized religious sect or organization at present organized and existing and whose existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein in accordance with the creed or principles of said religious organizations, but no person so exempted shall be exempted from service in any capacity that the President shall declare to be noncombatant; and the President is hereby authorized to exclude or discharge from said selective draft and from the draft under the second paragraph of section one hereof, or to draft for partial military service only from those liable to draft as in this Act provided, persons of the following classes: County and municipal officials; custom-house clerks; persons employed by the United States in the transmission of the mails; artificers and workmen employed in the armories, arsenals, and navy yards of the United States, and such other persons employed in the service of the United States as the President may designate; pilots; mariners actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States; persons engaged in industries, occupations, or employments, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the Military Establishment or the effective operation of the military forces or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency; those in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge advisable; and those found to be physically or morally deficient. No exemption or exclusion shall continue when a cause therefor no longer exists: Provided, That notwithstanding the exemptions enumerated herein, each State, Territory, and the District of Columbia shall be required to supply its quota in the proportion that its population bears to the total population of the United States.

The President is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to create and establish throughout the several States and subdivisions thereof and in the Territories and the District of Columbia local boards, and where, in his discretion, practicable and desirable, there shall be created and established one such local board in each county or similar subdivision in each State, and one for approximately each thirty thousand of population in each city of thirty thousand population or over, according to the last census taken or estimates furnished by the Bureau of Census of the Department of Commerce. Such boards shall be appointed by the President, and shall consist of three or more members, none of whom shall be connected with the Military Establishment, to be chosen from among the local authorities of such subdivisions or from other citizens residing in the subdivision or area in which the respective boards will have jurisdiction under the rules and regulations prescribed by the President. Such boards shall have power within their respective jurisdictions to hear and determine, subject to review as hereinafter provided, all questions of exemption under this Act, and all questions of or claims for including or discharging individuals or classes of individuals from the selective draft, which shall be made under rules and regulations prescribed by the President, except any and every question or claim for including or excluding or discharging persons or classes of persons from the selective draft under the provisions of this Act authorizing the President to exclude or discharge from the selective draft "Persons engaged in industries, occupations, or employments, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the Military Establishment, or the effective operation of the military forces, or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency.

The President is hereby authorized to establish additional boards, one in each Federal judicial district of the United States, consisting of such number of citizens, not connected with the Military Establishment, as the President may determine, who shall be appointed by the President. The President is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to establish more than one such board in any Federal judicial district of the United States, or to establish one such board having jurisdiction of an area extending into more than one Federal judicial district.

Such district boards shall review on appeal and affirm, modify, or reverse any decision of any local board having jurisdiction in the area in which any such district board has jurisdiction under the rules and regulations prescribed by the President. Such district boards shall have exclusive original jurisdiction within their respective areas to hear and determine all questions or claims for including or excluding or discharging persons or classes of persons from the selective draft, under the provisions of this Act, not included within the original jurisdiction of such local boards.

The decisions of such district boards shall be final except that, in accordance with such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe, he may affirm, modify or reverse any such decision.

Any vacancy in any such local board or district board shall be filled by the President, and any member of any such local board or district board may be removed and another appointed in his place by the President, whenever he considers that the interest of the nation demands it.

The President shall make rules and regulations governing the organization and procedure of such local boards and district boards, and providing for and governing appeals from such local boards to such district boards, and reviews of the decisions of any local board by the district board having jurisdiction, and determining and prescribing the several areas in which the respective local boards and district boards shall have jurisdiction, and all other rules and regulations necessary to carry out the terms and provisions of this section, and shall provide for the issuance of certificates of exemption, or partial or limited exemptions, and for a system to exclude and discharge individuals from selective draft. (40 Stat. 78, 955.)

This section was amended by Act Aug. 31, 1918, c. 166, § 2, cited above, by making the provision, "persons engaged in industries including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the Military Establishment or the effective operation of the military forces or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency," wherever it occurred in the section, read as set forth above.

Act Nov. 21, 1918, c. 212, 40 Stat. 1045, entitled "An Act to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to carry out, during the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen, the purposes of the Act entitled 'An Act to provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products,' and for other purposes," making appropriations to carry out the provisions of Act Aug. 10, 1917, c. 52, 40 Stat. 273, provides that no part of the money therein appropriated shall be used in paying salary or expenses of any man who, on account of employment in which he is or may be engaged under the provisions of the act, has been certified by the Secretary of Agriculture or by any other official of the Department of Agriculture for deferred classification, or by action of any other Federal official or authority has been or may be placed in a deferred classification under Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, 40 Stat. 76, or any act amendatory thereof.

Notes of Decisions

Validity.—See, also, notes to section 1 of this act, ante, § 2044a.

This section does not deny due process of law to one seeking exemption as an alien. Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280.

While, under Selective Draft Act, questions of exemption on account of membership in religious sect opposed to war are for determination of local and district boards, and their finding cannot be reviewed by courts, unless they were without jurisdiction, or denied fair hearing, registrants are not deprived of due process of law. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623.

Nondeclarant alien, although by terms of Conscription Act exempt from service, is not denied due process of law because required to present and secure his exemption through exemption boards provided for. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

This section is not void as conferring judicial power on administrative officers. Arver v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 159, 245 U. S. 366, 62 L. Ed. 349, L. R. A. 1918C, 361, Ann. Cas. 1918B, 856. Nor as delegating to the President legislative authority. U. S. v. Sugar (D. C.) 243 F. 423.

The boards which this section authorizes the President to create are not "courts," creation of which Const. art. 3, § 1, vests in Congress. U. S. v. Stephens (D. C.) 245 F. 956.

This section is not a "law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof," inhibited by Const. Amend. 1. Arver v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 159, 245 U. S. 366, 62 L. Ed. 349, L. R. A. 1918C, 361, Ann. Cas. 1918B, 856; U. S. v. Stephens (D. C.) 245 F. 956.

—— Separable provisions.—Were provision exempting clergy and divinity students unconstitutional, it, while falling, would not affect the rest of the act, clearly separable therefrom. U. S. v. Stephens (D. C.) 245 F. 956.

If provision of this section for exempting persons serving in any capacity that President declares noncombatant, contemplated involuntary servitude, in contravention of Const. Amend. 13, it, being separable, would not affect other provisions. Id.

Regulations.—The regulations prescribed by the President under this section for ascertaining the status of persons selected thereunder, and their right to exemption will be taken judicial cognizance of by the courts, and have the force of law. U. S. v. Miller (D. C.) 249 F. 986.

Draft boards and members thereof.—The boards which this section authorizes the President to create are not "courts." U. S. v. Stephens (D. C.) 245 F. 956.

A member of a local draft board is an "officer of the United States," or a person acting on behalf of the United States in an official function, within the meaning of Criminal Code, § 39 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10203), making it an offense to give or offer a bribe to any such officer or person. U. S. v. Bordonaro (D. C.) 253 F. 477.

Exemptions.—Registrant, whose questionnaire showed his ministerial work ended shortly after registration and before filing the questionnaire, held not entitled to deferred classification under the regulations defining an "ordained or regular minister" as a person who has been ordained, etc., or one who as his customary vocation preaches, etc. Ex parte Short (D. C.) 253 F. 839.

Under this section dependency is not a matter of which the courts can take judicial cognizance. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

A "dependent" is a person who is not self-sustaining and relies on another for support, and under the Selective Service Act and regulations, providing for exemptions to registrants having dependent parents, the exemption should not be granted if the parent is able to maintain himself, either from property which he owns or from his labor. U. S. v. McHugh (D. C.) 253 F. 224.

Under section 72, rule 5, of the presidential regulations for enforcement of Selective Service Law May 18, 1917, where the circumstances are such as to induce a belief that the marriage of a registrant was for the primary purpose of evading military service, he has the burden of showing to the draft board that such was not the case. Boitano v. District Board, Northern Dist. No. 3, Sacramento, Cal. (D. C.) 250 F. 812.

The marriage of a person subject to selective draft, after his registration, cannot defeat the government's right to his services. Ex parte Tinkoff (D. C.) 254 F. 222.

Person enlisting in the army and subsequently purchasing his release held not exempt from draft under this section or independent of it. Ex parte Cohen (D. C.) 245 F. 667.

—— Aliens.—Under this section and section 2044e, post, nondeclarant aliens are not automatically excluded from selective draft, but, being required to register, must present and obtain their exemptions through boards provided to determine questions of exemption. Ex parte Hutflis (D. C.) 245 F. 798; U. S. v. Finley (D. C.) 245 F. 871; Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

That Conscription Act, which provides for exemption of nondeclarant aliens, requires them to present their claim for exemption to exemption boards created by President pursuant to act, does not deprive such aliens of treaty rights securing them against liability for military service. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

A nondeclarant alien, who did not present his claim for exemption to local or district boards and failed thereafter to apply for a reopening of his case, pursuant to regulations, and who has been certified into military service, is not entitled to exemption on writ of habeas corpus. U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 995.

Neither the draft board nor the court in habeas corpus proceedings can base action in favor of alien claimants to exemption on alleged ignorance of facts or law. Ex parte Tinkoff (D. C.) 254 F. 222.

See, also, notes to section 1 of this act, ante, § 2044a.

Classification.—One subject to the Selective Draft Act, who had been fully pardoned after being convicted of a felony, should not be placed in a deferred classification pursuant to section 21 of the original regulations or section 79 of those of November 8, 1917. U. S. v. Commanding Officer of 78th Division, U. S. A. (D. C.) 252 F. 314.

A man inducted into the service under the Selective Draft Act, but who was a few days afterward discharged through error, held properly classified in the same position he occupied before the error was committed. Ex parte Fischer (D. C.) 253 F. 159.

Proceedings before local and district boards.—Special tribunals, such as local and district boards created by the Selective Draft Act, are quasi judicial bodies of inferior and limited jurisdiction, and have authority to hear and determine only such matters as the law directs. Ex parte Beck (D. C.) 245 F. 967.

Members of local draft board have no authority to waive any of the provisions of Selective Draft Act, or regulations made thereunder. U. S. v. Finley (D. C.) 245 F. 871.

In view of the regulations thereunder, Selective Service Act, § 4, declaring that local boards shall have power to determine all questions including or discharging individuals, does not confer on such boards the power to determine whether an individual subject to the act failed to register. Ex parte Fuston (D. C.) 253 F. 90.

Under Selective Draft Act, §§ 2, 4, 5, local and district boards have jurisdiction to determine whether a registrant is an enemy alien, not subject to be drafted into military service. U. S. v. Kinkead (D. C.) 248 F. 141, order affirmed (C. C. A.) 250 F. 692.

Proceedings on an alien's claim for exemption under the Selective Draft Act are analogous to proceedings before boards of immigration, and the applicants have an unquestionable right to a fair hearing. Ex parte Hutflis (D. C.) 245 F. 798.

As a local board provided for by the Selective Service Act is a public body, exercising quasi judicial functions in passing on the right of exemption, a court of chancery has no jurisdiction to interfere with such a board's exercise of its function. Bonifaci v. Thompson (D. C.) 252 F. 878.

Where relator was duly certified into military service by local and district boards in accordance with Selective Draft Act, he cannot obtain release because he had convinced adjutant general of his state that examination by medical officers of local board had not been sufficient, for, while Regulations, § 27, gives Governor, acting through adjutant general supervision of execution of selective draft, determination of exemption boards is final, save for appeal to the President. U. S. v. Commanding Officer of Seventy-Seventh Division of National Army of United States at Camp Upton, Yaphank, Long Island, N. Y. (D. C.) 248 F. 1005.

— Evidence.—Where a drafted person, claiming exemption from military service on the ground of alienage, is summoned before the exemption board under section 101 of rules and Regulations of Selective Service, to testify on the exemption claim, the summons is notice to claimant to present all the evidence he has in support of his claim. United States ex rel. Kotzen v. Local Exemption Board No. 157 of City of New York (D. C.) 252 F. 245.

In view of the regulations promulgated by the President under the Selective Service Act, local boards provided for by the act have the widest possible latitude for the purpose of informing themselves of the truth or falsity of statements made by registrants, and such boards are not in any way restricted to what would be competent legal evidence in any judicial proceeding. Brown v. Spelman (D. C.) 254 F. 215.

— Rehearing or reopening case.—Both the local and district draft boards, within their respective jurisdictions, retain their power to hear and determine matters pertaining to a registrant until the hour specified in the notice of the local board when he is required to report for service; and where after notice by a local board to a registrant to report for service, but before the time arrived he was given deferred classification by the district board on industrial grounds, he could not lawfully be arrested and imprisoned by the local board for failure to report. Ex parte McDonald (D. C.) 253 F. 99.

After certifying relator to local board for military service for failure to claim exemption, district board has lost jurisdiction and cannot find that his alienage was not established. Ex parte Beck (D. C.) 245 F. 967.

Where a drafted person claimed exemption from military service on the ground of alienage, and upon being summoned, under section 100, to prove his claim of exemption, failed to establish it, the duty to reopen the case rested in the sound discretion of the exemption board. U. S. ex rel. Kotzen v. Local Exemption Board No. 157 of City of New York (D. C.) 252 F. 245.

While the action of the local board becomes final against a registrant under the Selective Draft Act unless appealed from in five days, a local board, having given a registrant a classification to which his questionnaire showed he was not entitled, may correct the error some months later. Ex parte Short (D. C.) 253 F. 839.

The denial of a rehearing on a claim for draft exemption by a district board is not arbitrary action. Ex parte Tinkoff (D. C.) 254 F. 222.

Review by courts.—This section creates independent tribunals to carry out the act, over which the civil courts exercise no supervisory power. Ex parte Hutflis (D. C.) 245 F. 798.

Determination by local and district boards provided for by Selective Draft Act of questions of exemption is conclusive, and cannot be reviewed by the courts, unless the boards were without jurisdiction or a fair hearing was denied. Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280; Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623; U. S. v. Kinkead (D. C.) 248 F. 141, order affirmed 250 F. 692, 162 C. C. A. 654; U. S. v. Mitchell (D. C.) 248 F. 997; Boitano v. District Board, Northern Dist. No. 3, Sacramento, Cal. (D. C.) 250 F. 812; Ex parte Platt (D. C.) 253 F. 413.

Decisions of boards created under Conscription Act are reviewable if a fair hearing is denied, or if they act without or in excess of their jurisdiction, or abuse their discretion, or if the proceedings are manifestly unfair. Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280; Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327; Ex parte Romano (D. C.) 251 F. 762.

The determination of a local draft board in a case where it has authority to act is final, unless appealed to the district board or the President. Ex parte Platt (D. C.) 253 F. 413.

The courts are bound to respect the determination of local and district draft boards on all matters within their respective jurisdiction, and have no power to revise their decisions, where their jurisdiction has been lawfully exercised; but the courts may determine to what effect the boards have acted. Ex parte McDonald (D. C.) 253 F. 99.

Whether persons certified into National Army under Selective Draft Act meet physical and medical requirements is solely question for exemption boards provided for, and not the courts. In re Traina (D. C.) 248 F. 1004.

Where petition for habeas corpus and certiorari against local board, under Conscription Act does not show petitioner has complied with requirements of act and regulations, or ever presented to local and district boards reason of ignorance assigned in District Court for failure to do so, relief asked against refusal of boards to exempt him as alien must be denied. Summertime v. Local Board, Division No. 10 (D. C.) 248 F. 832.

Nondeclarant alien, who did not claim exemption from military service within seven days after notification, held to have had fair hearing before local and district boards, which certified him for military service. U. S. v. Finley (D. C.) 245 F. 871.

Under Selective Draft Act, questions of exemption on account of membership in religious sect opposed to war are for determination of local and district boards, and their finding cannot be reviewed by courts, unless they were without jurisdiction, or denied fair hearing, registrants are not deprived of due process of law. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623.

Under this section, decision of district board affirming that of local board which denied relator's claim to exemption on ground that he was an alien enemy and had not become a citizen by virtue of his father's naturalization cannot be disturbed by courts where appeal to district board was fairly heard and determined. U. S. v. Kinkead (C. C. A.) 250 F. 692.

A nondeclarant alien, who claimed exemption and was not subject to service under the Selective Draft Act, held not to have been given a fair hearing by the draft boards which inducted him into military service. Ex parte Romano (D. C.) 251 F. 762.

A United States District Court has no jurisdiction to review on habeas corpus action of a local or district draft board, acting under the Selective Service Act, in calling to service an alien, who has waived his claims for exemption and been duly classified for military service under the rules to class 1. Ex parte Beales (D. C.) 252 F. 177.

It is not the province of the United States District Court to pass judgment upon what constitutes sufficient evidence to satisfy exemption boards of the alienage of a registrant claiming exemption from military service, unless the board has acted arbitrarily or illegally. United States ex rel. Kotzen v. Local Exemption Board No. 157 of City of New York (D. C.) 252 F. 245.

A decision of the local and district boards provided for by the Selective Draft Act, denying a deferred classification to relator, who had been convicted of felony, but pardoned, will not be disturbed by the court on petition for habeas corpus, upon the ground that the pardon was conditional, where there was no showing before the boards that the pardon was other than unconditional; for the pardon having been treated as unconditional, there was evidence upon which the boards' conclusion could be supported. U. S. v. Commanding Officer of 78th Division U. S. A. (D. C.) 252 F. 314.

The civil courts can grant relief from orders of local and district boards provided for by the Selective Draft Act only where such boards have acted without or in excess of their jurisdiction, or the proceedings have been unfair, or show an abuse of discretion; hence, where the boards, in disposing of registrant's claim that he was over the age prescribed in the act and that his name should be stricken from the list, followed the regulations, etc., no relief could be granted by the courts. Brown v. Spelman (D. C.) 254 F. 215.

Habeas corpus.—Person denied full and fair hearing on claim of exemption under the Conscription Act may, if restrained of his liberty, sue out a writ of habeas corpus. Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280.

In view of provisions for notice in Rules and Regulations, § 14, and as Conscription Act declares that decision of exemption boards shall be final, nondeclarant alien who not having claimed exemption, was certified into service by boards, is not entitled to habeas corpus on ground he was denied fair hearing, there being no showing that boards did not give him notice required. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

Habeas corpus is appropriate remedy to test whether quasi judicial body, as exemption boards created by Selective Draft Act, are acting without scope of their jurisdiction. U. S. v. Mitchell (D. C.) 248 F. 997.

Action of local or district board on claim for exemption under Selective Draft Act may be reviewed by habeas corpus, where board abuses its power or exercises it arbitrarily. Ex parte Hutflis (D. C.) 245 F. 798.

Where registrant under Selective Draft Law is certified into military service, decisions of examining boards as to his physical condition cannot be reviewed on habeas corpus; hence one so certified cannot, where he refused to undergo operation as directed by military authorities for cure of pre-existing trouble, obtain his discharge under habeas corpus. De Genaro v. Johnson (D. C.) 249 F. 504.

Where a drafted person, claiming exemption as an alien, by mistake waived exemption in his questionnaire, he had a remedy by appeal to the local board for correction, under Selective Service Rules, § 99, and where, after notice of his classification under section 100, he, through ignorance, allowed himself to be inducted into service, he still has a remedy under section 139, by appeal to the commanding officer of the mobilization camp, and is not entitled to relief by habeas corpus. Ex parte Kusweski (D. C.) 251 F. 977.

The failure of a registrant, denied exemption by the local board, to appeal to the district board, is a bar to relief by habeas corpus. Ex parte Tinkoff (D. C.) 254 F. 222.

The court in a habeas corpus proceeding cannot relieve against a merely erroneous decision of a draft board. Id.

Where petitioner, who was certified into service under Conscription Act, was not, having failed to comply with rules and regulations as to claim for exemption, absolutely entitled to relief on account of his alienage, issuance of habeas corpus to secure release rests in sound discretion of trial court; and where he did not file petition until nearly two months after his commanding officer denied his application for relief, and he had not presented his claim for exemption in accordance with rules and regulations governing draft, it is not abuse of discretion to deny his application. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

—— Proceedings.—On habeas corpus to obtain discharge from compulsory military service, on ground that relator was enemy alien, evidence held to support finding by local and district draft boards that relator, by reason of naturalization of his father, had become citizen, and hence question cannot be reviewed.—U. S. Kinkead (D. C.) 248 F. 141, order affirmed 250 F. 692, 162 C. C. A. 654.

One petitioning for habeas corpus to secure release from military service, into which he was certified under Conscription Act must affirmatively show he is entitled to such writ, and on hearing will be able to make at least prima facie case, or petition will be dismissed. Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327.

Petition against local and district draft boards for habeas corpus and certiorari to nullify decision that petitioner, nondeclarant alien, is not entitled to exemption from Conscription Act must be denied, in absence of allegations petitioner has been deprived of fair hearing, that board had grossly abused discretion, etc. Summertime v. Local Board, Division No. 10 (D. C.) 248 F. 832.

Injunction.—Person denied fair hearing on claim of exemption under Conscription Act is not entitled to an injunction, there being a full and adequate remedy at law for the enforcement of personal rights. Angelus v. Sullivan, 246 F. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280.

Judicial Code, § 24, subd. 14 [Comp. St. 1916, § 991(14)] gives a federal court no jurisdiction over a bill to enjoin a local board and adjutant general from inducting complainant into military service under the Selective Service Act, on the ground that interruption of complainant's employment would deprive him of a property right, for complainant has in no just sense a property right in his employment. Bonifaci v. Thompson (D. C.) 252 F. 878.

Certiorari.—Certiorari will not issue to review the action of local and district draft boards in making determination as to deferred classification under executive regulations promulgated under the Selective Service Act, for the act creates a system for executive enforcement, and proceedings of the draft boards, as to those within scope of the act, are not in the same category as those of quasi judicial tribunals. In re Kitzerow (D. C.) 252 F. 865.

Certiorari, which, under Rev. St. § 716 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1239), a federal court may issue wherever appropriate, will not be issued to review classification by a local board under the Selective Service Act, because it is an executive body, because there is no power in the court to substitute its opinion on a question of fact for that of the board, and because there is remedy by habeas corpus, which is not a discretionary writ, as is certiorari. U. S. v. Rauch (D. C.) 253 F. 814.

Effect of improper certification by local and district boards.—Where certification of relator into military service was improper under Selective Draft Act, relator being entitled to exemption as nondeclarant alien, he is, having been arrested as a deserter and held for trial by court-martial, entitled to habeas corpus to secure his release. Ex parte Beck (D. C.) 245 F. 967.

Where a nondeclarant alien, who was not subject to military service, and who claimed his exemption, was inducted into service by the draft boards, without a fair hearing, their action is not void, though irregular, and hence, the alien having failed to report, the military authorities have jurisdiction to hold him for desertion. Ex parte Romano (D. C.) 251 F. 762.

§ 2044e. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 5, as amended, Act Aug. 31, 1918, c. 166, § 3.) Registration; persons subject; failure.

All male persons between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, both inclusive, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the President, and, upon proclamation by the President or other public notice given by him or by his direction stating the time or times and place or places of any such registration, it shall be the duty of all persons of the designated ages, except officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army; officers and enlisted men of the National Guard while in the service of the United States; officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps and enlisted men in the Enlisted Reserve Corps while in the service of the United States; officers and enlisted men of the Navy and Marine Corps; officers and enlisted and enrolled men of the Naval Reserve Force and Marine Corps Reserve while in the service of the United States; officers commissioned in the Army of the United States under the provisions of this Act; persons who, prior to any day set for registration by the President hereunder, have registered under the terms of this Act or under the terms of the resolution entitled "Joint resolution providing for the registration for military service of all male persons citizens of the United States and all male persons residing in the United States who have, since the fifth day of June, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and on or before the day set for the registration by proclamation by the President, attained the age of twenty-one years, in accordance with such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe under the terms of the Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled 'An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States,'" approved May twentieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, whether called for service or not, and diplomatic representatives, technical attachés of foreign embassies and legations, consuls general, consuls, vice consuls, and consular agents of foreign countries, residing in the United States, who are not citizens of the United States to present themselves for and submit to registration under the provisions of this Act; and every such person shall be deemed to have notice of the requirements of this Act, upon the publication of any such proclamation or any such other public notice as aforesaid given by the President or by his direction; and any person who shall willfully fail or refuse to present himself for registration or to submit thereto as herein provided shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction in a district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year and shall thereupon be duly registered: Provided, That in the call of the docket precedence shall be given, in courts trying the same, to the trial of criminal proceedings under this Act: Provided further, That persons shall be subject to registration as herein provided who shall have attained their eighteenth birthday and who shall not have attained their forty-sixth birthday on or before the day set for the registration in any such proclamation by the President or any such other public notice given by him or by his direction, and all persons so registered shall be and remain subject to draft into the forces hereby authorized unless exempted or excused therefrom as in this Act provided: Provided further, That the President may at such intervals as he may desire from time to time require all male persons who have attained the age of eighteen years since the last preceding date of registration and on or before the next date set for registration by proclamation by the President, except such persons as are exempt from registration hereunder, to register in the same manner and subject to the same requirements and liabilities as those previously registered under the terms hereof: And provided further, That in the case of temporary absence from actual place of legal residence of any person liable to registration as provided herein, such registration may be made by mail under regulations to be prescribed by the President: And provided further, That men registered under the provisions of this Act who have served in the Navy of the United States shall, upon their own application, be permitted to reenlist in the naval or marine service of the United States with and by the approval of the Secretary of the Navy. (40 Stat. 80, 955.)

This section was amended by Act Aug. 31, 1918, c. 166, § 3, cited above, to read as set forth above. As originally enacted said section read as follows: "All male persons between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, both inclusive, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the President; and upon proclamation by the President or other public notice given by him or by his direction stating the time and place of such registration it shall be the duty of all persons of the designated ages, except officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, the Navy, and the National Guard and Naval Militia while in the service of the United States, to present themselves for and submit to registration under the provisions of this Act; and every such person shall be deemed to have notice of the requirements of this Act upon the publication of said proclamation or other notice as aforesaid given by the President or by his direction; and any person who shall willfully fail or refuse to present himself for registration or to submit thereto as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, and shall thereupon be duly registered: Provided, That in the call of the docket precedence shall be given, in courts trying the same, to the trial of criminal proceedings under this Act: Provided further, That persons shall be subject to registration as herein provided who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday and who shall not have attained their thirty-first birthday on or before the day set for the registration and all persons so registered shall be and remain subject to draft into the forces hereby authorized, unless exempted or excused therefrom as in this Act provided: Provided further, That in the case of temporary absence from actual place of legal residence of any person liable to registration as provided herein such registration may be made by mail under regulations to be prescribed by the President."

May 18, 1917, for registration in the United States, the territories, and the District of Columbia.

May 26, 1917, relating to registration in the United States, the territories, and the District of Columbia.

June 27, 1917, for registration in Porto Rico.

June 30, 1917, for registration in Alaska.

July 2, 1917, for registration in Hawaii.

Further proclamations, issued under this section, as amended:

August 31, 1918, relating to registration in the United States, the territories, and the District of Columbia.

September 18, 1918, for registration in Alaska.

October 7, 1918, for registration in Hawaii.

October 10, 1918, for registration in Porto Rico.

Notes of Decisions

Construction of section in general.—Under Const. art. 1, § 8, Act April 22, 1898 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1714), and this act, persons registering and receiving serial numbers under the last-mentioned act, held within Act June 15, 1917, § 3, post, § 10212c, as to attempting to cause insubordination, etc. U. S. v. Sugarman (D. C.) 245 F. 604.

The enforcement of Selective Service Act has been intrusted to the War Department, and the correction of questionnaires, in the absence of fraud, is not for the courts. Ex parte Kusweski (D. C.) 251 F. 977.

Under this section, a local board, authorized to determine questions of exemption, has no jurisdiction to investigate on its own motion the question of the age of a person who had not registered and place him on the draft list, though he asserted he was not within the age limits prescribed. Ex parte Fuston (D. C.) 253 F. 90.

Under this section, and the regulations thereunder, which require persons subject to registration who were absent from the United States on registration day to register within five days after their return, such a person cannot avoid the duty by again leaving the United States before the expiration of the five days. U. S. v. Scott (D. C.) 253 F. 281.

Neither the Selective Service Act nor the regulations prescribed by the President required registrants to remain in their permanent homes and actual places of legal residence until drafted into military service, so that it was not a violation of Criminal Code, § 19 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10183), denouncing conspiracy to injure, etc., any citizen in the exercise of any right secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States for defendants to conspire to deport from Arizona citizens of the United States some of whom had registered under the Selective Service Act. U. S. v. Wheeler (D. C.) 254 F. 611.

Validity.—Selective Draft Act is not unconstitutional as conferring legislative power upon the President, notwithstanding the presidential proclamation of the same date, issued as directed by this section of the act, which required registration of citizens specified therein; such proclamation having been designed to give notice of, and explain the act, but not to have the force of a law. Sugar v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 74.

See, also, notes to sections 1, 2 of this act, ante, §§ 2044a, 2044b.

Registration.—An officer or enlisted man of a National Guard unit, not called into federal service until after the day fixed by presidential proclamation for registration in accordance with this section, does not fall within provision excepting officers and enlisted men of the National Guard in service of the United States from registration. Breitmayer v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 249 F. 929.

Where petitioners, who failed to register in accordance with this section, were thereafter registered and notified to report for military service, the late registration was authorized; regulations issued under act expressly providing therefor. Ex parte Dunn (D. C.) 250 F. 871.

Congress and the President, acting through the War Department, have not required that an alien shall be subject to military duty, although such person must register, where required by Selective Service Rules, § 53, and be classified as provided by rule 12, unless the right of exemption is waived. Ex parte Kusweski (D. C.) 251 F. 977.

See, also, notes to section 2 of this act, ante, § 2044b.

Selection for service.—The date of the drawing under Selective Draft Act is a historical fact, of which the court takes judicial notice without proof. U. S. v. Sugarman (D. C.) 245 F. 604.

Under this section, one prosecuted for nonregistration is not during pendency of prosecution exempt from military service, but may be registered and forthwith called for service. Ex parte Dunn (D. C.) 250 F. 871.

A person of draft age and registered, but who had pleaded guilty to a felony under the law of the state, and was in custody awaiting sentence, was not, while having such status, subject to call for service. Ex parte Henry (D. C.) 253 F. 208.

Status of persons selected for service.—Under National Conscription, petitioner, who was arrested under an indictment charging petit larceny, held not entitled to be discharged from imprisonment by state authorities, though he was ordered, before his conviction and sentence, by local draft board to report for transportation to a mobilization camp. Ex parte Calloway (D. C.) 246 F. 263.

Under this section, failure of one prosecuted for nonregistration to respond during pendency of prosecution to call for service will make him a deserter, punishable under military law. Ex parte Dunn (D. C.) 250 F. 871.

Offenses.—Aiding, abetting, etc., violations of this section, held an offense, in view of Criminal Code, § 332 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10506), though at common law there could be no accessory to a misdemeanor. Ruthenberg v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 168, 245 U. S. 480, 62 L. Ed. 414.

Conspiracy to prevent persons subject to registration for selective draft under this section from registering, held a conspiracy to defraud the United States, within Criminal Code, § 37, and punishable as such. U. S. v. Galleanni (D. C.) 245 F. 977.

Where petitioners, who had been registered during pendency of prosecution against them for failure to register as required by this section, failed to respond to call to report for service, and thus became deserters, question whether they could first be tried under military or civil law of United States is a matter to be settled between respective departments of the government, and petitioners cannot defeat sentence of court-martial based on their desertion because of pendency of prosecution against them for civil offense. Ex parte Dunn (D. C.) 250 F. 871.

In a prosecution for conspiracy to violate this section, the common design is the essence of the charge, and proof that the alleged conspirators knowingly worked together for a common illegal purpose will establish a conspiracy; it not being necessary to show a formal explicit agreement or undertaking. U. S. v. McHugh (D. C.) 253 F. 224.

Indictment.—Indictment for aiding, abetting, etc., person in failing to register, held sufficient, without alleging that he was a citizen or person, not an alien enemy, who had declared his intention of becoming a citizen, in view of section 5. Ruthenberg v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 168, 245 U. S. 480, 62 L. Ed. 414.

In view of Rev. St. § 1025 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1691), an inaccurate statement as to the voting precinct in which defendant resided, contained in an indictment charging failure to register as required by the Selective Draft Act, must, in view of the usual knowledge prevailing as to such locations, be disregarded. Breitmayer v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 249 F. 929.

Indictment charging failure to register as required by the Selective Draft Law, which alleged that accused was a male between ages of 21 and 30, and was not an officer or enlisted man of the Regular Army or Navy, nor of the National Guard or Naval Militia, nor of the Officers' Reserve Corps, nor of the Reserve Corps in the service of the United States, and was not in any manner exempted nor excused from registering, sufficiently negatived the exceptions in the act. The indictment need not allege the age of accused, nor negative accused's bad health, though inability, through sickness, to register, might disprove willful refusal to register. Sugar v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 74.

An indictment alleging a failure to register as required by the Selective Service Act, etc., is not faulty because failing to set out in full the President's proclamation as to registration, where the statement with reference to the proclamation was sufficient to furnish the defendant notice and information required for every purpose. U. S. v. Olson (D. C.) 253 F. 233.

—— Conspiracy.—Indictment charging that defendants conspired to commit an offense against and to defraud the United States in violation of Penal Code, § 37 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10201), and to unlawfully and willfully aid and counsel unknown persons to refuse to register under the Selective Draft Act, did not charge two distinct offenses, no facts being alleged to show a conspiracy to defraud the United States, so that the allegation as to fraud was surplusage. Sugar v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 79.

Indictment charging that defendants conspired to interfere with registration under this section, by publication of newspaper counseling persons not to register, sufficiently charged a public offense, notwithstanding section 2044f, post, was the basis of the offense charged, the act and not the sections being important, in view of Rev. St. United States, § 1025 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1691), preventing indictments from being deemed insufficient unless the defect tends to the prejudice of defendant. Id.

Indictment for conspiracy to violate Espionage Act, tit. 1, § 3, post, § 10212c, charging conspiracy subsequent to June 15, 1917, to induce persons liable to service under Selective Service Act to refuse to submit to registration, held to charge a conspiracy to induce persons who failed to register at time set by President's proclamation not to register under this section, making provision for subsequent registration. U. S. v. Prieth (D. C.) 251 F. 946.

Trial.—Socialists, on trial for violations of Selective Draft Law, were not entitled, in examining jurors, to inquire whether they distinguished between Socialists and anarchists. Ruthenberg v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 168, 245 U. S. 480, 62 L. Ed. 414.

In a prosecution for willful failure and refusal to present himself for, or to submit to, registration, as required by this section and the presidential proclamation thereunder, evidence held sufficient to establish the corpus delicti, showing defendant was within draft age, and not a member of the National Guard in the service of the United States, and failed to register in the precinct where he permanently resided. Breitmayer v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 249 F. 929.

It must be presumed that the grand jurors were cognizant of the fact that the day originally set for registration of persons subject to draft was June 5, 1917. U. S. v. Prieth (D. C.) 251 F. 946.

In a prosecution for conspiracy to violate the Selective Service Act, where it was asserted that a registrant and his father falsely represented that the father was dependent on the registrant, the jury cannot consider whether the father was guilty of misapplication of funds in his possession which he claimed did not belong to him, but were trust funds. U. S. v. McHugh (D. C.) 253 F. 224.

—— Admissibility of evidence.—In prosecution for failing to register, baptismal records, certified copy of application for pension, and application for homestead executed by defendant's mother, wherein she set out his age, are admissible in evidence, and the baptismal record having been made by Roman Catholic priest, it was competent for priest to testify as to tenets of his faith concerning baptism of infants. Phelan v. U. S., 249 F. 43, 161 C. C. A. 103.

In prosecution for failure to register, where defendant was indicted under the name by which he was known, instead of his real name, it was not error, and certainly was not prejudicial, to admit evidence identifying defendant with person named in a birth certificate, which it was claimed was issued on the occasion of defendant's birth. Breitmayer v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 249 F. 929.

As Act Mich. June 20, 1905 (Pub. Acts 1905, No. 330), providing that original birth certificates taken thereunder shall be transmitted to the secretary of state, was prospective, and made no provision as to records of births in custody of county clerks under Act Mich. March 27, 1867 (Pub. Acts 1867, No. 194), certified copy of birth record in county clerk's custody is, under general rules, admissible in evidence. Id.

In a prosecution for conspiracy to obstruct the draft, minutes of meetings of an executive committee kept by one of defendants, a committee member, showing passage of resolutions pursuant to which the other defendant caused circulars to be printed and mailed to persons drafted, held admissible against both defendants. U. S. v. Schenck (D. C.) 253 F. 212.

In a prosecution for conspiracy to violate Selective Service Act, by falsely claiming exemption on the ground that registrant's father was dependent on him for support, the jury could determine the physical condition of the father from their observation of him while on the stand, etc., and his physical infirmities need not be established by medical expert testimony. U. S. v. McHugh (D. C.) 253 F. 224.

Arrest of judgment.—On motion to arrest judgment notwithstanding plea of guilty, Criminal Code, § 332 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10506), providing that whoever aids, counsels, or procures the commission of an act is a principal, has no effect favorable to one indicted jointly with others for conspiracy in violation of Penal Code, § 37 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10201), to obstruct registration under the Selective Draft Act May 18, 1917. Sugar v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 79.

Cited without definite application, Beptall v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 294; Ex parte Hutflis (D. C.) 245 F. 798; U. S. v. Finley (D. C.) 245 F. 871; U. S. v. Kinkead (D. C.) 248 F. 141, order affirmed (C. C. A.) 250 F. 692; Ex parte Blazekovic (D. C.) 248 F. 327; Summertime v. Local Board, Division No. 10 (D. C.) 248 F. 832; U. S. v. Bell (D. C.) 248 F. 995; U. S. v. § 2044f. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 6.) Services of all departments and officers of United States and States; false registration.

The President is hereby authorized to utilize the service of any or all departments and any or all officers or agents of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, and subdivisions thereof, in the execution of this Act, and all officers and agents of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and subdivisions thereof, and of the District of Columbia, and all persons designated or appointed under regulations, prescribed by the President whether such appointments are made by the President himself or by the governor or other officer of any State or Territory to perform any duty in the execution of this Act, are hereby required to perform such duty as the President shall order or direct, and all such officers and agents and persons so designated or appointed shall hereby have full authority for all acts done by them in the execution of this Act by the direction of the President. Correspondence in the execution of this Act may be carried in penalty envelopes bearing the frank of the War Department. Any person charged as herein provided with the duty of carrying into effect any of the provisions of this Act or the regulations made or directions given thereunder who shall fail or neglect to perform such duty; and any person charged with such duty or having and exercising any authority under said Act, regulations, or directions, who shall knowingly make or be a party to the making of any false or incorrect registration, physical examination, exemption, enlistment, enrollment, or muster; and any person who shall make or be a party to the making of any false statement or certificate as to the fitness or liability of himself or any other person for service under the provisions of this Act, or regulations made by the President thereunder, or otherwise evades or aids another to evade the requirements of this Act or of said regulations, or who, in any manner, shall fail or neglect fully to perform any duty required of him in the execution of this Act, shall, if not subject to military law, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or, if subject to military law, shall be tried by court-martial and suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct. (40 Stat. 80.)

See note to § 2044a.

Notes of Decisions

Operation and effect of section in general.—Articles of War, art. 2 (Comp. St. 1916, § 2308a), defining persons subject to military law, is not repealed by this section. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623.

While a criminal statute should be strictly construed, the construction should not rob it of force and vigor to accomplish the purpose for which it was enacted and intended. U. S. v. Blakeman (D. C.) 251 F. 306.

Since this section speaks of "enlistment" in connection with the compulsory service therein provided for, and section 7, post, § 2044g, speaks of "voluntary enlistment," an intention is shown to use the term "enlistment" in a broad and comprehensive sense. U. S. v. Prieth (D. C.) 251 F. 946.

Punishment by court martial.—Provision of this section, that it shall be a misdemeanor to violate any provision of act or regulations made thereunder, does not preclude punishment under military law by one subject thereto because he was duly certified into the service; section itself expressly excepting those subject to military law. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623.

Offenses.—Conspiracy to resist raising of army by conscription held conspiracy to resist authority of the United States, though Selective Draft Act had not then been passed. U. S. v. Bryant (D. C.) 245 F. 682.

The making of a notarial certificate falsely reciting that doctors, whose statements were filed in support of a claim for exemption from military service, appeared before the notary, falls within the scope of the section, even though the statements by the doctors were not in themselves false. U. S. v. Blakeman (D. C.) 251 F. 306.

Indictment.—Indictment charging that defendants conspired to interfere with registration under Selective Draft Act May 18, 1917, § 5, by publication of newspaper counseling persons not to register, sufficiently charged a public offense, notwithstanding this section was also the basis of the offense charged, the act and not the sections being important, in view of Rev. St. United States, § 1025 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1691), preventing indictments from being deemed insufficient unless the defect tends to the prejudice of defendant. Sugar v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 79, affirming U. S. v. Sugar (D. C.) 243 F. 423.

Under Criminal Code, § 332 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10506), indictment charging defendants with aiding, abetting, counseling, commanding, or procuring violation of Conscription Act must allege specifically that act had been violated to charge an offense. U. S. v. Sugar (D. C.) 243 F. 423.

Indictment under Act June 15, 1917, § 3, post, § 10212c, for urging and advising persons registered under Act May 18, 1917, not to report for military service, held sufficient. U. S. v. Sugarman (D. C.) 245 F. 604.

An indictment charged in count 1, that defendant, having been subject to registration under Selective Service Law and duly registered thereunder, shortly afterward transferred property worth more than $25,000 and producing a yearly income of $1,700, in trust for the term of ten years, the principal and income to be invested and reinvested during the term, except $480 a year, which was to be applied to the payment of interest on a mortgage on defendant's residence; that having been selected for service, defendant claimed exemption and made and presented to the local board an affidavit that his wife was dependent upon him for support; that he had no property, except a small amount listed and his residence, subject to a purchase-money mortgage for $6,000, and no source of income, except the earnings from his law practice; that by means of such affidavit defendant secured exemption, and thereby evaded the requirements of the act, and failed and neglected to perform a duty required of him by said act. Count 2 charged that such affidavit constituted a false statement "as to fitness and liability" of defendant for service, in violation of section 6 of the act; and count 3 that it constituted the crime of perjury, under section 125 of the Criminal Code (Comp. St. 1916, § 10295). Held, that all three counts were good as against a demurrer. U. S. v. Miller (D. C.) 249 F. 985.

Indictment charging making of false notarial certificate as to unfitness and liability of another person for military service, is insufficient to charge offense of making false statement or certificate as to fitness or liability of another person to military service denounced by this section; the words "fitness" and "unfitness" not meaning the same thing, although a statement as to the fitness of one for military service might include facts as to "unfitness." U. S. v. Blakeman (D. C.) 251 F. 306.

—— Duplicity.—Where a notary appended false certificates to statements by several physicians, which were intended to be used in connection with a claim for exemption from military service, the false certification of each statement was a separate offense under the Selective Service Act, and the several offenses could not be charged in a single count of the indictment. U. S. v. Blakeman (D. C.) 251 F. 306.

§ 2044g. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 7, as amended, Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XIII.) Voluntary enlistments; grouping enlisted or drafted men; units.

The qualifications and conditions for voluntary enlistment as herein provided shall be the same as those prescribed by existing law for enlistments in the Regular Army, except that recruits for service in the staff corps and departments may be accepted who are between the ages of forty-one and fifty-five years, both inclusive, at the time of their enlistment, and that all other recruits must be between the ages of eighteen and forty years, both inclusive, at the time of their enlistment; and such enlistment shall be for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged. All enlistments, including those in the Regular Army Reserve, which are in force on the date of the approval of this Act and which would terminate during the emergency shall continue in force during the emergency unless sooner discharged; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to shorten the period of any existing enlistment: Provided, That all persons enlisted or drafted under any of the provisions of this Act shall as far as practicable be grouped into units by States and the political subdivisions of the same: Provided further, That all persons who have enlisted since April first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, either in the Regular Army or in the National Guard, and all persons who have enlisted in the National Guard since June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, upon their application, shall be discharged upon the termination of the existing emergency.

The President may provide for the discharge of any or all enlisted men whose status with respect to dependents renders such discharge advisable; and he may also authorize the employment on any active duty of retired enlisted men of the Regular Army, either with their rank on the retired list or in higher enlisted grades, and such retired enlisted men shall receive the full pay and allowances of the grades in which they are actively employed. (40 Stat. 81, 885.)

This section was amended by Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XIII, cited above, by changing the first sentence of the section to read as set forth above. As originally enacted, said sentence read as follows: "The qualifications and conditions for voluntary enlistment as herein provided shall be the same as those prescribed by existing law for enlistments in the Regular Army, except that recruits must be between the ages of eighteen and forty years, both inclusive, at the time of their enlistment; and such enlistments shall be for the period of the emergency unless sooner discharged."

So much of this section as imposes restrictions upon enlistments in the Regular Army is repealed by Act Feb. 28, 1919, c. 79, ante, § 1891bb.

Notes of Decisions

Operation and effect of section in general.—Since Selective Service Act, § 6, ante, § 2044f, speaks of "enlistment" in connection with the compulsory service therein provided for, and this section speaks of "voluntary enlistment," an intention is shown to use the term "enlistment" in a broad and comprehensive sense. U. S. v. Prieth (D. C.) 251 F. 946.

§ 2044gg. (Act Aug. 31, 1918, c. 166, § 4.) Assignment to service in Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

All men rendered available for induction into the military service of the United States through registration or draft heretofore or hereafter made pursuant to law, shall be liable to service in the Army or the Navy or the Marine Corps, and shall be allotted to the Army, the Navy, and the Marine Corps under regulations to be prescribed by the President: Provided, That all persons drafted and allotted to the Navy or the Marine Corps in pursuance hereof shall, from the date of allotment, be subject to the laws and regulations governing the Navy and the Marine Corps, respectively. (40 Stat. 956.)

This section, and the section next following, were sections 4 and 7 of an act entitled "An act amending the act entitled 'An act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States,' approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen," cited above. Section 1 of said act amends § 2044b; section 2 amends § 2044d; section 3 amends § 2044e; section 5 is set forth ante, as § 243a; section 6 is set forth ante, as § 1919a; section 8 is set forth post, as § 4588a; and section 9 is set forth post, as § 2123a.

§ 2044h. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 8, as amended, Act April 20, 1918, c. 61.) Temporary appointment of general officers; vacancies in Regular Army.

The President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, is authorized to appoint for the period of the existing emergency such general officers of appropriate grades as may be necessary for duty with brigades, divisions, and higher units in which the forces provided for herein may be organized by the President, and general officers of appropriate grade for the several Coast Artillery districts. In so far as such appointments may be made from any of the forces herein provided for, the appointees may be selected irrespective of the grades held by them in such forces. Vacancies in the grades of the Regular Army resulting from the appointment of officers thereof to higher grades in the forces other than the Regular Army herein provided for shall be filled by temporary promotions and appointments in the manner prescribed by section one hundred and fourteen of the national defense Act, approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, except that such promotions and appointments may be made by the President alone when such vacancies are in grades not above that of colonel; and officers appointed under the provisions of this Act to higher grades in the forces other than the Regular Army herein provided for shall not vacate their permanent commissions or be prejudiced in their relative or lineal standing in the Regular Army. (40 Stat. 81, 534.)

The amendment consisted in changing the last sentence to read as set forth above.

See note to § 2044a.

The appointment of two generals and a certain number of lieutenant generals under the provisions of this section was authorized by a provision of Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 105, § 3, ante, § 1717bb.

Vacancies in all grades of the Regular Army, National Army, or National Guard, resulting from the temporary appointment of officers thereof to higher grades in the Signal Corps, etc., are to be filled as provided by this section and section nine of this act, post, § 2044i, by a provision of Act July 24, 1917, c. 40, § 5, ante, § 1867j.

§ 2044i. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 9.) Period of appointments authorized by sections 1 and 8.

The appointments authorized and made as provided by the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh paragraphs of section one and by section eight of this Act, and the temporary appointments in the Regular Army authorized by the first paragraph of section one of this Act, shall be for the period of the emergency, unless sooner terminated by discharge or otherwise. The President is hereby authorized to discharge any officer from the office held by him under such appointment for any cause which, in the judgment of the President, would promote the public service; and the general commanding any division and higher tactical organization or territorial department is authorized to appoint from time to time military boards of not less than three nor more than five officers of the forces herein provided for to examine into and report upon the capacity, qualification, conduct, and efficiency of any commissioned officer within his command other than officers of the Regular Army holding permanent or provisional commissions therein. Each member of such board shall be superior in rank to the officer whose qualifications are to be inquired into, and if the report of such board be adverse to the continuance of any such officer and be approved by the President, such officer shall be discharged from the service at the discretion of the President with one month's pay and allowances. (40 Stat. 82.)

See notes to §§ 2044a, 2044h.

§ 2044j. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 10.) Pay, allowances, and pensions; increase of pay.

All officers and enlisted men of the forces herein provided for other than the Regular Army shall be in all respects on the same footing as to pay, allowances, and pensions as officers and enlisted men of corresponding grades and length of service in the Regular Army; and commencing June one, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and continuing until the termination of the emergency, all enlisted men of the Army of the United States in active service whose base pay does not exceed $21 per month shall receive an increase of $15 per month; those whose base pay is $24, an increase of $12 per month; those whose base pay is $30, $36, or $40, an increase of $8 per month; and those whose base pay is $45 or more, an increase of $6 per month: Provided, That the increases of pay herein authorized shall not enter into the computation of continuous-service pay. (40 Stat. 82.)

See note to § 2044a.

The pay of certain enlisted men is dealt with by § 2144a, post.

§ 2044k. (Act May 18, 1917, c. 15, § 11.) Restrictions on details of officers and enlisted men of Regular Army suspended.

All existing restrictions upon the detail, detachment, and employment of officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army are hereby suspended for the period of the present emergency. (40 Stat. 82.)

See note to § 2044a.

See note to § 2044gg, ante.

The service of all persons selected by draft and all enlistments under the provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall be for the period of the war, unless sooner terminated by discharge or otherwise. Whenever said war shall cease by the conclusion of peace between the United States and its enemies in the present war, the President shall so declare by a public proclamation to that effect, and within four months after the date of said proclamation or as soon thereafter as it may be practicable to transport the forces then serving without the United States to their home station, the provisions of said Act, in so far as they authorize compulsory service by selective draft or otherwise, shall cease to be of force and effect. (40 Stat. 217.)

This section was § 4 of the urgent deficiency appropriation act for the military and naval establishments on account of war expenses for the fiscal year 1917, cited above.

the United States," are placed in classes for the purpose of determining their relative liability for military service, no provision of said Act shall prevent the President from calling for immediate military service under regulations heretofore or hereafter prescribed by the President all or part of the persons in any class or classes except those exempt from draft under the provisions of said Act, in proportion to the total number of persons placed in such class or classes in the various subdivisions of the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia designated by the President under the terms of said Act; or from calling into immediate military service persons classed as skilled experts in industry or agriculture, however classified or wherever residing. (40 Stat. 554.)

thorized by law in cases where public quarters are not available; but nothing in this Act shall be so construed as to reduce the allowances now authorized by law for any person in the Army. (40 Stat. 530.)

This was an act entitled "An act to provide quarters or commutation thereof to commissioned officers in certain cases," cited above.

Notes of Decisions

Construction and operation in general.—This section does not determine that the term "in the field" includes the cantonments in this country, so as to render a civilian employé at such camp subject to military law, under article 2 of the Articles of War (Comp. St. 1916, § 2038a). Ex parte Mikell (D. C.) 253 F. 817.

§ 2118d. (Act July 9, 1918, c. 143.) Housing of officers serving in the Canal Zone.

This was a provision of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919 cited above.

§ 2132a. (Act May 12, 1917, c. 12.) Mileage; officers of Ordnance Department.

§ 2136a. (Act April 27, 1914, c. 72.) Transportation of private mounts of officers, and reimbursement for charges thereon.

Operation of section in general.—This section applies only to officers changing stations, and not to those ordered "over the seas" to their homes, or to any other place in the United States. Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 53.

Such section tends to show that it is necessary to have authority of law for transportation of excess mounts on change of station, and that such transportation could not legally be provided for by regulation. Id.

§ 2136aa. (Act July 9, 1918, c. 143, subchapter XVIII.) Transportation of mounts of deceased officers.

Hereafter, under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, authorized mounts of officers who die in the service may, within ninety days after the death of the officer, be transported at public expense from their last duty station to such places within the limits of the United States as may be the home of their families, or as may be designated by their legal representatives or executors, or such mount may be disposed of as directed by such representatives or executors. (40 Stat. 892.)

This was a part of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

The above amount, in the case of separation from the service on or prior to the passage of this Act, shall be paid as soon as practicable after the passage of this Act, and in the case of separation from the service after the passage of this Act shall be paid at the time of such separation.

The amounts herein provided for shall be paid out of the appropriations for "pay of the Army" and "pay of the Navy," respectively, by such disbursing officers as may be designated by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy.

Nothing herein shall be construed to invalidate allotments now in force. (30 Stat. 981. 31 Stat. 896. 40 Stat. 384.)

I. PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

Art. 2. Persons subject to military law.

Construction and operation in general.—Articles of War, art. 2, defining persons subject to military law, is not repealed by section 6 of Selective Draft Act, declaring that violation of any of the provisions of act shall be misdemeanor. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623.

Provision of Selective Draft Act, § 6, ante, § 2044f, that it shall be a misdemeanor to violate any provision of act or regulations made thereunder, does not preclude punishment under military law by one subject thereto because he was duly certified into the service; section itself expressly excepting those subject to military law. Id.

The construction placed by the Secretary of War on article 2 is not conclusive; but the construction is for the courts specially, in so far as it affects the relations between the armies and civilian population. Ex parte Mikell (D. C.) 253 F. 817.

Validity.—Under Const. U. S. art. 1, § 8, Congress was authorized to make persons not part of the military personnel accompanying United States armies, subject to Articles of War. Ex parte Gerlach (D. C.) 247 F. 616.

As Const. art. 1, § 8, gives Congress authority to make rules for the government of land and naval forces, and as Articles of War, art. 2, makes civilians serving with armies in the field subject to military law, such a civilian, who attempted to desert, cannot question the jurisdiction of a court-martial, authorized by article 58 to impose death or other penalty, etc., on the ground that he was not tried under the guaranties prescribed by the Fifth Amendment; that amendment excepting cases arising in the land or naval forces. Ex parte Falls (D. C.) 251 F. 415.

Enlisted men under military age.—Under Rev. St. § 761 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1289), held that, on habeas corpus by father to avoid enlistment of minor son over 16 and under 18 in National Guard, immediate surrender would not be directed, where son was guilty of military offense, but the military authorities would be allowed to retain custody to punish for such offense. Hoskins v. Dickerson, 239 F. 275, 152 C. C. A. 263, Ann. Cas. 1917C, 776, L. R. A. 1917D, 1056.

A military tribunal held to have jurisdiction to try offender under military age for offenses committed before father's election to terminate enlistment, though he was not taken into custody until after such election. U. S. v. Brown (D. C.) 242 F. 983.

Person enlisting in National Guard, and later taking federal enlistment oath under National Defense Act, § 70 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3044i), is subject to jurisdiction of military tribunal, though under 21 and enlisted without written consent of parent or guardian. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

Drafted men.—Under Selective Draft Act, § 2, ante, § 2044b, and Articles of War, art. 2, one certified into military service under Draft Act is, from date he was certified, subject to military law, and to punishment as deserter on account of his refusal to obey summons. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 623.

Aliens.—Person enlisting in National Guard, and later taking federal enlistment oath under National Defense Act, § 70 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3044i), held subject to jurisdiction of military tribunal, though an alien, and though he had a mother dependent upon him for support. Ex parte Dostal (D. C.) 243 F. 664.

Civilian employés.—A seaman, carried to United States on army transport, who volunteered to stand watch and then refused to continue, though ordered to do so, held subject to Articles of War as a person accompanying armies of United States, voluntarily serving with them in the field without territorial jurisdiction of the United States. Ex parte Gerlach (D. C.) 247 F. 616.

Under Articles of War, art. 2, a civilian employed in time of war by quartermaster's department and assigned as cook on a vessel transporting army supplies is "serving with the armies in field," and court-martial has jurisdiction to try him for his attempt to desert the ship just before sailing. Ex parte Falls (D. C.) 251 F. 415.

A civilian stenographer, employed as a clerk, during war at a camp or cantonment in the United States, is not subject to military law, under article 2, for he is not serving with an army in the field, there being no hostilities in the United States; and this is true, despite the language of Act April 16, 1918, ante, § 2118bb. Ex parte Mikell (D. C.) 253 F. 817.

II. COURTS-MARTIAL

Art. 3. Courts-martial classified.

10. Review of decisions.—A civil court has no power to interfere with the conduct of a court-martial, except where that court has exceeded its jurisdiction, and, if it originally had jurisdiction, it must be shown that, at some point in the proceedings under its governing law, it lost such jurisdiction. U. S. v. Hunt (D. C.) 254 F. 365.

In view of Regulations for United States Army, art. 72, which is law of land, state courts have no authority to grant a writ of habeas corpus for discharge of members of state militia which has been drafted into the military service of United States under National Defense Act. Ex parte McMillan (Ala. App.) 74 So. 396.

Where members of state National Guard had been drafted into military service of United States, under National Defense Act, and hence are beyond jurisdiction of state courts, appellate court will not consider whether they were properly mustered into service of state, as case has become moot, and courts will decline to pass upon appeals in such cases. Id.

B. BY WHOM APPOINTED

Art. 8. General courts-martial.

Construction and operation in general.—See Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

Art. 9. Special courts-martial.

Construction and operation in general.—See Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

Art. 10. Summary courts-martial.

Construction and operation in general.—See Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

C. JURISDICTION

Art. 12. General courts-martial.

Validity.—Under Const. art. 1, § 8, cls. 9, 11, 12, 14, Congress is authorized to create military tribunals and to confer upon them, as has been done by Articles of War, arts. 8, 9, 10, and 12, jurisdiction to try military offenses to the exclusion of the civil tribunals. Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

Enlisted man under military age.—While parent of minor under 18 years of age was entitled under National Defense Act to obtain his release where he enlisted without her consent, nevertheless military authorities had jurisdiction to try such minor in accordance with Articles of War, arts. 8, 9, 10, 12, and 54, for offense of fraudulent enlistment. Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

Insane persons.—That a defendant, on trial for desertion before a court-martial, was shown to have been in a "haze" or "stupor" at the time in question, held insufficient, under a plea of not guilty, to raise an issue of insanity, which deprived the court of jurisdiction under section 219 of the Manual of Courts-Martial. U. S. v. Hunt (D. C.) 254 F. 365.

Art. 15. Not exclusive.

Construction and operation in general.—Provision of Articles of War, art. 15, preventing construction of article conferring jurisdiction on courts-martial, so as to deprive military commissions, provost courts, or other military tribunal of concurrent jurisdiction, did not impliedly deprive civil courts of concurrent jurisdiction. People v. Denman (Cal.) 177 P. 461.

G. ACTION BY APPOINTING OR SUPERIOR AUTHORITY

Art. 46. Approval and execution of sentence.

Effect of conviction.—Conviction of a military offense by court-martial does not make a witness incompetent to testify in the civil courts in a criminal prosecution. Reed v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 21.

Art. 50. Mitigation or remission of sentences.

The power to order the execution of the sentence adjudged by a court-martial shall be held to include, inter alia, the power to mitigate or remit the whole or any part of the sentence.

Any unexecuted portion of a sentence adjudged by a court-martial may be mitigated or remitted by the military authority competent to appoint, for the command, exclusive of penitentiaries and the United States Disciplinary Barracks, in which the person under sentence is held, a court of the kind that imposed the sentence, and the same power may be exercised by superior military authority; but no sentence approved or confirmed by the President shall be remitted or mitigated by any other authority, and no approved sentence of loss of files by an officer shall be remitted or mitigated by any authority inferior to the President, except as provided in the fifty-second article.

When empowered by the President so to do, the commanding general of the Army in the field or the commanding general of the territorial department or division may mitigate or remit, and order executed as mitigated or remitted, any sentence which under these articles requires the confirmation of the President before the same may be executed.

The power of remission and mitigation shall extend to all uncollected forfeitures adjudged by sentence of a court-martial. (39 Stat. 658. 40 Stat. 1211.)

This article was again amended by Act Feb. 28, 1919, c. 81, cited above, to read as set forth above. Prior to this amendment said section read as follows:

"The power to order the execution of the sentence adjudged by a court-martial shall be held to include, inter alia, the power to mitigate or remit the whole or any part of the sentence, but no sentence of dismissal of an officer and no sentence of death shall be mitigated or remitted by any authority inferior to the President.

"Any unexecuted portion of a sentence adjudged by a court-martial may be mitigated or remitted by the military authority competent to appoint, for the command, exclusive of penitentiaries and the United States Disciplinary Barracks, in which the person under sentence is held, a court of the kind that imposed the sentence, and the same power may be exercised by superior military authority; but no sentence extending to the dismissal of an officer or loss of files, no sentence of death, and no sentence approved or confirmed by the President shall be remitted or mitigated by any other authority.

"The power of remission and mitigation shall extend to all uncollected forfeitures adjudged by sentence of a court-martial."

Art. 52. Suspension of sentence.

The authority competent to order the execution of the sentence of a court-martial may, at the time of the approval of such sentence, suspend the execution, in whole or in part, of any such sentence as does not extend to death, and may restore the person under sentence to duty during such suspension. A sentence, or any part thereof, which has been so suspended may be remitted, in whole or in part, except in cases of persons confined in the United States Disciplinary Barracks or its branches, by the officer who suspended the same, by his successor in office, or by any officer exercising appropriate court-martial jurisdiction over the command in which the person under sentence may be serving at the time, and, subject to the foregoing exceptions the same authority may vacate the order of suspension at any time and order the execution of the sentence or the suspended part thereof in so far as the same shall not have been previously remitted. The death or honorable discharge of a person under suspended sentence shall operate as a complete remission of any unexecuted or unremitted part of such sentence. (39 Stat. 659. 40 Stat. 882.)

For this article as originally enacted see U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 2308a, art. 52.

Art. 53. Execution or remission; confinement in disciplinary barracks.

When a sentence of dishonorable discharge has been suspended until the soldier's release from confinement, the execution or remission of any part of his sentence shall, if the soldier be confined in the United States Disciplinary Barracks, or any branch thereof, be directed by the Secretary of War. (39 Stat. 659. 40 Stat. 883.)

For this article as originally enacted see U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 2308a, art. 53.

III. PUNITIVE ARTICLES

A. ENLISTMENT; MUSTER; RETURNS.

Art. 54. Fraudulent enlistment.

Enlistment by minor.—A minor under 16 who attempted to enlist and did no other act held not guilty of fraudulent enlistment within Article of War 54. Hoskins v. Pell, 239 F. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D, 1053.

Under Rev. St. § 761 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1289), held that, on habeas corpus by father to avoid enlistment of minor son over 16 and under 18 in National Guard, immediate surrender would not be directed, where son was guilty of military offense, but the military authorities would be allowed to retain custody to punish for such offense. Hoskins v. Dickerson, 239 F. 275, 152 C. C. A. 263, Ann. Cas. 1917C, 776, L. R. A. 1917D, 1056.

While parent of minor under 18 years of age was entitled under National Defense Act to obtain his release where he enlisted without her consent, nevertheless military authorities had jurisdiction to try such minor in accordance with Articles of War, arts. 8, 9, 10, 12, and 54, for offense of fraudulent enlistment. Ex parte Foley (D. C.) 243 F. 470.

Art. 55. Officer making unlawful enlistment.

Enlistment of minors.—See Hoskins v. Pell, 239 F. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D, 1053.

Art. 57. False returns; omission to render returns.

Every officer commanding a regiment, an independent troop, battery, or company, or a garrison shall, in the beginning of every month, transmit through the proper channels, to the Department of War, an exact return of the same. Every officer whose duty it is to render to the War Department or other superior authority a return of the state of the troops under his command, or of the arms, ammunition, clothing, funds, or other property thereunto belonging, who knowingly makes a false return thereof shall be dismissed from the service and suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. And any officer who, through neglect or design, omits to render such return shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. (39 Stat. 660. 40 Stat. 883.)

For this article as originally enacted see U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 2308a, art. 57.

B. DESERTION—ABSENCE WITHOUT LEAVE

Art. 58. Desertion

Civilian employé.—As Const. art. 1, § 8, gives Congress authority to make rules for the government of land and naval forces, and as Articles of War, art. 2, makes civilians serving with armies in the field subject to military law, such a civilian, who attempted to desert, cannot question the jurisdiction of a court-martial, authorized by article 58 to impose death or other penalty, etc., on the ground that he was not tried under the guaranties prescribed by the Fifth Amendment; that amendment excepting cases arising in the land or naval forces. Ex parte Falls (D. C.) 251 F. 415.

Desertion by minor.—A minor under 16 who attempted to enlist held not a deserter within Article of War 58. Hoskins v. Pell, 239 F. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D, 1053.

See, also, notes to § 1885, ante.

D. ARREST; CONFINEMENT

Art. 74. Delivery of offenders to civil authorities.

Operation on civil and criminal laws in general.—If military authorities have the right to try members of the military for violations of state or municipal law, it is under federal law, and if there is such a law it is paramount. In re Wulzen (D. C.) 235 F. 362, Ann. Cas. 1917A, 274.

Consent by captain and major that soldier should be tried by civil authorities for alleged offense held not to be binding on general commanding brigade of which soldier was member. Ex parte King (D. C.) 246 F. 868.

Conceding paramount right of military authorities in time of war to custody of soldier notwithstanding criminal charges against him in the courts of a state, the right inures solely to military authorities, and cannot be raised by the offender. People v. Denman (Cal.) 177 P. 461.

Although military authorities may have priority to try alleged offenses against state or municipal law, it does not necessarily follow that the victims of such offenses may not by proceedings in the state courts secure redress; but where, during mobilization of militia, at time of Mexican trouble, a company marching to a meeting to encourage enlistments pushed its way through the crowd, but it is not shown that it was done violently, or that prosecuting witness was even touched, the military authorities, and not state courts, have power to try members of the company for such alleged breaches of the peace. In re Wulzen (D. C.) 235 F. 362, Ann. Cas. 1917A, 274.

Jurisdiction of civil courts.—Articles of War enacted August 29, 1916, do not deprive the civil courts, either in time of peace or war, of the concurrent jurisdiction previously vested in them over crimes against either federal or state law, committed within the United States, by persons subject to military law. U. S. v. Hirsch (D. C.) 254 F. 109.

Laws of the land.—If a member of the military is charged with disorderly conduct in violation of a municipal ordinance, a paramount remedy is provided for by punishment by the military authorities. In re Wulzen (D. C.) 235 F. 362, Ann. Cas. 1917A, 274.

F. MISCELLANEOUS CRIMES AND OFFENSES

Art. 92. Murder; rape.

Jurisdiction of state court.—Under Articles of War 92 and 93, and in view of article 58 of the old Articles of War, held that, where a soldier in time of war shot and killed one in a state, military authorities had first right to try him for offense. Ex parte King (D. C.) 246 F. 868.

Any changes in articles of war in years 1913 and 1916 did not alter rule that courts-martial do not have exclusive jurisdiction for trial of a soldier for murder committed in time of war, but that the state courts have jurisdiction until it is assumed by military authorities. People v. Denman (Cal.) 177 P. 461.

Art. 93. Various crimes.

Jurisdiction of civil courts.—Under Articles of War 92 and 93, and in view of article 58 of the old Articles of War, held that, where a soldier in time of war shot and killed one in a state, military authorities had first right to try him for offense. Ex parte King (D. C.) 246 F. 868.

V. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Art. 108. Soldiers; separation from the service.

What constitutes discharge.—Certificate of furlough granted to applicant for citizenship after three years' service with army, pursuant to Act Aug. 24, 1912, § 2 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1892), held not honorable discharge, and so applicant could not be admitted to citizenship under Rev. St. § 2166 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4355). In re Markun (D. C.) 232 F. 1018.

Grounds for discharge.—Despite Rev. St. § 1116 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1884), held, in view of article 100, relator, having been duly certified into military service of United States under Selective Draft Act, is not entitled to discharge on ground that he was afflicted with disease which rendered discharge necessary, for that question is one for army. In re Traina (D. C.) 248 F. 1004.

Power of courts.—In view of Regulations for United States Army, art. 72, which is law of land, state courts have no authority to grant a writ of habeas corpus for discharge of members of state militia which has been drafted into the military service of United States under National Defense Act. Ex parte McMillan (Ala. App.) 74 So. 396.

Art. 109. Oath of enlistment.

Drafted men.—Articles of War, art. 109, requiring every soldier, at time of his enlistment, to take oath of allegiance, applies only to voluntary enlistment, and one certified into military service under Selective Draft Act cannot escape liability to military law because he has not taken required oath. Franke v. Murray, 248 F. 865, 160 C. C. A. 523.

Art. 112. Effects of deceased persons; disposition of.

In case of the death of any person subject to military law, the commanding officer of the place of command will permit the legal representative or widow of the deceased, if present, to take possession of all his effects then in camp or quarters, and if no legal representative or widow be present, the commanding officer shall direct a summary court to secure all such effects; and said summary court shall have authority to collect and receive any debts due decedent's estate by local debtors; and as soon as practicable after the collection of such effects said summary court shall transmit such effects, and any money collected, through the Quartermaster Department, at Government expense, to the widow or legal representative of the deceased, if such be found by said court, or to his son, daughter, father, mother, brother, or sister, in the order named, if such be found by said court, or to the beneficiary named by the deceased, if such be found by said court, and such court shall thereupon make to the War Department a full report of its transactions; but if there be none of the persons hereinabove named, or such persons or their addresses are not known to, or readily ascertainable by, said court, and the court shall so find, said summary court shall have authority to convert into cash, by public or private sale, not earlier than thirty days after the death of the deceased, all effects of the deceased, except sabers, insignia, decorations, medals, watches, trinkets, manuscripts, and other articles valuable chiefly as keepsakes; and as soon as practicable after converting such effects into cash said summary court shall deposit with the proper officer, to be designated in regulations, any cash belonging to decedent's estate, and shall transmit a receipt for such deposits, any will or other papers of value belonging to the deceased, any sabers, insignia, decorations, medals, watches, trinkets, manuscripts, and other articles valuable chiefly as keepsakes; together with an inventory of the effects secured by said summary court, and a full account of its transactions to the War Department for transmission to the Auditor for the War Department for action as authorized by law in the settlement of the accounts of deceased officers and enlisted men of the Army.

The provisions of this article shall be applicable to inmates of the United States Soldiers' Home who die in any United States military hospital outside of the District of Columbia where sent from the home for treatment. (39 Stat. 668. 40 Stat. 883.)

For this article as originally enacted see U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 2308a, art. 112.

CHAPTER SIX—THE UNITED STATES DISCIPLINARY BARRACKS

§ 2458a(1, 7).

Act March 4, 1915, c. 143, § 1, 38 Stat. 1074, contains these further provisions:

"The United States military prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, shall hereafter be known as the United States Disciplinary Barracks and the branches of said prison as branches of said barracks."

"The authority now vested in the Secretary of War to give an honorable restoration to duty, in case the same is merited, to general prisoners confined in the United States Disciplinary Barracks and its branches shall be extended so that such restoration may be given to general prisoners confined elsewhere, and the Secretary of War shall be, and he is hereby, authorized to establish a system of parole for prisoners confined in said barracks and its branches, the terms and conditions of such parole to be such as the Secretary of War may prescribe."

This section was repealed by a provision of Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, § 18. Other provisions for the designation of admirals and rear admirals were made by said Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, § 18, post, § 2471aa.

§ 2471aa. (Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, § 18.) Admirals and vice admirals.

That the President be, and he is hereby, further authorized to designate six officers of the Navy for the command of fleets or subdivisions thereof and, after being so designated from the date of assuming such command until relinquishing thereof, not more than three of such officers shall each have the rank and pay of an admiral, and the others shall each have the rank and pay of a vice admiral; and the grades of admiral and vice admiral are hereby authorized and continued for the purpose of this Act: Provided, That in time of war the selections under the provisions of this section shall be made from the grades of rear admiral or captain on the active list of the Navy: Provided further, That the pay of an admiral shall be $10,000 and the pay of a vice admiral $9,000 per annum: Provided further, That in time of peace officers for the command of fleets and subdivisions thereof, as herein authorized, shall be designated from among the rear admirals on the active list of the Navy: Provided further, That nothing herein contained shall create any vacancy in any grade in the Navy or increase the total number of officers authorized by law: Provided further, That when an officer with the rank of admiral or vice admiral is detached from the command of a fleet or subdivision thereof, as herein authorized, he shall return to his regular rank in the list of officers of the Navy and shall thereafter receive only the pay and allowances of such rank: And provided further, That nothing in this Act shall be held or construed as amending or repealing the provisions of sections fourteen hundred and thirty-four, fourteen hundred and sixty-three, and fourteen hundred and sixty-four of the Revised Statutes of the United States. (40 Stat. 89.)

This was a part of section 18 of Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, entitled "An act to temporarily increase the commissioned and warrant and enlisted strength of the Navy and Marine Corps, and for other purposes," cited above. The remainder of said section repealed provisions of Act March 3, 1915, c. 83, relating to the designation of admirals and rear admirals. Said repealing provision read as follows: "That the provision in the Act approved March third, nineteen hundred and fifteen, for the designation of commanders in chief of certain fleets with the rank of admiral and for the designation of officers second in command of such fleets with the rank of vice admiral be, and the same is hereby repealed."

R. S. §§ 1434, 1463, 1464, referred to in this section, are §§ 2604, 2654, 2655 of U. S. Comp. St. 1916.

Section 13 of said Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, provided that "nothing contained in this act shall operate to reduce the rank, pay, or allowances that would have been received by any person in the Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard except for the passage of this act."

§ 2471aaa. (Act July 1, 1918, c. 114.) Admirals and vice admirals.

The officers of the Navy holding the rank and title of Admiral and Vice Admiral in the Navy while holding such rank and title shall receive the allowances of a General and Lieutenant General of the Army, respectively. (40 Stat. 717.)

§ 2483g. (Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, § 4, as amended, Act July 1, 1918, c. 114.) Temporary additional officers in Navy and Marine Corps; number.

Additional commissioned officers in the Navy and Marine Corps, based upon the temporary increases herein authorized in the number of enlisted men, shall be temporarily appointed by the President, in his discretion, with the advice and consent of the Senate, not above the grades and ranks of lieutenant commander in the line and staff of the Navy and major in the Marine Corps, the distribution in said grades and ranks to be made in accordance with the provisions of the Act of August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen: Provided, That all temporary original appointments shall be made in the lowest commissioned grades of the line and staff of the Navy and Marine Corps, exclusive of commissioned warrant officers, and that there shall be no permanent or temporary appointments in or permanent or temporary promotions to any grade or rank above that of lieutenant commander in the Navy or major in the Marine Corps by reason of the temporary appointment of officers authorized by this Act in excess of the total number of officers authorized by existing law or on account of the increase of enlisted men herein authorized: Provided further, That, during the period of the present war, the deficiency existing prior to the passage of this Act in the total number of commissioned officers of the Navy and Marine Corps authorized by the Act of August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, may also be supplied by temporary appointments in the lowest grades and by temporary promotions to all other grades until a sufficient number of officers shall be available for regular appointment or promotion in accordance with existing law: Provided further, That nothing herein shall be held or construed to limit or abridge the use or service of the officers of the Navy and Marine Corps on the retired list or of the officers of the Naval Militia and National Naval Volunteers, Naval Reserve Force, and Marine Corps Reserve, as provided and authorized under existing law. (40 Stat. 85, 716.)

This section was amended by Act July 1, 1918, c. 114, cited above, by striking out, after the words "shall be fifty years for" the words "commissioned warrant officers, warrant officers, and."

Lieutenants (junior grade) and ensigns may be considered eligible for temporary promotions to the grades of lieutenant and lieutenant (junior grade), respectively, without regard to length of service in grade. (40 Stat. 86, 716.)

Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, § 5, of which this section formed a part, was amended by Act July 1, 1918, c. 114, cited above. This section was not affected by said amendment. For other parts of said section 5, see ante, § 2483h, post, §§ 2554a, 2554aa, 2554bb.

§ 2483ii. (Act July 1, 1918, c. 114.) Effect of amendment of Act May 22, 1917, c. 114, §§ 4, 5.

Nothing contained in the preceding amendments of the Act of May twenty-second, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall be construed to reduce the pay or allowances now authorized by law for any commissioned, warrant, or appointed officer or any enlisted man of the active or retired lists of the Navy. (40 Stat. 717.)

This was a provision of the Naval appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above. Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, § 5, as amended, mentioned in this section, is set forth ante, §§ 2483g, 2483h, 2483i, post, §§ 2541d, 2554a, 2554aa, 2554bb, 2901b.

§ 2483j. (Act May 22, 1917, c. 20, § 7.) Temporary additional officers in Navy and Marine Corps; temporary advancements or promotions not to prejudice permanent and probationary commissions.

Where at the time of retirement from the public service it is the intention of the party leaving the service to reenter the service, and the same party, as soon as he can do so thereafter, enters the service, such last appointment is not "from civil life." Barber v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 250.

§ 2820. (Act May 13, 1908, c. 166.) Increase of pay of officers on sea duty, or on shore duty beyond continental limits of United States.

§ 2821. (Act March 3, 1901, c. 852.) Increase of pay of officers on shore duty beyond seas, etc.

§ 2826. (Act May 13, 1908, c. 166.) Additions to pay of aids to rear-admirals.

Aids to rear admirals.—No officer above the rank of lieutenant in the Navy is entitled to pay as aid to a rear admiral under this act and prior statutes assimilating the ranks in the Army and Navy are not disturbed by said act. Knox v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 22; Craven v. Same, Id. 30; McLean v. Same, Id.; Tompkins v. Same, Id.; Palmer v. Same, Id. 31; Chase v. Same, Id.; Helm v. Same, Id. 32.

Where the officer, after the date of eligibility to promotion and before the date of his commission as a lieutenant commander, served as an aid to a division commander he is entitled to the additional pay as aid, as during the period of service he in fact held the grade of lieutenant. Downes v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 237.

§ 2837. (Act June 22, 1874, c. 392, § 1.) Commencement of pay; officers promoted.

§ 2838. (Act March 4, 1913, c. 148.) Commencement of pay; officers advanced in grade and rank after March 3, 1899.

Construction and application in general.—As rank is not an office, where the commission issued to a naval officer shows that the date of rank is incorrect the officer cannot recover pay from the date so stated in virtue of this section. Toulon v. U. S., 51 Ct. Cl. 87.

A paymaster's clerk under the old order, when commissioned a chief pay clerk pursuant to Act March 3, 1915, c. 83 (Comp. St. 1916, § 2537a), was not "advanced in grade or rank pursuant to law" within this section. Seifert v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 40.

Where a lieutenant receives additional pay as aid, and by subsequent executive action pursuant to this section, he became a lieutenant commander, the sum allowed as additional pay will not be set off against the claim for pay for the higher grade, because by that act he became retroactively and constructively, but not in fact, a lieutenant commander during that period. Downes v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 327.

Previous failure in examination.—Naval warrant officer, entitled under Comp. St. 1916, § 2712, to promotion on examination on March 3, 1909, who failed at examination May 17, the delay being without his fault, and was, under § 2700, suspended from promotion for one year, and whose second examination, without his fault, was delayed until June 8, 1910, was entitled under §§ 2838, 2840, to pay of advanced rate from date when he became entitled to take second examination, which he passed. Smith v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 244.

Where a lieutenant eligible for promotion was found physically disqualified, and when the physical defect was remedied was nominated as a lieutenant commander from the date when the vacancy occurred, he is entitled to the pay of the higher grade for constructive service from the date of eligibility and was advanced in grade "pursuant to law" under this section. Downes v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 237.

Where assistant surgeon in navy failed professionally and took new examination, and commission as passed assistant surgeon was corrected, he was, in view of Comp. St. 1916, §§ 2497, 2838, entitled to pay of advanced rank from date shown in corrected commission. Toulon v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 333.

§ 2840. (R. S. § 1562.) In cases of delayed examination.

Construction and application.—Naval warrant officer, entitled under Comp. St. 1916, § 2712, to promotion on examination on March 3, 1909, who failed at examination May 17, the delay being without his fault, and was, under § 2700, suspended from promotion for one year, and whose second examination, without his fault, was delayed until June 8, 1910, was entitled under §§ 2838, 2840 to pay of advanced rate from date when he became entitled to take second examination, which he passed. Smith v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 244.

In view of Comp. St. 1916, §§ 2496, 2497, assistant surgeon at the end of three years' service, is eligible to promotion, subject to examination, and takes rank from the date on which he becomes eligible, though examination be delayed, and under § 2840, may also get the pay of the advanced rank from such date. Toulon v. U. S., 51 Ct. Cl. 87.

§ 2841a. (Act March 4, 1917, c. 180.) Advances; officers ordered to and from sea or shore duty beyond seas.

Hereafter advances of pay not to exceed three months' pay in any one case may be made to officers ordered to and from sea duty and to and from shore duty beyond the seas, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Navy may prescribe. (39 Stat. 1181.)

This was a provision of the naval appropriation act for the fiscal year 1918, cited above.

This section, a provision of Act May 13, 1908, c. 166, 35 Stat. 128, prescribing the pay and allowances of Chiefs of Bureaus in the Navy Department, was superseded by a provision of Act July 1, 1918, c. 114, post, § 2843aa.

§ 2843a. (Act June 30, 1876, c. 159.) Mileage in lieu of actual traveling expenses.

So much of the act of June sixteenth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and for other purposes, as provides that only actual traveling expenses shall be allowed to any person holding employment or appointment under the United States while engaged on public business, as is applicable to officers of the Navy so engaged, is hereby repealed; and the sum of eight cents per mile shall be allowed such officers while so engaged, in lieu of their actual expenses. (19 Stat. 65.)

See Comp. St. 1916, note under R. S. § 1566, on pp. 4176, 4177.

Effect of order.—The rule is well settled that the terms of an order given for any purpose cannot determine the character of the travel or the service performed, but that question must be determined from the particular facts in each case. McCauley v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 105.

Travel on public business.—When a sick officer, while convalescent, is sent home for the purpose of allowing him to regain his health, it is sending him on public business within the meaning of the law. McCauley v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 105.

§ 2843aa. (Act July 1, 1918, c. 114.) Pay and allowances of chiefs of bureaus.

Hereafter chiefs of bureaus of the Navy Department, including the Judge Advocate General of the Navy, shall, while so serving, have corresponding rank and shall receive the same pay and allowances as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by or in pursuance of law for chiefs of bureaus of the War Department and the Judge Advocate General of the Army. (40 Stat. 717.)

This section was a part of the Naval appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

§ 2845. (Act March 3, 1901, c. 831.) Mileage to officers traveling within United States.

Construction and application in general.—The rule is well settled that the terms of an order given for any purpose cannot determine the character of the travel or the service performed, but that question must be determined from the particular facts in each case. McCauley v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 105.

A regulation of a department is not sufficient to change the plaintiff's status, so as to bring him within the terms of this section. Ashton v. U. S., 51 Ct. Cl. 65.

This act repealed Rev. St. § 1566, only as to the amount per mile allowed for mileage, but does not repeal the provision that "no officer shall be paid mileage, except for travel actually performed at his own expense and in obedience to orders." Katzer v. U. S., 52 Ct. Cl. 32.

"Officer of the navy."—A paymaster's clerk is not an "officer of the navy" entitled to mileage pay, within the meaning of Act March 3, 1901. Ashton v. U. S., 51 Ct. Cl. 65.

§ 2851. (Act March 3, 1901, c. 852.) Commutation of quarters to officers on shore.

Right to commutation of quarters.—When an officer serving "beyond the continental limits of the United States" has all his actual and necessary expenses paid by the United States while so serving, he is not entitled to commutation of quarters, heat, and light during the period of said service. Downer v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 273.

§ 2851aa. (Act July 1, 1918, c. 114.) Assignment of quarters or commutation thereof.

Hereafter the Secretary of the Navy may determine where and when there are no public quarters available for persons in the Navy and Marine Corps, or serving therewith, within the meaning of any Acts or parts of Acts relating to the assignment of quarters or commutation therefor. (40 Stat. 718.)

This section was a provision of the Naval appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

§ 2855a. (Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 103.) Enlisted men; ratings established; base pay.

It was amended to read as set forth here by Act Aug. 22, 1912, c. 335, also cited above, with the exception of the words "or of any retired officer or enlisted man serving on active duty during the continuance of the present war," which were inserted in the section after the words "on the active list of the Navy or Marine Corps," by Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 89, last cited above. Said Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 89, contained the following preliminary amendatory clause: "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the paragraph of the Act approved August twenty-second, nineteen hundred and twelve, entitled 'An Act making appropriations for the Naval Service for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, and for other purposes,' as amended by the Act of March third, nineteen hundred and fifteen, which provides for the payment of six months' gratuity to the widow or children or other previously designated dependent relative of a deceased officer or enlisted man on the active list of the Navy and Marine Corps, be, and the same is hereby, amended," etc.

"(k) The action of the national board may be invoked in respect to cont versies within its jurisdiction by the Secretary of Labor or by either side a controversy or its duly authorized representative. The board, after su mary consideration, may refuse further hearing if the case is not of s character or importance to justify it.

"(l) In the appointment of committees of its own members to act for board in general or local matters, and in the creation of local committees, employers and the workers shall be equally represented.

"(m) The representatives of the public in the board shall preside alternately at successive sessions of the board or as agreed upon.

"(n) The board in its mediating and conciliatory action, and the umpire in his consideration of a controversy, shall be governed by the following principles:

"Principles to be Observed

"There should be no strikes or lockouts during the war.

"Right to Organize

"1. The right of workers to organize in trade-unions and to bargain collectively through chosen representatives is recognized and affirmed. This right shall not be denied, abridged, or interfered with by the employers in any manner whatsoever.

"2. The right of employers to organize in associations of groups and to bargain collectively through chosen representatives is recognized and affirmed. This right shall not be denied, abridged, or interfered with by the workers in any manner whatsoever.

"3. Employers should not discharge workers for membership in trade-unions, nor for legitimate trade-union activities.

"4. The workers, in the exercise of their right to organize, shall not use coercive measures of any kind to induce persons to join their organizations, nor to induce employers to bargain or deal therewith.

"Existing Conditions

"1. In establishments where the union shop exists the same shall continue and the union standards as to wages, hours of labor, and other conditions of employment shall be maintained.

"2. In establishments where union and nonunion men and women now work together, and the employer meets only with employees or representatives engaged in said establishments, the continuance of such condition shall not be deemed a grievance. This declaration, however, is not intended in any manner to deny the right or discourage the practice of the formation of labor unions or the joining of the same by the workers in said establishments, as guaranteed in the last paragraph, nor to prevent the War Labor Board from urging, or any umpire from granting, under the machinery herein provided, improvement of their situation in the matter of wages, hours of labor, or other conditions, as shall be found desirable from time to time.

"3. Established safeguards and regulations for the protection of the health and safety of workers shall not be relaxed.

"Women in Industry

"If it shall become necessary to employ women on work ordinarily performed by men, they must be allowed equal pay for equal work and must not be allotted tasks disproportionate to their strength.

"Hours of Labor

"The basic eight-hour day is recognized as applying in all cases in which existing law requires it. In all other cases the question of hours of labor shall be settled with due regard to governmental necessities and the welfare, health, and proper comfort of the workers.

"Maximum Production

"The maximum production of all war industries should be maintained, and methods of work and operation on the part of employers or workers which operate to delay or limit production, or which have a tendency to artificially increase the cost thereof, should be discouraged.

"Mobilization of Labor

"For the purpose of mobilizing the labor supply with a view to its rapid and effective distribution, a permanent list of the number of skilled and other workers available in different parts of the Nation shall be kept on file by the Department of Labor, the information to be constantly furnished:

"1. By the trade unions.

"2. By State employment bureaus and Federal agencies of like character.

"3. By the managers and operators of industrial establishments throughout the country.

"These agencies should be given opportunity to aid in the distribution of labor, as necessity demands.

"Statement of Ex-President Taft

"I am profoundly gratified that the conference appointed under the dire tion of Secretary Wilson has reached an agreement upon the plan for a N tional Labor Board to maintain maximum production by settling obstructi controversies between employers and workers. It certainly is not too much t say that it was due to the self-restraint, tact, and earnest patriotic desire the representatives of the employers and the workers to reach a conclusio I can say this with due modesty, because I was not one of such represent tives. Mr. Walsh and I were selected as representatives of the public. Pe sonally it was one of the pleasant experiences of my life. It brought me int contact with leaders of industry and leaders of labor, and my experien gives me a very high respect for both. I am personally indebted to all of t board, but especially to Mr. Walsh, with whom as the only other lawyer the board it was necessary for me to confer frequently in the framing of t points which step by step the conference agreed to. Of course the next que tion is 'Will our plan work?' I hope and think it will, if administered the spirit in which it was formulated and agreed upon.

"Statement of Frank P. Walsh

"The plan submitted represents the best thought of capital and labor as what the policy of our Government with respect to industrial relations du ing the war ought to be. Representing capital were five of the largest emplo ers in the Nation, but one of whom had ever dealt with trade unions, advis and counseled by ex-President Taft, one of the world's proven great admini trators and of the very highest American type of manhood. The represent tives of the unions upon the board were the national officers of unions e gaged in war production and numbering in their ranks considerably over o million men and women.

"The principles declared might be called an industrial chart for the Gover ment securing to the employer maximum production, and to the worker t strongest guaranty of his right to organization and the healthy growth of t principles of democracy as applied to industry, as well as the highest prote tion of his economic welfare while the war for human liberty everywhere being waged. If the plan is adopted by the Government, I am satisfied th there will be a ready and hearty acquiescence therein, by the employers a workers of the country so that the volume of production may flow with t maximum of fruitfulness and speed. This is absolutely essential to an car victory. The industrial army, both planners and workers, which are but ot er names for employers and employees, is second only in importance and n cessity to our forces in the theater of war. Their loyal cooperation and e thusiastic effort will win the war."

The President of the United States shall be, and he is hereby, authorized and empowered, whenever and wherever in his judgment necessary for the efficient prosecution of the war, to fix the price of coal and coke, wherever and whenever sold, either by producer or dealer, to establish rules for the regulation of and to regulate the method of production, sale, shipment, distribution, apportionment, or storage thereof among dealers and consumers, domestic or foreign; said authority and power may be exercised by him in each case through the agency of the Federal Trade Commission during the war or for such part of said time as in his judgment may be necessary.

That if, in the opinion of the President, any such producer or dealer fails or neglects to conform to such prices or regulations, or to conduct his business efficiently under the regulations and control of the President as aforesaid, or conducts it in a manner prejudicial to the public interest, then the President is hereby authorized and empowered in every such case to requisition and take over the plant, business, and all appurtenances thereof belonging to such producer or dealer as a going concern, and to operate or cause the same to be operated in such manner and through such agency as he may direct during the period of the war or for such part of said time as in his judgment may be necessary.

That any producer or dealer whose plant, business, and appurtenances shall have been requisitioned or taken over by the President shall be paid a just compensation for the use thereof during the period that the same may be requisitioned or taken over as aforesaid, which compensation the President shall fix or cause to be fixed by the Federal Trade Commission.

That if the prices so fixed, or if, in the case of the taking over or requisitioning of the mines or business of any such producer or dealer the compensation therefor as determined by the provisions of this Act be not satisfactory to the person or persons entitled to receive the same, such person shall be paid seventy-five per centum of the amount so determined, and shall be entitled to sue the United States to recover such further sum as, added to said seventy-five per centum, will make up such amount as will be just compensation in the manner provided by section twenty-four, para-whenever, in his judgment, it shall be necessary for the effic

prosecution of the war, then he is hereby authorized and emp special area or in any special coal fields, or in the entire Un States, to sell their products only to the United States through agency to be designated by the President, such agency to re

President, and thereafter no such producer shall sell any of s products except to the United States through such agency, termined by the Federal Trade Commission, and if the prices fi

United States as hereinbefore described be unsatisfactory to person or persons entitled to the same, such person or persons s be paid seventy-five per centum of the amount so determined, shall be entitled to sue the United States to recover such furt sum as, added to said seventy-five per centum, will make up s

That when directed by the President, the Federal Trade C mission is hereby required to proceed to make full inquiry, giv such notice as it may deem practicable, into the cost of produc

The books, correspondence, records, and papers in any way referring to transactions of any kind relating to the mining, production, sale, or distribution of all mine operators or other persons whose coal and coke have or may become subject to this section, and the books, correspondence, records, and papers of any person applying for the purchase of coal and coke from the United States shall at all times be subject to inspection by the said agency, and such person or persons shall promptly furnish said agency any data or information relating to the business of such person or persons which said agency may call for, and said agency is hereby authorized to procure the information in reference to the business of such coal-mine operators and producers of coke and customers therefor in the manner provided for in sections six and nine of the Act of Congress approved September twenty-sixth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, entitled "An Act to create a Federal Trade Commission, to define its powers and duties, and for other purposes," and said agency is hereby authorized and empowered to exercise all the powers granted to the Federal Trade Commission by said Act for the carrying out of the purposes of this section.

Having completed its inquiry respecting any commodity in any locality, it shall, if the President has decided to fix the prices at which any such commodity shall be sold by producers and dealers generally, fix and publish maximum prices for both producers of and dealers in any such commodity, which maximum prices shall be observed by all producers and dealers until further action thereon is taken by the commission.

In fixing maximum prices for producers the commission shall allow the cost of production, including the expense of operation, maintenance, depreciation, and depletion, and shall add thereto a just and reasonable profit.

In fixing such prices for dealers, the commission shall allow the cost to the dealer and shall add thereto a just and reasonable sum for his profit in the transaction.

The maximum prices so fixed and published shall not be construed as invalidating any contract in which prices are fixed, made in good faith, prior to the establishment and publication of maximum prices by the commission.

Whoever shall, with knowledge that the prices of any such commodity have been fixed as herein provided, ask, demand, or receive a higher price, or whoever shall, with knowledge that the regulations have been prescribed as herein provided, violate or refuse to conform to any of the same, shall, upon conviction, be punished by fine of not more than $5,000, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both. Each independent transaction shall constitute a separate offense.

Nothing in this section shall be construed as restricting or modifying in any manner the right the Government of the United States may have in its own behalf or in behalf of any other Government at war with Germany to purchase, requisition, or take over any such commodities for the equipment, maintenance, or support of armed forces at any price or upon any terms that may be agreed upon or otherwise lawfully determined. (40 Stat. 284.)

See note to § 3115⅛e, ante.

Existing contracts.—Under contract for sale of coal, a clause of which read, "Not binding until accepted by us; all sales subject to causes beyond our control," and "All quotations for immediate consideration, subject to advance by the Fuel Administrator," where defendants accepted the order, but did not immediately make it effective at the mines, and pending the delay the Fuel Administrator advanced price, defendants could not charge plaintiff the amount of the advance. Carlisle v. Lovell (Sup.) 171 N. Y. S. 996.

Under this act and the President's proclamations thereunder of August 21, 1917, fixing prices of coal by producer, and of August 23, 1917, fixing margin of jobber's profit on bituminous coal at 15 cents per ton, jobber's contract of August 28, 1917, allowing him profit of 15 cents per net ton, is valid, although coal had been purchased from producers prior to August 21st at a price in excess of that allowed by President's orders of that date, and ruling of Fuel Administration dated October 6, 1917, provided that jobber should not sell coal for which he had contracted at the time of fixing of price thereof for a price in excess of such fixed price plus jobber's allowed commission. Majestic Coal Co. v. W. J. Bush & Co. (City Ct.) 171 N. Y. S. 662.

Retail dealer and jobber.—Where plaintiff, who contracted to purchase coal from defendant, testified that he physically handled coal, placing it in the bins of the customers, he was a "retail dealer," within the Fuel Administrator's definition, as "every person physically handling and delivering coal to customers," and not a "coal jobber," defined as "a person who purchases and resells coal to coal dealers or consumers without physically handling it through his own vehicles, dock, trestle, or yard." Carlisle v. Lovell (Sup.) 171 N. Y. S. 996.

Jurisdiction of courts.—Though, in the absence of diversity of citizenship, the federal court has no jurisdiction to determine the controversy of price at which defendant agreed to furnish coal to plaintiff, a public service corporation, it will, leaving that question for courts of competent jurisdiction, enjoin defendant from disobeying the order of a state fuel administrator, under this act, to continue furnishing plaintiff with coal till the act by its terms ceases to be in effect, by termination of the war, ascertained and proclaimed by the President. West Virginia Traction & Electric Co. v. Elm Grove Mining Co. (D. C.) 253 F. 772.

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to repeal the Act entitled "An Act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies," approved July second, eighteen hundred and ninety, commonly known as the Sherman Antitrust Act. (40 Stat. 286.)

This was a provision of the agricultural appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

Act March 28, 1918, c. 28, § 1, 40 Stat. 494, contained a similar provision except for the proviso.

CONSERVATION OF SUPPLY AND CONTROL OF DISTRIBUTION OF ORES, METALS AND MINERALS § 3115 1/8s. (Act Oct. 5, 1918, c. 181, § 1.) Ores, metals and minerals included as necessaries.

By reason of the existence of a state of war, it is essential to the national security and defense, and to the successful prosecution of the war, and for the support and maintenance of the Army and Navy, to provide for an adequate and increased supply, to facilitate the production, and to provide for an equitable, economical, and better distribution of the following-named mineral substances and ores, minerals, intermediate metallurgical products, metals, alloys, and chemical compounds thereof, to wit: Antimony, arsenic, ball clay, bismuth, bromine, cerium, chalk, chromium, cobalt, corundum, emery, fluorspar, ferrosilicon, fullers' earth, graphite, grinding pebbles, iridium, kaolin, magnesite, manganese, mercury, mica, molybdenum, osmium, sodium, platinum, palladium, paper clay, phosphorus, potassium, pyrites, radium, sulphur, thorium, tin, titanium, tungsten, uranium, vanadium, and zirconium, as the President may, from time to time, determine to be necessary for the purposes aforesaid, and as to which there is at the time of such determination, a present or prospective inadequacy of supply. The President is further authorized, upon finding that importation into the United States of any of the necessaries covered by this Act is likely to result in a loss to the United States on any necessaries which it may have acquired hereunder, to ascertain, fix, and proclaim such rate of duty upon such imported necessaries as shall be sufficient to adequately protect the United States from any such loss.

The funds provided by section six hereof shall be used in carrying out the powers granted by this section, and all moneys received by the United States from or in connection with the disposal of such necessaries, shall be used as a revolving fund for further carrying out the purposes of this Act. other manner, and to store, use, distribute, allocate, or sell the products thereof; Provided, That no ores or metals, the principal money value of which consists in metals or minerals other than those specifically enumerated in section one hereof, shall be subject to requisition under the provisions of this Act. Whenever the President shall determine that the further use or operation by the Government of any such land, deposit, mine, smelter, or plant, or part thereof, so acquired, is no longer essential for the objects aforesaid, the same shall be returned to the person, firm, or corporation entitled thereto. The United States shall make just compensation, determined by the President, for the taking over, use, occupation, or operation by the Government of any such necessaries, or any such land, deposit, mine, smelter, or plant, or part thereof. The President is authorized to require statements and reports, to examine books and papers, and to prescribe such rules and regulations as he may deem appropriate for carrying out the purposes of this Act. If a citizen of the United States establishes his domicile in a foreign country between which and the United States hostilities afterwards break out, property shipped by such citizen before a knowledge of the war, and captured by an American cruiser after the declaration of war, must be condemned as lawful prize. In a proceeding for the condemnation of certain goods captured on board of a vessel, the commercial domicile of the merchant at the time of the capture of the goods determines their character. A naturalized citizen, for the purposes of trade, returned to his native country in time of peace, but with the intention of returning to his adopted country. He remained in his native country 12 months after war had broken out between the two countries, for the purpose of closing his business, though he engaged in no new commercial transaction with the enemy, and then returned to his adopted country. Held, that he had gained a domicile in his native country, and that his goods, captured after the war, were liable to condemnation. The Frances (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 335, 3 L. Ed. 581.

Shipments made by merchants actually domiciled in an enemy's country at the breaking out of a war partake of the nature of enemy trade, and as such are subject to capture. The Mary and Susan (1816) 14 U. S. (1 Wheat.) 46, 4 L. Ed. 32.

The language of the prize law, that property is to be condemned as enemy's, or is to be deemed enemy's, or is impressed with a hostile character, does not necessarily import that the owner is personally hostile, but only that his property has been placed in such relation to the enemy that a court of prize is to deal with it as if it belonged to the enemy. And acts which tend to subserve the interests of the enemy may impress a hostile character on property, or the residence of the owner in the enemy's country may be of such a character as to stamp the property conclusively as hostile. The Amy Warwick (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 341, affirmed (1862) 67 U. S. (2 Black) 635, 17 L. Ed. 459.

A British subject, domiciled in the United States, but temporarily absent at Jamaica, making a shipment in time of peace, does not by his character of British subject, affect the property with a hostile character, if war breaks out pending the voyage; otherwise, if such shipment be made pending a known war. The Ann Green (C. C. 1812) Fed. Cas. No. 414.

A shipment made from the enemy's country, after a knowledge of the war, by an American citizen, subjects the property to confiscation as prize of war. The Mary (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 9,184, affirmed in part and reversed in part (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 388, 3 L. Ed. 599.

Where a party puts himself in itinere to return to his native country, his property is not thereby made exempt from the hostile character acquired by the residence, where it appears that such property has been engaged in a trade illegal in the native character. The St. Lawrence (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 12,232.

The property of a person may acquire a hostile character, although his residence be neutral. Therefore, where a person is engaged in the ordinary or extraordinary commerce of an enemy's country, upon the same footing and with the same advantages as native resident subjects, his property employed in such trade is deemed incorporated into the general commerce of that country, and subject to confiscation, be his residence where it may. The San Jose Indiano (C. C. 1814) Fed. Cas. No. 12,322, affirmed The St. Joze Indiano (1816) 14 U. S. (1 Wheat.) 208, 4 L. Ed. 73.

Property belonging to a merchant residing and trading at an enemy port is, when captured, liable to condemnation as enemy property. The Delta (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 3,777, affirmed (C. C. 1863) Fed. Cas. No. 3,778.

Property purchased as stock in trade to be carried on in the enemy's country by a person permanently residing there is subject to capture and condemnation. The Lilla (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 8,348.

The property of a person settled in the enemy's country though he be a neutral subject, is affected with the hostile character. A residence of 13 years is amply sufficient to invest such party with the character of an enemy. Rogers v. Amado (D. C. 1847) Fed. Cas. No. 12,005.

The fact that a vessel is enrolled in a port of a rebellious state is not conclusive that such port is the domicile of her owner, so as to make her enemy property; and it is competent to show that the owner is in fact a resident of another port in a loyal state, and thus avoid condemnation. U. S. v. The F. W. Johnson (D. C. 1861) Fed. Cas. No. 15,179.

Whether commercial intercourse with the enemy is lawful or not depends on the place of one's domicile. Thus, in the War of the Rebellion, A., whose domicile was within the Confederate lines, but who was actually living in loyal territory, might, by his agent (appointed before hostilities began), carry on commercial intercourse with the enemy, whereas such intercourse would be unlawful in the case of B., domiciled in loyal territory, but living within the lines of the Confederacy. Quigley v. U. S. (1877) 13 Ct. Cl. 367.

A foreigner residing during a state of war within the dominion of one belligerent is subject to the jurisdiction and control of the other, who may treat his property as hostile. The character of an enemy may attach either to his person or property; and he cannot demand compensation for loss or damage resulting from military operations. Gallego, Messa & Co. v. U. S. (1908) 43 Ct. Cl. 444.

An alien enemy is one with whose country the United States is at war. Taylor v. Albion Lumber Co. (Cal. 1917) 168 P. 348.

Before the passage of the ordinance of secession by Virginia, a vessel cleared from Norfolk, owned in Virginia, and her officers and crew were inhabitants of that state. On her return voyage she was captured by a United States man-of-war. Her papers were regular, and she sailed under the United States flag. Her master testified that he considered himself a subject of the United States, that he considered his allegiance to the Union as greater and stronger than the allegiance to his native state, and that he would sustain the United States against his native state. Held, that the vessel at the time of her capture was enemy property, in consequence of the residence of her owners in the enemy country. U. S. v. The Sally Mears (1864) 6 D. C. 36.

Residents of New Jersey, born in German Empire, and not citizens of United States, who had not been interned in custody of War Department, held not "enemies" within federal "Trading with the Enemy Act," so that they could not defend suit for specific performance of sale of realty on such ground. Tortoriello v. Seghorn (N. J. Ch.) 103 A. 393.

New Jersey corporation, composed entirely of German stockholders, did not, on declaration of war between United States and Germany, cease to be domestic corporation, and become an alien enemy. Fritz Schulz, Jr., Co. v. Raimes & Co. (1917) 99 Misc. Rep. 626, 164 N. Y. Supp. 454, affirmed (1917) 100 Misc. Rep. 697, 166 N. Y. Supp. 567.

An opera singer, a subject of Germany, living in the United States before and since the war, held to be a lawful resident of this country, and not a resident of Germany, within the meaning of "Trading with the Enemy Act," and hence entitled to sue in our courts. Arndt-Ober v. Metropolitan Opera Co. (Sup.) 169 N. Y. S. 944, 182 App. Div. 513, modifying order (Sup.) 169 N. Y. S. 304, 102 Misc. Rep. 320.

Native of Austria-Hungary, with which the United States is at war, though resident of North Carolina, regardless of fact that he is guilty of no act or utterance unfriendly to United States, and is quiet, law-abiding laborer, is alien enemy. Krachanake v. Acme Mfg. Co., 95 S. E. 851, 175 N. C. 435.

In view of President's Proclamation No. 1417, as to rights of Austrian nationals, and Trading with Enemy Act, defining enemy as person resident within territory of any nation with which United States is at war, native of Austria-Hungary resident within the United States may sue for torts. Id.

—— Partnerships and joint adventures.—One joint owner of a vessel obtained a register for her, which was granted upon his oath that he, together with the other joint owner, a citizen of this country, were the only owners of the ship, when in point of fact the other joint owner was domiciled in England. Held, that the vessel was liable to forfeiture, under Act Cong. Dec. 31, 1792. The Venus (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 253, 3 L. Ed. 553.

The share of a partner in a neutral house, where his own domicile is in a hostile country, is subject to confiscation, jure belli. The Antonia Johanna (1816) 14 U. S. (1 Wheat.) 159, 4 L. Ed. 60.

Any property of a house of trade established in the enemy's country is condemnable as a prize, whatever may be the domicile of the partners. The Friendschaft (1819) 17 U. S. (4 Wheat.) 105, 4 L. Ed. 525.

The property of a commercial house established in an enemy's country is subject to seizure and condemnation as prize, although some of the partners have a neutral domicile. The Cheshire (1865) 70 U. S. (3 Wall.) 231, 18 L. Ed. 175.

In the case of a joint shipment from enemy country by a firm, where it appears that all the members of the firm are citizens of the United States, but that one of such members resides in the enemy country, the share of the latter in a prize proceeding will be condemned, for a naturalized citizen of the United States, domiciled in the enemy's country at the breaking out of war, is deemed an enemy. The Francis (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 5,034.

If a partner in a neutral house be domiciled in the enemy's country, and engaged in its general commerce, for the benefit of his neutral house, the property is condemnable as prize, and if a house of trade is established in the enemy's country, the property of all the partners in the house is condemnable as prize, notwithstanding some of them have a neutral residence; but such connection will not affect the other separate property of the partners having a neutral residence, and where such a house of trade ship goods on their own account to one of the partners, who is domiciled in a neutral country, it is liable as prize; but it is otherwise if the shipment be made by the order of the partner, on his separate account and risk, and not on joint account. The San Jose Indiano (C. C. 1814) Fed. Cas. No. 12,322, affirmed The St. Joze Indiano (1816) 14 U. S. (1 Wheat.) 208, 4 L. Ed. 73.

Where partners domiciled on loyal and disloyal territory were engaged in growing cotton before the war, it was not contrary to the principle of international law, forbidding commercial intercourse between belligerents, for the resident partner to turn over to a common agent, appointed prior to the hostilities, certain cotton as the share of the absent partner. Douglas v. U. S. (1878) 14 Ct. Cl. 1.

"Beginning of the war."—For cases involving question when a state of war exists in absence of an express statutory provision, see U. S. Comp. St. 1916, p. 13498, note.

War was declared on Germany and Austria-Hungary by joint resolutions dated April 6, 1917 and December 7, 1917, respectively.

"End of the war."—A vessel captured after the signing of the preliminary articles of peace cannot be condemned as a prize. The Speedwell (1784) 2 Dall. 40, 1 L. Ed. 280.

A state of war with Spain did not cease until the ratification of the treaty in April, 1899 (30 Stat. 1754). Nephews v. U. S. (1908) 43 Ct. Cl. 430.

Technically a state of war existed between the United States and Spain until April 11, 1899, notwithstanding that the protocol, August 12, 1898, suspended active hostilities. MacLeod v. U. S. (1910) 45 Ct. Cl. 339.

Trading with the enemy—What constitutes.—A vessel owned by citizens of the United States, on her voyage from Naples to the United States, heard of the declaration of war between the United States and Great Britain; and, having a British license to carry her cargo to Great Britain, changed her course to that country. She was captured by the British, libeled, and acquitted upon her license. She then sold her cargo, purchased a return cargo, sailed for the United States, and was captured by an American cruiser. Held, that she was good prize. The Alexander (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 169, 3 L. Ed. 524, affirming (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 164.

Where, from the circumstances, the court were satisfied that the property captured in truth belonged to an American citizen, fraudulently covered by the name of a neutral, it was condemned as the property of citizens found trading with the enemy. The Rugen (1816) 14 U. S. (1 Wheat.) 62, 4 L. Ed. 37.

During the war between the United States and Mexico, the goods of an American trader, who went into the provinces of Mexico, which were in possession of the military authorities of the United States, and there, with the sanction of the executive department and of the commander of the forces of the United States, carried on a trade with the inhabitants, could not lawfully be seized by an officer of the United States on the ground of trading with the enemy. Mitchell v. Harmony (1851) 54 U. S. (13 How.) 115, 14 L. Ed. 75.

In time of war, trade with the enemy's country, either directly or where a neutral port is interposed, if trade with the enemy was the original purpose of the voyage, is illegal, and subjects a vessel and cargo to seizure and forfeiture. Jecker v. Montgomery (1855) 59 U. S. (18 How.) 110, 15 L. Ed. 311.

A shipment, made during war, by an American citizen from an enemy's port to a port in his colonies, is a trading with the enemy. The Diana (C. C. 1814) Fed. Cas. No. 3,876.

Trading with the enemy's country, which has been reduced to subjection, with permission and encouragement of the invading army, is not unlawful. Harmony v. Mitchell (C. C. 1850) Fed. Cas. No. 6,082, affirmed Mitchell v. Harmony (1851) 54 U. S. (13 How.) 115, 14 L. Ed. 75.

If an American vessel, after a knowledge of a war, proceed from a neutral to an enemy port on freight, it is a trading with the enemy, which subjects the vessel to forfeiture, and she is liable therefor on her return voyage to the United States. The Joseph (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 7,533, affirmed (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 451, 3 L. Ed. 621.

A trade to a neutral port is not illegal, although the public enemy derive benefit thereby, unless such trade be carried on in connection with or subservient to hostile interests and policy. The Liverpool Packet (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 8,406.

A vessel is not prize of war because the master thereof has put ashore in the enemy's country a small box, containing only a few seashore shells, some newspapers, and a letter to his wife. The Tropic Wind (D. C. 1861) Fed. Cas. No. 14,186.

A trading voyage by an American vessel is not made unlawful by directing that the proceeds shall be remitted to American citizens detained in the enemy's country, in bills of exchange drawn upon that country. U. S. v. The Ariadne (D. C. 1812) Fed. Cas. No. 14,465.

Act July 13, 1861 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10143, 10146), prohibits every act done toward the execution of a design to carry on, without a "permit," commercial intercourse between the interdicted and other states, and it is violated not only when a vessel has actually sailed with the goods on board, but the moment the goods are started, even on land, toward the forbidden destination. The application for a "permit" is evidence of the intention to proceed, and the use of fraudulent invoices to procure the "permit" shows the intention to be fraudulent. The shipment of goods under color of that permit is a step taken in execution of that fraudulent intent—is an overt act. Such goods are "proceeding to" the interdicted port within the meaning of the act of July 13, 1861, and the shipper, under the act of May 20, 1862 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10154, 10162, 10163), supplementary to the former act, is guilty of an "attempt" to transport them in violation of law. U. S. v. One Hundred and Twenty-Nine Packages (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 15,941.

During the War of 1861–65, a mercantile firm had its chief business office in a loyal state, and a branch and resident partner in the insurrectionary districts. Held, that the firm could not, through the resident partner, appoint an agent, after the Rebellion had begun, to buy property with partnership funds. Such an agency was constructive commercial intercourse between enemies. Cramer v. U. S. (1870) 6 Ct. Cl. 381.

It was unlawful for two persons resident in the insurrectionary districts during the Rebellion to take trade across the United States military lines, and what they could not do directly they could not do by one without the lines giving to a third person a sight draft for the purchase of cotton on the other within the lines. Craft v. U. S. (1876) 12 Ct. Cl. 178.

Under this section, subd. C, and the presidential proclamation of April 6, 1917, German subject residing in this country held entitled to sue for breach of contract of employment as an opera singer. Arndt-Ober v. Metropolitan Opera Co. (Sup.) 169 N. Y. S. 304, 102 Misc. Rep. 320, order modified 169 N. Y. S. 944, 182 App. Div. 513.

—— Excuses for visiting prohibited port.—A ship driven by distress into a French port, where she landed her cargo to make repairs, but was prevented from reloading it by French officials, but allowed to take away certain articles in exchange, is not subject to condemnation for trading with the enemy, under Nonintercourse Act of June 13, 1798. Hallet and Bowne v. Jenks (1805) 3 Cranch, 210, 2 L. Ed. 414.

Trading with an enemy is not excused by the necessity of obtaining funds to pay the expenses of the ship, nor by the opinion of an American minister, expressed to the master, that by undertaking the voyage, he would violate no law of the United States. The Joseph (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 451, 3 L. Ed. 621, affirming (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 7,533.

A vessel, having the president's permission to proceed to the West Indies for American property, condemned with her cargo, for having on board other merchandise besides that permitted. U. S. v. The Little Ann (D. C. 1809) Fed. Cas. No. 15,611, reversed The Little Ann (C. C. 1810) Fed. Cas. No. 8,397.

See, also, notes under §§ 3115½f and 7678b, post.

—— Withdrawal of American citizens' goods from enemy country.—After a declaration of war, an American citizen cannot lawfully send a vessel to the enemy's country to bring away his property; and, if he does, the vessel is subject to be condemned on the ground of trading with the enemy. The Rapid (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 155, 3 L. Ed. 520, affirming (C. C. 1812) Fed. Cas. No. 11,576.

A shipment was made by an American citizen from an enemy's country, more than 11 months after the declaration of war. Held that, whether such citizen had a right to withdraw his property or not after such declaration, it was then too late for the party to make the shipment, so as to exempt himself from the penalty attached to an illegal traffic with the enemy. The St. Lawrence (1815) 13 U. S. (9 Cranch) 120, 3 L. Ed. 676.

The only qualification of the rule as to the liability of property, the product of an enemy's country and coming from it during war, is that where, upon the breaking out of hostilities or as soon after as possible, the owner escapes with such property as he can take with him, or in good faith thus early removes his property with the view of putting it beyond the hostile power, the property in such cases is exempt from the liability which would otherwise attend it; but when a civil war broke out in April, 1861, it was held that an attempt at removal on the 30th of December was too late. The Gray Jacket (1866) 72 U. S. (5 Wall.) 342, 18 L. Ed. 646.

When a ship and cargo are captured sailing under the enemy's flag and papers, the share in both ship and cargo of a loyal resident of the captor's country, who has been unable to withdraw his property from the enemy's country on account of the war, is liable to condemnation. The William Bagaley (1866) 72 U. S. (5 Wall.) 377, 18 L. Ed. 583.

Property was captured on a flatboat fastened to a wharf in Texas, and belonged to a citizen and merchant of New York, who went to Texas before the war to collect debts due to him. The cotton was the proceeds, and claimant used all diligence to collect his effects, with a view to leaving the hostile country after the breaking out of the war. Held, that the cotton was not enemy's property, and should not be condemned. Fifty-Two Bales of Cotton (C. C. 1863) Fed. Cas. No. 4,785, reversing (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 4,784.

Where the claimant left the enemy port with the intent to withdraw from the enemy's country with his effects, and had for that purpose converted his property into the vessel and cargo of enemy produce, and intended to give himself up to the blockading squadron, held, that the withdrawal of the property under the circumstances did not subject it to capture as enemy property. The General C. C. Pinckney (C. C. 1863) Fed. Cas. No. 5,309, reversing (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 5,308.

A citizen temporarily residing in the enemy's country at the breaking out of the war is entitled to a reasonable time to collect his effects, and convert them into available and manageable funds, so as to enable him to withdraw them from the country. The John Gilpin (C. C. 1863) Fed. Cas. No. 7,344, reversing (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 7,343.

A naturalized citizen cannot lawfully bring away his property from an enemy country, after a knowledge of the war, without the license of the government. The St. Lawrence (C. C. 1813) Fed. Cas. No. 12,232, affirmed (1814) 12 U. S. (8 Cranch) 434, 3 L. Ed. 615.

Neutrals are entitled to a reasonable time, after the breaking out of the war, in which to withdraw their business connections in the enemy's country. The San José Indiano (C. C. 1814) Fed. Cas. No. 12,322, affirmed The St. Joze Indiano (1816) 14 U. S. (1 Wheat.) 208, 4 L. Ed. 73.

A temporary resident of an enemy's country at the breaking out of war, who leaves after that event as soon as he can convert his property into funds which can conveniently be carried with him, is not regarded as an enemy, so that his property is liable to capture as prize of war, as he is entitled to a reasonable time to withdraw from his business connections in the enemy's country after the war breaks out. The Sarah Starr (C. C. 1863) Fed. Cas. No. 12,353, reversing (D. C. 1861) Fed. Cas. No. 12,352.

Trading with an enemy's country is unlawful; but a citizen of one belligerent may withdraw his property from the country of the other belligerent, if he does it within a reasonable time after the declaration of the war, and does not himself go to the enemy's country for that purpose. Amory v. McGregor (N. Y. 1818) 15 Johns. 24, 8 Am. Dec. 205.

§ 3115½b. (Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 106, § 3.) Acts prohibited.

It shall be unlawful—

(a) Trading without license.

For any person in the United States, except with the license of the President, granted to such person, or to the enemy, or ally of enemy, as provided in this Act, to trade, or attempt to trade, either directly or indirectly, with, to, or from, or for, or on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of, any other person, with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that such other person is an enemy or ally of enemy, or is conducting or taking part in such trade, directly or indirectly, for, or on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of, an enemy or ally of enemy.

(b) Transporting without license.

For any person, except with the license of the President, to transport or attempt to transport into or from the United States, or for any owner, master, or other person in charge of a vessel of American registry to transport or attempt to transport from any place to any other place, any subject or citizen of an enemy or ally of enemy nation, with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that the person transported or attempted to be transported is such subject or citizen.

(c) Sending into or from United States letters.

For any person (other than a person in the service of the United States Government or of the Government of any nation, except that of an enemy or ally of enemy nation, and other than such persons or classes of persons as may be exempted hereunder by the President or by such person as he may direct), to send, or take out of, or bring into, or attempt to send, or take out of, or bring into the United States, any letter or other writing or tangible form of communication, except in the regular course of the mail; and it shall be unlawful for any person to send, take, or transmit, or attempt to send, take, or transmit out of the United States, any letter or other writing, book, map, plan, or other paper, picture, or any telegram, cablegram, or wireless message, or other form of communication intended for or to be delivered, directly or indirectly, to an enemy or ally of enemy: Provided, however, That any person may send, take, or transmit out of the United States anything herein forbidden if he shall first submit the same to the President, or to such officer as the President may direct, and shall obtain the license or consent of the President, under such rules and regulations, and with such exemptions, as shall be prescribed by the President.

(d) Censorship of communications by mail.

Whenever, during the present war, the President shall deem that the public safety demands it, he may cause to be censored under such rules and regulations as he may from time to time establish, communications by mail, cable, radio, or other means of transmission passing between the United States and any foreign country he may from time to time specify, or which may be carried by any vessel or other means of transportation touching at any port, place, or territory of the United States and bound to or from any foreign country. Any person who willfully evades or attempts to evade the submission of any such communication to such censorship or willfully uses or attempts to use any code or other device for the purpose of concealing from such censorship the intended meaning of such communication shall be punished as provided in section sixteen of this Act. (40 Stat. 412.)

See note to § 3115½a, ante.

See proclamation of the President, under § 7628e, post.

Notes of Decisions

"Reasonable cause."—Reasonable and probable cause have been held synonymous. Stacey v. Emery (1878) 97 U. S. 642, 646, 24 L. Ed. 1035; U. S. v. The City of Mexico (D. C. 1885) 25 Fed. 924.

For cases relating to "probable cause," see notes to § 7678d, post.

Transmitting communications otherwise than by mail.—For a somewhat similar provision regarding the transmission of letters from the United States, see U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 7472, and note thereunder.

Effect on pending suit.—Action other than to preserve the status quo should not be taken in a suit against an alien enemy till, by reason of restoration of peace or otherwise, defense may be adequately presented; intercourse between residents of the enemy country and the United States being prohibited by this section as well as physically impossible. Watts, Watts & Co. v. Unione Austriaca Di Navigazione, 39 S. Ct. 1, 63 L. Ed. —.

Regulation of wireless telegraph systems.—The United States has power to impose conditions upon the operation of any wireless telegraph system which conveys messages to or from the United States. (1902) 24 Op. Atty. Gen. 100.

Under this section, one not in the service of the government of the United States, or any friendly nation, who attempted to bring into the United States in a secret manner, not in due course of mails, a letter from England, is guilty of a violation of the act, though it did not appear that the letter was intended to be delivered to an enemy of the United States. U. S. v. Welsh (D. C.) 250 F. 309.

It is a violation of this section to bring into the United States interest coupons from bonds of a friendly power, where they bore on the back writings which might be communications which it was the purpose of the act to exclude, but not to bring in a coupon gold note issued by an American corporation, which bore no communications other than its proper printed contents. U. S. v. Van Werkhoven (D. C.) 250 F. 311.

§ 3115½bb. (Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 106, § 4.) (a) Licenses to enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance companies.

Every enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, and every enemy or ally of enemy, doing business within the United States through an agency or branch office, or otherwise, may, within thirty days after the passage of this Act, apply to the President for a license to continue to do business; and, within thirty days after such application, the President may enter an order either granting or refusing to grant such license. The license, if granted, may be temporary or otherwise, and for such period of time, and may contain such provisions and conditions regulating the business, agencies, managers and trustees and the control and disposition of the funds of the company, or of such enemy or ally of enemy, as the President shall deem necessary for the safety of the United States; and any license granted hereunder may be revoked or regranted or renewed in such manner and at such times as the President shall determine: Provided, however, That reasonable notice of his intent to refuse to grant a license or to revoke a license granted to any reinsurance company shall be given by him to all insurance companies incorporated within the United States and known to the President to be doing business with such reinsurance company: Provided further, That no insurance company, organized within the United States, shall be obligated to continue any existing contract, entered into prior to the beginning of the war, with any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, but any such company may abrogate and cancel any such contract by serving thirty days' notice in writing upon the President of its election to abrogate such contract.

For a period of thirty days after the passage of this Act, and further pending the entry of such order by the President, after application made by any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, within such thirty days as above provided, the provisions of the President's proclamation of April sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, relative to agencies in the United States of certain insurance companies, as modified by the provisions of the President's proclamation of July thirteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, relative to marine and war-risk insurance, shall remain in full force and effect so far as it applies to such German insurance companies, and the conditions of said proclamation of April sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, as modified by said proclamation of July thirteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall also during said period of thirty days after the passage of this Act, and pending the order of the President as herein provided, apply to any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, anything in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding. It shall be unlawful for any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, to whom license is granted, to transmit out of the United States any funds belonging to or held for the benefit of such company or to use any such funds as the basis for the establishment directly or indirectly of any credit within or outside of the United States to, or for the benefit of, or on behalf of, or on account of, an enemy or ally of enemy.

For a period of thirty days after the passage of this Act, and further pending the entry of such order by the President, after application made within such thirty days by any enemy or ally of enemy, other than an insurance or reinsurance company as above provided, it shall be lawful for such enemy or ally of enemy to continue to do business in this country and for any person to trade with, to, from, for, on account of, on behalf of or for the benefit of such enemy or ally of enemy, anything in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided, however, That the provisions of sections three and sixteen hereof shall apply to any act or attempted act of transmission or transfer of money or other property out of the United States and to the use or attempted use of such money or property as the basis for the establishment of any credit within or outside of the United States to, or for the benefit of, or on behalf of, or on account of, an enemy or ally of enemy.

If no license is applied for within thirty days after the passage of this Act, or if a license shall be refused to any enemy or ally of enemy, whether insurance or reinsurance company, or other person, making application, or if any license granted shall be revoked by the President, the provisions of sections three and sixteen hereof shall forthwith apply to all trade or to any attempt to trade with, to, from, for, by, on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of such company or other person: Provided, however, That after such refusal or revocation, anything in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding, it shall be lawful for a policyholder or for an insurance company, not an enemy or ally of enemy, holding insurance or having effected reinsurance in or with such enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, to receive payment of, and for such enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company to pay any premium, return premium, claim, money, security, or other property due or which may become due on or in respect to such insurance or reinsurance in force at the date of such refusal or revocation of license; and nothing in this Act shall vitiate or nullify then existing policies or contracts of insurance or reinsurance, or the conditions thereof; and any such policyholder or insurance company, not an enemy or ally of enemy, having any claim to or upon money or other property of the enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company in the custody or control of the alien property custodian, hereinafter provided for, or of the Treasurer of the United States, may make application for the payment thereof and may institute suit as provided in section nine hereof.

(b) Change of name; foreign insurance companies doing business in United States.

During the present war, no enemy, or ally of enemy, and no partnership of which he is a member or was a member at the beginning of the war, shall for any purpose assume or use any name other than that by which such enemy or partnership was ordinarily known at the beginning of the war, except under license from the President.

Whenever, during the present war, in the opinion of the President the public safety or public interest requires, the President may prohibit any or all foreign insurance companies from doing business in the United States, or the President may license such company or companies to do business upon such terms as he may deem proper. (40 Stat. 413.)

See note to § 3115½a, ante.

The proclamation of April 6, 1917 (No. 1,366), above referred to, reads as follows, after omitting formal portions:

"Whereas, certain insurance companies, incorporated under the laws of the German Empire, have been admitted to transact the business of insurance in various States of the United States, by means of separate United States Branches established pursuant to the laws of such States, and are now engaged in business under the supervision of the Insurance Departments thereof, with assets in the United States deposited with Insurance Departments or in the hands of resident trustees, citizens of the United States, for the protection of all policyholders in the United States;

"And whereas, the interests of the citizens of the United States in the protection afforded by such insurance are of great magnitude, so that it is deemed to be important that the agencies of such companies in the United States be permitted to continue in business;

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the powers vested in me as such, hereby declare and proclaim that such branch establishments of German Insurance Companies now engaged in the transaction of business in the United States pursuant to the laws of the several States are hereby authorized and permitted to continue the transaction of their business in accordance with the laws of such States in the same manner and to the same extent as though a state of war did not now exist; provided, however, that all funds of such establishments now in the possession of their managers or agents, or which shall hereafter come into their possession, shall be subject to such rules and regulations concerning the payment and disposition thereof as shall be prescribed by the insurance supervising officials of the State in which the principal office of such establishment in the United States is located, but in no event shall any funds belonging to or held for the benefit of such companies be transmitted outside of the United States nor be used as the basis for the establishment directly or indirectly of any credit within or outside of the United States to or for the benefit or use of the enemy or any of his allies without the permission of this Government."

The proclamation of July 13, 1917 (No. 1,386), above referred to, reads as follows, after omitting formal portions:

"Whereas, certain insurance companies, incorporated under the laws of the German Empire, have been admitted to transact the business of marine and war risk insurance in various States of the United States, by means of separate United States Branches established pursuant to the laws of such States, and are now engaged in such business under the supervision of the Insurance Departments thereof, with assets in the United States deposited with Insurance Departments or in the hands of resident trustees, citizens of the United States, for the protection of all policy-holders in the United States;

"And whereas, the nature of marine and war risk insurance is such that those conducting it must of necessity be in touch with the movements of ships and cargoes, and it has been considered by the Government of great importance that this information should not be obtained by alien enemies;

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the powers vested in me as such, hereby declare and proclaim that such branch establishments of German Insurance Companies now engaged in the transaction of business in the United States pursuant to the laws of the several States are hereby prohibited from continuing the transaction of the business of marine and war risk insurance either as direct insurers or re-insurers; and all individuals, firms, and insurance companies incorporated under the laws of any of the States or Territories of the United States, or of any foreign country, and established pursuant to the laws of such States and now engaged in the United States in the business of marine and war risk insurance either as direct insurers or re-insurers are hereby prohibited from re-insuring with companies incorporated under the laws of the German Empire, no matter where located; and all persons in the United States are prohibited from insuring against marine or war risks with insurance companies incorporated under the laws of the German Empire or with individuals, firms, and insurance companies incorporated under the laws of any of the States or Territories of the United States or of any foreign country and now engaged in the business of marine or war risk insurance in the United States, which re-insure business originating in the United States with companies incorporated under the laws of the German Empire, no matter where located.

"The foregoing prohibitions shall extend and operate as to all existing contracts for insurance and re-insurance which are hereby suspended for the period of the war, except that they shall not operate to vitiate or prevent the insurance or re-insurance of, and the payment or receipt of, premiums on insurance or re-insurance under existing contracts on vessels or interest at risk on the date of this proclamation, and such insurance or re-insurance, if for a voyage, shall continue in force until arrival at destination, and if for time, until thirty days from the date of this proclamation, but if on a voyage, at that time, until the arrival at destination.

"Nothing herein shall be construed to operate to prevent the payment or receipt of any premium, return premium, or claim now due or which may become due on or in respect to insurances or re-insurances not prohibited by this proclamation.

"That all funds of such German companies now in the possession of their managers or agents, or which shall hereafter come into their possession, shall be subject to such rules and regulations concerning the payment and disposition thereof as shall be prescribed by the insurance supervising officials of the State in which the principal office of such establishment in the United States is located, but in no event shall any funds belonging to or held for the benefit of such companies be transmitted outside of the United States, nor be used as the basis for the establishment, directly or indirectly, of any credit within or outside of the United States to or for the benefit or use of the enemy or any of his allies without the permission of this Government."

Notes of Decisions

Effect of war on existing insurance policies.—Executory contracts not calculated to lend aid and comfort to the enemy, such as life insurance policies on which the premiums had been paid up to the commencement of the war, are not thereby annulled, but only suspended until its conclusion. Statham v. New York Life Ins. Co. (1871) 45 Miss. 581, 7 Am. Rep. 737.

A contract of insurance between a resident of Virginia and an English company, through its agents in New York, was not annulled or suspended by the Rebellion and the proclamation of the president and the laws of congress. It was a contract between a neutral and a rebel, recognized by the neutral's government as a belligerent. Robinson v. International Life Assur. Soc. (N. Y. 1868) 52 Barb. 450, affirmed (1870) 42 N. Y. 54, 1 Am. Rep. 400.

The Civil War only suspended, but did not abrogate, a life insurance policy. Clemmitt v. New York Life Ins. Co. (1882) 76 Va. 355; New York Life Ins. Co. v. Hendren (Va. 1874) 24 Grat. 536; Connecticut Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Duerson's Ex'r (Va. 1877) 28 Grat. 630.

Powers of company under license.—A license issued under this act authorizes an alien enemy insurance company, in liquidation, to maintain actions designed to bring in assets growing out of its business within United States prior to the issuance of such license. Nord Deutsche Ins. Co. of Hamburg, Germany, v. John L. Dudley, Jr., Co. (Sup.) 172 N. Y. S. 154.

Change of name.—Under this section it is essential that application for leave to change name on part of an alien should state the applicant's birthplace, or the country of which he was a citizen when born; and whether or not applicant, seeking to change his name, must be a citizen, no order for change of name should be made upon an applicant's erroneous statement that he is a citizen through his father's naturalization. In re Slobody (Sup.) 173 N. Y. S. 514.

§ 3115½c. (Act Oct. 6, 1917, c. 106, § 5, as amended, Act Sept. 24, 1918, c. 176, § 5.) (a) Suspension of provisions of act relating to ally of enemy.

The President, if he shall find it compatible with the safety of the United States and with the successful prosecution of the war, may, by proclamation, suspend the provisions of this Act so far as they apply to an ally of enemy, and he may revoke or renew such suspension from time to time; and the President may grant licenses, special or general, temporary or otherwise, and for such period of time and containing such provisions and conditions as he shall prescribe, to any person or class of persons to do business as provided in subsection (a) of section four hereof, and to perform any act made unlawful without such license in section three hereof, and to file and prosecute applications under subsection (b) of section ten hereof; and he may revoke or renew such licenses from time to time, if he shall be of opinion that such grant or revocation or renewal shall be compatible with the safety of the United States and with the successful prosecution of the war; and he may make such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as may be necessary and proper to carry out the provisions of this Act; and the President may exercise any power or authority conferred by this Act through such officer or officers as he shall direct.

If the President shall have reasonable cause to believe that any act is about to be performed in violation of section three hereof he shall have authority to order the postponement of the performance of such act for a period not exceeding ninety days, pending investigation of the facts by him.

(b) Regulation of transactions in foreign exchange of gold or silver.

(b) The President may investigate, regulate, or prohibit, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, by means of licenses or otherwise, any transactions in foreign exchange and the export, hoarding, melting, or earmarkings of gold or silver coin or bullion or currency, transfers of credit in any form (other than credits relating solely to transactions to be executed wholly within the United States), and transfers of evidences of indebtedness or of the ownership of property between the United States and any foreign country, whether enemy, ally of enemy, or otherwise, or between residents of one or more foreign countries, by any person within the United States; and, for the purpose of strengthening, sustaining and broadening the market for bonds and certificates of indebtedness of the United States, of preventing frauds upon the holders thereof, and of protecting such holders, he may investigate and regulate, by means of licenses or otherwise (until the expiration of two years after the date of the termination of the present war with the Imperial German Government, as fixed by his proclamation), any transactions in such bonds or certificates by or between any person or persons: Provided, That nothing contained in this subdivision (b) shall be construed to confer any power to prohibit the purchase or sale for cash, or for notes eligible for discount at any Federal Reserve Bank, of bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the United States; and he may require any person engaged in any transaction referred to in this subdivision to furnish, under oath, complete information relative thereto, including the production of any books of account, contracts, letters or other papers, in connection therewith in the custody or control of such person, either before or after such transaction is completed. (40 Stat. 415, 966.)

See note to § 3115½a, ante.

This section was amended by Act Sept. 24, 1918, c. 176, § 5, cited above, by changing subdivision b to read as set forth above. As originally enacted said subdivision read as follows: "The President may investigate, regulate, or prohibit, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, by means of licenses or otherwise, any transactions in foreign exchange, export or earmarkings of gold or silver coin or bullion or currency, transfers of credit in any form (other than credits relating solely to transactions to be executed wholly within the United States), and transfers of evidences of indebtedness or of the ownership of property between the United States and any foreign country, whether enemy, ally of enemy or otherwise, or between residents of one or more foreign countries, by any person within the United States; and he may require any such person engaged in any such transaction to furnish, under oath, complete information relative thereto, including the production of any books of account, contracts, letters or other papers, in connection therewith in the custody or control of such person, either before or after such transaction is completed."

The powers conferred upon the President by this subsection are, in so far as applicable to the exportation from or shipment from or taking out of the United States of silver coin or silver bullion, continued until the net amount of silver required by Act April 23, 1918, c. 63, § 2, shall have been purchased as therein provided, by § 9 of said Act April 23, 1918, c. 63, post, § 7678cc. See, U. S. Comp. St. Temp. Supp. 1917, § 3115½c.

Notes of Decisions

Constitutionality.—The government of the United States has power to permit limited commercial intercourse with an enemy at time of war, and to impose such conditions thereon as it sees fit. Hamilton v. Dillin (1874) 88 U. S. (21 Wall.) 73, 22 L. Ed. 528.

In U. S. v. Marigold (1850) 9 How. 560, 13 L. Ed. 257, in upholding an act prohibiting the importation of counterfeit money, the court said that "since the passage of the embargo and nonintercourse laws, and the repeated judicial sanctions those statutes have received, it can scarcely, at this day, be open to doubt that every subject falling within the legitimate sphere of commercial regulation may be partially or wholly excluded, when either measure shall be demanded by the safety or by the important interests of the entire nation. Such exclusion cannot be limited to particular classes or descriptions of commercial subjects; it may embrace manufactures, bullion, coin, or any other thing. The power, once conceded, may operate on any and every subject of commerce to which the legislative discretion may apply it."

The power to regulate commerce includes the power to lay embargoes and admit goods free of duty. U. S. v. Craig (C. C. 1886) 28 Fed. 795, 797.

The embargo laws of December 22, 1807, and March 12, 1808, are not unconstitutional, either because they exceed the power of Congress to "regulate," because they interdict all foreign commerce, or because not limited to a specific duration. U. S. v. The William (D. C. 1808) Fed. Cas. No. 16,700.

Const. U. S. art. 1, § 9, declaring that no tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state; that no preference shall be given by any regulations of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another, nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another—does not extend to a statute passed during the Rebellion to prohibit and regulate commercial intercourse with insurrectionary districts, and Act Cong. July 13, 1861 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10,143, 10,146), relating to commercial intercourse with insurrectionary states, is not invalid. Folsom v. U. S. (1868) 4 Ct. Cl. 366.

Congress might validly delegate to the President power to revive the nonintercourse act of March 1, 1809, by proclamation, upon determining whether certain foreign countries were violating the neutral commerce of the United States. The Brig Aurora v. U. S. (1813) 7 Cranch, 382, 388, 3 L. Ed. 378, discussed in Field v. Clark (1892) 143 U. S. 649, 682, 12 Sup. Ct. 495, 36 L. Ed. 294.

Act Oct. 1, 1890, § 3, 26 Stat. c. 1244, pp. 567, 612, authorizing the President to suspend, by proclamation, the free introduction of sugar, etc., from countries imposing duties on products of the United States which he considers reciprocally unequal or unjust, does not unconstitutionally delegate legislative power to the President. Field v. Clark (1892) 143 U. S. 649, 12 Sup. Ct. 495, 36 L. Ed. 294. In this case the court mentioned various embargo and nonintercourse acts which authorized the President to enforce or suspend their operation by proclamation, to show that delegations of power similar to the one under consideration had the sanction of numerous legislative precedents.

The president's proclamation of August 9, 1809, was without legal operation, and did not revive Nonintercourse Act March 1, 1809, c. 91. The Orono (C. C. 1812) Fed. Cas. No. 10,585; President's Proclamation Declared Illegal (C. C. 1812) Fed. Cas. No. 11,391.

Ed. 161; Kirk v. Lynd (1882) 1 Sup. Ct. 296, 297, 106 U. S. 315, 27 L. Ed. 193; Semple v. U. S. (D. C. 1868) Fed. Cas. No. 12,661; U. S. v. Republican Banner Officers (C. C. 1863) Fed. Cas. No. 16,148; Knoefel v. Williams (1868) 30 Ind. 1.

For cases involving the power of Congress to delegate power to executive and administrative officers in general, see U. S. Comp. St. 1916, pp. 13120–13126, notes.

See, also, notes under §§ 3115½f and 3115½j, post.

Effective date of act and proclamations.—Instructions of the President, in time of war, are not, as laws are, in force without notice to the individuals, and his instructions of August 28, 1812, prohibiting the interruption of vessels owned in the United States coming from British ports with British merchandise, must be known to the commanders of vessels of war to invalidate a capture thereby forbidden. The Mary and Susan (1816) 14 U. S. (1 Wheat.) 46, 4 L. Ed. 32.

A proclamation removing restrictions on trade between the disloyal and loyal states held effective when signed, sealed, and deposited in the State Department, although not published in newspapers until several days thereafter. Lapeyre v. U. S. (1872) 17 Wall. 191, 21 L. Ed. 606.

A vessel cleared from St. Mary's, Georgia, on January 15, 1808. Upon the evening of that day, the collector of that port received information of the passage of the embargo law of December 22, 1807, and gave public notice of it. It did not appear that it was known to the master or owners of the vessel at the time of sailing, and, having been seized for a violation of the law, she was restored; for trade laws are to be considered as beginning to operate in the respective collection districts from the time they are received from the proper department by the collector, unless previous notice of them be brought home to the knowledge of the party charged with violating them. The Cotton Planter (C. C. 1810) Fed. Cas. No. 3,270.

Construction of proclamation.—Enemy merchant vessels carrying on innocent commercial transactions at the time, or just prior to the time, when hostilities occur, are entitled to a liberal interpretation of a proclamation prescribing rules for their treatment. The Buena Ventura v. U. S. (1899) 175 U. S. 384, 20 Sup. Ct. 148, 44 L. Ed. 206.

Authority to issue licenses—Form, effect, etc.—Act Cong. July 13, 1861 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10143, 10146), prohibiting commercial intercourse with the states in insurrection, but that the President might in his discretion license trade in such articles and by such persons as he might think conducive to public interest, to be carried on under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, authorized the rules adopted March 31 and September 11, 1863, whereby permission was given to purchase cotton in the states in insurrection, and export the same to other states, on condition of paying, besides other fees, a fee of four cents per pound. Hamilton v. Dillin (1874) 88 U. S. (21 Wall.) 73, 22 L. Ed. 528.

Act July 13, 1861 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10143, 10146), and Act May 20, 1862 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10154, 10162, 10163), are prohibitory acts, and the forfeiture under them of goods "proceeding to" rebellious states can only be avoided by the production of such a license as is provided in the acts. Therefore a license obtained through error or mistake or fraud will not prevent the forfeiture. U. S. v. One Hundred Barrels of Cement (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 15,945. And see U. S. v. One Hundred and Twenty-Nine Packages (D. C. 1862) Fed. Cas. No. 15,941.

This section, subsec. "a," as to license to do business as provided in sections 3, 4, and 10, does not, in view of section 7, subd. "b," post, § 3115½d, authorize a license to an ally of enemy to sue on a note given before the commencement of the war. Hungarian General Credit Bank v. Titus (Sup.) 169 N. Y. S. 926, 182 App. Div. 826.

Under Act Cong. July 13, 1861, § 5 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10143, 10146), authorizing the President by a proclamation to declare commercial intercourse between the citizens of the United States and the insurrectionary states unlawful during hostilities, and Act May 20, 1862, § 3 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10154, 10162, 10163), providing that the Secretary of the Treasury may prohibit and prevent the transportation of any goods in all cases where there shall be satisfactory reasons to believe that such goods were intended for any place in possession or under the control of insurgents against the United States, or that there was imminent danger that such goods would fall into possession of the insurgents, a sound discretion was vested in the Secretary of the Treasury to make rules in relation to the commercial intercourse with the insurrectionary states, which was of a governmental character and not subject to revision. Hughes v. Oaks (1868) 59 Pa. (9 P. F. Smith) 32.

See, also, U. S. Comp. St. 1916, pp. 12478, 12479, notes.

Persons entitled to license.—An attorney at law does not come within the terms of the Trading with the Enemy Act, so as to authorize a license to be issued to him to prosecute a suit for his client, where such client is an enemy or ally of enemy. Hungarian General Credit Bank v. Titus (Sup.) 169 N. Y. S. 926, 182 App. Div. 826

Money transactions.—In the act of 861, prohibiting intercourse between e loyal and the insurgent states, gold in is included in the words "goods and attels, wares and merchandise," and erefore is forfeited by an attempt to rry it into one of the insurgent states. S. v. Canoe (C. C. 1867) Fed. Cas. o. 14,718.

Under rule 22 of September 11, 1863 House Ex. Doc. 1862, p. 416), which as framed by the Secretary of the reasury in accordance with the provions of Act July 13, 1861 (U. S. Comp. . 1916, §§ 10143, 10146), prohibiting tercourse with the inhabitants of ates in insurrection, gold coin capturin course of transportation into such ates is subject to forfeiture, even ough the party so transporting it inded it for his own personal use. U. v. American Gold Coin (C. C. 1868) d. Cas. No. 14,439.

Transporting gold to a territory in surrection, without a license, will subject it to forfeiture, though the insurrectionary district was at the time in possession of the federal forces. U. S. v. Gay's Gold (C. C. 1870) Fed. Cas. No. 15,194, affirmed In re Gay's Gold (1871) 80 U. S. (13 Wall.) 358.

During the Civil War, a loyal citizen, living within the rebel lines, sent money to another city, also within the rebel lines, to be invested in certain articles. The investment was not made until after the place of domicile was captured, and the purchaser thereby became a resident within the federal lines. Held, that the transaction was not within Prohibition Act July 13, 1861 (12 Stat. 257). Furman v. U. S. (1869) 5 Ct. Cl. 579.

Admissibility of certificate in evidence.—A somewhat similar provision in the Interstate Commerce Act, § 11 (U. S. Comp. The right to proceed against alien emies, or against debtors living in e seceded states during the war, by editors in the adhering states, by nstructive notice, did not affect the nning of the statute of limitations, the judgment only affected the operty attached, and the remedy was o incomplete to require the creditor pursue it, in order to avail himself any of the exceptions expressed in e statute. An application by a nonresident defendant, under section 15 of the chancery act, to open a decree and be allowed to defend, being a defensive proceeding, is not affected by the rule which prohibits an alien enemy from suing in the courts of that state; and therefore the accident of war affords no ground for suspending the limitation of three years in which such application must be made. Importations.—Under the nonintercourse law of March 1, 1809, making it unlawful to import into the United States any merchandise from any port or place situated in Great Britain, or in any of the colonies or dependencies of Great Britain, a vessel had no right to come into the waters of the United States to inquire whether she might land her cargo. Under the nonintercourse act of 1809, a vessel sailing from Great Britain, without a knowledge of the war, had a right to lay off the coast of the United States to receive instructions from her owners, in New York, and, if necessary, to drop anchor, and in case of a storm, to make harbor; and if prevented, by a mutiny of her crew, from putting out to sea might wait in the waters of the States for orders. If articles, the importation of is forbidden, were taken on boa the intention of importing the with the owner's or master's edge, the vessel is forfeited, und March 1, 1809, whether she be into port by stress of weather and even if no such intention exi the time of loading, the same quence will attach to the good shall appear that the coming in vessel was voluntary on the part master; for the necessity whi excuse a violation of nonimpo laws must be urgent, and procee such a state of things as may b posed to produce on the mind of ful mariner a well-grounded f the loss of vessel and cargo, or lives of the crew. he mere coming into port without aking bulk is prima facie evidence an importation; and if a vessel vol- arily arrive at her port of destina- with a cargo, it constitutes in t of law an importation under Act ch 1, 1809, c. 91 (2 Stat. 529), and tish goods put on board a vessel intent to import them into the ted States, are forfeited, under this whether the owner intended there- o violate it or not; but an involun- tary arrival by stress of weather does not constitute an importation. The arrival of a vessel within the Chesapeake Bay for the purpose of procuring a pilot in anticipation of a storm is sufficient to subject her to forfeiture under the nonintercourse laws. eizures.—Act July 13, 1861 (U. S. np. St. 1916, §§ 10143, 10146), is to construed as positively prohibiting citizens or residents alike in the loyal and insurrectionary states from all commercial intercourse and dealing with a view to reciprocity of gains, or in manifestation of feelings of amity and aid toward each other, whether in acts of material support or friendly encouragement to the enemy. Property intended to be used to these ends and the vehicle employed to convey it, either gratuitously or for profit, are alike subject to confiscation. The absolute culpability of the property is independent of all questions of contraband or blockade, or of the intrinsic value or adaptation to belligerent uses of the articles to be interchanged, or the degree of progress made in completing the object of the parties. In 1864 the rebel steamer Florida was captured at Bahia, Brazil, by the United States steamer Wachusett, and brought thence to Hampton Roads, where by a collision she was sunk. The United States disavowed the act of the captain of the Wachusett in making the capture. He libeled the Florida as a prize of war. Held, that the libel was properly dismissed. The Florida (1879) 101 U. S. 37, 25 L. Ed. 898.

If a vessel, not actually arriving at her port of original destination, excites an honest suspicion in the mind of the collector that her demand of a permit to land is merely colorable, this is not a termination of a voyage so as to preclude the right of detention. A vessel violating a blockade is subject to confiscation only until her return voyage has been ended. The Wren (1867) 6 Wall. 582, 18 L. Ed. 876.

If captors wantonly injure the captured crew, the prize court will award damages for personal ill usage; and freight is a proper item of damage, when the voyage has been lost or the cargo unliveried, but supposed loss of profits is not a proper item, and where the vessel and cargo have been wholly lost, the prime cost and interest is the measure of damages. —— Admissibility and sufficiency.—a prosecution against a vessel for olating the laws of the United States óhibiting commercial intercourse beeen the United States and Great ritain and France and their dependenes, evidence by two witnesses that ey were at a port of San Domingo nd saw lying there a schooner called e Jane, and that her cargo consisted a quantity of coffee, and she sailed about September 10th, and the vessel in question was a schooner bearing the same name, commanded by the same captain, and having a cargo of coffee, and arrived at Baltimore about the time when a vessel which left the port referred to by the witnesses might reasonably have been expected to arrive, is sufficient to establish the identity of the vessel, as it is not necessary to adduce positive evidence of the identity; it being sufficient if there are strong circumstances justifying the presumption. The Jane v. U. S. (1813) 11 U. S. (7 Cranch) 363, 3 L. Ed. 372.

The facts that a vessel sailed from her port of departure with the design of trading with the enemy, and did in fact hold illegal intercourse with them, are sufficient to subject both vessel and cargo to condemnation. Jecker v. Montgomery (1851) 54 U. S. (13 How.) 498, 14 L. Ed. 240.

The spoliation of papers is a strong circumstance of suspicion, but does not furnish, of itself, sufficient ground for condemnation. The Stephen Hart (D. C. 1863) Fed. Cas. No. 13,364, affirmed (1865) 70 U. S. (3 Wall.) 559, 18 L. Ed. 220.

On a libel of forfeiture under the embargo laws, the report, manifest, and affidavit of the master before the collector constitute one entire transaction, so as to be admissible in evidence. The entry of the ship is a separate matter, and not necessary to complete the transaction. U. S. v. The Little Charles (C. C. 1818) Fed. Cas. No. 15,-612.

Jury trial.—Where property on land is seized under Act Cong. July 13, 1861 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10143, 10146), authorizing the forfeiture of property of persons engaged in insurrection against the United States, the claimants are entitled to a trial by jury, though the suit was in form a libel of information. Morris' Cotton (1869) 75 U. S. (8 Wall.) 507, 19 L. Ed. 481.

In the case of a seizure on land, where there was a citation by monition published in a newspaper calling on the owners or parties interested to show cause why the condemnation should not be made final, and, nearly two years after such a notice, no appearance having been made, a default was entered and the libel taken pro confesso, the proceeding will not be regarded as defective as a proceeding in rem at common law for the want of a jury trial, for the default so entered dispenses with the necessity of a trial by jury. Power of courts.—The congressional assumption, as shown by this section, is that the courts should determine what is or what is not enemy property. Keppelmann v. Keppelmann (N. J. Ch.) 105 A. 140.

Conclusiveness and effect of decree.—Under the act of Congress of 1861, for the confiscation of property of rebels, the jurisdiction of the United States District Court to entertain proceedings for condemnation of such propert cluded the general power of dete ing whether the property proc against was enemies' property, a the proceedings were regular in the decree cannot be impeached state court, on the ground tha owner of the property was a loya zen and had no notice of the pro ings. FEDERAL CONTROLLED TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS § 3115¾a. (Act March 21, 1918, c. 25, § 1.) Agreements as to co pensation; operating income; war taxes; maintenance ; ra roads included.

The President, having in time of war taken over the possessio use, control, and operation (called herein Federal control) of c tain railroads and systems of transportation (called herein ca riers), is hereby authorized to agree with and to guarantee to a such carrier making operating returns to the Interstate Commerc Commission, that during the period of such Federal control it sha receive as just compensation an annual sum, payable from tim to time in reasonable installments, for each year and pro rata fo any fractional year of such Federal control, not exceeding a sum equivalent as nearly as may be to its average annual railway operating income for the three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen.

Any railway operating income accruing during the period of Federal control in excess of such just compensation shall remain the property of the United States. In the computation of such income, debits and credits arising from the accounts called in the monthly reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission equipment rents and joint facility rents shall be included, but debits and credits arising from the operation of such street electric passenger railways, including railways commonly called interurbans, as are at the time of the agreement not under Federal control, shall be excluded. If any lines were acquired by, leased to, or consolidated with such railroad or system between July first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, and December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, both inclusive, and separate operating returns to the Interstate Commerce Commission were not made for such lines after such acquisition, lease, or consolidation, there shall (before the average is computed) be added to the total railway operating income of such railroad or system for the three years ende June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the total railwa operating income of the lines so acquired, leased, or consolida ed, for the period beginning July first, nineteen hundred and fou teen, and ending on the date of such acquisition, lease, or conso idation, or on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and se enteen, whichever is the earlier. The average annual railway o erating income shall be ascertained by the Interstate Commerc Commission and certified by it to the President. Its certi cate shall, for the purpose of such agreement, be taken as co clusive of the amount of such average annual railway operatin income.

Every such agreement shall provide that any Federal taxes un der the Act of October third, nineteen hundred and seventeen, o Acts in addition thereto or in amendment thereof, commonly calle war taxes, assessed for the period of Federal control beginning January first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, or any part of such period, shall be paid by the carrier out of its own funds, or shal be charged against or deducted from the just compensation ; tha other taxes assessed under Federal or any other governmental au thority for the period of Federal control or any part thereof, ei ther on the property used under such Federal control or on th right to operate as a carrier, or on the revenues or any part there of derived from operation (not including, however, assessment for public improvements or taxes assessed on property under con struction, and chargeable under the classification of the Inter tate Commerce Commission to investment in road and equipment), shall be paid out of revenues derived from railway operations while under Federal control; that all taxes assessed under Federal or any other governmental authority for the period prior to January first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, whenever levied or payable, shall be paid by the carrier out of its own funds, or shall be charged against or deducted from the just compensation.

Every such agreement shall also contain adequate and appropriate provisions for the maintenance, repair, renewals, and depreciation of the property, for the creation of any reserves or reserve funds found necessary in connection therewith, and for such accounting and adjustments of charges and payments, both during and at the end of Federal control as may be requisite in order that the property of each carrier may be returned to it in substantially as good repair and in substantially as complete equipment as it was in at the beginning of Federal control, and also that the United States may, by deductions from the just compensations or by other proper means and charges, be reimbursed for the cost of any additions, repairs, renewals, and betterments to such property not justly chargeable to the United States; in making such accounting and adjustments, due consideration shall be given to the amounts expended or reserved by each carrier for maintenance, repairs, renewals, and depreciation during the three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, to the condition of the property at the beginning and at the end of Federal control and to any other pertinent facts and circumstances.

The President is further authorized in such agreement to make all other reasonable provisions, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or of the Act entitled "An Act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and for other purposes," approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, that he may deem necessary or proper for such Federal control or for the determination of the mutual rights and obligations of the parties to the agreement arising from or out of such Federal control.

If the President shall find that the condition of any carrier was during all or a substantial portion of the period of three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, because of monoperation, receivership, or where recent expenditures for additions or improvements or equipment were not fully reflected in the operating railway income of said three years or a substantial portion thereof, or because of any undeveloped or abnormal conditions, so exceptional as to make the basis of earnings hereinabove provided for plainly inequitable as a fair measure of just compensation, then the President may make with the carrier such agreement for such amount as just compensation as under the circumstances of the particular case he shall find just.

Every railroad not owned, controlled, or operated by another carrier company, and which has heretofore competed for traffic with a railroad or railroads of which the President has taken the possession, use, and control, or which connects with such railroads and is engaged as a common carrier in general transportation, shall be held and considered as within "Federal control," as herein defined, and necessary for the prosecution of the war, and shall be entitled to the benefit of all the provisions of this Act: Provided, however, That nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as including any street or interurban electric railway which has as its principal source of operating revenue urban, suburban, or interurban passenger traffic, or sale of power, heat and lig or both.

The agreement shall also provide that the carrier shall acc all the terms and conditions of this Act and any regulation or der made by or through the President under authority of this or of that portion of the Act entitled "An Act making approp tions for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending J thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and for other p poses," approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and teen, which authorizes the President in time of war to take pos sion, assume control, and utilize systems of transportation.

Notes of Decisions

Construction and application of act in general.—Where a telegraph company, after terminating the arrangement under which it maintained lines on a railroad right of way, was denied right of condemnation in Alabama, held, that preliminary injunction against the railroad company's interference with telegraph lines will not be granted, because the government has assumed control of railroads, etc., where the railroad company agreed not to take any action interfering with the telegraph system without governmental approval. Under Act Aug. 29, 1916 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), authorizing the President in time of war to take possession of railroads, etc., and the presidential proclamation of December 26, 1917, and despite this act, the Director General of Railroads was not authorized to take possession of land belonging to a railroad company which was not used in its business as a carrier; hence sale of such land under execution against the railroad company will not be enjoined on suit of the Director General, the company making no objection. United States Railroad Administration v. Burch (D. C.) 254 F. 140.

If no such agreement is made, or pending the execution o agreement, the President may nevertheless pay to any ca while under Federal control an annual amount, payable in rea able installments, not exceeding ninety per centum of the mated annual amount of just compensation, remitting such carrier, in case where no agreement is made, to its legal rights for any balance claimed to the remedies provided in section three hereof. Any amount thereafter found due such carrier above the amount paid shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum. The acceptance of any benefits under this section shall constitute an acceptance by the carrier of all the provisions of this Act and shall obligate the carrier to pay to the United States, with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from a date or dates fixed in proceedings under section three, the amount by which the sums received under this section exceed the sum found due in such proceedings. § 3115¾c. (Act March 21, 1918, c. 25, § 3.) Claims for compensation; agreements.

All claims for just compensation not adjusted (as provided in section one) shall, on the application of the President or of any carrier, be submitted to boards, each consisting of three referees to be appointed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, members of which and the official force thereof being eligible for service on such boards without additional compensation. Such boards of referees are hereby authorized to summon witnesses, require the production of records, books, correspondence, documents, memoranda, and other papers, view properties, administer oaths, and may hold hearings in Washington and elsewhere, as their duties and the convenience of the parties may require. In case of disobedience to a subpœna the board may invoke the aid of any district court of the United States in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence, and such court within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on may, in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpœna issued to any person, corporation, partnership, or association, issue an order requiring appearance before the board, or the production of documentary evidence if so ordered, or the giving of evidence touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof. Such cases may be heard separately or together or by classes, by such boards as the Interstate Commerce Commission in the first instance, or any board of referees to which any such cases shall be referred may determine. Said boards shall give full hearings to such carriers and to the United States; shall consider all the facts and circumstances, and shall report as soon as practicable in each case to the President the just compensation, calculated on an annual basis and otherwise in such form as to be convenient and available for the making of such agreement as is authorized in section one. The President is authorized to enter into an agreement with such carrier for just compensation upon a basis not in excess of that reported by such board, and may include therein provisions similar to those authorized under section one. Failing such agreement, either the United States or such carrier may file a petition in the Court of Claims for the purpose of determining the amount of such just compensation, and in the proceedings in said court the report of said referees shall be prima facie evidence of the amount of just compensation and of the facts therein stated. Proceedings in the Court of Claims under this section shall be given precedence and expedited in every practicable way. (40 Stat. 454.)

Validity of section.—This act, authorizing the President to make regulations, assuming that it authorizes the fixing by such regulations of the venue of actions in federal courts against railroad companies, is within the war powers of Congress, and constitutional. 3115¾j. (Act March 21, 1918, c. 25, § 10.) Liabilities of carriers; actions by and against.

Carriers while under Federal control shall be subject to all laws and liabilities as common carriers, whether arising under State or Federal laws or at common law, except in so far as may be inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or any other Act applicable to such Federal control or with any order of the President. Actions at law or suits in equity may be brought by and against such carriers and judgments rendered as now provided by law; and in any action at law or suit in equity against the carrier, no defense shall be made thereto upon the ground that the carrier is an instrumentality or agency of the Federal Government. Nor shall any such carrier be entitled to have transferred to a federal court any action heretofore or hereafter instituted by or against it, which action was not so transferable prior to the Federal control of such carrier; and any action which has heretofore been so transferred because of such Federal control or of any Act of Congress or official order or proclamation relating thereto shall upon motion of either party be retransferred to the court in which it was originally instituted. But no process, mesne or final, shall be levied against any property under such Federal control.

During the period of Federal control, whenever in his opinion the public interest requires, the President may initiate rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, and practices by filing the same with the Interstate Commerce Commission, which said rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, and practices shall not be suspended by the commission pending final determination.

Said rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, and practices shall be reasonable and just and shall take effect at such time and upon such notice as he may direct, but the Interstate Commerce Commission shall, upon complaint, enter upon a hearing concerning the justness and reasonableness of so much of any order of the President as establishes or changes any rate, fare, charge, classification, regulation, or practice of any carrier under federal control, and may consider all the facts and circumstances existing at the time of the making of the same. In determining any question concerning any such rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, or practices or changes therein, the Interstate Commerce Commission shall give due consideration to the fact that the transportation systems are being operated under a united and coordinated national control and not in competition.

After full hearing the commission may make such findings and orders as are authorized by the Act to regulate commerce amended, and said findings and orders shall be enforced as p vided in said Act: Provided, however, That when the Presid shall find and certify to the Interstate Commerce Commission t in order to defray the expenses of Federal control and operat fairly chargeable to railway operating expenses, and also to p railway tax accruals other than war taxes, net rents for joint cilities and equipment, and compensation to the carriers, operati as a unit, it is necessary to increase the railway operating r enues, the Interstate Commerce Commission in determining t justness and reasonableness of any rate, fare, charge, classificati regulation, or practice shall take into consideration said finding a certificate by the President, together with such recommendatio as he may make. (40 Stat. 456.)

See note to § 3115¾a, ante.

Constitutionality.—This section, authorizing maintenance of actions and recovery of judgments against carriers for damages sustained by employés and others while railroad is being operated by federal authorities, despite provision no process shall be levied against property under federal control, held unconstitutional. Schumacher v. Pennsylvania R. Co. (Sup.) 175 N. Y. S. 84.

Construction and application in general.—Under Act Cong. Aug. 29, 1916 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), giving the President power in time of war to take possession and control of transportation systems, presidential proclamation of December 26, 1917 (note under § 1974a, ante), whereby the President took such possession and control, together with this act, the complete possession and control of the railroads taken by the United States impliedly included the power to fix rates, regardless of the power given by this section. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. State of North Dakota ex rel. Langer, 39 S. Ct. 502, 63 L. Ed. —.

As the federal control and operation of railroads worked a fundamental change, the provision of this section, authorizing the President to prescribe rates, etc., cannot be construed as applicable only to interstate rates, for such construction would tend to prevent the change from becoming effective. Id.

The war power of the United States is not disputable, and therefore where Congress, under its war power, by Act Aug. 29, 1916 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), authorized the President to take possession of transportation systems and the President took control of the railroads, and was subsequently by this section authorized to fix rates, such rate-making power cannot be construed as limited to interstate rates, for that would be a limitation on the war powers of the United States. Id.

Under this section, authorizing the President to fix rates for railroads under federal control, but providing for review by the Interstate Commerce Commission, etc., and section 15 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3115¾o), declaring t nothing in the act shall be constr to impair lawful police regulations the state, the President has power prescribe intrastate rates for railro under federal control, though s rates conflict with rates previously ed by state authority. Id.

The federal government being in c trol of railroads as a war measu state courts should consider gene welfare in adjusting controversies b tween private suitors involving expen iture of public lands for local transpo tation facilities. Ralston Busine Men's Ass'n v. Bush (Neb.) 167 N. W 727.

Where order that carrier remove di crimination by change in tariff sche ules eliminating its absorption switching charges was in existence b fore President's proclamation takin over the railroads, such situation ough not to cause a reversal of this orde Lincoln Commercial Club v. In view of this section the Industri Commission can award against th Pullman Car Company compensatio for injuries to a porter received whil the car was operated by the federa Director General. Bryant v. Pullma Co. (Sup.) 177 N. Y. S. 488.

The act of the Director General o Railroads, by General Order 28, in i creasing freight rates and prescribin uniform passenger fare without di tinguishing between interstate and in trastate commerce, was an exercise of extraordinary executive powers ne- cessitated by existence of war. State v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. (N. D.) 172 N. W. 324.

Termination of hostilities under the armistice does not justify judicial in- terference to restrain further exercise of extraordinary executive powers con- ferred upon President by Act Cong Aug. 29, 1916 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916 § 1974a), and this act. Id.

Suits against carriers.—Under th presidential proclamation assuming con trol of the railroads and the gener orders of the Director General, th employés of the railway companies wh continued in the service became th employés of the government, and service cannot be made on them as agents of the corporation in actions for injuries caused while the railroads were privately operated. Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. (D. C.) 257 F. 138.

A suit against the Director General of Railroads, involving his right to direct and control operation of the property in his possession, is not one against the carrier, permitted by this section, while it is under federal control. Nueces Valley Town-Site Co. v. McAdoo (D. C.) 257 F. 143.

Under this act, litigants could sue railroad companies under federal direction, just as they had previously been able to do and in such courts as had jurisdiction under the general law. Johnson v. McAdoo (D. C.) 257 F. 757.

In an action against a railroad for injuries at a crossing, the dismissal of the action, as to the railroad named as original defendant, and the substitution of the Director General of Railroads as defendant, was error. Gowan v. McAdoo (Minn.) 173 N. W. 440, 443.

Act Aug. 29, 1916, § 1 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), Act March 21, 1918, § 10, 13, 15, and presidential proclamations of December 26, 1918, and April 11, 1918, did not prohibit state courts from entertaining jurisdiction and proceeding to judgment in all cases against railroads as theretofore; the only purpose being to prevent states from seizing property necessary to be used in maintenance of transportation system of country for use of national government. L. N. Dantzler Lumber Co. v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Miss.) 80 So. 770.

Under Act Cong. Aug. 29, 1916, § 1 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), authorizing President's war time assumption of control of systems of transportation, and under President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, prima facie a cause of action under federal Employers' Liability Act April 22, 1908 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, §§ 8657–8665), for death of an employé arising and action begun subsequent to assumption of federal control and before passage of this act, became vested in plaintiff as administrator of deceased prior to passage of Rail Control Act. McGregor v. Great Northern Ry. Co. (N. D.) 172 N. W. 841.

This section held to authorize the bringing of actions against carrier corporations during period of federal control. Id.

Under this act, Director General of Railroads is charged with administering the transportation systems owned by the various carrier corporations, but is not authorized to appear and defend suits brought against them. Id.

Carrier corporations during period of federal control under Act Cong. Aug. 29, 1916, § 1 (U. S. Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), and President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, and this act, remain legal entities, capable of suing and being sued in the courts, and are champions of their own legal rights. Id.

The word "carriers," as used in this section, providing that actions may be brought against carriers under federal control, means the corporations, and not the Director General. Id.

Where Corporation Commission ordered appellant railroad to construct a depot, and it appeared that federal government had taken charge of appellant's railroad system, the order of submission would be set aside, and cause continued until further order of court. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. State (Okl.) 180 P. 250.

Suits by director general.—A suit by the Director General of Railroads to enjoin sale of land owned by a railroad under execution issued on a judgment of a state court, on the theory that, having taken possession of the same, it was exempt from process under this act, is a suit of a civil nature arising under the laws of the United States, etc., of which the federal District Court has jurisdiction, for it must be deemed that Act March 21, 1918, modified Jud. Code, § 265 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1242). United States Railroad Administration v. Burch (D. C.) 254 F. 140.

Process against property.—Under this section, an action by a telegraph company to condemn a right of way for a telegraph line along the right of way of a railroad company under federal control will not be stayed because the latter company was under federal control. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co. v. Call (C. C. A.) 255 F. 850.

Under General Order No. 50, of the Director General, no process will issue on judgment against Director General which will interfere with his possession of railroad property committed to his control. Dahn v. McAdoo (D. C.) 256 F. 549.

Control of operation of railroad by restraining order or injunction is within the prohibition of this section against interference with the possession of the Director General of the property by any process. Nueces Valley Town-Site Co. v. McAdoo (D. C.) 257 F. 143.

Within this section, providing that carriers under federal control shall be subject to all laws and liabilities as common carriers, except so far as inconsistent with the act or any order of the President, any law or asserted liability which would operate to take the possession and control of the railroad property out of the hands of the government would be so inconsistent. Id.

Preventing the Director General of Railroads from transferring his employés from one point to another, and from regulating their duties, would to that extent be to take the control, possession, use, and operation of the properties out of his hands, in contravention of the terms of this section and of the entire spirit and purpose of the act. Id.

Under this act and proclamation of President of December 27, 1917, right of levying executions, attachments, or other process against property of common carriers under federal control is suspended, but litigant is not prevented from bringing action against carrier, nor court from granting him relief in form of judgment or otherwise. Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Steel, 202 S. W. 878, 180 Ky. 290.

State court could entertain jurisdiction of action against a nonresident railroad wherein a debt owing defendant by railroad running through state was attached, whether or not an execution could be levied; the word "mesne," used in Act Cong. March 21, 1918, prohibiting execution or other mesne process against railroads, meaning intermediate; intervening; the middle between two extremes. L. N. Dantzler Lumber Co. v. Texas & P. Ry. Co. (Miss.) 80 So. 770.

The prohibition in this section that "no process, mesne or final, shall be levied against any property under such federal control" is effective without a court order modifying a judgment to prevent issue of execution. Le Clair v. Montpelier & W. R. R. Co. (Vt.) 106 A. 587.

Orders and regulations.—Under Act March 21, 1918, §§ 8, 10, and despite section 9, held, that orders of the Director General of Railroads through whom the President assumed control of the railroads pursuant to Act Aug. 29, 1916 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), that suits against carriers while under federal control, should be brought in the county or district where the plaintiff resided at the time of the accrual of the action, were not effective to so limit that right, and where authorized by state law, a plaintiff might sue in a district other than that in which he resided at the time of accrual of the action, upon a cause of action not arising out of the railway company's duties as a common carrier. Friesen v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. (D. C.) 254 F. 875.

As the Director General is the carrier since the President has taken control and possession of railroads under Act Aug. 29, 1916, § 1 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1974a), Order No. 50 of the Director General providing for his substitution in case of actions against railroad company for causes of action arising since governmental control is warranted notwithstanding this section, providing that actions or suits may be brought against such carriers, for the Director General is the carrier, being analogous to a receiver, and it is proper that he be substituted in place of the railroad company. Ruthe v. Union Pac. R. Co. (D. C.) 254 F.

The provision of General Orde Director General of Railroads N of October 28, 1918, that pleadin pending actions for injuries agai railroad company "may" be ame by substituting the Director Ge and dismissing the company as de ant, must be construed as permi only, in view of this section, pr ing that carriers while under fe control, shall be subject to all and liabilities as common carriers, that actions may be brought ag them, "and judgments rendered as provided by law," and such sub tion of parties will not be mad motion of defendant. Jensen v. high Valley R. Co. (D. C.) 255 F.

State v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. (N. D.) 172 N. W. 324.

Rates initiated by President or Director General under this section are reviewable by the Interstate Commerce Commission under power previously vested in it under Interstate Commerce Act Feb. 4, 1887, c. 104, as amended, authorizing it to regulate intrastate rates as such. Id.

General Order No. 50, promulgated by the Director General of Railroads, requiring suits upon causes of actions arising subsequent to December 31, 1917, to be brought against the Director General, and authorizing his substitution for railroad company as party defendant and dismissal of action as to company, is not warranted by this act, in so far as it purports to be applicable to causes of action already vested. The General Order No. 26 of the Director General of Railroads under federal control, May 23, 1918, ordering that actions and suits included under General Order No. 18 should abate during federal control, is inconsistent with, and contrary to this section, providing that actions at law or suits in equity may be brought by or against such carriers and judgments rendered as now provided by law. In view of this section court did not abuse its discretion in refusing a third continuance of action against a railroad instituted in Texas for injuries sustained in Illinois, notwithstanding order of Director General of Railroads No. 26, where suit had been brought

Validity and operation in general.— Under Joint Resolution July 16, 1918, authorizing the President during the continuance of the war, "whenever he shall deem it necessary for the national security or defense," to take possession and control of marine cables, the determination by the President that such necessity exists is not subject to judicial review. Commercial Cable Co. v. Burleson (D. C.) 255 F. 99.

Such joint resolution is within the constitutional power of Congress, is not unconstitutional because compensation for their use is deferred and to be fixed initially by the President, and was an appropriate war measure as placing in the President's control as chief executive and head of the army and navy an essential instrumentality both for military and naval operations and in negotiation of a peace treaty. Id.

The President, by proclamation of July 22, 1918, having taken over control of all telegraph and telephone systems within United States, pursuant to resolution of Congress of July 16, 1918, and Postmaster General, vested with control of systems by the President, having declared August 1, 1918, that he had assumed control, petition in equity of Public Service Commission of Massachusetts to enforce by injunction against telephone and telegraph company its order suspending taking effect of increases in toll charges between places within commonwealth cannot be entertained; United States, in legal effect a party though not named in record as such, not having consented to be sued, and matter of rates being its sole financial affair. Public Service Commission v. New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. (Mass.) 122 N. E. 567.

The joint resolution in providing that the act shall not affect the lawful police regulations of the several states, contemplates that the states shall continue to exercise their power to reasonably regulate intrastate rates and charges of telephone companies such power did not therefore pa the President or the Postmaster eral. State v. Dakota Central phone Co. (S. D.) 171 N. W. 277

The proviso that the lawful regulation of the state shall n affected, if ambiguous, should b solved in favor of the reserved of the state. Id.

Though the United States has over the operation of telegraph a telegraph company may institut continue condemnation proceedin acquire new rights of way; the pany's franchise and corporate not having been affected by the ernment's action. Postal Teleg Cable Co. v. Call (C. C. A.) 2 850.

The power to operate telegrap telephones as a public utility w the zone of military operations necessarily appurtenant to the of Commander in Chief of the Army, ed in the President by the Con tion, and can only be exercised b when authorized so to do by Con State v. Cumberland Telepho Telegraph Co. (Miss.) 81 So. 40

In Congressional Resolution o 16, 1918, providing that nothing in shall amend, etc., state laws ing to taxation or lawful police lations, except to the extent sary to safeguard the transmissi government messages and the iss of stocks and bonds by such "lawful police regulations" embra regulation fixing tolls for intr messages. Id.

The fact that the United State not operate telegraphs and telep when the state statutes conce such systems were enacted, and referred to therein, does not pr the application of such statutes the taking over of such lines b President under Congressional lution of July 16, 1918. Id.

An officer of a telegraph and phone company cannot justify a hich disregards the state police regu-tions by the claim of power delegat-d to him by the President; the Presi-ent not being vested, by the Con-ressional Resolution July 16, 1918, ith any such power nor with any pow-r to authorize any subordinate so to o. Id.

A suit to restrain an officer of a tele-raph and telephone company from ollecting certain moneys, in excess of is authority, is not a suit to which he United States is a necessary party, lthough such moneys would be turned ver to the United States, and is a uit against a public officer which can e maintained. Id.

A suit for injunction to enjoin a tele-raph and telephone company from ollecting certain moneys, in excess of ts authority, is not an attempt to con-rol the discretion of the Postmaster General, but to restrain the abuse of ower. Id.

Congressional resolution authorizing resident "to supervise or to take pos-ession and assume control of" and 'operate" any telegraph or telephone ystem for duration of war, and pro-iding that resolution should not be onstrued to affect police regulations f state, held to authorize fixing of ntrastate rates, the words "posses-ion," "control," and "operation" im-orting absolute power over subject ithout interference, and "police regu-ations" referring merely to regula-ions to insure lives, health, and wel-are of public and employés. State v. Visconsin Telephone Co. (Wis.) 172 N. W. 225.

Under its war power, Congress pos-essed the right to confer upon the President, as it did by joint resolution f July 16, 1918, authority to take pos-ession and control of telegraph, tele-hone, marine cable, or radio systems, nd to operate the same as may be lesirable for duration of the war. Da-kota Cent. Telephone Co. v. State of South Dakota ex rel. Payne, 39 S. Ct. 507, 63 L. Ed. —.

In view of Act Oct. 30, 1918, the oint resolution of July 16, 1918, au-horizing the President to take pos-ession and control of telegraphs, tele-hones, and cable and radio systems, nd to operate the same during war, uthorized him, as he did in case of elegraphs and telephones, to take omplete possession and control of uch systems, and to operate the same s might be desirable for duration of he war. Id.

The joint resolution of July 16, 1918, id not reserve to the states the right nder the guise of police power to egulate intrastate rates of telegraph nd telephone companies after the President had taken possession and was perating the same, for the words "po-ice power" are capable of two sig-ifications, a comprehensive one em-racing in substance the whole field of state authority, and a narrower one including only state power to deal with health, safety, and morals, and the context showed that the latter was the one intended by Congress. Id.

The states cannot regulate intrastate rates, for there would be nothing upon which the state power could be exerted, except upon the power of the United States; that is, its authority to fix rates for the service it was rendering through a governmental agency. Id.

In Resolution July 16, 1918, "police regulations" is used in its narrow sense of regulations affecting the public safety, health, and morals, not in the broad sense of any regulation to promote the general welfare, and does not include regulation of rates, so that the Postmaster General can increase the rates without the consent of the state authorities. Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Co. v. City of Houston (D. C.) 256 F. 690.

The resolution of July 16, 1918, being a war measure, should be liberally construed. Id.

The compensation to be paid the owners of telegraph and telephone lines was intrusted to the discretion of the President by the resolution of July 16, 1918, and the Postmaster General, in making contracts therefor, acts for the President, and his decision cannot be questioned by the court. Id.

The Postmaster General has by virtue of joint resolution of Congress July 16, 1918, the authority and power to prescribe local telephone rates applicable only to the city of Detroit, without reference to the laws of the state of Michigan relating thereto. Groesbeck v. Michigan State Telephone Co. (Mich.) 172 N. W. 799.

An injunction against collection of telephone rates prescribed by Postmaster General and payable to him for service rendered by telephone system in his possession as a war instrumentality, under resolution of Congress of July 16, 1918, and President's proclamation of July 22, 1918, cannot be granted in action against agents of Postmaster General carrying out his orders, as they have no individual interest in controversy, but relief is in fact sought against Postmaster General. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. v. State (Okl.) 181 P. 487.

In action to enjoin collection of telephone rates in which effect of relief would be to control action of Postmaster General in operation of a telephone system in his possession as a governmental agency and an instrumentality of war, the Postmaster General is an indispensable party; his agents through whom he directs operation having no individual interest or authority to grant such relief. Id.

Under the joint resolution, a suit for damages was maintainable against a telegraph and cable company for delay in delivering a cable while the company was under federal control; it being proper that plaintiff be allowed to establish his liability against the company despite federal control. C. F. Witherspoon & Sons v. Postal Telegraph & Cable Co. (D. C.) 257 F. 758.

Postmaster General, given control of telegraph and telephone lines, will not be enjoined by state from increasing the charges upon intrastate business. State v. Burleson (Ala.) 82 So. 458.

Under authority delegated President to the Postmaster pursuant to the joint resolu Congress of July 16, 1918, aut the President to assume contro telephone systems during the v Postmaster General in the exe such control had authority to fi state telephone rates. State State Telephone & Telegra (Minn.) 173 N. W. 856.

The heads of the several executive departments and other responsible officials, in expending appropriations contained in this Act, so far as possible shall purchase material, supplies, and equipment, when needed and funds are available, from other services of the Government possessing material, supplies, and equipment no longer required because of the cessation of war activities. It shall be the duty of the heads of the several executive departments and other officials, before purchasing any of the articles described herein, to ascertain from the other services of the Government whether they have articles of the character described that are serviceable. And articles purchased by one service from another, if the same have not been used, shall be paid for at a reasonable price not to exceed actual cost, and if the same have been used, at a reasonable price based upon length of usage. The various services of the Government are authorized to sell such articles under the conditions specified, and the proceeds of such sales shall be covered into the Treasury as a miscellaneous receipt: Provided, That this section shall not be construed to amend, alter, or repeal the Executive order of December 3, 1918, concerning the transfer of office material, supplies, and equipment in the District of Columbia falling into disuse because of the cessation of war activities. (40 Stat. 1268.)

§ 3270a. (Act March 1, 1919, c. 86, § 7.) Additional compensation.

All civilian employees of the Governments of the United States and the District of Columbia who receive a total of compensation at the rate of $2,500 per annum or less, except as otherwise provided in this section, shall receive, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, additional compensation at the rate of $240 per annum: Provided, That such employees as receive a total of annual compensation at a rate more than $2,500 and less than $2,740 shall receive additional compensation at such a rate per annum as may be necessary to make their salaries, plus their additional compensation, at the rate of $2,740 per annum, and no employee shall receive additional compensation under this section at a rate which is more than sixty per centum of the rate of the total annual compensation received by such employee: Provided further, That the increased compensation at the rate of $120 per annum for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, shall not be computed as salary in construing this section: Provided further, That where an employee in the service on June 30, 1918, has received during the fiscal year 1919, or shall receive during the fiscal year 1920 an increase of salary at a rate in excess of $200 per annum, or where an employee whether previously in the service or not, has entered the service since June 30, 1918, whether such employee has received an increase in salary or not, such employees shall be granted the increased compensation provided herein only when and upon the certification of the person in the legislative branch or the head of the department or establishment employing such persons of the ability and qualifications personal to such employees as would justify such increased compensation: Provided further, That the increased compensation provided in this section to employees whose pay is adjusted from time to time through wage boards or similar authority shall be taken into consideration by such wage boards or similar authority in adjusting the pay of such employees.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to the following: Employees paid from the postal revenues and sums which may be advanced from the Treasury to meet deficiencies in the postal revenues; employees of the Panama Canal on the Canal Zone; employees of the Alaskan Engineering Commission in Alaska; employees paid from lump-sum appropriations in bureaus, divisions, commissions, or any other governmental agencies or employments created by law since January 1, 1916, except that employees of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance shall receive increased compensation at one-half the rate allowed by this section for other employees: Provided, That employees of said bureau who are compensated at rates below $400 per annum shall receive additional compensation only at the rate of 60 per centum of the annual rates of compensation received by such employees; employees whose duties require only a portion of their time, except charwomen, who shall be included; employees whose services are utilized for brief periods at intervals; persons employed by or through corporations, firms, or individuals acting for or on behalf of or as agents of the United States or any department or independent establishment of the Government of the United States in connection with construction work or the operation of plants; employees who receive a part of their pay from any outside sources under cooperative arrangements with the Government of the United States or the District of Columbia; employees who serve voluntarily or receive only a nominal compensation, and employees who may be provided with special allowances because of their service in foreign countries. The provisions of this section shall not apply to employees of the railroads, express companies, telegraph, telephone, marine cable, or radio system or systems, taken over by the United States, and nothing contained herein shall be deemed a recognition of the employees of such railroads, express companies, telegraph, telephone, marine cable, or radio system or systems, as employees of the United States.

Section six of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation Act approved May 10, 1916, as amended by the naval appropriation Act approved August 29, 1916, shall not operate to prevent anyone from receiving the additional compensation provided in this section who otherwise is entitled to receive the same.

Such employees as are engaged on piecework, by the hour, or at per diem rates, if otherwise entitled to receive the additional compensation shall receive the same at the rate to which they are entitled in this section when their fixed rate of pay for the regular working hours and on the basis of three hundred and thirteen days in the said fiscal year would amount to $2,500 or less: Provided, That this method of computation shall not apply to any per diem employees regularly paid a per diem for every day in the year.

So much as may be necessary to pay the additional compensation provided in this section to employees of the Government of the United States is appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

So much as may be necessary to pay the increased compensation provided in this section to employees of the government of the District of Columbia is appropriated, one-half out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated and one-half out of the revenues of the District of Columbia, except to employees of the Washington Aqueduct and the water department, which shall be paid entirely from the revenues of the water department.

So much as may be necessary to pay the increased compensation provided in this section to persons employed under trust funds who may be construed to be employees of the Government of the United States or of the District of Columbia is authorized to be paid, respectively, from such trust funds.

Reports shall be submitted to Congress on the first day of the next regular session showing for the first four months of the fiscal year the average number of employees in each department, bureau, office, or establishment receiving the increased compensation at the rate of $240 per annum and the average number by grades receiving the same at each other rate. (40 Stat. 1267.)

This section is section 7 of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation act for the fiscal year 1920, cited above. It has been substantially repeated in prior appropriation acts.

§ 3270b. (Act March 1, 1919, c. 86, § 9.) Joint Commission on Reclassification of Salaries; members; appointment; salaries; powers and duties; report.

A joint commission is created to be known as the "Joint Commission on Reclassification of Salaries," which shall consist of three Senators, who are now Members of the Congress, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and three Representatives, who are now Members of the Congress, to be appointed by the Speaker. Said commission shall submit its report and recommendations as early as possible, and, in any event, by the second Monday in January, 1920, and the members of such commission shall receive a compensation at the rate of $625 per month, unless they are receiving other compensation from the Government. Vacancies occurring in the membership of the commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointments.

It shall be the duty of the commission to investigate the rates of compensation paid to civilian employees by the municipal government and the various executive departments and other governmental establishments in the District of Columbia, except the navy yard and the Postal Service, and report by bill or otherwise, as soon as practicable, what reclassification and readjustment of compensation should be made so as to provide uniform and equitable pay for the same character of employment throughout the District of Columbia in the services enumerated.

The commission is authorized to sit during the sessions or recess of Congress, to send for persons and papers, to administer oaths, to summon and compel the attendance of witnesses, and to employ such personal services and incur such expenses as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this section.

The heads of the various governmental services and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall furnish office space and equipment, detail officers and employees, furnish data and information, and make investigations whenever requested by the commission in connection with the purposes of this section.

For payment of the expenses authorized to be incurred, there is appropriated $25,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be available immediately and to be disbursed upon vouchers approved by the commission; which approval shall be conclusive upon the accounting officers of the Treasury Department. (40 Stat. 1269.)

This section is section 9 of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation act for the fiscal year 1920, cited above.

Cited without definite application,
U. S. v. Lapp, 244 F. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

§ 3273. (Act Aug. 23, 1912, c. 350, § 1.) Members and representatives of Commission authorized to administer oaths to witnesses.

False swearing.—An applicant for a civil service position, who made false answers in his application sworn to before the recorder, held, in view of Civil Service Act and this section, guilty of perjury under Penal Code, § 125. U. S. v. Crandol (D. C.) 233 F. 331.

§ 3278. (Act Jan. 16, 1883, c. 27, § 7.) Appointments and promotions in classified service to be made only upon examination.

9. Promotions.—Promotion from the position of messenger boy, in the classified nonapportioned service to the position of laborer with classified duties, which is subject to the rule of apportionment, is prohibited by section 6 of rule XI of the civil service rules. 30 Op. Atty. Gen. 10.

§ 3279. (Act Oct. 22, 1913, c. 32.) Appointments of deputy collectors of internal revenue and deputy marshals, without regard to Civil Service Act.

Validity.—It was within the power of Congress to authorize United States marshals to revoke the appointment of deputy marshals at their discretion, as was done by this section. U. S. v. Lapp, 244 F. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

Construction and application in general.—That this section was a rider to an appropriation bill cannot affect its construction. U. S. v. Lapp, 244 F. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

This section held in conflict with Act Aug. 24, 1912, c. 389, § 6 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3287), and to supersede it so far as removal of deputy marshals is concerned. Id.

Power of removal.—Under this section a deputy marshal could be removed by the marshal without notice or a hearing, and mandamus will not issue to control discretion of United States marshal in removing him. U. S. v. Lapp, 244 F. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

§ 3281. (Act Jan. 16, 1883, c. 27, § 9.) Restriction on appointments of members of same family.

Effect of erroneous appointment.—Where person, two members of whose family were already in civil service, was, through mistake, certified as eligible for appointment, in violation of Comp. St. 1916, § 3281, the error was not jurisdictional, and could not be corrected after appointment. 30 Op. Atty. Gen. 169.

§ 3284. (Act March 3, 1919, c. 97, § 7.) Place of examinations; persons afflicted with tuberculosis; certificate of health; appointments from same family.

Hereafter all examinations of applicants for positions in the Government service, from any State or Territory, shall be had in the State or Territory in which such applicant resides, and no person shall be eligible for such examination or appointment unless he or she shall have been actually domiciled in such State or Territory for at least one year previous to such examination: Provided further, That the Civil Service Commission shall hold examinations of applicants temporarily absent from the places of their legal residence or domicile in the District of Columbia and elsewhere in the United States where examinations are usually held, upon proof satisfactory to the commission that such applicants are bona fide residents of the States or Territories in which such applicants claim to have legal residence or domicile: Provided further, That nothing herein shall be so construed as to abridge the existing law of apportionment or change the requirements of existing law as to legal residence or domicile of such applicants: And provided further, That no person afflicted with tuberculosis shall be appointed and that each applicant for appointment shall accompany his or her application with a certificate of health from some reputable physician: And provided further, That in no instance shall more than one person be appointed from the same family. (40 Stat. 1293.)

This section is a part of section 7 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the fourteenth and subsequent decennial censuses," cited above. Section 34 of said act repeals Act July 2, 1909, c. 2, § 7, 36 Stat. 3 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3284), which contained provisions similar to those of this section.

Notes of Decisions

Construction and application in general.—The proviso of section 7 of the Census Act of July 2, 1909 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3284), which requires that all examinations for positions in the government service shall be had in the State or Territory in which the applicant resides, does not apply to the so-called nonassembled examinations. 30 Op. Atty. Gen. 194.

This section, which was amendatory of Act July 2, 1909, was repealed by Act March 3, 1919, c. 97, § 34, 40 Stat. 1302, repealing said Act July 2, 1909, and acts amendatory thereof. See preceding section and note thereunder.

Preference to ex-soldiers and sailors.—The proviso of this section, relating to the reduction in rank and salary of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, does not prohibit the head of a department from conforming the salary of such employees to the grade or character of work they may be called upon to perform. 30 Op. The Bureau of Efficiency shall ascertain the rates of pay of employees of various State and municipal governments and commercial institutions in different parts of the United States, and shall submit to Congress at its next regular session a report showing how such rates compare with the rates of pay of employees of the Federal Government performing similar services. (39 Stat. 1081.)

See note to § 3286e, ante.

§ 3286i. (Act March 3, 1917, c. 163, § 1.) Same; information furnished to by executive departments.

Officers and employees of the executive departments and other establishments shall furnish authorized representatives of the Bureau of Efficiency with all information that the bureau may require for the performance of the duties imposed on it by law, and shall give such representatives access to all records and papers that may be needed for that purpose. (39 Stat. 1081.)

See note to § 3286e, ante.

§ 3286j. (Act March 3, 1917, c. 163, § 1.) Same; investigation of classification of employés of Departments.

The Bureau of Efficiency shall investigate the classification, salary, and efficiency of the employees of the Departments and Independent Establishments of the Government in the District of Columbia and report fully or partially to Congress by January first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, as to needed equalization or reclassification, and if a partial report be submitted then a full report shall be submitted as soon thereafter as possible with such recommendations as the Bureau may deem proper. (39 Stat. 1081.)

See note to § 3286e, ante.

§ 3286k. (Act March 3, 1917, c. 163, § 8.) Same; investigation of duplication of service in Departments.

The Bureau of Efficiency shall investigate duplication of service in the various executive departments and establishments of the Government, including bureaus and divisions, and make a report to the President thereon, and the President is hereby authorized, after such report shall have been made to him, wherever he finds such duplications to exist to abolish the same. Report of the action taken hereunder shall be made to Congress at its next regular session. (39 Stat. 1122.)

See note to § 3286e, ante.

§ 3287. (Act Aug. 24, 1912, c. 389, § 6.) Removals from classified civil service only for cause, to promote efficiency.

Construction and application in general.—Act Oct. 22, 1913, c. 32 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3279), held in conflict with this section, and to supersede it so far as removal of deputy marshals is concerned. U. S. v. Lapp, 244 F. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

Officers protected.—Terms of office of deputy collectors of internal revenue expire automatically with appointment of collector to succeed their own collector, as indicated by R. S. § 3149 (Comp. St. 1916, § 5854), and R. S. § 3148 (superseded), as to removal of deputies, and their terms are unaffected by Act Aug. 24, 1912, § 6, 37 Stat. 555 (U. S. Comp. St. § 3287), as to removals from civil service. 30 Op. Atty. Gen. 1.

This section does not apply to persons occupying excepted positions. 30 Op. Atty. Gen. 181.

Determination of cause for removal.—Where an employé in the classified civil service is regularly removed from office under charges, and the officers removing him were empowered by law so to do, the question as to whether there was just cause for such removal is one for the executive authorities, and the courts deal only with any departure from the law itself. Eberlein v. U. S., 53 Ct. Cl. 466.

A person in the classified civil service cannot be deprived of his status in the service, except by removal as provided in this section, and it is for the head of a department, and not the civil service commission, to determine when there exists proper cause for the removal. 30 Op. Atty. Gen. 79.

Regulations restricting removal.—Civil service regulations held not to have the force of law, and the courts cannot enforce them or review the removal of an employé. U. S. v. Lapp, 244 F. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

A civil service employé, whose position was in the engineer department at large, may be suspended without pay by the officer in charge, in conformity with the provisions of paragraph 13, section V, of General Orders No. 5, Office of Chief of Engineers, and with the instructions governing the classified civil service as applied to the engineer department at large. Burnap v. U. S., 53 Ct. Cl. 605.

Compensation after wrongful removal.—Where an employé of the United States in the classified civil service is discharged from the service and claims the pay of the office subsequent to his removal, it must appear affirmatively that he was willing and able to discharge the duties of the office during said period. Nicholas v. U. S., 53 Ct. Cl. 463.

Removal of officers not subject to act.—In the absence of constitutional or statutory regulations, the power of appointment carries with it, as an incident, the power to remove when no definite term is attached to the office by law. U. S. v. Lapp, 244 F. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

Where an authority vested by law with the power of appointment removes an employé whose term of office is not for a fixed period, and the right to remove is not forbidden by the Constitution or statute, the court will not review the causes of removal. Costello v. U. S., 51 Ct. Cl. 257.

§ 3287a. (Act March 1, 1919, c. 86, § 1.) Civil service status of soldiers, sailors, and marines.

The period of time during which soldiers, sailors, and marines, both enlisted and drafted men, who, prior to entering the service of their country, had a civil service status, and whose names appear upon the eligible list of the Civil Service Commission, shall not be counted against them in the determination of their eligibility for appointment under the law, rules and regulations of the Civil Service Commission now in effect, and at the time of demobilization their civil service status shall be the same as when they entered the service. (40 Stat. 1224.)

This section is a provision of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation act for the fiscal year 1920, cited above.

TITLE XIX A—OFFICIAL [AND PENAL] BONDS

§ 3294. (Act Aug. 13, 1894, c. 282, § 2.) Appointment of agents in judicial districts where suretyship is undertaken.

Service of process on agent.—See U. S. v. Southern Dredging Co. (D. C.) 251 F. 400.

§ 3301a. (Act Feb. 24, 1919, c. 18, § 1320.) Liberty or other United States bonds in lieu of surety bonds; return; contractors' bonds.

Wherever by the laws of the United States or regulations made pursuant thereto, any person is required to furnish any recognizance, stipulation, bond, guaranty, or undertaking, hereinafter called "penal bond," with surety or sureties, such person may, in lieu of such surety or sureties, deposit as security with the official having authority to approve such penal bond, United States Liberty bonds or other bonds of the United States in a sum equal at their par value to the amount of such penal bond required to be furnished, together with an agreement authorizing such official to collect or sell such bonds so deposited in case of any default in the performance of any of the conditions or stipulations of such penal bond. The acceptance of such United States bonds in lieu of surety or sureties required by law shall have the same force and effect as individual or corporate sureties, or certified checks, bank drafts, post-office money orders, or cash, for the penalty or amount of such penal bond. The bonds deposited hereunder, and such other United States bonds as may be substituted therefor from time to time as such security, may be deposited with the Treasurer, or an Assistant Treasurer of the United States, a Government depository, Federal Reserve bank, or member bank, which shall issue receipt therefor, describing such bonds so deposited. In its recommendations on a question of wages the conference (1) shall, where it appears that any substantial number of women workers in the occupation under inquiry are being paid by piece rates as distinguished from time rate, recommend minimum piece rates as well as minimum time rate and recommend such minimum piece rates as will, in its judgment, be adequate to supply the necessary cost of living to women workers in such occupation of average ordinary ability and to maintain them in health and protect their morals; and (2) shall, when it appears proper or necessary, recommend suitable minimum wages for learners and apprentices in such occupation and the maximum length of time any woman worker may be kept at such wages as a learner or apprentice, which wages shall be less than the regular minimum wages recommended for the regular women workers in such occupation. After such hearing the Board may, in its discretion, make and render such an order as may be proper or necessary to adopt such recommendations and carry them into effect, requiring all employers in the occupation affected thereby to observe and comply with such order. Such order shall become effective sixty days after it is made. OKLAHOMA ENABLING ACT

§ 1. The inhabitants of all that part of the area of the United States now constituting the Territory of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, as at present described, may adopt a constitution and become the State of Oklahoma, as hereinafter provided: Provided, That nothing contained in the said constitution shall be construed to limit or impair the rights of person or property pertaining to the Indians of said Territories (so long as such rights shall remain unextinguished) or to limit or affect the authority of the Government of the United States to make any law or regulation respecting such Indians, their lands, property, or other rights by treaties, agreement, law, or otherwise, which it would have been competent to make if this Act had never been passed. (June 16, 1906, c. 3335, § 1, 34 Stat. 267.)

§ 2. (Related to an election for selecting delegates to the constitutional convention, and the temporary seat of government. Omitted.)

§ 3. The delegates to the convention thus elected shall meet at the seat of government of said Oklahoma Territory on the second Tuesday after their election, excluding the day of election in case such day shall be Tuesday, but they shall not receive compensation for more than sixty days of service, and, after organization, shall declare, on behalf of the people of said proposed State, that they adopt the Constitution of the United States; whereupon the said convention shall, and is hereby authorized to, form a constitution and State government for said proposed State. The constitution shall be republican in form, and make no distinction in civil or political rights on account of race or color, and shall not be repugnant to the Constitution of the United States and the principles of the Declaration of Independence. And said convention shall provide in said constitution—

First. That perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and that no inhabitant of said State shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship, and that polygamous or plural marriages are forever prohibited.

Second. That the manufacture, sale, barter, giving away, or otherwise furnishing, except as hereinafter provided, of intoxicating liquors within those parts of said State now known as the Indian Territory and the Osage Indian Reservation and within any other parts of said State which existed as Indian reservations on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and six, is prohibited for a period of twenty-one years from the date of the admission of said State into the Union, and thereafter until the people of said State shall otherwise provide by amendment of said constitution and proper State legislation. Any person, individual or corporate, who shall manufacture, sell, barter, give away, or otherwise furnish any intoxicating liquor of any kind, including beer, ale, and wine, contrary to the provisions of this section, or who shall, within the above-described portions of said State, advertise for sale or solicit the purchase of any such liquors, or who shall ship or in any way convey such liquors from other parts of said State into the portions hereinbefore described, shall be punished, on conviction thereof, by fine not less than fifty dollars and by imprisonment not less than thirty days for each offense: Provided, That the legislature may provide by law for one agency under the supervision of said State in each incorporated town of not less than two thousand population in the portions of said State hereinbefore described; and if there be no incorporated town of two thousand population in any county in said portions of said State, such county shall be entitled to have one such agency, for the sale of such liquors for medicinal purposes; and for the sale, for industrial purposes, of alcohol which shall have been denaturized by some process approved by the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue; and for the sale of alcohol for scientific purposes to such scientific institutions, universities, and colleges as are authorized to procure the same free of tax under the laws of the United States; and for the sale of such liquors to any apothecary who shall have executed an approved bond, in a sum not less than one thousand dollars, conditioned that none of such liquors shall be used or disposed of for any purpose other than in the compounding of prescriptions or other medicines, the sale of which would not subject him to the payment of the special tax required of liquor dealers by the United States, and the payment of such special tax by any person within the parts of said State hereinabove defined shall constitute prima facie evidence of his intention to violate the provisions of this section. No sale shall be made except upon the sworn statement of the applicant in writing setting forth the purpose for which the liquor is to be used, and no sale shall be made for medicinal purposes except sales to apothecaries as hereinabove provided unless such statement shall be accompanied by a bona fide prescription signed by a regular practicing physician, which prescription shall not be filled more than once. Each sale shall be duly registered, and the register thereof, together with the affidavits and prescriptions pertaining thereto, shall be open to inspection by any officer or citizen of said State at all times during business hours. Any person who shall knowingly make a false affidavit for the purpose aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of perjury. Any physician who shall prescribe any such liquor, except for treatment of disease which after his own personal diagnosis he shall deem to require such treatment, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished for each offense by fine of not less than two hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and any person connected with any such agency who shall be convicted of making any sale or other disposition of liquor contrary to these provisions shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than one year and one day. Upon the admission of said State into the Union these provisions shall be immediately enforceable in the courts of said State.

Third. That the people inhabiting said proposed State do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title in or to any unappropriated public lands lying within the boundaries thereof, and to all lands lying within said limits owned or held by any Indian, tribe, or nation; and that until the title to any such public land shall have been extinguished by the United States, the same shall be and remain subject to the jurisdiction, disposal, and control of the United States. That land belonging to citizens of the United States residing without the limits of said State shall never be taxed at a higher rate than the land belonging to residents thereof; that no taxes shall be imposed by the State on lands or property belonging to or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States or reserved for its use.

Fifth. That provisions shall be made for the establishment and maintenance of a system of public schools, which shall be open to all the children of said State and free from sectarian control; and said schools shall always be conducted in English: Provided, That nothing herein shall preclude the teaching of other languages in said public schools: And, provided, further, That this shall not be construed to prevent the establishment and maintenance of separate schools for white and colored children.

Sixth. That said State shall never enact any law restricting or abridging the right of suffrage on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. (June 16, 1906, c. 3335, § 3, 34 Stat. 269.)

There is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of five million dollars for the use and benefit of the common schools of said State in lieu of sections sixteen and thirty-six, and other lands of the Indian Territory. Said appropriation shall be paid by the Treasurer of the United States at such time and to such person or persons as may be authorized by said State to receive the same under laws to be enacted by said State, and until said State shall enact such laws said appropriation shall not be paid, but said State shall be allowed interest thereon at the rate of three per centum per annum, which shall be paid to said State for the use and benefit of its public schools. Said appropriation of five million dollars shall be held and invested by said State, in trust, for the use and benefit of said schools, and the interest thereon shall be used exclusively in the support and maintenance of said schools: Provided, That nothing in this Act contained shall repeal or affect any Act of Congress relating to the Sulphur Springs Reservation as now defined or as may be hereafter defined or extended, or the power of the United States over it or any other lands embraced in the State hereafter set aside by Congress as a national park, game preserve, or for the preservation of objects of archæological or ethnological interest; and nothing contained in this Act shall interfere with the rights and ownership of the United States in any land hereafter set aside by Congress as national park, game preserve, or other reservation, or in the said Sulphur Springs Reservation, as it now is or may be hereafter defined or extended by law; but exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, shall be exercised by the United States, which shall have exclusive control and jurisdiction over the same; but nothing in this proviso contained shall be construed to prevent the service within said Sulphur Springs Reservation or national parks, game preserves, and other reservations hereafter established by law, of civil and criminal processes lawfully issued by the authority of said State, and said State shall not be entitled to select indemnity school lands for the thirteenth, sixteenth, thirty-third, and thirty-sixth sections that may be embraced within the metes and bounds of the national park, game preserve, and other reservation or the said Sulphur Springs Reservation, as now defined or may be hereafter defined. § 19. The courts of original jurisdiction of such State shall be deemed to be the successor of all courts of original jurisdiction of said Territories and as such shall take and retain custody of all records, dockets, journals, and files of such courts except in causes transferred therefrom, as herein provided; the files and papers in such transferred cases shall be transferred to the proper United States circuit or district court, together with a transcript of all book entries to complete the record in such particular case so transferred. (June 16, 1906, c. 3335, § 19, 34 Stat. 277.)

legislature and five Representatives to Congress, and shall constitute the Osage Indian Reservation a separate county, and provide that it shall remain a separate county until the lands in the Osage Indian Reservation are allotted in severalty and until changed by the legislature of Oklahoma, and designate the county seat thereof, and shall provide rules and regulations and define the manner of conducting the first election for officers in said county. Such State government shall remain in abeyance until the State shall be admitted into the Union and the election for State officers held, as provided for in this Act. The State legislature when organized shall elect two Senators of the United States, in the manner now prescribed by the laws of the United States, and the governor and secretary of said State shall certify the election of the Senators and Representatives in the manner required by law; and said Senators and Representatives shall be entitled to be admitted to seats in Congress and to all the rights and privileges of Senators and Representatives of other States in the Congress of the United States. And the officers of the State government formed in pursuance of said constitution, as provided by said constitutional convention, shall proceed to exercise all the functions of such State officers; and all laws in force in the Territory of Oklahoma at the time of the admission of said State into the Union shall be in force throughout said State, except as modified or changed by this Act or by the constitution of the State, and the laws of the United States not locally inapplicable shall have the same force and effect within said State as elsewhere within the United States. (June 16, 1906, c. 3335, § 21, 34 Stat. 277.)

Notes of Decisions

Effect on Indian treaties.—Osage Indians having by Treaty of September 29, 1865, Act July 15, 1870, Treaty with Cherokee Nation of July 19, 1866, and Act June 5, 1872, been removed from Kansas lands and given reservation bounded by Arkansas river in lands previously granted to Cherokee Nation, did not acquire title to bed of that stream if it was navigable; this conclusion being strengthened in view of Organic Act of May 2, 1890, including reservation in Oklahoma territory Enabling Act, § 21. U. S. v. Brewer-Elliott Oil & Gas Co. (D. C.) 249 F. 609.

Supplemental Creek Treaty, § 6, provisos 1 and 2, relating to inheritance of land, was not repealed by Enabling Act or Constitution, and limits inheritance of land in Creek nation to Creek citizens and their descendants. McDonald v. Ralston (Okl.) 166 P. 405, certiorari denied 38 S. Ct. 14, 245 U. S. 657, 62 L. Ed. 534.

Validity of state laws.—St. Okl. 1890, § 4173, continued in Rev. Laws 1910, § 6639, in so far as it attempted to prescribe rights of riparian owners on navigable streams, is invalid, being in excess of power of territorial Legislature as restricted by Organic Act May 2, 1890, § 6. U. S. v. Brewer-Elliott Oil & Gas Co. (D. C.) 249 F. 609.

In view of similar congressional legislation, St. Okl. 1890, § 4173, continued after statehood as Rev. Laws 1910, § 6639, in so far as it declared that bed of nonnavigable streams shall belong to opposite owners in common, is valid, being within power of territorial Legislature, as limited by Organic Act May 2, 1890, § 6. Id.

Laws applicable.—Extension into Indian Territory of certain general laws of Arkansas published in Mansf. Dig. 1884, by Act Cong. May 2, 1890, § 31, put in force provisions of section 6525 of such digest relating to suits to avoid the probate of a will. Gidney v. Chappel, 36 S. Ct. 492, 241 U. S. 99, 60 L. Ed. 910, affirming judgment Same v. Chapple, 142 P. 755, 43 Okl. 267.

Under Oklahoma Enabling Act and Const. Okl. art. 25, § 2, Oklahoma statutes were substituted for Arkansas statutes of descent made applicable by Act June 30, 1902, to Creek allotments under Act March 1, 1901. Jefferson v. Fink, 38 S. Ct. 516, 247 U. S. 288, 62 L. Ed. 1117, affirming judgment Same v. Cook, 155 P. 852, 53 Okl. 272.

Enabling Act Okl. §§ 13, 21, and Const. art. 25, § 2, substituted for the laws of descent and distribution contained in Mansf. Dig. c. 49, the laws contained in Rev. Laws 1910, § 8416 et seq., and left remaining in force as an exception thereto the provisos of Supplemental Agreement of June 30, 1902, with the Creek Nation, § 6, relative to descent and distribution, as provided for by Act Cong. March 1, 1901. Jefferson v. Cook (Okl.) 155 P. 852.

Since statehood, divorce between members of the Osage Tribe of Indians is controlled by the divorce laws of the state, in view of Enabling Act Okl. § 2, and Const. art. 3, § 1. Wah-Tsa-e-o-she v. Webster (Okl.) 172 P. 78.

Jurisdiction of courts.—Under Act Cong. May 27, 1908, § 9, Enabling Act Okl. § 3, and Const. Okl. art. 10, § 6, district courts are without jurisdiction to decree partition of lands inherited by full-blood Indian from a deceased allottee, who was a full-blood Indian of the Five Civilized Tribes. Coleman v. Battiest (Okl.) 162 P. 786.

Intoxicating liquors.—Indictment held to charge offense of carrying liquor into Indian Territory, in violation of act of 1895, as amended by Oklahoma Enabling Act of 1906, and not to be restricted to Comp. St. U. S. § 4137. Collins v. Morgan, 243 F. 495, 156 C. C. A. 193.

Act March 1, 1895, forbidding the introduction of intoxicating liquor into the Indian Territory, as limited to interstate commerce by the Oklahoma Enabling Act, is not unconstitutional, as discriminating between the states in respect of trade and commerce in intoxicating liquors. De Moss v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 87; Warren v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 89.

Citizens of Russia, who were next of kin of a decedent, on his death, April 6, 1912, are entitled to share in the proceeds of the sale of his real estate in the District of Columbia, by virtue of this section, and article 10 of the treaty of this country with Russia Dec. 6–18, 1832 (8 Stat. 450), notwithstanding the abrogation of such treaty on January 1, 1913. § 3530. (Act Aug. 24, 1912, c. 387, § 3.) Constitution and laws of United States extended.

Amendment of existing laws.—Congress, in Act June 6, 1900, c. 786, § 45, 31 Stat. 339, provided that summons in actions in Alaska "shall be served by the marshal or any deputy, or by a person specially appointed by him or by the court or judge thereof." The Legislature of Alaska (Sess. Laws 1913, p. 29), amended that section by providing that summons might also be served "by any person over the age of twenty-one years who is competent to be a witness in the action." Held, the amendatory act of 1913, so passed by the Legislature of Alaska, is in conflict with the Organic Act, and is void. Ivory v. Nome Consol. Dredging Co., 5 Alaska, 312.

Contra, Currier v. Mihalcik, 5 Alaska, 251.

Additional license or tax.—Under this section and sections 3536, 3528, the territorial Legislature had power to pass Act Alaska April 29, 1915 (Laws 1915, c. 70), imposing tax on fish traps, as license tax on fisheries. Alaska Pacific Fisheries v. Territory of Alaska, 236 F. 52, 149 C. C. A. 262.

§ 3533. (Act Aug. 24, 1912, c. 387, § 6.) Convening and sessions of legislature.

End of session.—Act Alaska April 29, 1915 (Laws 1915, c. 76), passed in last hours of session which began March 1st, adjourned April 30th about 4 a. m., held not passed in violation of this section. Alaska Pacific Fisheries v. Territory of Alaska, 236 F. 52, 149 C. C. A. 262.

§ 3535. (Act Aug. 24, 1912, c. 387, § 8.) Enacting clause; subject of act.

Subject of act.—Act Alaska April 30, 1913 (Laws 1913, c. 79), held not invalid as containing more than one subject, in violation of this section; the whole act relating to liens of mine laborers, etc.—Spalding v. Martin, 241 F. 372, 154 C. C. A. 252.

Title of act.—Although a territorial act may authorize many things of a diverse nature to be done, the title will be sufficient if the things authorized may be fairly regarded as in furtherance of the subject expressed in the title. It is therefore to be liberally construed and treated, so as to uphold the law if possible. Nordstrom v. Sivertsen-Johnsen Mining & Dredging Co., 5 Alaska, 210.

The title, "An act to amend section forty-five of the Code of Civil Procedure for Alaska (Compiled Laws of Alaska, sec. 877)," is sufficient. Currier v. Mihalcik, 5 Alaska, 251.

The title of the eight-hour law passed by the Legislature of Alaska in 1913 (Sess. Laws Alaska 1913, c. 29, p. 35) limits its application to lode mining claims. The act of 1915 (Sess. Laws Alaska 1915, c. 6, p. 6), amending the same, extended its provisions to underground placer mining claims, but without any change or extension of the title of the amending act. Held, the amendatory act of 1915 embraces more than one subject, and, the extension to "underground placer mines" not being expressed in its title, the act, to that extent, is void for conflict with this section. United States v. Howell, 5 Alaska, 578.

§ 3536. (Act Aug. 24, 1912, c. 387, § 9.) Legislative power; limitations.

Construction and application in general.—The powers of the territorial Legislature of Alaska are limited by the act defining those powers. The Organic Act is a grant of specific powers, and not a reservation of specific powers. The legislative power extends to "all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States," not forbidden by the limitations of the grant in the Organic Act. Territory v. Alaska Pac. Fisheries, 5 Alaska, 325.

Special privilege or franchise.—Workmen's Compensation Act of Alaska, applying to persons and corporations engaged in mining, held not violative of this section.—Johnston v. Kennecott Copper Corporation, 248 F. 407, 160 C. C. A. 417, affirming Johnson v. Kennecott Copper Corporation, 5 Alaska, 571.

Taxation.—This section held to prohibit municipal corporations in Alaska from levying any tax upon railways or railway property. Alaska Northern Ry. Co. v. Municipality of Seward, 229 F. 667, 144 C. C. A. 77.

Act Alaska April 29, 1915 (Laws 1915, c. 76), imposing license taxes on fish traps, held valid under this section, though the traps were of varying value. Alaska Pacific Fisheries v. Territory of Alaska, 236 F. 52, 149 C. C. A. 262.

Act Alaska April 29, 1915 (Laws 1915, c. 76), relating to license taxes and imposing such a tax on fish traps, held not invalid under this section, as imposing a property tax on dummy traps, and not a license. Id.

Alaska acts of May 1, 1913 (Laws 1913, c. 52), and April 29, 1915 (Laws 1915, c. 76), imposing license taxes on fisheries as well as imposing taxes on fish traps, etc., held valid. Alaska Salmon Co. v. Territory of Alaska, 236 F. 62, 149 C. C. A. 272.

The license taxes imposed by Laws Alaska 1913, c. 52, on business of mining, are not revenue measures pure and simple, and so are not invalid under this section. Alaska Mexican Gold Mining Co. v. Territory of Alaska, 236 F. 64, 149 C. C. A. 274.

The Legislature of Alaska had power to supplement those provisions of the act of Congress (section 627, Comp. Laws Alaska 1913) authorizing towns in Alaska to levy and collect taxes and special assessments for local improvements on abutting property, by providing a summary proceeding for the assessment, levy and collection of such taxes and assessments. In re Street Assessments in Town of Seward, 5 Alaska, 726.

§ 3593a. (Act March 12, 1914, c. 37, § 1.) (1) Railroads; President empowered and directed to locate, construct, and operate line or lines.

Limit of expenditure.—The President is authorized, under this section, to obligate the United States to expend, for the purchase of a line of railroads in Alaska necessary to complete the line designated by him, a sum in excess of the existing appropriation by Congress, but within the maximum of the cost as prescribed by the act. 30 Op. Atty. Gen. 332.

§ 3593dd. (Act April 17, 1917, c. 3, § 1.) Town sites; sale of lots; disposition of proceeds.

Until June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, not to exceed fifty per centum of the moneys received from the sale of lots or tracts within any town site or town sites heretofore or hereafter sold pursuant to the provisions of the Act of March twelfth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, entitled "An Act to authorize the President of the United States to locate, construct, and operate railroads in the Territory of Alaska, and for other purposes," may, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior, be set apart and expended within the respective town sites in which such lots or tracts are sold, for the purpose of preparing the land for occupancy, the construction, installation, and maintenance of public utilities and improvements, and the construction of public school buildings, under such terms and conditions as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe, and the moneys so set apart and designated are appropriated for the purpose of carrying these provisions into effect: Provided, That such moneys as may have been heretofore or may hereafter be expended for such purposes under and by authority of the Alaskan Engineering Commission from the funds at its disposal shall be reimbursed from the amount designated for the purposes herein provided: Provided further, That a report of the expenditures hereunder shall be made to Congress at the beginning of each regular session. (40 Stat. 19.)

§ 3602a. (Act July 9, 1918, c. 143.) Roads and trails; estimates for work on.

That hereafter, so long as the construction and maintenance of "Military and Post" Roads in Alaska, and of other roads, bridges, and trails in that Territory shall remain under the direction of the Secretary of War, he be authorized to submit such estimates for the consideration of Congress as are in his judgment necessary for a proper prosecution of the work. (40 Stat. 863.)

This section was a provision of the Army appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

§ 3607a. (Act March 3, 1917, c. 167.) Public instruction; schools for white and colored children; appropriations.

The Legislature of Alaska is hereby empowered to establish and maintain schools for white and colored children and children of mixed blood who lead a civilized life in said Territory and to make appropriations of Territorial funds for that purpose; and all laws or parts of laws in conflict with this Act are to that extent repealed. (39 Stat. 1131.)

This was an act entitled "An act to authorize the legislature of Alaska to establish and maintain schools, and for other purposes," cited above.

§ 3611a. (Act July 1, 1918, c. 113, § 1.) Insane persons; persons admitted to hospitals.

Patients who are not indigent may be admitted to the hospitals for care and treatment on the payment of such reasonable charges therefor as the Secretary of the Interior shall prescribe. (40 Stat. 677.)

This section was a provision of the sundry civil appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above. It supersedes a similar provision of Act June 12, 1917, c. 27, § 1, 40 Stat. 151.

§ 3612a. (Act Aug. 1, 1914, c. 223, § 1.) Wharf at Sitka; repairs.

The provisions of this section were repeated in the sundry civil appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, Act July 1, 1918, c. 113, § 1, 40 Stat. 634 except that part which provided for the disposition of the wharf.

§ 3613a. (Act July 1, 1918, c. 113, § 1.) Reindeer; sale of males.

The Commissioner of Education is authorized to sell such of the male reindeer belonging to the Government as he may deem advisable and to use the proceeds in the purchase of female reindeer belonging to missions and in the distribution of reindeer to natives in those portions of Alaska in which reindeer have not yet been placed and which are adapted to the reindeer industry. (40 Stat. 677.)

This section was a provision of the sundry civil appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above.

§ 3628. (Act June 26, 1906, c. 3547, § 1.) License taxes on business of canning, curing, etc., fish or manufacturing fish products.

Additional license or tax.—Act Alaska April 29, 1915 (Laws 1915, c. 76), imposing as a license tax on the business of fisheries a tax on fish traps, does not impose a tax on appliances used in the business, and so is enforceable though license taxes imposed by this section had been paid. Alaska Pacific Fisheries v. Territory of Alaska, 236 F. 52, 149 C. C. A. 262, affirming Territory v. Alaska Pac. Fisheries, 5 Alaska, 325.

§ 3631. (Act June 26, 1906, c. 3547, § 4.) Laying or setting nets, seines, etc., in certain waters, restricted.

Restraining construction of unlawful trap.—The plaintiff sought to secure an injunction against the defendants constructing a fish trap on a site previously chosen by the plaintiff, upon the ground that plaintiff had a prior territorial license to operate a fish trap at that place. Held, one does not need a territorial license to authorize him to construct a fish trap, but only for the purpose of engaging in the business of catching fish by means of a trap. There is no provision of law whereby the officers of the territory have authority to segregate the site from the public domain or confer any title thereto on plaintiff. Thlinket Packing Co. v. Harris & Co., 5 Alaska, 471.

Where plaintiff first lawfully located and constructed a fish trap in the waters of Alaska, and the defendant thereafter attempted to locate and construct another within a distance prohibited by law, the construction of the second trap will be enjoined at the suit of the plaintiff whose lawful trap is injured in its operation thereby. Harris & Co. v. Thlinket Packing Co., 5 Alaska, 493.

§ 3632. (Act June 26, 1906, c. 3547, § 5.) Close season for salmon.

Offenses.—One violating this section, in failing to raise or lower the netting of the heart of fish traps, so as to give salmon and other fish free passage, cannot escape conviction because his fishing was done in the manner excepted, or because he was not engaged in fishing. Thlinket Packing Co. v. U. S., 236 F. 109, 149 C. C. A. 319.

Under this section it is not a sufficient compliance for the owner of fish trap to raise or lower 25 feet of the web or netting of the heart of the trap in a V-shape, but the whole 25 feet must be raised or lowered. Id.

Indictment.—In a prosecution under this section for failure to comply with the regulations, an indictment which gave the location of defendant's trap is sufficient where such location showed that it was not within the excepted waters. Thlinket Packing Co. v. United States, 236 F. 109, 149 C. C. A. 319.

§ 3635. (Act June 26, 1906, c. 3547, § 8.) Wanton waste or destruction of salmon or other food fishes unlawful.

Prosecution.—Under indictment under Comp. Laws Alaska 1913, § 266, for wantonly wasting and destroying salmon taken in waters of Alaska, alleging an offense on July 30, 1913, a conviction for offense on July 28th, the day on which the government elected to prove the offense, would not be reversed because of a variance. Alaska Packers' Ass'n v. United States, 244 F. 710, 157 C. C. A. 158.

§ 3642. (Act June 26, 1906, c. 3547, § 13.) Punishment for violations of act; forfeiture of vessels, etc.

Elements of offense.—Under Act June 26, 1906, §§ 5, 13 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 3632, 3642), failure of one fishing for salmon to lift or lower 25 feet of the webbing or net of the heart of its trap from Saturday evening to Monday morning held an offense, though no fish were caught. Thlinket Packing Co. v. U. S., 236 F. 109, 149 C. C. A. 319.

§ 3643b. (Act Feb. 14, 1917, c. 53, § 1.) Manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor prohibited.

On and after the first day of January, anno Domini nineteen hundred and eighteen, it shall be unlawful for any person, house, association, firm, company, club, or corporation, his, its, or their agents, officers, clerks, or servants, to manufacture, sell, give, or otherwise dispose of any intoxicating liquor or alcohol of any kind in the Territory of Alaska, or to have in his or its possession or to transport any intoxicating liquor or alcohol in the Territory of Alaska unless the same was procured and is so possessed and transported as hereinafter provided.

Whenever the term "liquor," "intoxicating liquor," or "intoxicating liquors" is used in this Act it shall be deemed to include whisky, brandy, rum, gin, wine, ale, porter, beer, cordials, hard or fermented cider, alcoholic bitters, ethyl alcohol, and all malt liquors, including all alcoholic compounds classed by the United States Internal Revenue Bureau as "compound liquors": Provided, That this Act shall not apply to methyl or wood alcohol.

That any person or persons, or any house, company, association, club, or corporation, his, its, or their agents, officers, clerks, or servants, who shall, directly or indirectly, violate the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than $1,000 or shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (39 Stat. 903.)

This section and the thirty-two sections next following were an act entitled "An act to prohibit the manufacture or sale of alcoholic liquors in the Territory of Alaska, and for other purposes," cited above.

§ 3643bb. (Act Feb. 14, 1917, c. 53, § 2.) Transportation of pure alcohol by pharmacists.

Before a pharmacist shall be authorized to transport pure alcohol for scientific, artistic, or mechanical purposes or for compounding or preparing medicines, as provided by this Act, he shall procure a permit for that purpose from the judge of the district court in the division where the applicant resides. (39 Stat. 903.)

See note to § 3643b, ante.

§ 3643c. (Act Feb. 14, 1917, c. 53, § 3.) Same; permits; application for.

To procure such permit a pharmacist shall make and file with the clerk of the said district court a statement in writing, under oath, stating that he desires to transport pure alcohol for scientific, artistic, or mechanical purposes or for compounding, preparing, or preserving medicines only, as provided by this Act, and giving his name, the location of his place of business, a statement that he is a licensed pharmacist, that he is regularly engaged in the practice of his profession at the location named, and that he will not violate the provisions of this Act. (39 Stat. 904.)

See note to § 3643b, ante.

§ 3803n. (Act March 2, 1917, c. 145, § 34.) Enacting clause of laws; financial budget; passage of bills.

The enacting clause of the laws shall be as to acts, "Be it enacted by the Legislature of Porto Rico," and as to joint resolutions, "Be it resolved by the Legislature of Porto Rico." Except as hereinafter provided, bills and joint resolutions may originate in either house. The governor shall submit at the opening of each regular session of the legislature a budget of receipts and expenditures, which shall be the basis of the ensuing biennial appropriation bill. No bill shall become a law until it be passed in each house by a majority yea-and-nay vote of all of the members belonging to such house and entered upon the journal and be approved by the governor within ten days thereafter. If when a bill that has been passed is presented to the governor for his signature he approves the same, he shall sign it; or if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which house shall enter his objections at large on its journal and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of all the members of that house shall agree to pass the same it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of all the members of that house it shall be sent to the governor, who, in case he shall then not approve, shall transmit the same to the President of the United States. The vote of each house shall be by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against shall be entered on the journal. If the President of the United States approve the same he shall sign it and it shall become a law. If he shall not approve same he shall return it to the governor so stating, and it shall not become a law: Provided, That the President of the United States shall approve or disapprove an Act submitted to him under the provisions of this section within ninety days from and after its submission for his approval; and if not approved within such time it shall become a law the same as if it had been specifically approved. If any bill presented to the governor contains several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items, or any part or parts, portion or portions thereof, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items, parts or portions thereof to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, it shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature by adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall be a law if signed by the governor within thirty days after receipt by him; otherwise it shall not be a law. All laws enacted by the Legislature of Porto Rico shall be reported to the Congress of the United States, as provided in section twenty-three of this Act, which hereby reserves the power and authority to annul the same. If at the termination of any fiscal year the appropriations necessary for the support of the government for the ensuing fiscal year shall not have been made, the several sums appropriated in the last appropriation bills for the objects and purposes therein specified, so far as the same may be applicable, shall be deemed to be reappropriated item by item; and until the legislature shall act in such behalf the treasurer may, with the advice of the governor, make the payments necessary for the purposes aforesaid.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and may, in its discretion, from time to time publish the same, and the yeas and nays on any question shall, on the demand of one-fifth of the members present, be entered on the journal.

The sessions of each house and of the committees of the whole shall be open.

Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its original purpose.

No act of the legislature except the general appropriation bills for the expenses of the government shall take effect until ninety days after its passage, unless in case of emergency (which shall be expressed in the preamble or body of the act) the legislature shall by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house otherwise direct. No bill, except the general appropriation bill for the expenses of the government only, introduced in either house of the legislature after the first forty days of the session, shall become a law.

No bill shall be considered or become a law unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the members; Provided, That either house may by a majority vote discharge a committee from the consideration of a measure and bring it before the body for consideration.

No bill, except general appropriation bills, shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title; but if any subject shall be embraced in any act which shall not be expressed in the title, such act shall be void only as to so much thereof as shall not be so expressed.

No law shall be revived, or amended, or the provisions thereof extended or conferred by reference to its title only, but so much thereof as is revived, amended, extended, or conferred shall be reenacted and published at length.

The presiding officer of each house shall, in the presence of the house over which he presides, sign all bills and joint resolutions passed by the legislature, after their titles shall have been publicly read, immediately before signing; and the fact of signing shall be entered on the journal.

The legislature shall prescribe by law the number, duties, and compensation of the officers and employees of each house; and no payment shall be made for services to the legislature from the treasury, or be in any way authorized to any person, except to an acting officer or employee elected or appointed in pursuance of law.

No bill shall be passed giving any extra compensation to any public officer, servant or employee, agent or contractor, after services shall have been rendered or contract made.

Except as otherwise provided in this Act, no law shall extend the term of any public officer, or increase or diminish his salary or emoluments after his election or appointment, nor permit any officer or employee to draw compensation for more than one office or position.

All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as in case of other bills.

The general appropriation bill shall embrace nothing but appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative, and judicial departments, interest on the public debt, and for public schools. All other appropriations shall be made by separate bills, each embracing but one subject.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of both houses may be necessary, except on the question of adjournment, or relating solely to the transaction of business of the two houses, shall be presented to the governor, and before it shall take effect be approved by him, or, being disapproved, shall be repassed by two-thirds of both houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, offer, give, or promise any money or thing of value, testimonial, privilege, or personal advantage to any executive or judicial officer or member of the legislature to influence him in the performance of any of his public or official duties, shall be deemed guilty of bribery, and be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both.

The offense of corrupt solicitation of members of the legislature, or of public officers of Porto Rico, or of any municipal division thereof, and any occupation or practice of solicitation of such members or officers to influence their official action, shall be defined by law, and shall be punished by fine and imprisonment.

In case the available revenues of Porto Rico for any fiscal year, including available surplus in the insular treasury, are insufficient to meet all the appropriations made by the legislature for such year, such appropriations shall be paid in the following order, unless otherwise directed by the governor:

First class. The ordinary expenses of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the State government, and interest on any public debt, shall first be paid in full.

Second class. Appropriations for all institutions, such as the penitentiary, insane asylum, industrial school, and the like, where the inmates are confined involuntarily, shall next be paid in full.

Third class. Appropriations for education and educational and charitable institutions shall next be paid in full.

Fourth class. Appropriations for any other officer or officers, bureaus or boards, shall next be paid in full.

Fifth class. Appropriations for all other purposes shall next be paid.

That in case there are not sufficient revenues for any fiscal year, including available surplus in the insular treasury, to meet in full the appropriations of said year for all of the said classes of appropriations, then said revenues shall be applied to the classes in the order above named, and if, after the payment of the prior classes in full, there are not sufficient revenues for any fiscal year to pay in full the appropriations for that year for the next class, then, in that event, whatever there may be to apply on account of appropriations for said class shall be distributed among said appropriations pro rata according as the amount of each appropriation of that class shall bear to the total amount of all of said appropriations for that class for such fiscal year.

No appropriation shall be made, nor any expenditure authorized by the legislature, whereby the expenditure of the Government of Porto Rico during any fiscal year shall exceed the total revenue then provided for by law and applicable for such appropriation or expenditure, including any available surplus in the treasury, unless the legislature making such appropriation shall provide for levying a sufficient tax to pay such appropriation or expenditure within such fiscal year. § 3944. (R. S. § 1990.) Peonage abolished.

2. Construction.—Under Const. U. S. Amend. 13, § 1, and this section a crime to be punished by imprisonment cannot lawfully be predicated on the breach of a promise to perform labor or services. Goode v. Nelson (Fla.) 74 So. 17.

TITLE XXV—CITIZENSHIP

Sec.
3946. Who are citizens.
3947. Citizenship of children of citizens born abroad.
3951. Citizenship of certain Indians born within the United States.
3955. Right of expatriation declared.
3959. Expatriation of citizens; presumption as to naturalized citizens residing in foreign state.
3959a. [Repealed.]
3960. Citizenship of American women marrying foreigners.
3961. Citizenship of foreign women marrying citizens.

§ 3946. (R. S. § 1992.) Who are citizens.

1. In general.—Mere residence in a foreign country, even by a naturalized American, has no effect upon such person's citizenship. U. S. v. Howe (D. C.) 231 F. 546.

Citizenship implies membership in a political society, the relation of allegiance and protection, identification with the state, and a participation in its functions, and while a temporary absence may suspend the relation between a state and its citizen, his identification with the state remains where he intends to return. Pannill v. Roanoke Times Co. (D. C.) 252 F. 910.

Ordinarily, persons residing in the United States are subject to its jurisdiction, and if born therein are citizens. Anderson v. Mathews (Cal.) 163 P. 902.

2. Citizens of states and of United States.—One may be a citizen of the United States, and yet not a citizen of any state. Hough v. Société Electrique Westinghouse de Russie (D. C.) 231 F. 341.

7. Chinese.—A child born in the United States of Chinese parents domiciled here becomes at birth a citizen of the United States, under the first clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution. Louie Lit v. U. S., 238 F. 75, 151 C. C. A. 151; Young Ti v. U. S., 246 F. 110, 158 C. C. A. 336.

11. Evidence.—Uncontradicted evidence held to establish the citizenship of a person of Chinese descent arrested for deportation. U. S. v. Charlie Dart (D. C.) 251 F. 394.

When an indictment is attacked because of noncitizenship of a grand juror, the grand juror may testify to the place of his birth and the facts surrounding his father's naturalization. State v. Chamberlin (Iowa) 163 N. W. 428.

The evidence relied upon to overcome the presumption of citizenship arising from the party having voted, held office, or otherwise performed the functions or exercised the rights of citizenship must be clear and satisfactory. Id.

§ 3947. (R. S. § 1993.) Citizenship of children of citizens born abroad.

Chinese.—This section makes no distinction as to race or place of birth. Quan Hing Sun v. White (C. C. A.) 254 F. 402.

The son of an American citizen, though of Chinese descent, is a citizen of the United States, and entitled to enter the country as such. Ex parte Wong Foo (D. C.) 230 F. 534.

Where right to enter the country as the son of a native-born citizen under this section is examined in a spirit hostile to the law, held, that applicant is denied a fair hearing. Ex parte Lee Dung Moo (D. C.) 230 F. 746.

Foreign-born son of native-born citizen of Chinese descent held entitled to admission to the country, under this section, though he remained abroad until 27 years old. Ex parte Ng Doo Wong (D. C.) 230 F. 751.

§ 3951. (Act Feb. 8, 1887, c. 119, § 6, as amended, Act March 3, 1901, c. 868, and Act May 8, 1906, c. 2348.) Citizenship of certain Indians born within the United States.

In general.—See Winton's Estate v. Amos, 51 Ct. Cl. 284.

In view of this section, securing personal rights of citizenship and protection of laws to members of tribes of Indians to whom allotments are made under Comp. St. 1916, § 4203, United States, as trustee and guardian of Indian allottee and trust patentee of certain Indian reservation lands, cannot maintain action for damages caused to fish wheel owned and operated by Indian on Columbia river; wheel having been constructed, maintained, and repaired by Indian with funds derived from sale of 40 acres of his allotment of lands. U. S. v. Seufert Bros. Co. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 51.

The citizenship conferred on Indian allottees by this section did not operate to withdraw them from the supervision, control, and protection of the government, both as respects themselves and their property. U. S. v. Pearson (D. C.) 231 F. 270.

An Indian who has become a citizen under this section held to have ceased to be a ward of the government in such sense that the United States could maintain a suit to protect rights claimed under a treaty. U. S. v. Seufert Bros. Co. (D. C.) 233 F. 579.

Indians of the Red Lake band of Chippewas, inhabiting the Red Lake Indian Reservation as wards of the government, are residents of the state within the meaning of Const. art. 7, defining qualifications for voters. In re Liquor Election in Beltrami County (Minn.) 163 N. W. 988.

Right to sue and be sued.—An Indian, who became a citizen by this section can, after attaining his majority, sue to recover land conveyed by him while a minor. McDaniel v. Holland, 230 F. 945, 145 C. C. A. 139.

A full-blood Indian, being a citizen of the United States and of the state, has a right to sue in the state courts, and may have his rights growing out of treaties, and acts of Congress relating to his land adjusted, and such rights as may be protected at suit of the executive department of the federal government may also be enforced in state courts by an action by the Indian. Brown v. Anderson (Okl.) 160 P. 724.

Right of expatriation.—A citizen may throw off his allegiance to this country if he desires, especially in view of this section, declaring that the right of expatriation is a natural and inherent right of all people. U. S. v. Howe (D. C.) 231 F. 546; Ex parte Griffin (D. C.) 237 F. 445.

Acts constituting expatriation.—Expatriation is the voluntary renunciation of citizenship, the renouncing allegiance to one's own government, usually accompanied by forsaking one's own country. Ex parte Griffin (D. C.) 237 F. 445.

§ 3959. (Act March 2, 1907, c. 2534, § 2.) Expatriation of citizens; presumption as to naturalized citizens residing in foreign state.

Validity.—This section held valid, even as against naturalized citizen returning to land of his birth before it was passed. U. S. v. Howe (D. C.) 231 F. 546.

Construction and application in general.—Under this section, naturalized citizen returning after residence of two years in the land of his birth held presumptively an alien, especially in view of Naturalization Convention of 1869 with Sweden; but this presumption is rebuttable. U. S. v. Howe (D. C.) 231 F. 546.

Under this section, and article 4 of the treaty with Austria (17 Stat. 836), a naturalized Austrian, who has resided in Austria for two years, but is shown not to have renounced his American citizenship, cannot sue as an alien in the federal courts, though he has not shown his American citizenship before a diplomatic or consular officer. Stein v. Fleischmann Co. (D. C.) 237 F. 679.

In view of this section, aliens in service of army or navy, whose intention it is, upon discharge from service, to return to their native countries and remain there permanently, are not entitled to naturalization, either under general statutes or Act May 9, 1918, for such a temporary naturalization would be a fraud on the nation, and clearly in conflict with oath of allegiance. In re Naturalization of Aliens in Service of Army or Navy of United States (D. C.) 250 F. 316.

Oath of allegiance to foreign state.—A citizen, who with his family goes to Canada and enlists in the army, taking oath of allegiance, expatriates himself under this section, and expatriation is complete, though after a few days' service he deserts and surreptitiously returns to the United States. Ex parte Griffin (D. C.) 237 F. 445.

§ 3959a. (Act Oct. 5, 1917, c. 68.) [Repealed.]

This section, relating to the repatriation of citizens expatriated by reason of service in the armies of Great Britain, France, etc., was repealed by Act May 9, 1918, c. 69, § 1. Other provisions for the repatriation of such expatriated citizens are contained in said Act May 9, 1918, c. 69, § 1, post § 4352.

§ 3960. (Act March 2, 1907, c. 2534, § 3.) Citizenship of American women marrying foreigners.

Application.—See Ex parte Griffin (D. C.) 237 F. 445.

§ 3961. (Act March 2, 1907, c. 2534, § 4.) Citizenship of foreign women marrying citizens.

Application.—Evidence that an alien was married in Pennsylvania, without showing whether the man she married was a citizen or an alien, did not show that she had lost her status as an alien. Lehigh Valley Coal Co. v. Washko, 231 F. 42, 145 C. C. A. 230.

Construction of laws in favor of Indians.—Provisions of doubtful meaning in congressional enactments relating to Indians must be construed so far as possible in favor of the Indians, and not against them. Chase v. U. S., 238 F. 887, 152 C. C. A. 21.

§ 4000. (R. S. § 2058.) Indian agents; duties.

This was part of the Indian appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919, cited above. It has been repeated in prior appropriation acts.

§ 4028a. (Act May 25, 1918, c. 86, § 1.) Qualifications of farmers.

tified and issued to him by the president or dean of the State agricultural college of the State in which his services are to be rendered, or by the president or dean of the State agricultural college of an adjoining State: Provided, That this provision shall not apply to persons employed in the Indian Service as farmer or expert farmer prior to January first, nineteen hundred and seventeen: And provided further, That this shall not apply to Indians employed or to be employed as assistant farmer. (40 Stat. 565.)

§ 4032a. (Act May 25, 1918, c. 86, § 1.) Limitation of previous section not to include certain expenditures for salaries.

The amounts paid to matrons, foresters, farmers, physicians, and stockmen provided for in this Act shall not be included within the limitation on salaries and compensation of employees contained in the Act of August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve. (40 Stat. 566.)

CHAPTER TWO—PERFORMANCE OF ENGAGEMENTS BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND INDIANS

§ 4034. (R. S. § 2079.) Future treaties with Indian tribes.

Power of Congress.—Congress may govern Indian tribes by direct legislation, regardless of previous treaties; the power being first asserted by this section, and subsequently asserted by Act March 3, 1885, now Criminal Code, § 328, relating to offenses by Indians.—U. S. v. Hamilton (D. C.) 233 F. 685.

§ 4077aa. (Act May 25, 1918, c. 86, § 27.) Expenditures from tribal funds authorized.

That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized in his discretion to expend for the benefit of Indians, from their tribal funds held in trust or otherwise, not exceeding $2,500,000 during the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen, as provided by section twenty-seven of the Act of May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and sixteen (Thirty-ninth Statutes at Large, page one hundred and fifty-eight), in addition to such sums as may be required for equalization of allotments, education of Indian children, per capita and other payments to Indians and expenditures for the Five Civilized Tribes in accordance with existing law: Provided, That expenditures shall not be made from any one fund for purposes other than those above specified in excess of the estimates submitted by the Secretary of the Interior and appearing in House of Representatives Document Numbered Four hundred and ninety-nine, Sixty-fifth Congress, second session: And provided further, That no expenditures shall be made from tribal or treaty funds which are not authorized by existing laws governing their disposition and use. (40 Stat. 591.)

§ 4078a. (Act May 25, 1918, c. 86, § 28.) Segregation, deposit, and investment of tribal funds.

The Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby authorized, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to withdraw from the United States Treasury and segregate the common, or community funds of any Indian tribe which are, or may hereafter be, held in trust by the United States, and which are susceptible of segregation, so as to credit an equal share to each and every recognized member of the tribe except those whose pro rata shares have already been withdrawn under existing law, and to deposit the funds so segregated in banks to be selected by him, in the State or States in which the tribe is located, subject to withdrawal for payment to the individual owners or expenditure for their benefit under the regulations governing the use of other individual Indian moneys. The said Secretary is also authorized, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to withdraw from the Treasury and deposit in banks in the State or States in which the tribe is located to the credit of the respective tribes, such common, or community, trust funds as are not susceptible of segregation as aforesaid, and on which the United States is not obligated by law to pay interest at higher rates than can be procured from the banks: Provided, That no tribal or individual Indian money shall be deposited in any bank until the bank shall have agreed to pay interest thereon at a reasonable rate and shall have furnished an acceptable bond or collateral security therefor, and United States bonds may be furnished as collateral security for either tribal or individual funds so deposited, in lieu of surety bonds: Provided further, That the Secretary of the Interior, if he deems it advisable and for the best interest of the Indians, may invest the trust funds of any tribe or individual Indian in United States Government bonds: And provided further, That any part of tribal funds required for support of schools or pay of tribal officers shall be excepted from segregation or deposit as herein authorized and the same shall be expended for the purposes aforesaid: Provided, however, That the funds of any tribe shall not be segregated until the final rolls of said tribe are complete: And provided further, That the foregoing shall not apply to the funds of the Five Civilized Tribes, or the Osage Tribe of Indians, in the State of Oklahoma, but the funds of such tribes and individual members thereof shall be deposited in the banks of Oklahoma or in the United States Treasury and may be secured by the deposit of Unitel States bonds. (40 Stat. 591.)

§ 4087. (R. S. § 2103.) Contracts with Indian tribes or Indians.

Validity and enforcement of contracts.—Where the laws of the Creek Nation authorized citizens of the nation to make contracts securing them certain special rights in communal pastures, the right could not be secured by or in conjunction with persons who were not citizens of the nation. Turner v. U. S., 51 Ct. Cl. 125.

Where contracts secured by plaintiffs from individual Indians were invalidated by act of Congress, they cannot be made the basis of a suit wherein a judgment rendered could become enforceable against the Indian property, but the contracts are admissible in evidence to establish knowledge upon the part of the defendants and as evidence of what might constitute a reasonable award for the work performed. Winton v. Amos, 51 Ct. Cl. 284.

Jurisdiction of courts.—Congress having authority to charge the Indian lands involved with the payment for services rendered or expenses incurred in securing their rights, the court can render a judgment upon the principle quantum meruit if from the record there is found the existence of a legal relationship warranting it. Winton v. Amos, 51 Ct. Cl. 284.

Where a claim is made for the value of services in securing legislation beneficial to Indians, the court cannot segregate the services performed by attorneys and the influence exerted by the department in moving Congress to a recognition of the Indians' rights in the absence of some specific showing of the value thereof. Id.

CHAPTER THREE—GOVERNMENT AND PROTECTION OF INDIANS

§ 4106. (Act June 7, 1897, c. 3, § 1.) Marriage of white men to Indian women; rights of children.

Construction in general.—Under this section, child of white man and Indian woman, recognized as a member of a band of Indians, held entitled to be treated as a member of such band, though not remaining on the reservation. Vezina v. U. S., 245 F. 411, 157 C. C. A. 573.

§ 4107. (R. S. § 2117.) Driving stock to feed on lands.

"Cattle" within statute.—This section applies to sheep; such animals being within intent of statute and included in general term "cattle." U. S. v. Ash Sheep Co. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 592; U. S. v. Ash Sheep Co. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 59.

Conclusiveness of decree denying damages in suit to enjoin trespass.—In suit to enjoin trespass on lands ceded by Indians to United States, decree denying damages claimed under this section, on ground of want of jurisdiction, is in no way conclusive against right of United States to recover such damages, though court in that proceeding expressed its opinion that they were not recoverable. U. S. v. Ash Sheep Co. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 592.

§ 4126. (Act March 1, 1907, c. 2285.) Access to records of Five Civilized Tribes.

§ 4136b. (Act March 1, 1895, c. 145, § 8.) Intoxicating liquors; sale in or carrying into Indian Territory.

Any person, whether an Indian or otherwise, who shall, in said Territory, manufacture, sell, give away, or in any manner, or by any means furnish to anyone, either for himself or another, any vinous, malt, or fermented liquors, or any other intoxicating drinks of any kind whatsoever, whether medicated or not, or who shall carry, or in any manner have carried, into said Territory any such liquors or drinks, or who shall be interested in such manufacture, sale, giving away, furnishing to anyone, or carrying into said Territory any of such liquors or drinks, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and by imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than five years. (28 Stat. 697.)

This was section 8 of an act entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of additional judges of the United States Courts in the Indian Territory, and for other purposes," cited above. The remainder of this act may be regarded as superseded by the admission of Oklahoma as a State. This section has however been held to be still operative. See Ex parte Webb (1912) 32 Sup. Ct. 769, 225 U. S. 663; U. S. v. Wright (1913) 33 Sup. Ct. 630, 229 U. S. 226; Joplin Mercantile Co. v. U. S. (1915) 35 Sup. Ct. 291, 236 U. S. 531; Joplin Mercantile Co. v. U. S. (1914) 213 Fed. 926, 131 C. C. A. 160; Segna v. U. S. (1914) 218 Fed. 791, 134 C. C. A. 527; Collins v. Morgan (1917) 243 Fed. 495, 156 C. C. A. 193; U. S. v. One Buick Roadster Automobile (D. C. 1917) 244 Fed. 961; U. S. v. Buckles (Ind. T. 1906) 97 S. W. 1022; Burch v. U. S. (Ind. T. 1907) 104 S. W. 619; State v. Eighty-Nine Casks of Beer, 128 Pac. 267, 36 Okl. 151. See, also, U. S. Comp. St. Ann. 1916, § 4137, and notes thereunder.

Cited without definite application, Collins v. Morgan (C. C. A.) 243 F. 495.

See, also, post, § 4137, and notes thereunder.

§ 4137. (Act Jan. 30, 1897, c. 109, § 1.) Same; sale to Indians or introducing into Indian country.

2. Regulation of commerce.—Under Act Cong. June 16, 1906, § 3, Const. Okl. art. 1, § 2, Rev. Laws Okl. 1910, § 3605, and Webb-Kenyon Act March 1, 1913, post, § 8739, interstate shipment of intoxicating liquors into Oklahoma is unlawful, and carrier cannot be enjoined from refusing to accept such shipments for delivery in that state. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co. v. Danciger, 248 F. 36, 160 C. C. A. 176.

As Oklahoma laws forbid manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors therein, interstate shipments of intoxicating liquors into portion of Oklahoma which formerly was an Indian reservation are not authorized, because Indian titles have been extinguished; Webb-Kenyon Act, post, § 8739, having deprived such shipments of protection arising out of their interstate character. Id.

Act March 1, 1895, c. 145, 28 Stat. 693, forbidding the introduction of intoxicating liquor into Indian Territory, as limited to interstate commerce by the Oklahoma Enabling Act, is not unconstitutional, as discriminating between the states in respect of trade and commerce in intoxicating liquors. De Moss v. U. S., 250 F. 87, 162 C. C. A. 259; Warren v. U. S., 250 F. 89, 162 C. C. A. 261.

9. Construction and operation of statute—Effect of statute on other legislation.—Act March 1, 1895, 28 Stat. 693, 697, held still in force, so far as it prohibits introduction of liquor from points outside of Oklahoma into portions thereof formerly constituting Indian Territory. U. S. v. One Buick Roadster Automobile (D. C.) 244 F. 961.

15. Indians within protection of statute—Indian allottees.—During the 25 years under which Indian allottees under Acts Feb. 8, 1887 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4195), and March 2, 1889, remain tribal Indians under guardianship, the allotted lands are inalienable, Congress may, as is done by this section, regulate or prohibit sale of intoxicating liquors to such Indians within a state. U. S. v. Nice, 36 S. Ct. 696, 241 U. S. 591, 60 L. Ed. 1192, overruling In re Heff, 25 S. Ct. 506, 197 U. S. 488, 49 L. Ed. 848.

18. "Indian country" within statute in general.—Kelliher, in county of Beltrami, state of Minnesota, which is within exterior boundaries of territory ceded to United States by Chippewa Treaty of February 22, 1855, is Indian territory. Harris v. U. S., 249 F. 41, 161 C. C. A. 101, certiorari denied 38

S. Ct. 425, 246 U. S. 675, 62 L. Ed. 933.

19. — Reservations as Indian country.—Where the Indian title to land occupied by the station platform of a railroad having a right of way through an Indian reservation was extinguished by the grant of the right of way, the station platform was not Indian country. U. S. v. Soldana, 38 S. Ct. 357, 246 U. S. 530, 62 L. Ed. 870.

Under Act May 1, 1888, creating Crow Reservation, and Act Feb. 12, 1889, §§ 3, 5, granting railroad company right of way thereon, held that station platform on railroad right of way over Indian reservation is Indian country. Id.

24. Selling liquor to Indians or introducing liquor into Indian country as offenses.—The government held not entitled to maintain an indictment against a defendant for selling liquor to an Indian, in violation of Rev. St. § 2139 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4136a), and this section, when by its own conduct, through its agents, it misled him into believing that the act was lawful. Voves v. U. S., 249 F. 191, 161 C. C. A. 227.

27. Intent and knowledge as element of offense.—In prosecution, under this section, for selling intoxicants to Indian, it is no defense that seller did not believe purchaser to be an Indian ward of the United States government under charge of an Indian agent. Feeley v. U. S., 236 F. 903, 150 C. C. A. 165.

31. Indictment.—Indictment held sufficient to charge offense of carrying from without liquor into Indian territory, in violation of act of 1895, as amended by the Oklahoma Enabling Act of 1906, and not to be restricted to this section. Collins v. Morgan, 243 F. 495, 156 C. C. A. 193.

In view of Rev. St. § 1025 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1691), an indictment held sufficient to charge offense of introducing, from without into that part of state of Oklahoma, which was Indian Territory, intoxicating liquor. Dosset v. U. S., 248 F. 902, 161 C. C. A. 20.

32. Evidence—Admissibility.—In a prosecution under Act March 1, 1895, for introducing from outside intoxicating liquors into that part of the state of Oklahoma which was formerly the Indian Territory, testimony as to what was defendant's business at the time of his arrest is admissible. Blackwell v. U. S., 236 F. 912, 150 C. C. A. 174.

In a prosecution for introducing, in violation of Act March 1, 1895, intoxicating liquors into that part of Oklahoma which was the Indian Territory, testimony that a witness helped pull out of the mud in Texas a wagon bound towards Oklahoma held properly received, in view of other testimony as to liquor brought from Texas in a wagon. Chancellor v. U. S., 237 F. 193, 150 C. C. A. 339; Id., 237 F. 194, 150 C. C. A. 340.

On trial for introducing liquor into Indian reservation, testimony as to labels on bottles as part of witness' description of bottles and pieces found by him held properly admitted. Pablo v. U. S., 242 F. 905, 155 C. C. A. 493.

34. — Sufficiency to sustain conviction.—In a prosecution under Act March 1, 1895, for introducing from outside intoxicating liquor into that part of the state of Oklahoma which was the Indian Territory, evidence held to warrant a conviction. Blackwell v. U. S., 236 F. 912, 150 C. C. A. 174; Chancellor v. U. S., 237 F. 193, 150 C. C. A. 239; Id., 237 F. 194, 150 C. C. A. 340.

In a prosecution for introducing intoxicating liquor into an Oklahoma county, evidence held sufficient to sustain the conviction. Bradley v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 254 F. 289.

35. — Insufficiency to sustain conviction.—In a prosecution for violating Act March 1, 1895, § 8, by introducing into territory which formerly was the Indian Territory intoxicating liquor, a conviction cannot be supported on mere suspicious circumstances indicating that defendant was cognizant of the introduction of the liquor by his codefendant. Tucker v. U. S., 236 F. 542, 149 C. C. A. 594.

36½. Questions for jury.—In prosecution for introducing or causing to be introduced, into Indian territory intoxicating liquors in violation of Rev. St. § 2139, as amended by Act Feb. 27, 1877, and by Act July 23, 1892 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4136a), where offense was committed after passage of Act May 18, 1916 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4144a), question of defendant's guilt held under evidence properly submitted to jury. Harris v. U. S., 249 F. 41, 161 C. C. A. 101, certiorari denied 38 S. Ct. 425, 246 U. S. 675, 62 L. Ed. 933.

In a prosecution for introducing liquor from without the state into an Oklahoma county, which was formerly in Indian Territory, evidence held sufficient to warrant submission of the case to the jury. Hodson v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 421.

37. Instructions.—In prosecution for introducing liquors into part of Oklahoma formerly Indian Territory, where defendant, who, with companions, motored into state, claimed liquor which he placed in car was consumed before state line was reached, and that liquor found was placed in machine by others, charge that only that found in state of Oklahoma should be considered could not, read in connection with other portions of charges, be deemed to have excluded defendant's theory or evidence. Dosset v. U. S., 248 F. 902, 161 C. C. A. 20.

39. Review.—In a prosecution under Act March 1, 1895, for introducing intoxicating liquor from outside into that part of Oklahoma which was the Indian Territory, held that, in view of his admission, testimony that accused was engaged in hauling whisky was not prejudicial. Blackwell v. U. S., 236 F. 912, 150 C. C. A. 174.

In view of defendant's testimony and his denial, held that, in a prosecution for violation of Act March 1, 1895, by carrying into what was formerly Indian Territory intoxicating liquors, defendant was not prejudiced by questions impliedly charging him with selling whisky therein. Greer v. U. S., 240 F. 320, 153 C. C. A. 246.

40. Punishment.—Modification of excessive fine by court on error, see Salazar v. U. S., 236 F. 541, 149 C. C. A. 593.

Cited without definite application, Collins v. Morgan (C. C. A.) 243 F. 495; Durrant v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 1.

§ 4137a. (Act March 2, 1917, c. 146, § 17.) Same; Osage county, Oklahoma, Indian country.

All of Osage County, Oklahoma, shall hereafter be deemed to be Indian country within the meaning of the Acts of Congress making it unlawful to introduce intoxicating liquors into the Indian country. (39 Stat. 983.)

This was a part of section 17 of the Indian appropriation act for the fiscal year 1918, cited above.

§ 4137aa. (Act May 25, 1918, c. 86, § 1.) Same; possession in Indian country.

On and after September first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, possession by a person of intoxicating liquors in the Indian country where the introduction is or was prohibited by treaty or Federal statute shall be an offense and punished in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of July twenty-third, eighteen hundred and ninety-two (Twenty-seventh Statutes at Large, page two hundred and sixty), and January thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven (Twenty-ninth Statutes at Large, page five hundred and six). (40 Stat. 563.)

§ 4140. (Act July 23, 1892, c. 234.) Same; complaints; arrests and examinations.

Modification of excessive fine.—See Salazar v. U. S., 236 F. 541, 149 C. C. A. 593.

§ 4141. (R. S. § 2140.) Same; searches and seizures.

3. Procedure for violations of liquor laws.—A proceeding to forfeit an automobile, under this section, seized on land, on ground that it was used as means for introduction of intoxicating liquor into Indian country, is one at law, and parties are entitled to usual rights and remedies incident to such action, including right to trial by jury. Shawnee Nat. Bank v. U. S., 249 F. 583, 161 C. C. A. 509.

Where, in proceeding under this section, to forfeit automobile on ground that it was used as means for introduction of intoxicants into Indian country, court found that chattel mortgagee had valid lien, but that it was inferior to rights of United States under forfeiture proceeding, it must be presumed, in absence of evidence, that mortgagee had nothing to do with introduction of liquor into Indian country. Id.

Where trial court found that chattel mortgagee had valid lien on automobile sought to be forfeited under this section, because used by mortgagor to carry liquors into Indian country, but declared lien of mortgagee inferior to claim of United States, mortgagee was entitled to raise on record question whether automobile was subject to forfeiture, as well as whether its interest could be forfeited. Id.

4. —— Search warrants, necessity of.—See note to § 4141a, post.

6. —— Property subject to search and seizure.—In view of Act March 2, 1917, this section does not warrant forfeiture of automobiles or of lien of chattel mortgagee on automobile used by mortgagor in possession to convey intoxicants into Indian country. Shawnee Nat. Bank v. U. S., 249 F. 583, 161 C. C. A. 509.

Under this section, only the interest of one in possession of a motorcar, who used it for the introduction of intoxicating liquor into Indian country, can be forfeited because of such introduction. U. S. v. One Automobile (D. C.) 237 F. 891.

The term "wagon" did not include an automobile. Id.

Under this section and Indian Appropriation Act March 2, 1917, mortgaged automobile, used by mortgagor in introducing intoxicants into Indian country, held subject to forfeiture, notwithstanding mortgagee's interest. U. S. v. One Buick Roadster Automobile (D. C.) 244 F. 961.

Congress held presumed to have enacted proviso of Indian Appropriation Act March 2, 1917, post, § 4141a, as to forfeiture of vehicles used in introducing intoxicants into Indian country, with knowledge of construction placed on this section. Id.

§ 4141a. (Act March 2, 1917, c. 146, § 1.) Same; seizure of vehicles used.

Automobiles or any other vehicles or conveyances used in introducing, or attempting to introduce, intoxicants into the Indian country, or where the introduction is prohibited by treaty or Federal statute, whether used by the owner thereof or other person, shall be subject to the seizure, libel, and forfeiture provided in section twenty-one hundred and forty of the Revised Statutes of the United States. (39 Stat. 970.)

This was a provision of the Indian appropriation act for the fiscal year 1918, cited above.

Notes of Decisions

Validity of statute.—This section held valid. U. S. v. One Buick Roadster Automobile (D. C.) 244 F. 961.

Effect of preceding section.—Rev. St. § 2140 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4141), providing for forfeiture of boats, teams, wagons, and sleds used in conveying intoxicants into Indian country, does not warrant forfeiture of automobile, particularly as this section extended the forfeiture to automobiles. Shawnee Nat. Bank v. U. S., 249 F. 583, 161 C. C. A. 509.

Search warrants, necessity of.—This act does not enlarge right of officers to search for intoxicating liquors without warrant in other than Indian country. U. S. v. One Buick Roadster Automobile (D. C.) 244 F. 961.

Forfeiture of mortgaged car.—In view of this section Rev. St. § 2140 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4141), does not warrant forfeiture of lien of chattel mortgagee on automobile used by mortgagor in possession to convey intoxicants into Indian country. Shawnee Nat. Bank v. U. S., 249 F. 583, 161 C. C. A. 509.

Under this section and Comp. St. 1916, § 4141, mortgaged automobile, used by mortgagor in introducing intoxicants into Indian country, was subject to forfeiture, notwithstanding mortgagee's interest. U. S. v. One Buick Roadster Automobile (D. C.) 244 F. 961.

Congress held presumed to have enacted this section, with knowledge of construction placed on Rev. St. § 2140 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4141). Id.

§ 4144a. (Act May 18, 1916, c. 125, § 1.) Same; §§ 4141, 4144, applicable to liquors mentioned in § 4137; possession prima facie evidence.

St. § 2139, as amended by Act Feb. 27, 1877, and by Act July 23, 1892 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4136a), where offense was committed after passage of this section, question of defendant's guilt held under evidence properly submitted to jury. Harris v. U. S., 249 F. 41, 161 C. C. A. 101, certiorari denied 38 S. Ct. 425, 246 U. S. 675, 62 L. Ed. 933.

§ 4148. (R. S. § 2145.) General laws as to punishment of crimes extended to country.

3. Effect of other statutes.—Adultery committed by Indian on Indian reservation held not punishable under Penal Code, § 316 (Comp. St. 1916, § 10,489), it not referring in terms to Indians in view of the express enumeration in sections 328 and 329 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 10,502 and 10,503), of other crimes and offenses against the United States, though such crime is not an offense within provisions of Rev. St. § 2146 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4149). U. S. v. This was a provision of the Indian appropriation act for the fiscal year 1918, cited above.

§ 4170a. (Act Sept. 7, 1916, c. 455.) Expenditure of appropriations; per capita restrictions.

This was a provision of the Indian appropriation act for the fiscal year 1918, cited above.

CHAPTER FOUR B—RIGHTS OF WAY THROUGH INDIAN LANDS

§ 4181. (Act March 2, 1899, c. 374, § 1, as amended, Act June 25, 1910, c. 431, § 16.) Rights of way for railway, telegraph and telephone lines; town site stations.

Effect of other legislation.—Act Feb. 28, 1902, and Act May 27, 1908, are not a grant of authority to railroads, engaged or organized to engage in interstate commerce, to appropriate private property in Oklahoma, but are limited to Indian lands. Oklahoma, K. & M. I. Ry. Co. v. Bowling, 249 F. 592, 161 C. C. A. 518.

§ 4191. (Act March 3, 1901, c. 832, § 3.) Same; telephone and telegraph lines; grants by Secretary of Interior.

Revocable license.—A permit under Comp. St. 1916, § 4946, to construct a power line over the Cœur d'Alene Indian reservation, held a mere license, revocable by the Secretary of the Interior together with a right of way for a telephone line granted to the same company under this section; the latter being a mere incident to the license.—Washington Water Power Co. v. Harbaugh (D. C.) 253 F. 681.

§ 4192. (Act March 11, 1904, c. 505, § 1, as amended, Act March 2, 1917, c. 146, § 1.) Rights of way for pipe lines.

The Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized and empowered to grant a right of way in the nature of an easement for the construction, operation, and maintenance of pipe lines for the conveyance of oil and gas through any Indian reservation, through any lands held by an Indian tribe or nation in the Indian Territory, through any lands reserved for an Indian agency or Indian school, or for other purpose in connection with the Indian service, or through any lands which have been allotted in severalty to any individual Indian under any law or treaty, but which have not been conveyed to the allottee with full power of alienation, upon the terms and conditions herein expressed. Before title to rights of way applied for hereunder shall vest, maps of definite location shall be filed with and approved by the Secretary of the Interior: Provided, That before such approval the Secretary of the Interior may, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, grant temporary permits revocable in his discretion for the construction of such lines. Provided, That the construction of lateral lines from the main pipe line establishing connection with oil and gas wells on the individual allotments of citizens may be constructed without securing authority from the Secretary of the Interior and without filing maps of definite location, when the consent of the allottee upon whose lands oil or gas wells may be located and of all other allottees through whose lands said lateral pipe lines may pass has been obtained by the pipe line company: Provided further, That in case it is desired to run a pipe line under the line of any railroad, and satisfactory arrangements can not be made with the railroad company, then the question shall be referred to the Secretary of the Interior, who shall prescribe the terms and conditions under which the pipe line company shall be permitted to lay its lines under said railroad. The compensation to be paid the tribes in their tribal capacity and the individual allottees for such right of way through their lands shall be determined in such manner as the Secretary of the Interior may direct, and shall be subject to his final approval. And where such lines are not subject to State or Territorial taxation the company or owner of the line shall pay to the Secretary of the Interior, for the use and benefit of the Indians, such annual tax as he may designate, not exceeding five dollars for each ten miles of line so constructed and maintained under such rules and regulations as said Secretary may prescribe. But nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to exempt the owners of such lines from the payment of any tax that may be lawfully assessed against them by either State, Territorial, or municipal authority. And incorporated cities and towns into and through which such pipe lines may be constructed shall have the power to regulate the manner of construction therein, and nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to deny the right of municipal taxation in such towns and cities, and nothing herein shall authorize the use of such right of way except for pipe line, and then only so far as may be necessary for its construction, maintenance, and care: Provided, That the rights herein granted shall not extend beyond a period of twenty years: Provided further, That the Secretary of the Interior, at the expiration of said twenty years, may extend the right to maintain any pipe line constructed under this Act for another period not to exceed twenty years from the expiration of the first right, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem proper. (33 Stat. 65, 39 Stat. 973.)

This section was amended by Act March 2, 1917, c. 146, § 1, cited above, by striking out, after the words "with full power of alienation, upon the terms and conditions herein expressed," the words "No such lines shall be constructed across Indian lands, as above mentioned, until authority therefor has first been obtained from, and the maps of definite location of said lines approved by, the Secretary of the Interior," and substituting therefor the words "Before title to rights of way applied for hereunder shall vest, maps of definite location shall be filed with and approved by the Secretary of the Interior: Provided, that before such approval the Secretary of the Interior may, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, grant temporary permits revocable in his discretion for the construction of such lines"—so as to make the section read as set forth here.

4. Indian reservations—Creation.—Under Indian treaty and executive order of December 23, 1873, setting aside a reservation of lands acquired from the Indians, held, that tidelands separated from reservation by a deep water channel were not included. U. S. v. Snohomish River Boom Co., 246 F. 112, 158 C. C. A. 338, affirming judgment (D. C.) 234 F. 95.

Tidelands are no part of an Indian reservation, unless expressly included, where not attached to the upland. Id.

6. —— Power of the Secretary of the Interior.—As this and the following section, Act Jan. 14, 1889, and Act April 28, 1904, do not require the distribution of all lands embraced on the White Earth reservation, reservation of land by the Secretary of the Interior in accordance with the treaty of 1867 for an agency farm, etc., will not be reviewed, and, there being other land, an Indian is not entitled to select such land as an allotment. Gravelle v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 253 F. 549.

21. Indians entitled to allotments.—Act Aug. 7, 1882, and Act March 3, 1893, relating to allotments in severalty of lands of the Omaha Indian reservation in Nebraska, construed. Chase v. U. S., 238 F. 887, 152 C. C. A. 21.

In a suit to establish plaintiff's right to an allotment of land in the White Earth Indian Reservation, evidence held to show that plaintiff was by blood a member of a band of the Chippewa Indians of Lake Superior. Vezina v. U. S., 245 F. 411, 157 C. C. A. 573.

23. Decisions of Department of Interior.—Decision of Land Department that contestant was owner of improvements within Cherokee Allotment Act July 1, 1902, § 11, held binding on the courts, unless it was without evidence to support it, or with error of law. Harnage v. Martin, 37 S. Ct. 148, 242 U. S. 386, 61 L. Ed. 382, affirming decree 136 P. 154, 40 Okl. 341.

Final decision of Commissioner to Five Civilized Tribes and Secretary of Interior in contest proceedings awarding right to allot certain lands, and issuance of patent, may be reviewed by court of equity and trust impressed on land if decision was based on erroneous view of law. Bozarth v. Mitchell (Okl.) 157 P. 1051.

Commissioner of Five Civilized Tribes, Commissioner of Indian Affairs and Secretary of Interior have duty of allotting lands in Indian Nation, and their action will not be reviewed unless they have committed error of law, have been imposed on by fraud, or are guilty of fraud. Higgins v. Waters (Okl.) 159 P. 1129.

The courts will not disturb decisions of the allotting powers where their findings in allotting Indian lands are based on testimony submitted and no fraud or error of law is apparent. Id.

23½. Jurisdiction of state court of suit involving allotment.—On April 27, 1915, the district court had no jurisdiction of suit by full-blood Indian heirs of deceased Pawnee involving lands allotted to decedent under this act, the determination of title, and, incidentally, the rights to possession of allotment while held in trust by United States. Cæsar v. Krow (Okl.) 176 P. 927.

Cited without definite application, U. S. v. Waller, 37 S. Ct. 430, 243 U. S. 452, 61 L. Ed. 843; Durrant v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 1.

§ 4196. (Act Feb. 8, 1887, c. 119, § 2.) Selection.

Preference on account of improvements.—There is nothing inconsistent with Cherokee Allotment Act July 1, 1902, in giving tribal member, owner of equitable interest and improvements on land, when the act was passed, a preferential right to select it as her allotment. Harnage v. Martin, 37 S. Ct. 148, 242 U. S. 386, 61 L. Ed. 382, affirming decree 136 P. 154, 40 Okl. 341.

Where Indian gave her granddaughter right to select from the home place an allotment, held to give her sufficient interest in improvements thereon to support preferential right to allotment under Cherokee Allotment Act July 1, 1902, § 11. Id.

Indians claiming improvement on Choctaw and Chickasaw lands on surrender of surplus lands by the widow, after condemnation in Curtis Act June 28, 1898, §§ 17, 18, of practice of holding excess tribal lands to one who took possession in good faith and made valuable improvements, have better right to select lands for their allotment than other Indians claiming under subsequent conveyance from widow, her adult sons, and guardian of minor. Hill v. Reynolds, 37 S. Ct. 163, 242 U. S. 361, 61 L. Ed. 363, affirming decree Reynolds v. Hill, 143 P. 1155, 43 Okl. 749.

Indian citizens were not given the right to revive dormant claims to Choctaw and Chickasaw lands after others had entered into possession and improved them, by Supplemental Agreement with Choctaws and Chickasaws, §§ 19–21, set forth in Act July 1, 1902. Id.

Where an allotment of land was duly made to a freedman, a member of the Cherokee Nation, neither the Secretary of the Interior nor any subordinate officer of that department may cancel it for false representations as to ownership of improvements on the land. U. S. v. Whitmire, 236 F. 474, 149 C. C. A. 526.

Allotment to freedman of Cherokee Nation, on false testimony that he was owner of improvements thereon, held not subject to cancellation; owner of improvements, a white person who had intermarried with a Cherokee, not being entitled to contest, and owner's granddaughter, to whom improvements were transferred before Act March 2, 1907, not being entitled to contest under Act July 1, 1902, § 69, transfer being more than nine months after allotment. Id.

Where an allotment by a freedman of the Cherokee Nation was not subject to attack, though obtained on false testimony as to improvements, the title of the freedman's grantee could not be attacked, though he knew the allotment was obtained by such testimony. Id.

Preference rights given enrolled member of Choctaw Nation to file on land of nation where his improvements are located and period in which to contest adverse filing by Act July 1, 1902, c. 1362, §§ 11, 71, cannot be destroyed by issuance of certificate of allotment on adversary filing prior to time given owner of improvements in which to file contest. O'Quinn v. Joiner (Okl.) 166 P. 142.

Refusal to select allotment.—Members of Creek nation, refusing to make selection of their allotments, could be put on the allotment roll by Dawes Commission, under Creek Agreement March 1, 1901, § 3. U. S. v. Wildcat, 37 S. Ct. 561, 244 U. S. 111, 61 L. Ed. 1024.

Evidence.—Evidence held insufficient to show that complainant selected, and applied for as her allotment, Indian lands allotted to defendant. Parent v. Picotte (C. C. A.) 254 F. 301.

Cited without definite application, Durrant v. U. S., 50 Ct. Cl. 1.

§ 4197. (Act Feb. 8, 1887, c. 119, § 3, as amended, Act June 25, 1910, c. 431, § 9.) Same; making by agents.

Cited without definite application, Reynolds v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 65.

§ 4201. (Act Feb. 8, 1887, c. 119, § 5.) Patents to be held in trust; descent and partition applicable.

1. Power to restrict alienation by Indians.—While an Indian is a national ward, Congress may reimpose alienation restrictions on property previously freed from such restrictions. McCurdy v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 289, 246 U. S. 263, 62 L. Ed. 706.

The state of Oklahoma cannot confer on a minor Cherokee Indian majority rights, so as to entitle him to alienate lands allotted before reaching 21. Egan v. Ingram (Okl.) 161 P. 225.

Congress held to have complete authority over tribal Indians to whom trust patents were granted under Act Feb. 8, 1887, and over the property, and, though holding it in trust, authorized to make rules governing execution of the trust. Daugherty v. McFarland (S. D.) 166 N. W. 143.

2. Purpose and construction of restrictions on alienation.—Restrictions on alienation by heirs of lands allotted to Osages, Creeks, Cherokees and other Indians in Oklahoma under particular statutes, see Levindale Lead & Zinc Mining Co. v. Coleman, 36 S. Ct. 644, 241 U. S. 432, 60 L. Ed. 1080, reversing judgment 140 P. 607, 43 Okl. 13; Gannon v. Johnston, 37 S. Ct. 330, 243 U. S. 108, 61 L. Ed. 622, affirming judgment 140 P. 430, 40 Okl. 695, Ann. Cas. 1915D, 522; Taylor v. U. S., 230 F. 580, 144 C. C. A. 634; Welty v. Reed, 231 F. 930, 146 C. C. A. 126; Hopkins v. U. S., 235 F. 95, 148 C. C. A. 589; Sunday v. Mallory, 237 F. 526, 150 C. C. A. 408; Youngken v. David (D. C.) 235 F. 621; McCosar v. Chapman (Okl.) 157 P. 1059; Egan v. Ingram (Okl.) 161 P. 225; Kenny v. Miles (Okl.) 162 P. 775; Fowler v. Rogers (Okl.) 167 P. 635.

Under this section, which provides that "upon the approval of the allotments provided for in this act by the Secretary of the Interior, he shall cause patents to issue therefor in the name of the allottees," the trust period during which the title was to be held in trust by the government began to run from the date of such approval, and not from the date of the patent. Reynolds v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 65.

The congressional restrictions on the alienation of allotments are designed to protect Indians against their own improvidence, whether by acts of commission or omission, contracts or torts. Choctaw Lumber Co. v. Coleman (Okl.) 156 P. 222.

Partition of Indian lands constitutes an "alienation," within the meaning of the federal laws imposing restrictions thereon. Coleman v. Battiest (Okl.) 162 P. 786; Lewis v. Gillard (Okl.) 173 P. 1136.

3. —— Restriction as running with the land.—Lands allotted in the name of a deceased Indian under section 20 of the Cherokee Agreement (Act July 1, 1902), are not subject to any restrictions on the right of alienation by his heirs; sections 13-15 not applying. Sunday v. Mallory, 237 F. 526, 150 C. C. A. 408.

Full-blood heirs of a deceased enrolled citizen of one of the Five Civilized Tribes, on whose account an allotment was selected after his death by an administrator or by the Dawes Commission, take subject to the restriction in Act May 26, 1906, § 22, requiring conveyances to be approved. Harris v. Bell (C. C. A.) 250 F. 209.

1876, 34 Stat. 145. Youngken v. David (D. C.) 235 F. 621.

Land allotted by the Commission in the name of a deceased Creek child held to have descended to his heirs according to Mansf. Dig. Ark. §§ 2522–2545, free from restrictions on alienation. Harris v. Bell (D. C.) 235 F. 626.

Under Act March 1, 1901, § 28, as amended by Act Cong. June 30, 1902, the allotment of a Creek Indian dying prior to allotment descends to his heirs free of all restrictions, but if he dies after issuance of certificate but before patent, the surplus, but not the homestead, is restricted. Oates v. Freeman (Okl.) 157 P. 74.

Restrictions imposed by Act Cong. March 2, 1895, and Act June 7, 1897, upon the right of a Quapaw Indian to lease his land run with the land, and are binding on the heirs of the allottee. Ashton v. Noble (Okl.) 162 P. 784.

The restrictions of Act Cong. March 2, 1895, upon alienation of the allotments of Quapaw Indians, follow the lands in the hands of the heirs of the allottees. Id.

Under Act Cong. March 3, 1903, providing that homestead shall be inalienable, death removes all restrictions imposed by original Seminole Agreement, and where allottee died prior to Act Cong. April 26, 1906, title passed to heirs free from restrictions without regard to Indian blood. Lula, Seminole Roll No. 908, v. Powell (Okl.) 166 P. 1050.

Conveyance of part of allotment of member of Citizen Band of Pottawatomie Indians of Oklahoma in excess of 80 acres, approved by Secretary of Interior, under Act Cong. Aug. 15, 1894, c. 290, extinguishes the Indian title, and grantee holds free from any restrictions upon alienation. Bruno v. Getzelman (Okl.) 173 P. 850.

Patent issued to grantee in partial conveyance of allotment of member of Citizen Band of Pottawatomie Indians of Oklahoma, approved by Secretary of Interior, containing provisions of Act Cong. Feb. 8, 1887, c. 119, did not reimpose restrictions on alienation of lands by grantee. Id.

Under Supplemental Agreement of Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations of July 1, 1902, § 16, restrictions on alienation of surplus lands of deceased allottee selected before his death run with the land, and prevent alienation by heirs within restrictive period.—Wrigley v. McCoy (Okl.) 175 P. 259.

5. —— Extension of trust period.—See notes to § 4202, post.

7. Removal or modifications of restrictions.—Removal of restrictions as to Creeks, Seminoles, and other Indians in Oklahoma, see Scott v. Quimby (Okl.) 155 P. 1154; Henley v. Davis (Okl.) 156 P. 337; McKeever v. Carter (Okl.) 157 P. 56; Oates v. Freeman (Okl.) 157 P. 74; Hope v. Foley (Okl.) 157 P. 727; Bailey v. King (Okl.) 157 P. 763; Carter v. Prairie Oil & Gas Co. (Okl.) 160 P. 319; Roth v. Union Nat. Bank of Bartlesville (Okl.) 160 P. 505; Vann v. Adams (Okl.) 164 P. 113; Williams v. Diesel (Okl.) 165 P. 187; Nixon v. Woodcock (Okl.) 166 P. 183; Allison v. Crummey (Okl.) 166 P. 691; Clark v. De Graffenreid (Okl.) 166 P. 736; Lula, Seminole Roll No. 908, v. Powell (Okl.) 166 P. 1050; Kinzer v. Davis (Okl.) 167 P. 753; Chupco v. Chapman (Okl.) 170 P. 259, reversing judgment on rehearing 160 P. 88, certiorari denied 38 S. Ct. 427, 247 U. S. 506, 62 L. Ed. 1240; Folsom v. Jones (Okl.) 173 P. 649; Hardridge v. Smith (Okl.) 173 P. 818.

9. Laws governing Indian allottees.—An Indian allottee, on receipt of his first patent under the statute, held within the provisions of this section, subject to the laws of the state where he resides. In re Heff, 25 S. Ct. 506, 197 U. S. 488, 49 L. Ed. 848.

During the 25 years under which allottees under Act Feb. 8, 1887, and Act March 2, 1889, remain tribal Indians under guardianship, the allotted lands are inalienable, Congress may, as is done by Act Jan. 30, 1897 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4137) regulate or prohibit sale of intoxicating liquors to such Indians within a state. U. S. v. Nice, 36 S. Ct. 696, 241 U. S. 591, 60 L. Ed. 1192, overruling In re Heff, 25 S. Ct. 506, 197 U. S. 488, 49 L. Ed. 848.

No intention to dissolve tribal relations and terminate national guardianship on making of allotments and issuing of trust patents without waiting for expiration of trust period is shown by this section and section 4203. Id.

Under Acts Cong. Feb. 8, 1887, Act May 8, 1906, Act June 21, 1906, and Act March 1, 1907, after patent in fee is issued to Indian, questions as to validity of his transfers are controlled by state laws. Luck Land Co. v. Minor, 157 N. W. 655, 132 Minn. 396.

The alienation of an Indian allotment being governed by the act of Congress, the right of an Indian to devise it must be governed and controlled entirely by the act of Congress pertaining thereto, and not by the state law. Letts v. Letts (Okl.) 176 P. 234.

10. —— Jurisdiction of state courts.—See Luck Land Co. v. Minor, 157 N. W. 655, 132 Minn. 396; Bell v. Fitzpatrick (Okl.) 157 P. 334.

The state courts have no power to authorize a conveyance of restricted Indian lands in contravention of the treaties and acts of Congress relating thereto. Brown v. Anderson (Okl.) 160 P. 724.

On April 27, 1915, the district court had no jurisdiction of suit by full-blood Indian heirs of deceased Pawnee involving lands allotted to decedent under General Allotment Act Feb. 8. 1887, as amended by Act Feb. 28, 1891, the determination of title, and, incidentally, the rights to possession of allotment while held in trust by United States. Cæsar v. Krow (Okl.) 176 P. 927.

11. United States title during trust period.—The federal government held authorized to dispose of property for which it issued trust patents under this act through the agency of the Secretary of the Interior. Daugherty v. McFarland (S. D.) 166 N. W. 143.

Trust patents issued to Indian allottees under this section, as amended by Act Feb. 28, 1891, § 5 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4222), cover merely the tribal possessory right, and the land remains government property. Id.

13. Indian title during trust period.—Allotment certificate regularly issued under Act July 1, 1902, c. 1362, to Indian lands conveys equitable title to allottee which may in due time ripen into legal title. O'Quinn v. Joiner (Okl.) 166 P. 142.

14. —— Devisable interest during trust period.—Member of Cherokee Tribe has no interest prior to allotment in lands belonging to tribe subject to be devised by will, and attempted devise of lands held for allotment vests no title. Powell v. Crittenden (Okl.) 156 P. 661.

A devise by a minor allottee of the Creek Nation of his allotment is void, a will being an alienation within meaning of Act Cong. May 27, 1908. Letts v. Letts (Okl.) 176 P. 234.

In view of Acts Cong. April 26, 1906, and May 27, 1908, a minor Indian under 21 years of age, though not affected by such acts, cannot will his allotment, minority being a federal restriction and controlling. Id.

15. —— Inheritable estate.—Allotment of full-blood Creek Indian, who died in April, 1910, intestate, passed to heirs free from debts created by allottee before death. Eastern Oil Co. v. Harjo (Okl.) 157 P. 921.

16. —— Dower.—Under laws of Arkansas in force in Indian Territory prior to statehood, widow is entitled to dower in lands held by husband for allotment and subsequently selected in allotment by administrator. Powell v. Crittenden (Okl.) 156 P. 661.

In action for possession of land held by widow under will of deceased Cherokee Indian devising land held for allotment, judgment should give widow dower interest in whole land. Id.

Where wife of Cherokee Indian as widow and as administratrix selected lands in allotment and caused decedent's will to be probated and remained in possession claiming title under will she did not waive right to dower. Id.

Surviving widow of duly enrolled Seminole citizen, who died July 4, 1901, before receiving allotment, is entitled to dower where lands are afterwards selected. Wadsworth v. Crump (Okl.) 157 P. 713, reversing judgment on rehearing 154 P. 60.

17. —— Curtesy.—Where a duly enrolled Choctaw Indian woman, residing with her husband and infant son on lands selected by her as her allotment, died in the Indian Territory before making formal application and receiving patents, and after her death patents were issued to her, held, that her husband was entitled to a life estate in the lands by curtesy. Bridges v. Wright (Okl.) 155 P. 883.

18. —— Rents, issues, and profits.—A decree in a suit for alimony allowing a portion of the rents and profits of a restricted allotment and appointing a receiver is a charge on the land and invalid under Act Cong. May 27, 1908, § 4. Burney v. Burney (Okl.) 160 P. 85.

Attempted assignment of rents conferred no enforceable legal rights on plaintiff, where restricted Indian executing such instruments had no legal capacity to do so. Guffey v. Pollan (Okl.) 175 P. 817.

20. —— Right to cut and sell timber.—Under Acts Cong. June 28, 1898, July 1, 1902, Jan. 21, 1903, and April 26, 1906, a conveyance by a member of Cherokee Tribe of growing timber upon his allotment is not void. Mitchell-Crittenden Tie Co. v. Crawford (Okl.) 160 P. 917.

24. Deeds and incumbrances by Indians during trust period.—In a minor Creek freedman allottee's action to set aside a void deed, plaintiff need not plead formal tender to restore consideration. McKeever v. Carter (Okl.) 157 P. 56.

In action to quiet title, evidence held to authorize finding that Indian grantor had reached majority at time of conveyances to defendant, authorizing judgment for defendant. Hawkins v. Boynton Land, Mining & Investment Co. (Okl.) 157 P. 753.

Under Act Cong. May 27, 1908, attempted alienation of allotted lands of Cherokee Indian minor of nine thirty-seconds Indian blood, in violation of law, is absolutely null and void. Egan v. Ingram (Okl.) 161 P. 225.

A deed to part of allotment of Cherokee citizen of three-sixteenths blood, before majority, after Act Cong. May 27, 1908, § 5, took effect, is absolutely void. Catron v. Allen (Okl.) 161 P. 829.

Statutes of limitation do not begin to run in favor of one in possession of Choctaw lands under deed by Indian inheriting it executed before removal of restriction against alienation imposed by section 15 of Supplemental Agreement of Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations of July 1, 1902. Wrigley v. McCoy (Okl.) 175 P. 259.

One holding Choctaw land under a deed void because executed before removal of restrictions against incumbrances imposed by Supplemental Agreement of Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations of July 1, 1902, § 15, cannot recover, as occupying claimant, for improvements, or offset them against claim for rent in view of Rev. Laws Okl. 1910, § 4935. Id.

25. —— Agreements to purchase.—Making of contract to convey Indian lands, in violation of Act Cong. June 30, 1902, § 16, and Act Cong. April 26, 1906, § 19, is not to be inferred from fact alone that heirs executed deed during period of restriction and grantee caused deed to be recorded and after removal of restrictions deed was executed to same grantee. Oates v. Freeman (Okl.) 157 P. 74.

Deed to allotment of Cherokee Indian by blood, executed November 2, 1907, after removal of restrictions against alienation pursuant to written agreement to convey, entered into prior to removal of restrictions, is void under Act Cong. April 26, 1906, c. 1876, § 19. Nixon v. Woodcock (Okl.) 166 P. 183.

27. —— Estoppel.—The doctrine of estoppel cannot be invoked against an Indian grantor of land, to validate a deed not executed and approved as required by statute. Okla Oil Co. v. Bartlett, 236 F. 488, 149 C. C. A. 540, affirming decree Bartlett v. Okla Oil Co. (D. C.) 218 F. 380.

July 1, 1902, § 15, as to incumbering allotments by contracts made prior to termination of the period of restriction on alienation, applies to a judgment, whether based on tort or contract. Choctaw Lumber Co. v. Coleman (Okl.) 156 P. 222.

37. Taxation by states during trust period.—Act June 28, 1906, c. 3572, providing for division of Osage Indian trust funds and lands after 25 years, conferred no authority upon Secretary of the Interior to release, exempt from taxation, any part of such trust funds during the 25-year period. McCurdy v. U. S., 38 S. Ct. 289, 246 U. S. 263, 62 L. Ed. 706.

Under this section, and Act Jan. 14, 1889, c. 24, and Act June 21, 1906, c. 3504, relinquishment by Chippewa Indians of lands in exchange for allotments in reservations in trust is a valid contract creating vested rights of which an Indian could not be deprived against his will and his land could not be taxed by the state. Morrow v. U. S., 243 F. 854, 156 C. C. A. 366.

Lands of full-blood Seminole Indian heirs, inalienable under Act April 26, 1906, c. 1876, § 22, and Act May 27, 1908, c. 199, § 9, are not subject to state taxation, notwithstanding provisions in each of the acts that all lands restrictions upon which are removed shall be subject to taxation. tion until the lease expires. Central Coal & Lumber Co. v. Board of Equalization of Le Flore County (Okl.) 173 P. 442.

Lands, previously taxable, purchased from private owners with oil royalties accruing to a full-blood Creek Indian from her allotment restricted by act Cong. May 27, 1908, are not exempted from state taxation by clause in grantor's deed making land inalienable without consent of Secretary of Interior. Jones v. Whitlow (Okl.) 175 P. 753.

39. Suits by United States to cancel conveyances or leases.—Where the Secretary of the Interior removed restrictions against sale of the allotment of a full-blood Cherokee and, reserving right to dispose of the proceeds, reinvested same in other property, which was conveyed to allottee with a valid restriction against alienation, the United States may maintain a suit to cancel a mortgage executed by the allottee and a sheriff's deed transferring the property. U. S. v. Law (C. C. A.) 250 F. 218.

45. Suits by United States to protect allotted lands—Against adverse claims.—Where an island belonging to the Osage Tribe was claimed by others, suit by the United States for the benefit of the tribe and allottee cannot be defeated on the ground of the illegality of the allotment. U. S. v. Hutchings (D. C.) 252 F. 841.

49. Proceeding in state court involving Indian allottee's title.—Where purchaser of government homesteads from Indians, while title was held in trust for them by United States under Act Cong. July 4, 1884, sued such Indians in state court to quiet title, on service by publication, default judgment quieting title was void as touching rights of United States and of Indians. Robinson v. Steele, 157 P. 845, 91 Wash. 268.

Power of Congress.—Congress may continue or extend period of restriction against alienation by Indians, or provide other restrictions during period of existing restrictions. Boxley v. Scott (Okl.) 162 P. 688.

Extension as affecting period already expired.—Under statutory authority given the President to extend the period during which Indian allotments are held in trust by the government, a proclamation extending the period as to certain classes of allottees does not affect one whose period had already expired. Reynolds v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 65.

§ 4203. (Act Feb. 8, 1887, c. 119, § 6, as amended, Act May 8, 1906, c. 2348.) Patents in fee to allottees.

Seaples v. Card (D. C.) 246 F. 501.

3. Allottees as citizens and electors.—No intention to dissolve tribal relations and terminate national guardianship on making of allotments and issuing of trust patents without waiting for expiration of trust period is shown by this section and § 4201. U. S. v. Nice, 36 S. Ct. 696, 241 U. S. 591, 60 L. Ed. 1192.

An Indian, who became a citizen by Act March 3, 1901, can, after attaining his majority, sue to recover land conveyed by him while a minor. McDaniel v. Holland, 230 F. 945, 145 C. C. A. 139.

In view of Comp. St. 1916, § 3951, securing personal rights of citizenship and protection of laws to members of tribes of Indians to whom allotments are made under this section, United States, as trustee and guardian of Indian allottee and trust patentee of certain Indian reservation lands, cannot maintain an action for damages caused to fish wheel owned and operated by Indian on Columbia river; wheel having been constructed, maintained, and repaired by Indian with funds derived from sale of 40 acres of his allotment of lands. U. S. v. Seufert Bros. Co., 252 F. 51, 164 C. C. A. 163.

5. Laws governing Indian allottees.—See notes to § 4201, ante.

8. Taxation by states.—Under Act March 1, 1901, Act June 30, 1902, Act March 3, 1903, Act April 26, 1906, § 19, and Act May 27, 1908, § 4, lands allotted to Creek freedwoman, who petitioned for removal of restrictions on alienation, in order that she might sell for townsite purposes, held taxable. Sweet v. Schock, 38 S. Ct. 101, 245 U. S. 192, 62 L. Ed. 237, affirming judgment Schock v. Sweet, 145 P. 388, 45 Okl. 51.

Where mixed-blood Chippewa Indian receiving trust patent under Act Jan. 14, 1889, c. 24, was insisting upon holding thereunder and claiming no rights under the Act June 21, 1906, c. 3504, held that the state could not tax his land. Morrow v. U. S., 243 F. 854, 156 C. C. A. 366.

Under Act Cong. June 30, 1902, § 16, lands allotted to Creek citizen as homestead, while possessing such characteristic, are nontaxable for 21 years from date of patent, and tax sale thereof is void. Davenport v. Doyle (Okl.) 157 P. 110.

Where conveyance of interest of full-blood Indian heir of allottee of land allotted in Choctaw Nation is invalid, unless approved by Secretary of Interior, etc., such interest in land is not subject to taxation, prior to conveyance by heirs and approval. Watkins v. Howard (Okl.) 166 P. 706.

Lands passing to heirs of allottees held subject to restrictions on alienation, and hence not subject to assessment for taxation. Id.

Lands certified to a Mississippi Choctaw Indian under Act Cong. July 1, 1902, are not subject to taxation until after proof of bona fide residence and subsequent alienation by allottee, and tax sale while land is exempted is void. Blackwell v. Harts (Okl.) 167 P. 325.

10. Patents to allotted lands.—Finding that Indian allottee attained his majority, imported by issuing patent to him in fee under Act March 1, 1907, held not decisive of the allottee's age for any other purpose than fixing his right to receive the title free from restrictions, and the validity of his conveyance must be tested by the state laws to which the allottee became subject under this section. Dickson v. Luck Land Co., 37 S. Ct. 167, 242 U. S. 371, 61 L. Ed. 371, affirming judgment Luck Land Co. v. Minor, 157 N. W. 655, 132 Minn. 396.

Patent issued after death of Indian selecting allotment under Act Aug. 7, 1882, held not open to attack by anybody but the United States and the tribe, especially in view of Rev. St. § 2448 (Comp. St. 1916, § 5098). U. S. v. Chase, 38 S. Ct. 24, 245 U. S. 89, 62 L. Ed. 168, reversing judgment Chase v. U. S., 222 F. 593, 138 C. C. A. 117.

Adjudication by Dawes Commission of enrollment of Indians and allotment of land, and patents issued thereon, are impervious to collateral attack. Folk v. U. S., 233 F. 177, 147 C. C. A. 183.

As Act July 1, 1902, § 21, makes the allotment certificate issued by the Dawes Commission conclusive evidence of the right of the allottee to land of Cherokee Nation described, a conveyance of allottee before issuance of patent carries title. U. S. v. Whitmire, 236 F. 474, 149 C. C. A. 526.

Equitable maxims being to an extent applicable to Indians, held, Land Department having improperly canceled a trust patent issued under Act July 4, 1884, and issued a fee-simple patent under Act Feb. 8, 1887, § 6, or Act May 8, 1906, amendatory thereof, Indian could not, having conveyed land, recover same on theory that purchaser was chargeable with notice of her incapacity to alienate. Seaples v. Card (D. C.) 246 F. 501.

Where Land Department, purporting to act under Act Feb. 8, 1887, § 6, or Act May 8, 1906, amendatory thereof, canceled a trust patent to homestead issued to Indian under Act July 4, 1884, which restricted alienation for 25 years and issued a fee-simple patent, such patent was not void, being within jurisdiction of Land Department, and it could not be collaterally attacked by Indian, who after issuance disposed of land. Id.

Where trust patent was issued to Indian pursuant to Act July 4, 1884, containing a 25-year restriction on alienation, Land Department is without authority, Indian having abandoned tribal life, to thereafter cancel such patent, and issue a new patent, without restrictions, under Act Feb. 8, 1887, § 6. Id.

Irrespective of whether an allotment of Indian lands under Act May 8, 1906, and the recording of a patent in fee simple to the allottee, vests title in the latter to the allotted land, mandamus at the instance of the allottee against the Secretary of the Interior will not lie to compel the delivery of a patent to the allottee, where it appears that the allotment was procured by false and fraudulent representations as to the competency and qualifications of the relator. United States ex rel. Prettybull v. Lane, 47 App. D. C. 134.

Determination by United States officials in issuing patent to mixed-blood Chippewa Indian of White Earth Indian reservation that he was an adult is conclusive as to his right to take title, except in direct action to set aside patent. Luck Land Co. v. Minor, 157 N. W. 655, 132 Minn. 396.

1. Construction in general.—This section did not deprive the Secretary of the Interior of authority to settle disputes concerning allotments, but only gave Circuit Courts concurrent authority. Daugherty v. McFarland (S. D.) 166 N. W. 143.

6. Grounds for relief.—Government held to have right of action against defendant for value of land which he procured to be fraudulently entered under Act Aug. 15, 1894, c. 290, though false showing made by the entrymen did not entitle them to patents. U. S. v. Jones, 242 F. 609, 155 C. C. A. 299, reversing judgment (D. C.) 232 F. 218.

8. Jurisdiction and proceedings of courts—State or territorial courts.—A full-blood Indian, being a citizen of the United States and of the state, has a right to sue in the state courts, and may have his rights growing out of treaties and acts of Congress relating to his land adjudicated, and such rights as may be protected at suit of the executive department of the federal government may also be enforced in state courts by an action by the Indian. Brown v. Anderson (Okl.) 160 P. 724.

On April 27, 1915, the district court had no jurisdiction of suit by full-blood Indian heirs of deceased Pawnee involving lands allotted to decedent under general allotment Act Feb. 8, 1887, as amended by Act Feb. 28, 1891, the determination of title, and, incidentally, the rights of possession of allotment while held in trust by United States. Cæsar v. Krow (Okl.) 176 P. 927.

Under this section and § 4223, county court held without jurisdiction to distribute land of deceased Indian allottees held under trust patents and to partition such lands. Daugherty v. McFarland (S. D.) 166 N. W. 143.

10. —— Parties.—Though the allottee of lands belonging to the Cherokee Nation, who had conveyed them, relinquished his allotment in a contest, a proceeding to which his grantee was not a party, the rights of the grantee were unaffected. U. S. v. Whitmire, 236 F. 474, 149 C. C. A. 526.

Anicker v. Gunsburg, 38 S. Ct. 228, 246 U. S. 110, 62 L. Ed. 603, affirming decree 226 F. 176, 141 C. C. A. 174.

§ 4218. (Act Feb. 28, 1891, c. 383, § 3.) Leases of farming lands occupied by Indians.

Validity of lease by Chickasaw Indian.—An agricultural lease made by a full-blood Chickasaw Indian of his allotted lands, executed April 13, 1912, to take effect January 1, 1914, is void, and such lease cannot be legally set up as a defense in an action for the recovery of the lands described therein. Taylor v. Granger (Okl.) 174 P. 234.

§ 4219. (Act Aug. 15, 1894, c. 290, § 1.) Leases of surplus lands.

Leases of restricted surplus allotments of Creek or Choctaw Indians.—A valid lease for agricultural purposes, of a Creek Indian's restricted surplus allotment, may be made pending a prior lease, provided it is made for a fair rental, near the termination of the existing lease, and does not extend the term more than five years from the date of the new lease. Brown v. Van Pelt (Okl.) 166 P. 102.

A lease executed on January 4, 1913, by full-blood Creek Indian woman, on her restricted surplus allotment to commence January 1, 1914, and run four years, is void, where there was not shown it was necessary to make the new lease at such time to regulate the course of cultivation. Id.

Valid lease for agricultural purposes of restricted Choctaw Indian's surplus allotment may be made during existence of prior valid lease, provided it is made for fair rental near termination of existing lease and is not for more than five years. Mullen v. Noah (Okl.) 166 P. 742.

§ 4220. (Act March 3, 1909, c. 263.) Leases of allotted lands; mining purposes.

1. Approval of leases by secretary of the Interior.—An Indian allottee, who holds his land subject to Act May 27, 1908, § 2, authorizing leases with the approval of the Interior Department, and has leased the surface, may also lease it for oil, with the right to drill thereon. Kemmerer v. Midland Oil & Drilling Co., 229 F. 872, 144 C. C. A. 154.

The death of a minor Creek allottee held, under Act May 27, 1908, c. 199, § 9, to terminate all control by the Secretary of the Interior over the land, including an oil lease previously made with his approval, and the royalties accrued and accruing thereunder. Richard v. Parker, 245 F. 330, 157 C. C. A. 522.

An appeal from a decree dismissing a bill for an injunction does not disturb the operative effect of the decree or operate as a stay of the proceedings; so that if, during the pendency of an appeal from such a decree dismissing a bill to enjoin the Secretary of the Interior from approving and delivering mineral leases of Indian lands, the Secretary approves and delivers the leases, the appeal will be dismissed as presenting only a moot question. Shaw v. Lane, 47 App. D. C. 170.

Where, pending an appeal from a decree dismissing a bill to enjoin the approval and delivery of certain mineral leases by the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary approves and delivers the leases, the fact that the bill contains a prayer for general relief will not permit this court to take jurisdiction to determine whether a mandatory injunction should not be granted to compel the Secretary to cancel the leases for the excess or abuse of discretion in approving and delivering them. Id.

Where full-blood Creek Indian executed oil and gas lease on his allotment which was filed with Indian agent, and died before its approval by Secretary of Interior, and his heirs conveyed his land, the subsequent approval related to date of lease, and heirs' grantees took subject thereto. Scioto Oil Co. v. O'Hern (Okl.) 169 P. 483.

2. —— Removal of restrictions against alienation.—Oil and gas lease by heirs of Indian allottee held an alienation of the oil and gas taken therefrom, and approval by the Secretary of Interior a removal of restrictions on such alienation. Parker v. Riley, 243 F. 42, 155 C. C. A. 572, affirming decree Riley v. Kelsey (D. C.) 218 F. 391.

Under Act May 27, 1908, §§ 1, 2, 9, where Indian allottee died leaving issue born since March 4, 1906, and other heirs, approval of oil and gas lease by Secretary of Interior held to remove restrictions on alienation from the leasehold and the royalties thereunder. Id.

3½. Validity of leases.—An oil and gas lease, executed by the guardian of an Indian minor in Oklahoma and approved by the proper probate court, is valid for its term, although the minor reaches majority before its expiration. Etchen v. Cheney, 235 F. 104, 148 C. C. A. 598.

On oil and gas lease executed by a Creek Indian is void under Act May 27, 1908, where undisputed parol evidence showed he was a minor at date of execution. Gilcrease v. McCullough (Okl.) 162 P. 178.

Where a minor citizen of the Creek Nation of one-eighth Indian blood executed an oil and gas lease void under Act May 27, 1908, and after his majority, without fraud, and for valuable consideration, executed another lease, held, that such second lease was valid and binding. Id.

8½. Regulations by secretary of Interior.—The discretionary power of the Secretary of the Interior to make regulations concerning oil and gas leases of Indian lands implies the power and discretion on his part to change or wholly abrogate such regulations. United States ex rel. Reynolds v. Lane, 45 App. D. C. 50.

11. Royalty—Assignment of.—An attempted assignment, by a full-blood Cherokee, of accruing royalties under a departmental oil and gas lease on his allotment, is void, unless approved by the Secreary of the Interior. Day v. Charlton (Okl.) 160 P. 606.

11½. Suits to set aside or cancel leases.—In suit to set aside an oil and gas lease executed by an Indian, evidence held insufficient to show fraud in its procurement. Gilcrease v. McCullough (Okl.) 162 P. 178.

In suit by Indian to cancel oil and gas lease under Act May 27, 1908, on ground that he was a minor when it was executed, census card showing Indian's enrollment at age of nine years held inadmissible to show his minority on date of execution of lease, not showing date of application for enrollment. Id.

In a suit by plaintiff, enrolled as an Indian, to set aside an oil and gas lease under Act May 27, 1908, on the ground of minority at the time of execution, the certified copy of the rolls of the Creek citizens by blood held not admissible to show plaintiff's age. Id.

Under Act May 27, 1908, § 3, held, that an enrollment record of the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, showing June 9, 1899, plaintiff was enrolled, being of the age of 9 years, will not establish his minority on February 8, 1911, 11 years and 4 months later. Id.

Applicability and operation of statute.—Trust patents issued to Indian allottees under Act Cong. Feb. 8, 1887, § 5 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4201), as amended by this section, cover merely the tribal possessory right, and the land remains government property. Daugherty v. McFarland (S. D.) 166 N. W. 143.

Removal of restrictions.—See Nuzum v. Springer, 156 P. 704, 97 Kan. 744.

Congress had power to remove restrictions imposed upon alienation by heirs of Indian patentee by Act March 2, 1889, § 11, as was done by this section. Egan v. McDonald, 38 S. Ct. 223, 246 U. S. 227, 62 L. Ed. 680, affirming judgment 153 N. W. 915, 36 S. D. 92.

Jurisdiction of county court.—Under this section, and Comp. St. 1916, § 4214, county court held without jurisdiction to distribute land of deceased Indian allottees held under trust patents and to partition such lands. Daugherty v. McFarland (S. D.) 166 N. W. 143.

Adjudication of heirship as condition precedent to conveyance.—Adjudication of heirship by some federal court held not condition precedent to valid conveyance by Indian allottee's heirs made in 1908, and approved by the Secretary of the Interior in 1909. Egan v. McDonald, 38 S. Ct. 223, 246 U. S. 227, 62 L. Ed. 680, affirming judgment 153 N. W. 915, 36 S. D. 92.

Approval by Secretary of Interior.—Lands allotted to Creeks, Chickasaws, and other Indians in Oklahoma, see David v. Youngken (C. C. A.) 250 F. 208.

Harris v. Bell (C. C. A.) 250 F. 209.

After Act Cong. May 27, 1908, became effective, Secretary of Interior had no authority to approve conveyances of full-blood inherited Indian lands. Hope v. Foley (Okl.) 157 P. 727.

Where in 1907 full-blood heir conveyed inherited lands without approval by Secretary of Interior under Act Cong. April 26, 1906, and in 1910 executed other deeds for which no present payment of consideration was proven, which were approved by Secretary of Interior and, after suit for their cancellation, were approved by proper court, conveyances were valid. Id.

Under Act Cong. April 26, 1906, § 22, the deed of a full-blood Indian husband succeeding to possession of his wife's allotment on her death by curtesy must have been approved by the Secretary of the Interior to be valid; he being an "heir" under such statute. Zimmerman v. Holmes (Okl.) 159 P. 303.

Act Cong. April 26, 1906, § 22, relating to conveyances by heirs of deceased Indian and approval by Secretary of Interior, applies to conveyances by adult full-blood Creek heirs of allotment set apart in right of deceased's ancestor after his death and patented to the "heirs." Moffett v. Conley (Okl.) 163 P. 118.

Congress has power to require conveyances by Indians of inherited allotted lands to be approved by Secretary of Interior, without regard to fact that land descended to heirs free of restrictions on alienation except disability of minority. Id.

Conveyances of inherited allotted lands through which intervener claimed equitable title not being approved by Secretary of Interior, except as to part as to which rights of third parties had attached, the equitable rights of the intervener fall with the legal title. Id.

Act Cong. April 26, 1906, c. 1876, § 22, invalidates deed of inherited lands allotted to full-blood Chickasaw dying before passage of act, where his adult full-blood Chickasaw heirs conveyed without the approval of the Secretary of the Interior. Cushing v. Whaley (Okl.) 165 P. 135.

While governmental guardianship of full-blood Indians continues, Congress may constitutionally require that conveyances by full-blood Indian heirs of inherited allotted lands be approved by the Secretary of the Interior, although prior restrictions have expired by death of allottee. Id.

Deed executed in 1907 by full-blood Chickasaw heir, conveying land allotted after allottee's death, was void, without approval of Secretary of Interior, under Act Cong. April 26, 1906, c. 1876, § 22. Bruner v. Nordmeyer (Okl.) 166 P. 126.

Conveyances of inherited lands made by full-blood heirs of a Mississippi Choctaw Indian who died in 1903 are void unless approved by the Secretary of the Interior, and conveyances made after Act Cong. May 27, 1908, are void unless approved by the judge of the county court having jurisdiction of settlement of estate of decedent. Sampson v. Smith (Okl.) 166 P. 422.

Act Cong. April 26, 1906, § 22, authorizes, where there are both adult and minor heirs, alienation prior to patent, and without approval of Secretary of Interior, of interest of minor Indian heir of less than full blood only by joining in sale with adult heirs by guardian duly appointed. Lula, Seminole Roll No. 908, v. Powell (Okl.) 166 P. 1050.

Under Act Cong. April 21, 1904, authorizing, when for best interest of allottee, sale of his restricted lands, recommendation by United States Indian agent and approval by Secretary of Interior is condition precedent to sale of such lands. Murrow Indian Orphans' Home v. McClendon (Okl.) 166 P. 1101.

Approval of Secretary of Interior was not necessary to validity of guardian's deed to interest of minor in lands of his full-blood mother, executed after her death, where it did not appear that minor was full-blood. Moffer v. Jones (Okl.) 169 P. 652.

Execution of deed to Indian allotment by heirs of allottee, and approval thereof by Secretary of Interior, not only divested federal government of title and terminated its jurisdiction over land, but transferred jurisdiction to state courts. Tripp v. Sieler, 161 N. W. 337, 38 S. D. 321, rehearing denied 164 N. W. 67.

Under this section, though one of heirs of deceased allotee of Indian allotment, who executed conveyance thereof, which was approved by Secretary of Interior, was a refractory Indian, the deed conveyed full title to the purchaser, nevertheless. Id.

Where deed approved by the Secretary of the Interior, executed by heirs of deceased allottee of Indian lands, had been recorded in office of register of deeds of proper county before passage or approval of Laws S. D. 1911, c. 3, defect in acknowledgment was cured by act, and deed or record was admissible in evidence. Id.

Where a United States Indian agent reported to Commissioner of Indian affairs that parties who executed deed to Indian allotment were sole heirs of deceased allottee, and deed was approved, it conveyed good prima facie title, and burden was on purchaser from party claiming under deed to show existence of other heirs before he could rescind. Id.

Recitals of report of special United States Indian agent to Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and Department of Interior's approval of deed executed by heirs of deceased allottee of Indian lands, held not an adjudication that parties who executed deed were sole heirs of allottee. Id.

Under this section, approval by Secretary of Interior of deed by Indian's widow claiming under distribution and partition by county court held to convey to grantee the fee-simple title free and clear of the rights of any other heirs. Daugherty v. McFarland (S. D.) 166 N. W. 143.

§ 4225. (Act March 1, 1907, c. 2285.) Same; of noncompetent Indian.

U. S. v. Seufert Bros. Co. (C. C. A.) 252 F. 51.

§ 4226. (Act June 25, 1910, c. 431, § 1.) Ascertainment of heirs of deceased allottee, etc.

3. Construction.—Authority of Secretary of Interior.—Order of Secretary of Interior recognizing the adopted children of deceased Indian allottee as his heirs, though made final and conclusive by this section, did not exhaust his power so as to permit mandamus to interfere with his action in reopening the matter for further consideration. Lane v. U. S. ex rel. Mickadiet, 36 S. Ct. 599, 241 U. S. 201, 60 L. Ed. 956; reversing judgment United States of America ex rel. Mickadiet v. Lane, 43 App. D. C. 414.

A decree of adoption by a state court is no reason for interfering by mandamus with determination of Secretary of Interior, under this section, as to the legal heirs of a deceased Indian allottee. Id.

§ 4234a. (Act June 14, 1918, c. 101, § 1.) Determination of heirship of deceased members of Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole tribes.

A determination of the question of fact as to who are the heirs of any deceased citizen allottee of the Five Civilized Tribes of Indians who may die or may have heretofore died, leaving restricted heirs, by the probate court of the State of Oklahoma having jurisdiction to settle the estate of said deceased, conducted in the manner provided by the laws of said State for the determination of heirship in closing up the estates of deceased persons, shall be conclusive of said question: Provided, That an appeal may be taken in the manner and to the court provided by law, in cases of appeal in probate matters generally: Provided further, That where the time limited by the laws of said State for the institution of administration proceedings has elapsed without their institution, as well as in cases where there exists no lawful ground for the institution of administration proceedings in said courts, a petition may be filed therein having for its object a determination of such heirship and the case shall proceed in all respects as if administration proceedings upon other proper grounds had been regularly begun, but this proviso shall not be construed to reopen the question of the determination of an heirship already ascertained by competent legal authority under existing laws: Provided further, That said petition shall be verified, and in all cases arising hereunder service by publication may be had on all unknown heirs, the service to be in accordance with the method of serving nonresident defendants in civil suits in the district courts of said State; and if any person so served by publication does not appear and move to be heard within six months from the date of the final order, he shall be concluded equally with parties personally served or voluntarily appearing. (40 Stat. 606.)

This section, and the section next following, were an act entitled "An act to provide for a determination of heirship in cases of deceased members of the Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek, and Seminole Tribes of Indians in Oklahoma, conferring jurisdiction upon district courts to partition lands belonging to full-blood heirs of allottees of the Five Civilized Tribes, and for other purposes," cited above.

Notes of Decisions

Jurisdiction of courts prior to enactment.—The district courts of Oklahoma, prior to enactment of this and the following section, conferring such jurisdiction, were without jurisdiction in an action for partition of realty inherited by full-blood Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes from a deceased full-blood allottee. Hoodenpyl v. Champion (Okl.) 177 P. 369.

§ 4234b. (Act June 14, 1918, c. 101, § 2.) Same; laws applicable to lands of full-blooded members.

The lands of full-blood members of any of the Five Civilized Tribes are hereby made subject to the laws of the State of Oklahoma, providing for the partition of real estate. Any land allotted in such proceedings to a full-blood Indian, or conveyed to him upon his election to take the same at the appraisement, shall remain subject to all restrictions upon alienation and taxation obtaining prior to such partition. In case of a sale under any decree, or partition, the conveyance thereunder shall operate to relieve the land described of all restrictions of every character. (40 Stat. 606.)

§ 4238a. (Act June 21, 1906, c. 3504.) Sale of allotted lands for town-sites.

For the purpose of allowing any Indian allottee to sell for townsite purposes any portion of the lands allotted to him the Secretary of the Interior may, by order, remove restrictions upon the alienation of such lands and issue fee-simple patents therefor under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe. (34 Stat. 373.)

This was a provision in the Indian appropriation act for the fiscal year 1907, under the subtitle "South Dakota," cited above. This section is in its language of general application, although included in the provisions which relate only to Indians in South Dakota, and is therefore included in this compilation.

TITLE XXIX—IMMIGRATION

CHAPTER A—REGULATION AND RESTRICTION OF IMMIGRATION IN GENERAL

The provisions of various acts relating to immigration subsequent to the enactment of the Revised Statutes and prior to March 3, 1903, were superseded almost entirely by the more comprehensive provisions of the same nature contained in the Immigration Act of March 3, 1903, c. 1012, 32 Stat. 1213. But that act, except section 34 thereof, which related to a different subject, was expressly repealed and the provisions of the repealed sections relating to immigration, with some changes and additions, were re-enacted in sections designated by the same numbers, respectively, by the Immigration Act of Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1134, 34 Stat. 898. Said Act Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1134, except section 34 thereof, was in turn expressly repealed by Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, and the provisions of said repealed act relating to immigration, with some changes and additions, were re-enacted by said Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29. Said Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, did not, however, follow the same arrangement of its subject-matter as said Act Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1134, and hence it became impossible to give the new act the same section numberings as the repealed act, without doing violence to the arrangement of the new act. Accordingly said Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, has been inserted at the end of this chapter as §§ 4289¼a–4289¼u thereof. The skeleton references set forth below indicate the sections of U. S. Comp. St. 1916 repealed and superseded by said Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29. Of the provisions relating to Immigration as set forth in this chapter in U. S. Comp. St. 1916 the following sections only may be said to be still in force: §§ 4241, 4243, 4245, 4257, 4271, 4281a, 4283.

§ 4289¼a. (Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, § 1.) Definitions; enforcement of act in Philippines.

The word "alien" wherever used in this Act shall include any person not a native-born or naturalized citizen of the United States; but this definition shall not be held to include Indians of the United States not taxed or citizens of the islands under the jurisdiction of the United States. That the term "United States" as used in the title as well as in the various sections of this Act shall be construed to mean the United States, and any waters, territory, or other place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, except the Isthmian Canal Zone; but if any alien shall leave the Canal Zone or any insular possession of the United States and attempt to enter any other place under the jurisdiction of the United States, nothing contained in this Act shall be construed as permitting him to enter under any other conditions than those applicable to all aliens. That the term "seaman" as used in this Act shall include every person signed on the ship's articles and employed in any capacity on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place.

That this Act shall be enforced in the Philippine Islands by officers of the general government thereof, unless and until it is superseded by an act passed by the Philippine Legislature and approved by the President of the United States to regulate immigration in the Philippine Islands as authorized in the Act entitled "An Act to declare the purpose of the people of the United States as to the future political status of the people of the Philippine Islands, and to provide a more autonomous government for those islands," approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen. (39 Stat. 874.)

This was an act entitled "An act to regulate the immigration of aliens to, and the residence of aliens in, the United States," cited above. See note at the beginning of this Chapter.

§ 4289¼aa. (Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, § 2.) Tax on aliens entering United States; lien of tax on vessels, etc.

There shall be levied, collected, and paid a tax of $8 for every alien, including alien seamen regularly admitted as provided in this Act, entering the United States: Provided, That children under sixteen years of age who accompany their father or their mother shall not be subject to said tax. The said tax shall be paid to the collector of customs of the port or customs district to which said alien shall come, or, if there be no collector at such port or district, then to the collector nearest thereto, by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel, transportation line, or other conveyance or vehicle bringing such alien to the United States, or by the alien himself if he does not come by a vessel, transportation line, or other conveyance or vehicle or when collection from the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel, transportation line, or other conveyance, or vehicle bringing such alien to the United States is impracticable. The tax imposed by this section shall be a lien upon the vessel or other vehicle of carriage or transportation bringing such aliens to the United States, and shall be a debt in favor of the United States against the owner or owners of such vessel or other vehicle, and the payment of such tax may be enforced by any legal or equitable remedy. That the said tax shall not be levied on account of aliens who enter the United States after an uninterrupted residence of at least one year immediately preceding such entrance in the Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, the Republic of Cuba, or the Republic of Mexico, for a temporary stay, nor on account of otherwise admissible residents or citizens of any possession of the United States, nor on account of aliens in transit through the United States, nor upon aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who later shall go in transit from one part of the United States to another through foreign contiguous territory, and the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor shall issue rules and regulations and prescribe the conditions necessary to prevent abuse of these exceptions: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration, under the direction or with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, by agreement with transportation lines, as provided in section twenty-three of this Act, may arrange in some other manner for the payment of the tax imposed by this section upon any or all aliens seeking admission from foreign contiguous territory: Provided further, That said tax, when levied upon aliens entering the Philippine Islands, shall be paid into the treasury of said islands, to be expended for the benefit of such islands: Provided further, That in the cases of aliens applying for admission from foreign contiguous territory and rejected, the head tax collected shall upon application, upon a blank which shall be furnished and explained to him, be refunded to the alien. (39 Stat. 875.)

The following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: All idiots, imbeciles, feeble-minded persons, epileptics, insane persons; persons who have had one or more attacks of insanity at any time previously; persons of constitutional psychopathic inferiority; persons with chronic alcoholism; paupers; professional beggars; vagrants; persons afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease; persons not comprehended within any of the foregoing excluded classes who are found to be and are certified by the examining surgeon as being mentally or physically defective, such physical defect being of a nature which may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living; persons who have been convicted of or admit having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude; polygamists, or persons who practice polygamy or believe in or advocate the practice of polygamy; anarchists, or persons who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or who disbelieve in or are opposed to organized government, or who advocate the assassination of public officials, or who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or who advocate or teach the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property; prostitutes, or persons coming into the United States for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; persons who directly or indirectly procure or attempt to procure or import prostitutes or persons for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; persons who are supported by or receive in whole or in part the proceeds of prostitution; persons hereinafter called contract laborers, who have been induced, assisted, encouraged, or solicited to migrate to this country by offers or promises of employment, whether such offers or promises are true or false, or in consequence of agreements, oral, written or printed, express or implied, to perform labor in this country of any kind, skilled or unskilled; persons who have come in consequence of advertisements for laborers printed, published, or distributed in a foreign country; persons likely to become a public charge; persons who have been deported under any of the provisions of this Act, and who may again seek admission within one year from the date of such deportation, unless prior to their reembarkation at a foreign port or their attempt to be admitted from foreign contiguous territory the Secretary of Labor shall have consented to their reapplying for admission; persons whose tickets or passage is paid for with the money of another, or who are assisted by others to come, unless it is affirmatively and satisfactorily shown that such persons do not belong to one of the foregoing excluded classes; persons whose ticket or passage is paid for by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign Government, either directly or indirectly; stowaways, except that any such stowaway, if otherwise admissible, may be admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor; all children under sixteen years of age, unaccompanied by or not coming to one or both of their parents, except that any such children may, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, be admitted if in his opinion they are not likely to become a public charge and are otherwise eligible; unless otherwise provided for by existing treaties, persons who are natives of islands not possessed by the United States adjacent to the Continent of Asia, situate south of the twentieth parallel latitude north, west of the one hundred and sixtieth meridian of longitude east from Greenwich, and north of the tenth parallel of latitude south, or who are natives of any country, province, or dependency situate on the Continent of Asia west of the one hundred and tenth meridian of longitude east from Greenwich and east of the fiftieth meridian of longitude east from Greenwich and south of the fiftieth parallel of latitude north, except that portion of said territory situate between the fiftieth and the sixty-fourth meridians of longitude east from Greenwich and the twenty-fourth and thirty-eighth parallels of latitude north, and no alien now in any way excluded from, or prevented from entering, the United States shall be admitted to the United States. The provision next foregoing, however, shall not apply to persons of the following status or occupations: Government officers, ministers or religious teachers, missionaries, lawyers, physicians, chemists, civil engineers, teachers, students, authors, artists, merchants, and travelers for curiosity or pleasure, nor to their legal wives or their children under sixteen years of age who shall accompany them or who subsequently may apply for admission to the United States, but such persons or their legal wives or foreign-born children who fail to maintain in the United States a status or occupation placing them within the excepted classes shall be deemed to be in the United States contrary to law, and shall be subject to deportation as provided in section nineteen of this Act.

That after three months from the passage of this Act, in addition to the aliens who are by law now excluded from admission into the United States, the following persons shall also be excluded from admission thereto, to wit:

All aliens over sixteen years of age, physically capable of reading, who can not read the English language, or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish: Provided, That any admissible alien, or any alien heretofore or hereafter legally admitted, or any citizen of the United States, may bring in or send for his father or grandfather over fifty-five years of age, his wife, his mother, his grandmother, or his unmarried or widowed daughter, if otherwise admissible, whether such relative can read or not; and such relative shall be permitted to enter. That for the purpose of ascertaining whether aliens can read the immigrant inspectors shall be furnished with slips of uniform size, prepared under the direction of the Secretary of Labor, each containing not less than thirty nor more than forty words in ordinary use, printed in plainly legible type in some one of the various languages or dialects of immigrants. Each alien may designate the particular language or dialect in which he desires the examination to be made, and shall be required to read the words printed on the slip in such language or dialect. That the following classes of persons shall be exempt from the operation of the illiteracy test, to wit: All aliens who shall prove to the satisfaction of the proper immigration officer or to the Secretary of Labor that they are seeking admission to the United States to avoid religious persecution in the country of their last permanent residence, whether such persecution be evidenced by overt acts or by laws or governmental regulations that discriminate against the alien or the race to which he belongs because of his religious faith; all aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who have resided therein continuously for five years and who return to the United States within six months from the date of their departure therefrom; all aliens in transit through the United States; all aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who later shall go in transit from one part of the United States to another through foreign contiguous territory: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall exclude, if otherwise admissible, persons convicted, or who admit the commission, or who teach or advocate the commission, of an offense purely political: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act, relating to the payments for tickets or passage by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign Government shall not apply to the tickets or passage of aliens in immediate and continuous transit through the United States to foreign contiguous territory: Provided further, That skilled labor, if otherwise admissible, may be imported if labor of like kind unemployed cannot be found in this country, and the question of the necessity of importing such skilled labor in any particular instance may be determined by the Secretary of Labor upon the application of any person interested, such application to be made before such importation, and such determination by the Secretary of Labor to be reached after a full hearing and an investigation into the facts of the case: Provided further, That the provisions of this law applicable to contract labor shall not be held to exclude professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, nurses, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognized learned profession, or persons employed as domestic servants: Provided further, That whenever the President shall be satisfied that passports issued by any foreign Government to its citizens or subjects to go to any country other than the United States, or to any insular possession of the United States or to the Canal Zone, are being used for the purpose of enabling the holder to come to the continental territory of the United States to the detriment of labor conditions therein, the President shall refuse to permit such citizens or subjects of the country issuing such passports to enter the continental territory of the United States from such other country or from such insular possession or from the Canal Zone: Provided further, That aliens returning after a temporary absence to an unrelinquished United States domicile of seven consecutive years may be admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and under such conditions as he may prescribe:

Provided further, That nothing in the contract-labor or reading-test provisions of this Act shall be construed to prevent, hinder, or restrict any alien exhibitor, or holder of concession or privilege for any fair or exposition authorized by Act of Congress, from bringing into the United States, under contract, such otherwise admissible alien mechanics, artisans, agents, or other employees, natives of his country as may be necessary for installing or conducting his exhibit or for preparing for installing or conducting any business authorized or permitted under any concession or privilege which may have been or may be granted by any such fair or exposition in connection therewith, under such rules and regulations as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe both as to the admission and return of such persons: Provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor shall issue rules and prescribe conditions, including exaction of such bonds as may be necessary, to control and regulate the admission and return of otherwise inadmissible aliens applying for temporary admission: Provided further, That nothing in this Act shall be construed to apply to accredited officials of foreign Governments, nor to their suites, families, or guests. (39 Stat. 875.)

Construction, operation, and validity of immigration laws—Application to Chinese.—As respected application of statute regarding importation of contract laborers to aliens brought to San Francisco to join crew of vessel, held that fact that they were Chinese subjects had no significance. Scharrenberg v. Dollar S. S. Co., 38 S. Ct. 28, 245 U. S. 122, 62 L. Ed. 189, affirming judgment 229 F. 970, 144 C. C. A. 252, Ann. Cas. 1917C, 258.

The Immigration Act applies to aliens born in China, and the minor son of a Chinese merchant cannot lawfully enter the United States, if at that time he be a person likely to become a public charge. Lam Fung Yen v. Frick, 233 F. 393, 147 C. C. A. 329.

That one who lawfully entered as the minor son of a Chinese merchant has since become a laborer is not enough of itself to destroy his right to remain, the general Immigration Act not forbidding the residence of Chinese laborers. Lew Loy v. U. S., 242 F. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

"Aliens"—Immigrants and citizens—Persons returning to the United States after absence.—One favorable inspection does not entitle an alien who has entered the United States and departed to re-enter at a future time; and this is so regardless of the alien's belief as to his rights. Ex parte Callow (D. C.) 240 F. 212.

Grounds for deportation and persons subject to exclusion—Persons likely to become public charges.—Finding by commissioner of immigration that alien was likely to become a public charge held without evidence to support it. U. S. v. Howe (D. C.) 235 F. 990.

In a proceeding for the deportation of an alien, evidence held insufficient to show that he was likely to become a public charge, so as to be subject to deportation under Act Feb. 20, 1907. Ex parte Callow (D. C.) 240 F. 212.

The Immigration Act, excluding persons likely to become a public charge, applies to persons who do not intend to engage in profitable industry, but to make their living by gambling. Lam Fung Yen v. Frick, 233 F. 393, 147 C. C. A. 329.

The Immigration Act, excluding persons likely to become a public charge, applies to the minor son of a Chinese merchant, whose father would be liable for his support only during minority. Id.

Under Immigration Act, §§ 2, 20, 21 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4244, 4269, 4270), a person likely to thereafter become a public charge may be deported, though he did not become a charge within three years after entry. Id.

In a proceeding for the deportation of an alien woman and her minor son, where there was uncertainty of continuing support of the son by the father alone, who was a resident of the United States, the son must be ordered deported, as one likely to become a public charge, if the mother be deported. Greenwood v. Frick, 233 F. 629, 147 C. C. A. 437.

Where an alien woman entered the United States for an immoral purpose, making her subject to possible prosecution and imprisonment at public expense, or naturally tending to a life not supported by honest work, she may be deported on the ground that she is likely to become a public charge. Id.

Under Immigration Act 1907, § 2, as amended by Act March 26, 1910, c. 128 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4244), and section 20 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4469), held, that alien, who regularly entered United States, could not be deported as person likely to become public charge because, after his entry and establishment in business, it was contended, though he denied same, that he was guilty of fraud in country from which he came. Howe v. U. S., 247 F. 292, 159 C. C. A. 386.

—— Persons admitting commission of crime involving moral turpitude.—Where an alien woman, not having heard from her husband for 2 years, contracted a second marriage, and thereafter did not hear from him for over 11 years, he is presumed to be dead, and the second marriage legal, and her conduct does not involve moral turpitude, warranting deportation. Greenwood v. Frick, 233 F. 629, 147 C. C. A. 437.

Canadian soldier, entering the United States while on leave and not returning at the expiration of his furlough, held not subject to deportation under this section. Ex parte Hill (D. C.) 245 F. 687.

—— Persons receiving earnings of prostitutes.—Under Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 2, 3, as amended by Act March 26, 1910, §§ 1, 2 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4244, 4247), alien who, having entered United States, leases premises to prostitutes in which they ply their trade, is not to be deported as receiving earnings of prostitutes. Katz v. Commissioner of Immigration at Port of San Francisco, Cal., 245 F. 316, 157 C. C. A. 508.

—— Contract laborers in general.—"Offers or promises of employment," to come within the contract labor clause of Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 2, as amended by Act March 26, 1910 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4244), must be made by or with the authority of the proposed employer, and a mere assurance or promise in general terms of employment after reaching this country, made to an alien by a foreign steamship agent, is not ground for exclusion. Ex parte Prout (D. C.) 253 F. 97.

Nine Portuguese laborers, not shown to have acted in concert, bound to a point in this country where they were assured by steamship agents that they could find employment, but having no knowledge by whom or for what they would be employed, held not subject to exclusion as contract laborers. Id.

—— Persons "assisted by others to come."—See Tomkins v. Paterson (D. C.) 238 F. 879.

Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1134, § 2, 34 Stat. 898 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4244), which excluded from admission into the United States aliens "who have been induced or solicited to migrate to this country by offers or promises of employment or in consequence of agreements, * * * express or implied, to perform labor in this country of any kind, skilled or unskilled," or who have been assisted by others to come, unless it is affirmatively shown that they do not belong to one of the excluded classes, a Japanese alien who came to this country at the solicitation of an uncle and with money furnished by him for the purpose of entering his employ as a salesman in a store, although no contract for service was made, not being in one of the classes expressly excepted by such section, was held not entitled to entry. Ex parte Kunijirô Toguchi (D. C.) 238 F. 632.

—— Persons induced to migrate by offer or promise of employment.—The action of a Dutch steamship company in bringing a clerk from its Amsterdam office to New York for limited employment in its New York office, and paying his expenses, held not in violation of this section. U. S. v. Royal Dutch West India Mail (D. C.) 250 F. 913.

—— Seaman.—Bringing aliens from China to San Francisco under contract to join crew of vessel of American registry, held not a violation of Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 2, 4, and 5, as amended in 1910 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4244, 4248), respecting importation of contract laborers. Scharrenberg v. Dollar S. S. Co., 38 S. Ct. 28, 245 U. S. 122, 62 L. Ed. 189, affirming judgment 229 F. 970, 144 C. C. A. 252, Ann. Cas. 1917C, 258.

Administration of law.—Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 2, 26 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4244, 4275), Secretary of Labor held authorized to take bond conditioned that alien children should attend school, and not become a public charge, and that reports should be made. Illinois Surety Co. v. U. S., 229 F. 527, 143 C. C. A. 595; Id., 229 F. 533, 143 C. C. A. 601.

—— Review by courts.—See Ex parte Chan Kam, 230 F. 990, 145 C. C. A. 184.

Where aliens, sought to be deported, were given a fair hearing, and there was evidence to support the findings of the Secretary of Labor, the courts were not concerned with its weight. Wallis v. U. S., 230 F. 71, 144 C. C. A. 369.

§ 4289¼b(1). (Act Oct. 16, 1918, c. 186, § 1.) Aliens excluded; anarchists.

Aliens who are anarchists; aliens who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law; aliens who disbelieve in or are opposed to all organized government; aliens who advocate or teach the assassination of public officials; aliens who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property; aliens who are members of or affiliated with any organization that entertains a belief in, teaches, or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or that entertains or teaches disbelief in or opposition to all organized government, or that advocates the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or that advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property shall be excluded from admission into the United States. (40 Stat. 1012.)

This section, and the two sections next following, were an act entitled "An act to exclude and expel from the United States aliens who are members of the anarchistic and similar classes," cited above.

§ 4289¼bbb. (Res. Oct. 19, 1918, c. 190.) Aliens excluded; aliens conscripted or volunteering for military or naval service readmitted.

Notwithstanding the provisions of section three of the immigration Act of February fifth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, excluding from the United States aliens who are likely to become a public charge, or who are physically defective, or who are contract laborers, or who have come in consequence of advertisements for labor printed, published, or distributed in a foreign country, or who are assisted by others to come, or whose ticket or passage is paid for with the money of another or by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign government, or who are stowaways, or who are illiterate, aliens lawfully resident in the United States when heretofore or hereafter enlisted or conscripted for the military or naval service of the United States, or of any one of the nations cobelligerent of the United States in the present war; and aliens lawfully resident in the United States who have enlisted for service with Czecho-Slovak, Polish, or other independent forces attached to the United States Army or to the army or navy of any one of the cobelligerents of the United States in the present war, who may during or within one year after the termination of the war apply for readmission to this country, after being honorably discharged or granted furlough abroad by the proper military or naval authorities, or after being rejected on final examination in connection with their enlistment or conscription shall, within two years after the termination of the war, be readmitted; and that any alien of either of the foregoing descriptions who would otherwise be excluded under said section of the immigration Act on the ground that he is idiotic, imbecile, feeble-minded, epileptic, insane, or has had one or more attacks of insanity, or on the ground that he is afflicted with constitutional psychopathic inferiority, tuberculosis, a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or mental defect, shall be readmitted if it is proved that the disability was acquired while the alien was serving in the military or naval forces of the United States or of any one of the nations cobelligerent of the United States in the present war or in an independent force of the kind hereinbefore described, if such alien returns to a port of the United States within two years after the termination of the war; and that the head tax provided in the immigration Act of February fifth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall not be collected from aliens readmitted into the United States under the provisions of this resolution. (40 Stat. 1014.)

This section was a resolution entitled a "Joint Resolution authorizing the readmission to the United States of certain aliens who have been conscripted or have volunteered for service with the military forces of the United States or cobelligerent forces," cited above. It supersedes a somewhat similar resolution enacted June 29, 1918, Res. June 29, 1918, c. 112, 40 Stat. 634, which reads as follows:

Notwithstanding the provisions of section three of the immigration Act of February fifth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, excluding from the United States aliens who are likely to become a public charge, or who are physically defective, or who are contract laborers, or who have come in consequence of advertisements for labor printed, published, or distributed in a foreign country, or who are assisted by others to come, or whose ticket or passage is paid for with the money of another or by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or foreign government, or who are stowaways, or who are illiterate, aliens lawfully resident in the United States when heretofore or hereafter enlisted or conscripted for the military service of the United States; and aliens lawfully resident in the United States who, prior to April sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, declared their intention to become citizens of the United States, and who have enlisted for service with Czecko-Slovak, Polish, or other independent forces attached to the United States Army or to the army of any one of the cobelligerents of the United States in the present war, who may, within one year after the termination of the war, apply for readmission to this country, after being honorably discharged or granted furlough abroad by the proper military authorities, or after being rejected on final examination in connection with their enlistment or conscription, shall be readmitted; and that any alien of either of the two foregoing descriptions who would otherwise be excluded under said section of the immigration Act on the ground that he is idiotic, imbecile, feeble-minded, epileptic, insane, or has had one or more attacks of insanity, or on the ground that he is afflicted with constitutional psychopathic inferiority, tuberculosis, a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or mental defect, shall be readmitted if it is proved that the disability was acquired while the alien was serving in the military forces of the United States or in an independent force of the kind hereinbefore described, if such alien returns to a port of the United States within one year after the termination of the war; and that the head tax provided in the immigration Act of February fifth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall not be collected from aliens readmitted into the United States under the provisions of this resolution.

§ 4289¼c. (Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, § 5.) Contract laborers; prepaying transportation or assisting importation.

It shall be unlawful for any person, company, partnership, or corporation, in any manner whatsoever, to prepay the transportation or in any way to induce, assist, encourage, or solicit, or attempt to induce, assist, encourage, or solicit the importation or migration of any contract laborer or contract laborers into the United States, unless such contract laborer or contract laborers are exempted under the fifth proviso of section three of this Act, or have been imported with the permission of the Secretary of Labor in accordance with the fourth proviso of said section, and for every violation of any of the provisions of this section the person, partnership, company, or corporation violating the same shall forfeit and pay for every such offense the sum of $1,000, which may be sued for and recovered by the United States, as debts of like amount are now recovered in the courts of the United States. For every violation of the provisions hereof the person violating the same may be prosecuted in a criminal action for a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of $1,000, or by imprisonment for a term of not less than six months nor more than two years; and under either the civil or the criminal procedure mentioned separate suits or prosecutions may be brought for each alien thus offered or promised employment as aforesaid. The Department of Justice, with the approval of the Department of Labor, may from any fines or penalties received pay rewards to persons other than Government employés who may furnish information leading to the recovery of any such penalties, or to the arrest and punishment of any person, as in this section provided. (39 Stat. 879.)

Construction and operation in general.—Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 5 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4250), imposing penalties for importation of contract laborers, etc., should be strictly construed. U. S. v. River Spinning Co. (C. C. A.) 250 F. 586.

In construing Contract Labor Act Feb. 20, 1907 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4248), strict construction adopted by Circuit Court of Appeals for circuit in which District Court was located should be followed. U. S. v. River Spinning Co. (D. C.) 243 F. 759.

Violation of statute.—See Scharrenberg v. Dollar S. S. Co., 38 S. Ct. 28, 245 U. S. 122, 62 L. Ed. 189, affirming judgment 229 F. 970, 144 C. C. A. 252, Ann. Cas. 1917C, 258.

Where railroad company, by its agent, violated provisions of Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 4, 5 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4248, 4250), relative to importation of contract laborers, held, that its agent's ignorance of existence of act, was no defense. New York Cent. & H. R. R. Co. v. U. All aliens arriving at ports of the United States shall be examined by not less than two such medical officers at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and under such administrative regulations as he may prescribe and under medical regulations prepared by the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service. Medical officers of the United States Public Health Service who have had especial training in the diagnosis of insanity and mental defects shall be detailed for duty or employed at all ports of entry designated by the Secretary of Labor, and such medical officers shall be provided with suitable

That the inspection, other than the physical and mental examination, of aliens, including those seeking admission or readmission to or the privilege of passing through or residing in the United States, and the examination of aliens arrested within the United States under this Act, shall be conducted by immigrant inspectors, except as hereinafter provided in regard to boards of special inquiry. All aliens coming to the United States shall be required to state under oath the purposes for which they come, the length of time they intend to remain in the United States, whether or not they intend to abide in the United States permanently and become citizens thereof, and such other items of information regarding themselves as will aid the immigration officials in determining whether they belong to any of the excluded classes enumerated in section three hereof. Any commissioner of immigration or inspector in charge shall also have power to require by subpœna the attendance and testimony of witnesses before said inspectors and the production of books, papers, and documents touching the right of any alien to enter, reenter, reside in, or pass through the United States, and to that end may invoke the aid of any court of the United States; and any district court within the jurisdiction of which investigations are being conducted by an immigrant inspector may, in the event of neglect or refusal to respond to a subpœna issued by any commissioner of immigration or inspector in charge or refusal to testify before said immigrant inspector, issue an order requiring such person to appear before said immigrant inspector, produce books, papers, and documents if demanded, and testify; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by the court as a contempt thereof. That any person, including employees, officials, or agents of transportation companies, who shall assault, resist, prevent, impede, or interfere with any immigration official or employee in the performance of his duty under this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than $2,000, or both; and any person who shall use any deadly or dangerous weapon in resisting any immigration official or employee in the performance of his duty shall be deemed guilty of a felony and shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than ten years. Every alien who may not appear to the examining immigrant inspector at the port of arrival to be clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to land shall be detained for examination in relation thereto by a board of special inquiry. In the event of rejection by the board of special inquiry, in all cases where an appeal to the Secretary of Labor is permitted by this Act, the alien shall be so informed and shall have the right to be represented by counsel or other adviser on such appeal. The decision of an immigrant inspector, if favorable to the admission of any alien, shall be subject to challenge by any other immigrant inspector, and such challenge shall operate to take the alien whose right to land is so challenged before a board of special inquiry for its investigation. (39 Stat. 885.)

Proceedings for admission in general.—Denial of communication between Chinese woman and citizen, whose wife she claimed to be, pending determination of the matter by the immigration authorities, held not an injustice. Mah Shee v. White, 242 F. 868, 155 C. C. A. 456.

On habeas corpus to obtain discharge of a Chinese woman, ordered deported, though she applied for admission as wife of native-born Chinese citizen of United States, evidence held insufficient to show that applicant was not given fair hearing or that order of deportation was not justified. Tsuie Shee v. Backus, 243 F. 551, 156 C. C. A. 249.

An order denying admission to this country of a Chinese alien held to have been made after a fair hearing, and to be sustained by the evidence. Chew Hoy Quong v. White, 244 F. 749, 157 C. C. A. 197.

Hearing before immigration officers held unfair, where examination is had and evidence weighed in a spirit hostile to the statute making foreign-born children of citizens also citizens. Ex parte Tom Toy Tin (D. C.) 230 F. 747.

Exclusion of alleged son of native-born citizen on ground that his alleged father had not taken advantage of the rights of an American citizen, without evidence of any failure in this respect, held manifestly unfair. Id.

Representation by counsel.—As rules of Bureau of Immigration contemplate submission of evidence on appeal in addition to that brought out at hearing, refusal to permit applicant's counsel to communicate with her held to deprive her of a fair hearing. Mah Shee v. White, 242 F. 868, 155 C. C. A. 456.

A Chinese woman, applying for admission into the United States as the wife of a Chinese merchant, was denied a fair hearing where, pending the determination of her application by the immigration authorities, her attorneys were not allowed to interview her. Chew Hoy Quong v. White (C. C. A.) 249 F. 869.

As proceedings for an alien's admission are summary and informal, he cannot, where not denied counsel or right to produce witnesses, complain that counsel was not present or given opportunity to cross-examine. Ex parte Ng Kwack Kang (D. C.) 233 F. 478.

Rehearing.—On application of a Chinese alien for entry, the commissioner has jurisdiction to order rehearings by inspectors until the facts are sufficiently developed to afford a basis for his judgment. Chew Hoy Quong v. White, 244 F. 749, 157 C. C. A. 197.

Administering of oaths in deportation proceeding.—Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 24 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4273), an immigration inspector is not authorized to administer an oath to take evidence in a proceeding for the deportation of an alien. Backus v. Owe Sam Goon, 235 F. 847, 149 C. C. A. 159, affirming order Ex parte Owe Sam Goon (D. C.) 230 F. 654.

§ 4289¼ii. (Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, § 17.) Boards of special inquiry; appointment.

Boards of special inquiry shall be appointed by the commissioner of immigration or inspector in charge at the various ports of arrival as may be necessary for the prompt determination of all cases of immigrants detained at such ports under the provisions of the law: Each board shall consist of three members, who shall be selected from such of the immigrant officials in the service as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall from time to time designate as qualified to serve on such boards. When in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor the maintenance of a permanent board of special inquiry for service at any sea or land border port is not warranted, regularly constituted boards may be detailed from other stations for temporary service at such port, or, if that be impracticable, the Secretary of Labor shall authorize the creation of boards of special inquiry by the immigration officials in charge at such ports, and shall determine what Government officials or other persons shall be eligible for service on such boards. Such boards shall have authority to determine whether an alien who has been duly held shall be allowed to land or shall be deported. All hearings before such boards shall be separate and apart from the public, but the immigrant may have one friend or relative present under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such boards shall keep a complete permanent record of their proceedings and of all such testimony as may be produced before them; and the decisions of any two members of the board shall prevail, but either the alien or any dissenting member of the said board may appeal through the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival and the Commissioner General of Immigration to the Secretary of Labor, and the taking of such appeal shall operate to stay any action in regard to the final disposal of any alien whose case is so appealed until the receipt by the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival of such decision which shall be rendered solely upon the evidence adduced before the board of special inquiry. In every case where an alien is excluded from admission into the United States, under any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made, the decision of a board of special inquiry adverse to the admission of such alien shall be final, unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor: Provided, That the decision of a board of special inquiry shall be based upon the certificate of the examining medical officer and, except as provided in section twenty-one hereof, shall be final as to the rejection of aliens affected with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or with any mental or physical disability which would bring such aliens within any of the classes excluded from admission to the United States under section three of this Act. (39 Stat. 887.)

See notes under § 4274, Comp. St. 1916.

Constitutionality.—Congress may intrust the decision of an immigrant's right to enter to an executive officer, and, though a denial deprives him of his liberty, he is not denied due process of law. Ex parte Chin Own (D. C.) 239 F. 391.

Members of boards of special inquiry.—A clerk in the immigration service may serve on a board of special inquiry under Immigration Act, § 25 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4274), notwithstanding section 24 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4273). Ex parte Momo Tomimatsu (D. C.) 232 F. 376.

Hearing on right to admission.—In warrant cases, where alien has been admitted, board of special inquiry takes evidence as to his right to remain and reports it to Secretary of Labor, and also makes findings and recommendations. In re Lalime (D. C.) 244 F. 279.

Appeal to secretary.—The authority of the Solicitor of the Department of Labor to affirm on appeal an order of the Commissioner of Immigration denying an alien admission to the United States is not reviewable on habeas corpus where the Secretary of Labor personally affirmed the order. Ching Hing v. White, 234 F. 616, 148 C. C. A. 382, affirming order Ex parte Ching Hing (D. C.) 224 F. 261.

On appeal to the Secretary of Labor from an order deporting a Chinese, appellant has no right to have his counsel appear to present further evidence or argue orally. Id.

Right of Commissioner of Immigration and Secretary of Labor to decide appeal on application by Chinese woman for admission to the country held not affected by fact that immigration inspector believed she was married to her alleged husband. Mah Shee v. White, 242 F. 868, 155 C. C. A. 456.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary, a memorandum decision excluding a Chinese person from the country will be held the decision of the Secretary of Labor, within the Chinese Exclusion Acts. Ex parte Ng Kwack Kang (D. C.) 233 F. 478.

Conclusiveness of decision in general.—Under Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 25 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4274), which was a continuation of earlier similar enactments, decision of collector of customs, admitting a Chinese person to United States as native-born citizen, is not a conclusive adjudication, preventing subsequent deportation proceedings. Ex parte Chin Own (D. C.) 239 F. 391.

Fair hearing and dependency of right of review thereon.—Where board of special inquiry which heard evidence in proceeding for deportation of aliens admitted to country was guilty of intentional unfairness to aliens, and Secretary of Labor adopted findings of board, such unfairness invalidates order for deportation. In re Lalime (D. C.) 244 F. 279.

Denial by board of special inquiry of alien's application for counsel, held to show unfairness. Id.

Scope of review in general.—Where alien was refused admission to United States on ground that she was likely to become public charge, question of whether she was immoral cannot be considered, nor is her immorality ground for sustaining exclusion. U. S. v. Howe (D. C.) 235 F. 990.

Questions of fact.—Under Chinese Exclusion Act 1907, § 25 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4274), the courts cannot review an order of the immigration authorities excluding a Chinese person, where there is any evidence to support it. Ex parte Ng Kwack Kang (D. C.) 233 F. 478.

Discharge on habeas corpus.—Where alien excluded from the United States on ground she was likely to become a public charge brought habeas corpus, finding of commissioner of immigration must be upheld if there is any evidence, however slight, to support his decision. U. S. v. Howe (D. C.) 235 F. 990.

An order of exclusion and deportation unsupported by any evidence is invalid. Hence the question whether there was any evidence before the immigration tribunal in support of its findings may be raised in habeas corpus proceedings. Ex parte Prout (D. C.) 253 F. 97.

Former statute cited without definite application.—Quan Hing Sun v. White (C. C. A.) 254 F. 402.

§ 4289¼j. (Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, § 18.) Immediate deportation of aliens brought in violation of law; cost of maintenance and return.

All aliens brought to this country in violation of law shall be immediately sent back, in accommodations of the same class in which they arrived, to the country whence they respectively came, on the vessels bringing them, unless in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor immediate deportation is not practicable or proper. The cost of their maintenance while on land, as well as the expense of the return of such aliens, shall be borne by the owner or owners of the vessels on which they respectively came. That it shall be unlawful for any master, purser, person in charge, agent, owner, or consignee of any such vessel to refuse to receive back on board thereof, or on board of any other vessel owned or operated by the same interests, such aliens; or to fail to detain them thereon; or to refuse or fail to return them in the manner aforesaid to the foreign port from which they came; or to fail to pay the cost of their maintenance while on land; or to make any charge for the return of any such alien, or to take any security for the payment of such charge; or to take any consideration to be returned in case the alien is landed; or knowingly to bring to the United States at any time within one year from the date of deportation any alien rejected or arrested and deported under any provision of this Act, unless prior to reembarkation the Secretary of Labor has consented that such alien shall reapply for admission, as required by section three hereof; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such master, purser, person in charge, agent, owner, or consignee has violated any of the foregoing provisions, or any of the provisions of section fifteen hereof, such master, purser, person in charge, agent, owner, or consignee shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located, or in which any vessel of the line may be found, the sum of $300 for each and every violation of any provision of said sections; and no vessel shall have clearance from any port of the United States while any such fine is unpaid, nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. If the vessel by which any alien ordered deported came has left the United States and it is impracticable for any reason to deport the alien within a reasonable time by another vessel owned by the same interests, the cost of deportation may be paid by the Government and recovered by civil suit from any agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel: Provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may suspend, upon conditions to be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, the deportation of any aliens found to have come in violation of any provision of this Act if, in his judgment, the testimony of such alien is necessary on behalf of the United States Government in the prosecution of offenders against any provision of this Act or other laws of the United States; and the cost of maintenance of any person so detained resulting from such suspension of deportation, and a witness fee in the sum of $1 per day for each day such person is so detained, may be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, or such alien may be released under bond, in the penalty of not less than $500, with security approved by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that such alien shall be produced when required as a witness and for deportation. No alien certified, as provided in section sixteen of this Act, to be suffering from tuberculosis in any form, or from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease other than one of quarantinable nature, shall be permitted to land for medical treatment thereof in any hospital in the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that to refuse treatment would be inhumane or cause unusual hardship or suffering, in which case the alien shall be treated in the hospital under the supervision of the immigration officials at the expense of the vessel transporting him: Provided further, That upon the certificate of an examining medical officer to the effect that the health or safety of an insane alien would be unduly imperiled by immediate deportation, such alien may, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, be held for treatment until such time as such alien may, in the opinion of such medical officer, be safely deported: Provided further, That upon the certificate of an examining medical officer to the effect that a rejected alien is helpless from sickness, mental or physical disability, or infancy, if such alien is accompanied by another alien whose protection or guardianship is required by such rejected alien, such accompanying alien may also be excluded, and the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien and accompanying alien are brought shall be required to return said alien and accompanying alien in the same manner as vessels are required to return other rejected aliens. (39 Stat. 887.)

See notes under § 4268, Comp. St. 1916.

Detention as witness.—Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 19 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4268), deportation of alien may be suspended when testimony is necessary in suit for penalty as well as in prosecution for criminal offense. In re Aliens (D. C.) 231 F. 335.

Alien ordered deported may be detained and required to give bail when needed as witness in suit for penalty under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 5 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4250), especially in view of Rev. St. § 881 (Comp. St. 1916, § 1492). Id.

Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 19 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4268), and rule of Commissioner General of Immigration, held, that court may order detention of alien as witness in criminal prosecution and require bond or commit him in default thereof. Id.

Suspension of deportation of alien needed as witness as provided by Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 19 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4268), held within the power of the government in dealing with aliens unlawfully in the country. Id.

§ 4289¼jj. (Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, § 19.) Deportation within certain time of aliens entering or found in United States in violation of law.

At any time within five years after entry, any alien who at the time of entry was a member of one or more of the classes excluded by law; any alien who shall have entered or who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act, or in violation of any other law of the United States; any alien who at any time after entry shall be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, or advocating or teaching anarchy, or the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law or the assassination of public officials; any alien who within five years after entry becomes a public charge from causes not affirmatively shown to have arisen subsequent to landing; except as hereinafter provided, any alien who is hereafter sentenced to imprisonment for a term of one year or more because of conviction in this country of a crime involving moral turpitude, committed within five years after the entry of the alien to the United States, or who is hereafter sentenced more than once to such a term of imprisonment because of conviction in this country of any crime involving moral turpitude, committed at any time after entry; any alien who shall be found an inmate of or connected with the management of a house of prostitution or practicing prostitution after such alien shall have entered the United States, or who shall receive, share in, or derive benefit from any part of the earnings of any prostitute; any alien who manages or is employed by, in, or in connection with any house of prostitution or music or dance hall or other place of amusement or resort habitually frequented by prostitutes, or where prostitutes gather, or who in any way assists any prostitute or protects or promises to protect from arrest any prostitute; any alien who shall import or attempt to import any person for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose; any alien who, after being excluded and deported or arrested and deported as a prostitute, or as a procurer, or as having been connected with the business of prostitution or importation for prostitution or other immoral purposes in any of the ways hereinbefore specified, shall return to and enter the United States; any alien convicted and imprisoned for a violation of any of the provisions of section four hereof; any alien who was convicted, or who admits the commission, prior to entry, of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude; at any time within three years after entry, any alien who shall have entered the United States by water at any time or place other than as designated by immigration officials, or by land at any place other than one designated as a port of entry for aliens by the Commissioner General of Immigration, or at any time not designated by immigration officials, or who enters without inspection, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and deported: Provided, That the marriage to an American citizen of a female of the sexually immoral classes the exclusion or deportation of which is prescribed by this Act shall not invest such female with United States citizenship if the marriage of such alien female shall be solemnized after her arrest or after the commission of acts which make her liable to deportation under this Act: Provided further, That the provision of this section respecting the deportation of aliens convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude shall not apply to one who has been pardoned, nor shall such deportation be made or directed if the court, or judge thereof, sentencing such alien for such crime shall, at the time of imposing judgment or passing sentence or within thirty days thereafter, due notice having first been given to representatives of the State, make a recommendation to the Secretary of Labor that such alien shall not be deported in pursuance of this Act; nor shall any alien convicted as aforesaid be deported until after the termination of his imprisonment: Provided further, That the provisions of this section, with the exceptions hereinbefore noted, shall be applicable to the classes of aliens therein mentioned irrespective of the time of their entry into the United States: Provided further, That the provisions of this section shall also apply to the cases of aliens who come to the mainland of the United States from the insular possessions thereof: Provided further, That any person who shall be arrested under the provisions of this section, on the ground that he has entered or been found in the United States in violation of any other law thereof which imposes on such person the burden of proving his right to enter or remain, and who shall fail to establish the existence of the right claimed, shall be deported to the place specified in such other law. In every case where any person is ordered deported from the United States under the provisions of this Act, or of any law or treaty, the decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final. (39 Stat. 889.)

See notes under §§ 4269, 4270, Comp. St. 1916.

Validity of statute.—While an alien who has acquired a residence in this country, is entitled to the same protection of life, liberty, and property as a citizen, he acquires no vested right to remain and the government has the power to deport him if, in the judgment of Congress the public interests so require, and such power is not dependent upon the existence of statutory conditions as to his right to remain at the time he became a resident. U. S. v. Sui Joy (C. C. A.) 240 F. 392.

Persons subject to deportation under statute in general.—In the provision of Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1134, § 3, 34 Stat. 899, as amended by Act March 26, 1910, c. 128, § 2, 36 Stat. 264 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4247), for the deportation of "any alien who shall be found * * * practicing prostitution after such alien shall have entered the United States," the words "after such alien shall have entered the United States" should be construed as though they read "while such alien is in the United States," and the provision applies to all alien women whether they came into the United States at a port of entry, or by the annexation of the land in which they lived, as in case of alien residents of Hawaii at the time of its annexation. U. S. v. Kimi Yamamoto (C. C. A.) 240 F. 390.

The provisions of Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1134, § 3, as amended by Act March 26, 1910, c. 128, § 2 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4247), for the deportation of "any alien * * * who shall receive, share in, or derive benefit from any part of the earnings of any prostitute," applies to any alien found in the United States, without regard to the manner of entry, including aliens who were resident in Hawaii at the time of its annexation. U. S. v. Sui Joy (C. C. A.) 240 F. 392.

Under Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 2, 3, as amended by Act March 26, 1910, §§ 1, 2 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4244, 4247), alien who, having entered United States, leases premises to prostitutes in which they ply their trade, is not to be deported as receiving earnings of prostitutes. Katz v. Commissioner of Immigration at Port of San Francisco, Cal., 245 F. 316, 157 C. C. A. 508.

Under Immigration Act 1907, § 2, as amended by Act March 26, 1910, c. 128 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4244), and section 20 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4469), held, that alien, who regularly entered United States, could not be deported as person likely to become public charge because, after his entry and establishment in business, it was contended, though he denied same, that he was guilty of fraud in country from which he came. Howe v. U. S., 247 F. 292, 159 C. C. A. 386.

Application of act to Chinese.—Under the Chinese Exclusion Acts, and Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 21, 43 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4270, 4289), the Secretary of Labor cannot arrest and deport a Chinese alien on the sole ground that he is found in the country in violation of the Chinese Exclusion

Acts. U. S. v. Woo Jan, 38 S. Ct. 207, 245 U. S. 552, 62 L. Ed. 466, answering certified questions (C. C. A.) 250 F. 595.

Under Act Cong. Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 21, 43 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4270, 4289), the Secretary of Commerce and Labor may order deportation of an alien violating the act, or any law of the United States, except the Chinese Exclusion Law, which requires formal proceedings in court before an order of deportation can be entered. U. S. v. United States ex rel. Lem Him, 239 F. 1023, 152 C. C. A. 661, affirming judgment Same v. Prentis (D. C.) 230 F. 935.

Under Chinese Exclusion Act Sept. 13, 1888, § 13 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4313), and Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 43 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4289), a Chinese person unlawfully within the United States, but who has committed no offense under the Immigration Act, cannot be deported after a merely administrative hearing, under Immigration Act, §§ 20, 21 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4269, 4270). Lee Wong Hin v. Mayo, 240 F. 368, 153 C. C. A. 294.

Immigration Act, §§ 20, 21 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4269, 4270), as to deportations by Secretary of Labor, held to authorize deportation of Chinese laborers in the country in violation of the Immigration Act. Yee Ling v. U. S., 242 F. 628, 155 C. C. A. 318, reversing order Ex parte Lee Ying (D. C.) 225 F. 335.

Immigration Act Feb. 5, 1917, construing the third proviso of this section and the second proviso of section 4289¼u, post, together, does not apply to a Chinese person against whom deportation proceedings were pending at the time of its taking effect, unless some offense was thereafter committed which changed his status. Mayo v. U. S. (C. C. A.) 251 F. 275.

Entering "in violation of law."—See Wallis v. United States ex rel. Ng Sam (C. C. A.) 230 F. 71.

A Chinese person, in the United States in violation of Chinese Exclusion Act, § 6 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4293), and Immigration Act, § 36 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4285), cannot, more than three years after his entry, be summarily deported under Immigration Act, §§ 20, 21 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4269, 4270), but proceedings must be brought under Chinese Exclusion Act, § 13, section 4313 post. Moy Wing Sun v. Prentis, 234 F. 24, 148 C. C. A. 40.

Proceeding to deport Chinese person held civil, and not criminal, though government intended to proceed on hypothesis that defendant entered the United States in violation of Immigration Act, § 36 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4285), and of the Chinese exclusion laws, and hence the government could call defendant as its witness. In re Chan Foo Lin, 243 F. 137, 156 C. C. A. 3.

Where aliens entered the United States surreptitiously, and without inspection, they may be deported, irrespective of other grounds of deportation. Singh v. U. S., 243 F. 557, 156 C. C. A. 255; Id., 243 F. 559, 156 C. C. A. 257.

Entry into United States by a naturalized citizen of Canada, who had applied for and been granted a pass by immigration officials at Montreal office, established under Immigration Act 1907, § 32 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4281), cannot be deemed in deportation proceedings, to have entered United States in violation of law. Howe v. U. S., 247 F. 292, 159 C. C. A. 386.

One who enlists in Canada and takes oath of allegiance, on his subsequent desertion and surreptitious return to the United States, not coming through any port of entry, may be deported as an alien under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 36 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4285). Ex parte Griffin (D. C.) 237 F. 445.

Where an alien's deportation was properly ordered, because he had not been inspected as required by Immigration Act, § 36 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4285), fact that he was improperly denied by inspector of immigration right to rebut charges that he was guilty of statements and demonstrations of anarchistic tendencies was immaterial. Ex parte Callow (D. C.) 240 F. 212.

Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, c. 1134, § 36, 34 Stat. 908 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4285), declaring that all aliens who shall enter the United States, except at the seaports thereof or at such place or places as the secretary of labor may from time to time designate, shall be adjudged to have entered the country unlawfully and shall be deported, an alien who entered from Canada at a designated port of entry, but walked by unobserved the place of inspection, is subject to deportation; the act placing the burden on the alien to present himself at the proper place for inspection, and the result being the same, though the alien had been inspected and passed on a previous entry into United States. Id.

That alien not within excluded classes, seeking admittance into United States made misstatement as to where he was intending to proceed, is no ground for his deportation. In re Lalime (D. C.) 244 F. 279.

Limitation period.—Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 21 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4370), a Chinese person is not entitled to discharge because he was not actually deported within 3-year period, where deportation proceedings were instituted within that time. Bun Chew v. Connell, 233 F. 220, 147 C. C. A. 226.

Under Immigration Act, §§ 2, 20, 21 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4244, 4269, 4270), a person likely to thereafter become a public charge may be deported, though he did not become a charge within three years after entry. Lam Fung Yen v. Frick, 233 F. 393, 147 C. C. A. 329.

A Chinese person, in the United States in violation of Chinese Exclusion Act, § 6 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4293), and Immigration Act, § 36 (Comp. In warrant cases, where alien has been admitted, board of special inquiry takes evidence as to his right to remain and reports it to Secretary of Labor and also makes findings and recommendations. In re Lalime (D. C.) 244 F. 279.

Jurisdiction.—As Chinese Exclusion Act Sept. 13, 1888 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4313), vests power to deport Chinese aliens solely in the judiciary, the only power of the Secretary of Labor to deport an alien, though he be a Chinese person, is derived from Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907 (Comp. While rule 22, subd. 4, par. Where a Chinese person contended that he was born in San Francisco and resided there until 16 years of age, his ignorance of the city warrants an inference that his testimony was false, and justifies deportation. U. S. v. Sisson, 232 F. 599, 146 C. C. A. 557.

A Chinese person, admitted and domiciled as a merchant, will not be deported because he becomes a laborer; but a showing that almost immediately upon arrival he began work as a laborer, which he continued, warrants a finding that he was admitted on fraudulent representations. Ong Seen v. Burnett, 232 F. 850, 147 C. C. A. 44.

Where it was sought to deport a Chinese woman on the ground that she was guilty of prostitution, evidence held insufficient to establish the charge. Chan Kam v. U. S., 232 F. 855, 147 C. C. A. 49.

Proof that a Chinese person had been deported in November, 1910, for attempting to enter on a fraudulent certificate, does not show, nearly four years later, that his subsequent entry into the United States was within three years of the institution of proceedings for his deportation. That after a freight car, sealed before it left the United States, whence it was carried into and out of Canada, was found to contain a Chinese person on return, does not establish his unlawful entry into the United States. Id.

The Secretary of Labor cannot order the deportation of an alien on the ground that he entered in violation of Immigration Act, where the judgment is based on mere conjecture. Backus v. Owe Sam Goon, 235 F. 847, 149 C. C. A. 159, affirming order Ex parte Owe Sam Goon (D. C.) 230 F. 654.

Though petitioner, a chinese person, was found in Arizona in a refrigerator car, evidence that a resident of Mexico, before an immigration inspector, identified petitioner from his photograph as one who had been in Mexico, held insufficient to justify deportation on ground he had within three years entered from Mexico in violation of Immigration Act. Warrant of deportation.—A warrant of deportation should expressly name the country to which the alien is to be taken, and is too indefinite where it merely directed return to the country whence the alien came, and that fact was susceptible of more than one interpretation. An alien deported under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, § 3, as amended by Act March 26, 1910, § 2 (Comp. —— Jurisdictional questions.—While the court cannot review evidence on which immigration authorities ordered the deportation of an alien on ground that he was in United States in violation of Immigration Act, courts may consider jurisdictional question of whether there is evidence to support finding of the immigation authorities. Backus v. Owe Sam Goon, 235 F. 847, 149 C. C. A. 159, affirming order Ex parte Owe Sam Goon (D. C.) 230 F. 654.

—— Weight of evidence.—While the courts will not review the evidence upon which immigration officials ordered the deportation of Chinese persons, an order of deportation of one prima facie entitled to remain, based upon conjecture, is arbitrary, and subject to review. Chan Kam v. U. S., 232 F. 855, 147 C. C. A. 49.

The sufficiency of the evidence to support order of immigration authorities deporting alien cannot be reviewed, where there is evidence in support of their determination and alien appears to have had impartial hearing. Ex parte Chin Doe Tung (D. C.) 236 F. 1017.

While courts will not weigh evidence on which immigration authorities ordered deportation of a Chinese person as one belonging to an exempt class, they may reverse where there is no evidence to sustain rulings by immigration authorities. While the District Court will not prescribe rules of evidence for deportation proceedings before the immigration authorities, where the jurisdiction of such authorities depends upon the establishment of the fact that the alien entered the country within three years, the court on habeas corpus will consider the character of the evidence by which jurisdiction is sought to be established, though not, perhaps, the weight of the evidence. Id.

The court, on habeas corpus by one ordered deported as an alien who received earnings of a prostitute, will ascertain whether he was accorded a fair hearing, and whether there was any evidence to support the charge. Ex parte Plastino (D. C.) 236 F. 295.

If deportation proceedings are instituted later than five years after the entry of the alien, or, if the deportation is made by reason of causes arising subsequent to entry, the cost thereof shall be payable from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Pending the final disposal of the case of any alien so taken into custody, he may be released under a bond in the penalty of not less than $500 with security approved by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned that such alien shall be produced when required for a hearing or hearings in regard to the charge upon which he has been taken into custody, and for deportation if he shall be found to be unlawfully within the United States. A person of the Mongolian race must be deported to Canada or discharged, where all that is known regarding him is that he was last seen in Canada. Mark Seong v. U. S., 242 F. 496, 155 C. C. A. 272, modifying order Ex parte Chin Him (D. C.) 227 F. 131.

Persons of Chinese birth, not shown to have come to this country from China, held deportable to Canada, under Immigration Act, §§ 20, 21 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4269, 4270). Yee Ling v. U. S., 242 F. 628, 155 C. C. A. 318, reversing order Ex parte Lee Ying (D. C.) 225 F. 335.

Warrant or order for deportation.—Where the record does not show that an alien came from China, but that he entered the United States from an adjacent country, an order for his deportation to China may be amended. Yee Suey v. Berkshire, 232 F. 143, 146 C. C. A. 335.

A warrant of deportation should expressly name the country to which the alien is to be taken, and is too indefinite when it merely directs return to the country whence the alien came, and that fact is susceptible of more than one interpretation. Ex parte Callow (D. C.) 240 F. 212.

Cost of deportation.—Under Immigration Act 1907, § 3, as amended by Act March 26, 1910 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4247), and section 20 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4269), held, that a steamship which brought alien to country is liable for expense of his deportation after expiration of three-year period, where he was found guilty of sharing in earnings of a prostitute. Oceanic Steam Nav. Co. v. U. S., 232 F. 591, 146 C. C. A. 549.

§ 4289¼kk. (Act Feb. 5, 1917, c. 29, § 21.) Admission of aliens liable to be excluded on giving bond or cash deposit.

Any alien liable to be excluded because likely to become a public charge or because of physical disability other than tuberculosis in any form or a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease may, if otherwise admissible, nevertheless be admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the giving of a suitable and proper bond or undertaking, approved by said Secretary, in such amount and containing such conditions as he may prescribe, to the United States and to all States, Territories, counties, towns, municipalities, and districts thereof, holding the United States and all States, Territories, counties, towns, municipalities, and districts thereof harmless against such alien becoming a public charge. In lieu of such bond, such alien may deposit in cash with the Secretary of Labor such amount as the Secretary of Labor may require, which amount shall be deposited by said Secretary in the United States Postal Savings Bank, a receipt therefor to be given the person furnishing said sum, showing the fact and object of its receipt and such other information as said Secretary may deem advisable. All accruing interest on said deposit during the time same shall be held in the United States Postal Savings Bank shall be paid to the person furnishing the sum for deposit. In the event of such alien becoming a public charge, the Secretary of Labor shall dispose of said deposit in the same manner as if same had been collected under a bond as provided in this section. In the event of the permanent departure from the United States, the naturalization, or the death of such alien, the said sum shall be returned to the person by whom furnished, or to his legal representatives. The admission of such alien shall be a consideration for the giving of such bond, undertaking, or cash deposit. Suit may be brought thereon in the name and by the proper law officers either of the United States Government or of any State, Territory, District, county, town, or municipality in which such alien becomes a public charge. (39 Stat. 891.)

See notes under § 4275, Comp. St. 1916.

Right to admit alien under bond.—Under Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 2, 26 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4244, 4275), Secretary of Labor held authorized to take bond conditioned that alien children should attend school, and not become a public charge, and that reports should be made. Illinois Surety Co. v. U. S., 229 F. 527, 143 C. C. A. 595; Id., 229 F. 533, 143 C. C. A. 601.

It is proper to take a bond conditioned that an alien contemporaneously admitted shall not within a specified time become a public charge, etc. U. S. v. Feldman, 247 F. 482, 159 C. C. A. 536.

Action on bond—Right of action.—In action on bond given to secure alien children's admission into the country, breach of any condition held to entitle government to recover the penalty, regardless of damages. Illinois Surety Co. v. U. S., 229 F. 527, 143 C. C. A. 595; Id., 229 F. 533, 143 C. C. A. 601.

—— Question for jury.—Where presumption of delivery of reports concerning alien deposited in mails was rebutted by presumption arising from fact that immigration officers did not have possession of reports, question whether surety on bond under which alien was admitted had made reports is for jury. U. S. v. Feldman, 247 F. 482, 159 C. C. A. 536.

—— Review.—Where jury was orally waived, whether evidence showed that alien children were unaccompanied by parents, so as to authorize the taking of the bond sued on, held not reviewable. Illinois Surety Co. v. U. S., 229 F. 527, 143 C. C. A. 595; Id. 229 F. 533, 143 C. C. A. 601.

or whether they can be permitted to land without danger to other persons; and they shall not be either admitted or deported until such facts have been ascertained; and if it shall be determined that the disorder is easily curable and the husband or father or other responsible person is willing to bear the expense of the treatment, they may be accorded treatment in hospital until cured and then be admitted, or if it shall be determined that they can be permitted to land without danger to other persons, they may, if otherwise admissible, thereupon be admitted: Provided, That if the person sending for wife or minor children is naturalized, a wife to whom married or a minor child born subsequent to such husband or father's naturalization shall be admitted without detention for treatment in hospital, and with respect to a wife to whom married or a minor child born prior to such husband or father's naturalization the provisions of this section shall be observed, even though such person is unable to pay the expense of treatment, in which case the expense shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. § 4290. (Act May 6, 1882, c. 126, § 1, as amended, Act July 5, 1884, c. 220.) Coming of Chinese laborers to United States suspended.

1. Construction and operation of Chinese exclusion laws in general.—The Chinese Exclusion Act, embraces all Chinese within its terms, and imposes on all, including merchants, certain requirements as a condition to the privilege of remaining in this country. Louie Dai v. U. S., 238 F. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144.

3. Admission and exclusion of Chinese.—A Chinese boy seven years of age, who came to this country with an uncle and under his charge, should be given the status of the uncle. U. S. v. Jew Sung Gwong (D. C.) 232 F. 279.

4. —— Detention and arrest.—Chinese person, escaping from detention quarters, held deportable, though subsequently acquiring status of merchant or attaché of Chinese consular office. U. S. v. Gin Dock Sue (D. C.) 230 F. 657.

Chinese person, escaping from detention quarters, instead of establishing mercantile status before immigration officers or an appeal to courts, held subject to deportation. Id.

5. —— Citizens of the United States.—The son of an American citizen, though of Chinese descent, is a citizen of the United States, and entitled to enter the country as such. Ex parte Wong Foo (D. C.) 230 F. 534.

Foreign-born son of native-born citizen of Chinese descent held entitled to admission to the country, under Rev. St. § 1993 (Comp. St. 1916, § 3947), though he remained abroad until 27 years old. Ex parte Ng Doo Wong (D. C.) 230 F. 751.

6. —— "Chinese laborers."—A Chinese contractor is a Chinese laborer within the Exclusion Acts, and not entitled to enter. U. S. v. Jew Sung Gwong (D. C.) 232 F. 279.

7. —— Children of Chinese.—Hearsay evidence by a third person that petitioner, a Chinese person, admitted as the minor son of a merchant, was not the son of such merchant, held inadmissible to establish that fact. Wong Yee Toon v. Stump, 233 F. 194. 147 C. C. A. 200, reversing judgment Ex parte Wong Yee Toon (D. C.) 227 F. 247.

The son of an American citizen, though of Chinese descent, is a citizen of the United States, and entitled to enter the country as such. Ex parte Wong Foo (D. C.) 230 F. 534.

Minor son of Chinese merchant, who was entitled to remain in United States under Chinese Exclusion Act without registration, during his minority, at least, is one of the excepted class. U. S. v. Moy Nom (D. C.) 249 F. 772.

Where minor son of Chinese merchant, who was lawfully in United States, by reason of status of his father, acquired by gift or purchase interest in mercantile business, such minor is, after reaching his majority, entitled to remain in United States, notwithstanding his father's return to China. Id.

A Chinese person entering the United States in good faith as a minor child of a member of the exempt class and for the purpose of study, and who is still a student, although obliged to work a part of each day to earn living expenses, is not subject to deportation. U. S. v. Gin Ong (D. C.) 253 F. 210.

12. Treaties and rights of Chinese thereunder.—Under article 2 of treaty of 1880 between United States and China, a Chinese merchant domiciled in United States has right to bring his wife and minor children into country, and this right may be exercised, though minor son was 20 years old and had contracted a marriage in China before admission was sought. Woo Hoo v. White, 243 F. 541, 156 C. C. A. 239.

§ 4293. (Act May 6, 1882, c. 126, § 6, as amended, Act July 5, 1884, c. 220.) Chinese other than laborers; certificates of identity.

See, also, notes under § 4290, ante.

1. Persons "other than laborers."—In deportation proceeding, Chinese person admitted as student, and receiving identification certificate as such pursuant to this section, held not subject to deportation because he did some manual labor while attending school. Moy Kong Chiu v. U. S., 246 F. 94, 158 C. C. A. 320.

A Chinese boy seven years of age, who came to this country with an uncle and under his charge, should be given the status of the uncle. U. S. v. Jew Sung Gwong (D. C.) 232 F. 279.

4. Wife and children of Chinese merchant.—A Chinese person having less than a year of minority remaining may enter as the minor son of a Chinese merchant domiciled in the United States. Lew Loy v. U. S., 242 F. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

The wife of a Chinese merchant domiciled in the United States, is on proof of that fact entitled to enter. Ex parte Chan Shee (D. C.) 236 F. 579.

8. Certificate of merchant.—Where a Chinese person, admitted as the minor child of a merchant, received a regular certificate of admission, the government, in subsequent deportation proceedings based on the fact such person had become a laborer, has the burden of showing that the entry was not for the purpose of conserving the family relation and following the occupation of a merchant. U. S. v. Lew Loy (D. C.) 253 F. 784.

13. Visèed certificate—Effect as evidence.—Where a Chinese person holds a merchant's certificate, such certificate is prima facie valid, and should not be set aside, unless there is some competent evidence to overcome it. Ong Chew Lung v. Burnett, 232 F. 853, 147 C. C. A. 47.

A certificate issued to a Chinese person, showing his right to enter and remain in the United States, is prima facie evidence of his right, and he cannot be deported by immigration authorities without substantial evidence showing that he was not entitled to enter and remain. Wong Yee Toon v. Stump, 233 F. 194, 147 C. C. A. 200, reversing judgment Ex parte Wong Yee Toon (D. C.) 227 F. 247.

Where a Chinese person left the country and then returned, he has the burden of showing that his re-entry was lawful, and his original certificate of residence is not prima facie evidence of his right to remain. Bun Chew v. Connell, 233 F. 220, 147 C. C. A. 226.

Under this section, continued by Act May 5, 1892 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4315), a Chinese person who entered under a merchant's certificate in due form cannot be deported for having fraudulently entered the United States, unless there is competent evidence to overcome the effect of the certificate. U. S. v. Fong Hong (D. C.) 233 F. 168.

14. —— Evidence to controvert certificate.—The prima facie case made by certificate as to the status of the alien as a student may be overcome by the other facts in the case. Lo Pong v. Dunn, 235 F. 510, 149 C. C. A. 56.

Where a Chinese person admitted on certificate as a merchant immediately engages in employment as a laborer, that fact has strong retroactive bearing as evidence that he entered with intent to become a laborer. Lui Hip Chin v. Plummer, 238 F. 763, 151 C. C. A. 613.

While certificate of admission issued to Chinese person, entering as merchant and minor son of a merchant, is prima facie evidence of his right to remain, government may show that he entered fraudulently for purpose of immediately becoming a laborer. Lew Loy v. U. S., 242 F. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

That a Chinese person securing admission as a merchant and as the minor son of a merchant immediately becomes and continues as a laborer is strong evidence tending to show that he entered to become a laborer. Id.

In proceeding for deportation of Chinese person who entered as a merchant and the minor son of a merchant evidence held to warrant finding that his entry was fraudulent and that he entered to become a laborer. Id.

Certificate of identity issued pursuant to this section to Chinese person entering United States as student, while declared to be prima facie evidence of right of person to whom issued to enter the country, may be overcome by competent evidence that it was fraudulently obtained. Moy Kong Chiu v. U. S., 246 F. 94, 158 C. C. A. 320.

That Chinese person, admitted as student on certificate issued pursuant to this section, immediately on his arrival engages in and continues in employment as a laborer, justifies conclusion that certificate was obtained by fraudulent representations. Id.

Certificate issued to Chinese person, pursuant to this section, who was admitted as student, cannot be annulled on mere suspicion or conjecture that Chinese person fraudulently procured it, but government has burden of proving that fact. Id.

Whether there is any substantial evidence warranting the immigration authorities in setting aside a certificate and deporting a Chinese person, admitted as a merchant under a certificate issued in accordance with this section, is for the courts to determine. Ex parte Hor Yuk Sang (D. C.) 251 F. 403.

Where a Chinese person was admitted into the United States as a merchant, receiving a certificate from the immigration authorities in accordance with this section, the certificate, being issued under a statute made pursuant to a treaty, cannot be set aside, and deportation ordered, without substantial evidence to overcome its effect. Id.

The effect of a certificate of admission issued to a Chinese person as the minor son of a merchant can be destroyed only by substantial evidence, and cannot be overthrown by a mere suspicion that such person entered to become a laborer. U. S. v. Lew Loy (D. C.) 253 F. 784.

16. Deportation of Chinese.—A Chinese person, admitted on a certificate as a student under this section, may be deported on order of Secretary of Labor, on ground that certificate was procured by fraud. Lo Pong v. Dunn, 235 F. 510, 149 C. C. A. 56.

17. —— Where merchant or student becomes a laborer.—A Chinese person, admitted and domiciled as a merchant, will not be deported because he becomes a laborer; but a showing that almost immediately upon arrival he began work as a laborer, which he continued, warrants a finding that he was admitted on fraudulent representations. Ong Seen v. Burnett, 232 F. 850, 147 C. C. A. 44.

A Chinese person, who was a merchant during the period of registration, does not lose his right to remain in the country by thereafter becoming a laborer. Louie Dai v. U. S., 238 F. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144.

That a Chinese person admitted to the United States as a merchant subsequently becomes a laborer is not in itself ground for his deportation. Lui Hip Chin v. Plummer, 238 F. 763, 151 C. C. A. 613.

Though evidence raised suspicion that appellant, a Chinese person, entered as a merchant intending to become a laborer, and had become laborer, held, that his deportation was not authorized under this section. Id.

Where a Chinese person admitted on certificate as a merchant immediately engages in employment as a laborer, that fact has strong retroactive bearing as evidence that he entered with intent to become a laborer. Id.

That one who lawfully entered as the minor son of a Chinese merchant has since become a laborer is not enough of itself to destroy his right to remain, the general Immigration Act not forbidding the residence of Chinese laborers. Lew Loy v. U. S., 242 F. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

The son of a Chinese merchant, born in the United States, in which place his father was engaged in business, is, though he becomes a laborer, entitled to remain. Woo Vey v. U. S., 242 F. 838, 155 C. C. A. 426, certiorari denied 38 S. Ct. 60, 245 U. S. 660, 62 L. Ed. 535.

A Chinese person, readmitted to the United States after a visit to China as a merchant, but who from that time was a laborer, held to have the status of a laborer, and to be subject to deportation, under this section. U. S. v. Fong Foo (D. C.) 235 F. 452.

Where defendant's status as Chinese merchant was established before he went to China for visit, fact that after his return and admission into the United States he worked as laborer for part of time does not of itself forfeit his right to remain in United States as one of exempted class. U. S. v. Moy Nom (D. C.) 249 F. 772.

Where a Chinese person, admitted into the United States as a merchant, was a member of the merchant class at that time, the fact that he later may become a laborer does not destroy his right to remain. Ex parte Hor Yuk Sang (D. C.) 251 F. 403.

Where the entry of a Chinese person as a merchant or student is valid, he does not lose his right to remain because he subsequently becomes a laborer. U. S. v. Lew Loy (D. C.) 253 F. 784.

Where a Chinese person is admitted as a student, merchant, or minor child of a merchant, the weight to be accorded the inference from his immediate adoption of the occupation of a laborer depends on the circumstances, etc. Id.

18. —— Deportation under Immigration Act.—See notes under § 4289¼jj.

A Chinese person, in the United States in violation of this section and Immigration Act, § 36 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4285), cannot, more than three years after his entry, be summarily deported under Immigration Act, §§ 20, 21 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4269, 4270), but proceedings must be brought under Chinese Exclusion Act, § 13 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4313). Moy Wing Sun v. Prentis, 234 F. 24, 148 C. C. A. 40.

Where fraud in procuring a certificate on which a Chinese person was admitted as a student under this section is charged, the action of the Secretary of Labor is conclusive, if the proceedings and hearing were fair. Lo Pong v. Dunn, 235 F. 510, 149 C. C. A. 56.

On habeas corpus to review an order of deportation against a Chinese person, admitted as a merchant under certificate issued pursuant to this section, evidence held insufficient to sustain a finding that the admission was secured through fraud, though such Chinese person was found laboring in a laundry some five months after entrance in the United States. Ex parte Hor Yuk Sang (D. C.) 251 F. 403.

Application to offense.—Offenses of bringing in, or aiding or abetting bringing in, of unqualified Chinese alien, are governed by this section, and not by section 8, Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4253). Stoneberg v. Morgan, 246 F. 98, 158 C. C. A. 324.

Indictment.—An indictment for conspiracy to bring in Chinese not entitled to enter, under this section, held to charge a general conspiracy, so that names of Chinese need not be given or alleged to be unknown. Dahl v. U. S., 234 F. 618, 148 C. C. A. 384, affirming order U. S. v. Dahl (D. C.) 225 F. 909.

Indictment under Penal Code, § 37, charging conspiracy to bring into the United States, in violation of this section, persons not entitled to enter or remain, held sufficient, though giving the mere outlines of the plot. Lew Moy v. U. S., 237 F. 50, 150 C. C. A. 252.

Evidence.—Evidence that defendant pursuant to an understanding with another defendant to smuggle in Chinese, brought in four not entitled to enter held admissible on prosecution for general conspiracy to bring in Chinese not entitled to enter. Dahl v. U. S., 234 F. 618, 148 C. C. A. 384, affirming order U. S. v. Dahl (D. C.) 225 F. 909.

In a prosecution for conspiring to bring or cause to be brought into United States, in violation of this section, Chinese persons not allowed to enter, acts and statements of one co-conspirator after Chinese were brought across the international boundary held admissible against others; conspiracy not being there ended. Lew Moy v. U. S., 237 F. 50, 150 C. C. A. 252.

In a prosecution for conspiring in violation of this section, to bring into the United States aliens not entitled to enter, evidence held to warrant a conviction. Louie Ding v. U. S., 246 F. 80, 158 C. C. A. 306.

Instructions.—In a prosecution for conspiring to violate this section, by bringing into the United States aliens not lawfully entitled to enter, instructions on the defense of alibi held sufficient. Louie Ding v. U. S., 246 F. 80, 158 C. C. A. 306.

§ 4313. (Act Sept. 13, 1888, c. 1015, § 13.) Arrest and removal of Chinese unlawfully in United States.

I. OPERATION AND VALIDITY

2. Validity.—It was competent for Congress by the Chinese Exclusion Act to empower a United States commissioner to determine the facts on which citizenship of a person of Chinese descent depends. Louie Lit v. U. S., 238 F. 79, 151 C. C. A. 151.

II. DEPORTATION OF CHINESE

3. Chinese subject to removal and grounds for removal.—The United States is not estopped from deporting a Chinese person, not entitled to remain in the country, by reason of the acts of a special immigration agent. Ng Jung v. U. S., 233 F. 992, 147 C. C. A. 666.

A Chinese laborer could not be deported, except after a hearing before a commissioner, with the right of appeal to the District Court, unless he had entered the United States within three years. Ex parte Tom Yuen (D. C.) 230 F. 656.

4. —— Chinese "found unlawfully in the United States."—A Chinese, apprehended while in a boat on the American side of the Niagara river, has entered the country and may be deported. Jung Sew v. U. S., 231 F. 949, 146 C. C. A. 145, affirming order Ex parte Jung Sew (D. C.) 221 F. 500.

5. —— Change in occupation.—A minor son of a Chinese merchant, admitted as a member of an exempt class, does not forfeit his right to remain in the United States by subsequently working as a laborer. Wong Yee Toon v. Stump, 233 F. 194, 147 C. C. A. 200, reversing judgment Ex parte Wong Yee Toon (D. C.) 227 F. 247.

Where a Chinese person, who lawfully entered the United States as the minor son of a merchant, thereafter became a laborer, such fact will not deprive him of his right to remain in the country. Lam Fung Yen v. Frick, 233 F. 393, 147 C. C. A. 329.

A Chinese person, admitted to the country ostensibly as an attaché of a Chinese official, and thereafter found working in a laundry far from his ostensible chief, was subject to deportation. Ex parte Chun Woi San (D. C.) 230 F. 538, appeal dismissed Chan Ngun Yuk v. White, 228 F. 1019, 142 C. C. A. 665.

Under the treaty of November 17, 1880, between the United States and China, and Const. art. 6, cl. 2, a Chinese person who enters the United States as a merchant cannot be deported because thereafter he becomes a laborer. U. S. v. Fong Hong (D. C.) 233 F. 168.

6. Place to which removed.—Chinese persons, claimed to have entered country from Canada, but who denied any previous residence, or even presence, in Canada, held in no position to insist that they should be deported to Canada. Wallis v. U. S., 230 F. 71, 144 C. C. A. 369.

Where Chinese persons were evidently attempting a joint unlawful entry into the country effect of possession by one of Chinese clothing and money held not limited to him, in determining country to which they should be deported. Id.

See, also, notes under § 4289½k, ante.

10. Deportation proceedings—Nature.—Proceeding to deport Chinese persons held civil, and not criminal, though government intended to proceed on hypothesis that defendant entered the United States in violation of Immigration Act, § 36 (Comp. St. 1916, § 4285), and of the Chinese exclusion laws, and hence the government could call defendant as its witness. In re Chan Foo Lin, 243 F. 137, 156 C. C. A. 3.

15. —— Hearing.—In proceeding for deportation of Chinese person, who entered as minor son of Chinese merchant, held, that statement of government's attorney that entry was valid, but that defendant had forfeited his right to remain, was not prejudicial, though judgment of deportation could be upheld only on theory of fraudulent entry. Lew Loy v. U. S., 242 F. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

Person of Chinese descent sought to be deported held denied a fair hearing, when not given opportunity to explain and meet statements of immigration inspectors received by those conducting the examination subsequent to the hearing. In re Chan Foo Lin, 243 F. 137, 156 C. C. A. 3.

18. —— Judgment and conclusiveness thereof.—Judgment adjudging that Chinese person was born in the country and entitled to enter held to estop the government from further deportation proceedings. U. S. v. Chin Dong Ying (D. C.) 229 F. 813.

20. —— Order of deportation.—Order for deportation of Chinese person cannot be sustained on ground of fraudulent entry, where that issue was not tried at hearing, and was disclaimed by government attorney. Lew Loy v. U. S., 242 F. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

21. Deportation under immigration act.—Under the Chinese Exclusion Acts, and Immigration Act Feb. 20, 1907, §§ 21, 43 (Comp. St. 1916, §§ 4270, 4289), the Secretary of Labor cannot arrest and deport a Chinese alien on the sole ground that he is found in the country in violation of the Chinese Exclusion Acts. U. S. v. Woo Jan, 38 S. Ct. 207, 245 U. S. 552, 62 L. Ed. 466, answering certified questions (C. C. A.) 250 F. 595.
